ALLENA E. ROBERTS

Mrs. Allena E. Roberts, wife of Mr.
Frank W. Roberts of 16 Webster street, died Saturday morning after a long illness. She was in her 70th year and was born in this town, the daughter of James and Emma L.
(Hunt) Pratt. She attended and graduated from the Winchester schools and during earlier days was prominent in the town's social life.
For many years she was active in the Order of the Eastern Star, of which she was secretary for a long period, and during her life she was an active member of the Methodist Church.
Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Miss Olive Roberts of this town and Mrs. Ruth C. Strawbridge of Lowell, and one son, Mr.
Walter P. Roberts of Rangely ridge,
this town.

The funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Kelley & Hawes chapel, conducted by Rev. C. C. P. Miller of Melrose.
The interment was in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

Troop 1

Two members of Troop 1, Scout master Stanford Rogers and Patrol Leader Nils Andersen went through an experience that happens to few hikers. Starting on a hike Saturday,
Aug. 31, they rode to Waterville, N. H., where they camped for the night at the Waterville Forest Camp.
Early Sunday morning, carrying heavy packs, the two hikers climbed Mt. Osceola by way of the Osceola Brook Trail, which is a long easy trail to the foot of the head-wall, then up a steep ascent of about three quarters of a mile to where the Ponds-Osceola Trail is met. Another three-quarters of a mile ascent brought the pair to the summit of the mountain. Due to light showers and low clouds there was no visibility so no stop was made at the look-out station.

The next stage of the hike was from Osceola to East Peak, a distance of about a mile and a half. This was covered with no difficulty as the trail, though steep, was well cleared and open.

From East Peak to Greely Ponds the distance is not more than a mile and a quarter but is one of the steepest in the mountains. For a long way the trail follows an old landslide where great crevices were taken because of the slippery condition of the rocks due to the rain. Arriving at the foot of the slide the trail was followed until the two hikers found themselves in an area of blow-downs caused by a hurricane of two years ago. There was nothing to do but to force a passage through the tangle over, under and around trees of all sizes. Some of the big pines were severed in diameter and in many places every tree was down. After what seemed hours the hikers at last came out at Greely Pond Forest camp where they found there some young men from Arlington at the shelter.

A roaring fire soon brought new life into our scouts and after a good supper they felt none the worse for their very hard trip.
The return journey out to the car was uneventful and the trip back home was made in good time. If any one is interested in hurricane damage we know of two people who have plenty of first hand information, and how!

FIELD DAY

When the farmers desire rain we suggest that they get in touch with the Field Day schedule-makers for it appears that the latter can secure rain by merely mentioning Field Day. For the third year in a row rain fell but for the third year it did not deter the enthusiasm of 400 youngsters who insisted on going through with the entire program.

Fortunately the costume contest was held the first part of the afternoon giving us an opportunity to watch a parade of girls, 62 strong, exhibit a variety of beautiful home-made costumes before the rain came. The award for the prettiest costume went to Virginia Horn; the most original costume prize was won by Shirley Frotten; and the funniest costume award was taken by Pauline Bourinot, who was dressed as Uncle Tom's grandma. A second prize in the prettiest class was awarded to Laura Luongo. Sally Horn won a consolation prize with her unique dancer's costume. Each contestant received an agreeable surprise when she was presented with a pass to an afternoon performance at the local theatre, donated by Mr. Roland Carter, manager.

A pet show which saw a weird collection of animals on display in the East cage was next on the program. Henry Heitz took first prize with his trained duck that could do everything but talk. A goat, cat, rooster, beagle hound and rabbit strove for second honors with the rooster winning by a hair.

In the tennis tournament we tried a new form of elimination called the master tournament. Out of a field of 42 entrants only four survived. Winner of first prize for the 15 year old class for boys was John Dexter Post. Doris McKee again took honors on the senior girls class after a hard struggle with Pauline Bourinot. James Quadi and Helen Forrest won first prizes in the ten and under class.

The croquet tournament, open only to girls was won by Joyce Dana and Myrna Zamanakakis; the former winning the 10 and under class and the latter the 15 and under class. This was a difficult tournament to win as 39 had signed up in each group. Joyce won around the course in 31 strokes and Myrna in 27.

The horseshoe tournament proved a surprise to all as there were 75 contestants enrolled. "Sonny" Kelly and George DeFilippo emerged the winners despite strong competition from Guy Washburn and Henry Heitz.

Of course baseball was the big attraction of the day and the games played between the Cardinals and Elks in the senior league and the Giants and the Wildcats in the junior league produced some fine baseball. The Cardinals defeated the Elks in the last of the 10th inning by a through a heavy rain which speaks well for the players' enthusiasm. Thus the Cardinals have won a much coveted title—playground champions of Winchester.

The Giants, representing Leonard Field, upset the strong Wildcats in their playoff game by a 15-5 score. Dooney, pitching for the winners struck out 15 batters and allowed but three hits. The lineups of the new champions follow:

An exhibition of art work, leather work and hand craft was held in the afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Dana and Mr. Moody. Pot holders, necklaces, bracelets, chain purses, needlepoint bags, embroidered towels and tile work were on display. All work was done by the children who were enrolled in the handicraft classes.

Final Meet

HERE'S Donald B. Phillips, of Wilbraham, Massachusetts' state champion boy automobile driver. He's shown as he arrived at the Ford Motor pavilion at the New York World's Fair, ready to compete in the finals to determine the national boy driving champion. Phillips' expenses, and those of an adult sponsor chosen by himself, were paid by the Ford Good Drivers League. At the first annual Champions' Banquet at the Ford pavilion on Aug. 29, Edsel Ford, president of the League, was scheduled to award the prize - 48 university scholarships with an aggregate value of $30,000. The object of the League is to promote safety on the highways by teaching every boy in America to drive expertly. It has a membership of scores of thousands of boys in all parts of the country.

HOOVER'S MISTAKES

You probably have never seen a copy of WALLACE MINER, weekly newspaper of Wallace, Idaho. We haven't until a good friend brought it to our attention and we discovered a gem of an editorial about the Hoovers.

"An inspired piece from one of the NEW DEAL propagandists says that 'HOOVER WAS A COMPLETE FAILURE.' So he was. He failed in a lot of things. He failed to draw out his salary of $25,000 a year while he was President, turning it all back into the Treasury. He failed to have his sons organize insurance company firms to write insurance on government enterprises. He built a Rapaian resort for fishing and recreation at his own expense and gave it to the Government. None of his sons went racing through divorce courts to the disillusionment of the public. He never handled up a lot of Government documents to sell a book to the faithful at a huge profit to himself and he never sold himself into political slavery to a labor organization for a $500,000 Campaign Fund. He never gathered a marvelous collection of war stuff and built a museum for it, but failed to ask Congress to pay the bill—he paid for it himself.

"He did not preach and promote class hatred and he did not try to pack the Supreme Court. He did not play every third row of cotton and he did not promise the American people one thing while at the very same moment doing everything to accomplish the directly opposite result.

"He did not ask Congress to assess the taxpayers a billion dollars every time someone shot off a firecracker in Europe and he did not go on fishing trips on Government warships, accompanied by a fleet of destroyers. Neither did he kill off all the farmers' little pigs or encourage the importation of Argentine beef. In fact there were a lot of foolish things that Hoover didn't do that some other people have done. There are a lot of constructive things he could have done if he had not had the opposition of a Democratic Congress, but anyway, he did not leave the American People $45,000,000,000 in debt.

"Mrs. Hoover never made speeches or raced hither and yon on unimportant matters. She never wrote silly drivel on her every-day life and sold it to the newspapers, and she never sold soap over the radio. Her only public appearance was as an honorary member of the Girl Scouts of America. She never invited Communist youth to the White House as her guests. The Hoover family has seen to have made a failure of about everything that goes nowadays.

P. S.—VOTE FOR WILKIE!

AS TO THIS AND THAT

In attempting to judge the excellence of an executive it is necessary—among other things—to study how he exercises his authority, and in particular how he plans to do the greatest efficiency in the work for which he must take the responsibility. The procedure will depend upon the nature and size of the job but in general it is fairly certain that the superior individual will inspire and direct and supervise and will leave details to subordinates. He will after consultation and thought with others determine ends to be achieved, if possible, and methods to be followed. He will outline to those who must do the actual work a definite procedure. He will leave the precise details to them and will hold them responsible for what they succeed in doing. He will remember that men and women differ so much that as a rule, after making sure that the desired end is perfectly grasped and that an approved method is clearly understood, no two will work exactly alike. He will not intrude while the work is being done unless it is obvious to him that he must to avoid disaster, and he may even do well not to object to what seems to him unwise, if the approved end is fairly well assured, though afterward he may suggest a modification in the course followed.

This is sound doctrine for a superintendent of schools, a governor, or a President. It presupposes a competent body of subordinates such as executives of these three groups usually have the power to select. The ability to choose well such associates is another characteristic of the superior executive.

How does Franklin Delano Roosevelt meet these requirements? On a pass mark of, say, 75 per cent, it is very nearly exact to say that he rates just about zero. He has made a pretense of large "objectives" for the general welfare, he has discoursed to his "friends" in his fireside chats of long range planning, and times he has invited really big men and women to undertake special problems, but the evidence is all too sadly clear that practically no one has ever been permitted to go ahead and do a job. It has been notorious that decisions in the most trivial matters could almost never be made by anyone else than F. D. R. himself. Again and again it has happened that—as Flynn mentions in his "Country Squire in the White House"—men have gone ahead with definitely approved plans only to be reversed with the worst possible results—witness the London Monetary Conference as reported by Moley—possibly because Franklin wished to show that he was "boss," possibly because having without study of plans presented by experts—as was the case in the London conference—he had given a perfunctory approval and the later had been caught by the whimsical notions of some visionary who had been caught for a moment.

As a consequence intelligent observers have commonly regarded the governmental offices as a "mad house" and have said so. With few, very few, exceptions, no one could decide anything, no one that is, except the President himself. This is not the way in which a competent man would act. As F. D. R. once said "There are no supermen."

And has he selected big men and women for important positions? Some, accidentally, as one is justified in concluding from an examination of the list. Consider the Cabinet, before recent changes. Who aside from Secretary Hull and Postmaster General Farley can be classed as able and capable? A collection of enthusiasts with panaceas, of routine office holders, of unknowns and of jokes.

The possibility that Franklin Delano may be in power in the almost assuredly difficult years ahead may well tempt any American. Kipling's "Bandage" would "have nothing on us." Happily the signs indicate that thoughtful men and women everywhere understand that however charming he may be he is not a student, never has planned ahead, always has been variable and changeable, and the supreme egotist.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Nine members were absent from the meeting of Sept. 5.

President George Carter presided at this meeting. Which circumstance gives additional force to the statement that he is an exceptionally loyal Rotarian. For practically he arose from a sick bed in order to be present.

Mr. Carter's return to health before our next meeting, George.

Jim Quinn has reported for duty with every appearance of a man just returned from his vacation. Which, indeed, is a fact.

We have lost count of Ernie Dade's vacation; but are by no means backward in extending congratulations for his good fortune in this respect.

Church Hildes drove back to town last Saturday and has again proven that vacation does not detract from his efficiency as a top-notch song leader.

Bill Rogers did not show up today. Maybe he was busy seeing that that new traffic tower at the center.

The hunt for Pat Walsh's badge has been called off, for said badge has returned to home quarters.

The incident because that badge means something to our senior member, who is one of the staunchest of Rotarians.

Al Marchant is looking forward to the return to his home. Our visiting committee reports that he is progressing steadily to achieve that end. Sept. 26 is less than three weeks away and the choice of reservations at Poland Springs narrows rapidly.

Register now for the Governor's secretary's supply registration cards. Six New England Districts will co-operate to make this Conclave the best ever.

In the United States there are more soft ball teams than baseball teams and two of the good ones will meet on the Shore road athletic field Saturday, Sept. 7, to exemplify the fine points of the game. The Boston Olympics are recognized as being among the best of women's teams and the Ten Old Men propose to find out why this is so. For an afternoon of fun we can heartily recommend this engagement and for the American Red Cross we propose to make an afternoon of profit as well. We urge you to come.

Probably it is a bit early in the season to stage a joint meeting but that should not prevent our current meeting from being a huge success.

Our sponsor club, Woburn, co-operated in a splendid way to help the good work we do. It is generally agreed that we do not have enough of these meetings; we surely hope that the fault will be corrected. Our speaker today was Pat District Governor Henry P. Porter. Given this statement, any Rotarian in this area will know for a certainty that Henry's discourse was worthy of that much respected, excellent, the subject was "Rotary Clubs as Compared with Luncheon Clubs." The speaker made the point that a Rotary club is not only a luncheon club but in reality is much more than that because Rotarians have certain obligations which must be fulfilled and indeed most Rotarians usually do so. Space forbids that we mention the many high points of Henry's address but there were plenty of them and they were high. We gratefully acknowledge his courtesy and his generous assistance in making this meeting outstanding.

Absentees and others are hereby notified that the Woburn club will have as speaker at their meeting of Sept. 10, Mr. Walter Brown, vice president of the Boston Garden.

At our next meeting of Sept. 12, we shall listen to a representative from the Greyhound Bus Lines.

Percentage of Attendance Aug. 29, 1940—89.23 per cent.

FOR ATTORNEY-GENERAL

GEORGE W. ROBERTS

REPUBLICAN

The only State-wide contest on Sept. 17, 1940, in the Republican primaries is for the office of Attorney-General.

Representative Roberts of Boston, a successful trial lawyer and a veteran member of the Massachusetts Legislature, is in my opinion the one man who possesses all the qualifications necessary and can be elected in November.

Representative Roberts' nomination as Attorney-General will insure to the Republican Party a colorful and successful campaign. I have served with him on the Committee on Legal Affairs of the Massachusetts Legislature, and having been associated with him, I recognize his ability and qualifications for the office of Attorney-General.

Fred E. Hollins, president and director of the Brown Rural Case Co. of Somerville, has accepted the chairmanship of the Rural Equipment Group in the Greater Boston Annual Maintenance Appeal of the Salvation Army, which will get underway on September 10 for a month.

Mr. Hollins is widely known through the country in the burial equipment trade. He has been active in many badly needed faces for months. The Hollins home is in Bacon street.

Miss Ellen Cullen and Miss Emily McGoldrick of the Winchester Clean-up Committee will have their week-end at Hampton Beach, N. H.

Officer James Donahy is chairman of the Winchester Police Relief Association Ball which will be held on Nov. 15.

Mrs. Clark W. Collins, who has been confined to her home with a badly infected face, has more than improved and is now able to be up.

Rev. Paul H. Chapman, who is to take the place of Rev. George Hale at the Unitarian Church, has taken up residence at 33 Glen road.

Mrs. Alfred W. Drew and son Donald returned this week from Cold Spring Lake, N. Y., where they have been spending the summer.

Mrs. James Hildes of Forest street has moved to the Roosevelt Apartments, Boston, for the fall and winter months.

Mrs. Louis Smith has returned home from an auto trip to the White Mountains and Lake Placid, New York.

WINCHESTER LODGE OF ELKS

During the course of the meeting, Tuesday evening the recently adopted program of calling on a member to give a talk on some subject of interest was resumed and on this occasion Lieut.-Comdr. R. W. MacAdams was requested to speak. His subject was centered around the present international situation and, in particular, the seriousness which confronts the United States of America as a result of the unparalleled international problem.

Among the highlights of Lieut.-Comdr. MacAdams' talk were comments to the effect that all of us have a duty to perform in the protection of the liberty and freedom enjoyed under our form of government. In this respect it was pointed out that we should hold ourselves always in readiness to perform our duty if and when we may be called. The Elks, being fundamentally a patriotic organization, should be an ideal place from which civil patriotism is expected to emanate.

Lieut.-Comdr. MacAdams likened the situation to that of a family living in a neighborhood of bullies or of other undesirable characters, wherein there were also living neighbors of desirable qualities. While those of the desirable qualities perhaps may not measure up 100 per cent to what one might consider their own ideal of proper living, a choice, nevertheless, must be made and it is only natural that one would welcome neighbors whose qualities were more akin to their own good qualities. Such is the world situation today which is our only choice of a world neighbor whose ideology more resembles ours is Great Britain.

Several other interesting comments pertaining to our National Defense were also made.

The Elks' lobster supper, given at the Lodge, Sept. 13.

The Elks' Charity Ball Committee is fast making arrangements for the Charity Ball and are making great progress and expect to realize a large sum of money to continue their charity work as they have for the past 20 years.

W. C. T. U. NOTES
Margaret C. Munns, National W. C. T. U. Treasurer, asks "Is the National Temperance Education Fund worth while?" That is, the million dollars that we did not complete in 1939, though we passed beyond $750,000. There are a good many answers to that. Here is one: "How would you like to reach an audience of more than 2,000,000? That is what we really have done through one motion picture, 'The Beneficent Reprobate' (Alcohol). Time only can tell the influence this scientific presentation has had on this multitude of spectators. In addition to 75 films distributed through the Y. M. C. A. Motion Picture Bureau, 24 prints are owned and being constantly shown by 14 or more states, and seven prints have been shipped to foreign countries."
A Y. M. C. A. director writes: "There is no question but what the picture is being accepted as a basic analysis of alcohol, what it is, and what it does."
A second picture, "Pay-Off," shows social and financial implications of the use of alcohol, as well as the scientific effects. Eighty prints of this two reel picture are being circulated through the Y. M. C. A., and 15 have been bought by State W. C. T. U. Unions.
"The National Voice" calls our attention to our appalling consumption of cigarettes in 1937. "Americans set a new record in cigarette smoking when more than 78,000,000,000 of the 'cotton bolls' were consumed during the first half of 1937, according to a Treasury Department report. This is an average of more than 600 or three per day for every person in the United States."
Quoted in "Our Message" for October, 1937. The motto for both cigarettes and liquor manufacturers is "Excelsior," regardless of the increasing dire results to the nation. And the radio intrudes into the privacy of the home every day to declare that the cigarette is being improved. They have less nicotine in them and the fire in them is cooler, they tell us.
Here are two contrasting ideas. The first is from the American Legion Magazine of Sept. 1937, in a paid ad placed by the Breweries' Board of Trade, Inc., of New York.
"Beer—oldest manufactured beverage known to humanity—had always been the drink of marching men, virile men—the companion of those who have fought for what they believed right. From the days of the tribe of Benjamin to the present, beer has 'taunted' victory in every great battle in the world's history. It has been present at every important event for 6000 years."
"It is fitting that you of the American Legion who played a leading part in restoring beer to its place in the American system should have this greeting from us . . . While our organization like yours, beer will be maintained for the American people. We, as brewers, pledge you that we shall do our part in serving public interest." Probably a good many of the American Legion men would not agree with the brewers.
General Pershing has said: "Banish the entire liquor industry from the United States; close every saloon, every brewery; suppress drinking by severe punishment to the drinker, and, if necessary, death to the seller or maker or both, as traitors, and the nation will suddenly find itself amazed at its efficiency and startled at the increase in its labor supply. I shall not go slow or procrastinate, for I know what is the greatest foe to my men, greater even than the bullets of the enemy."

RELIEF SUPPLIES TO ENGLAND
TOTAL 20,000,000 POUNDS
DURING PAST 30 DAYS

"Mercy Train" Rushes 91 Tons of Food in London in Paris

American Red Cross war relief supplies are being rushed to England at an average of $50,000 pounds daily, it was declared in Washington, D. C., by Chairman Norman H. Davis.

Since July 1, he said, supplies totaling more than 20,000,000 pounds have cleared New York as cargo aboard British vessels. Every available foot of cargo space is being turned over to the Red Cross for the transportation of ambulances, foodstuffs, medicines, clothing, surgical dressings and other relief essentials, it was explained.

To enable the American Red Cross to spend every dollar on supplies, British ships are carrying Red Cross relief supplies without charge, Mr. Davis said. It was estimated by the Red Cross that approximately $350,000 has been saved since the beginning of the month through this arrangement.

Ships bound for the British Isles are embarking at the rate of more than one a day, according to information reaching national headquarters here from the Red Cross emergency warehouse at Jersey City, N. J. Supplies including 61 ambulances and large quantities of miscellaneous supplies have just cleared New York on an unnamed vessel, Chairman Davis said. This will bring the total number of ambulances sent the British Red Cross up to 101. Twenty more will leave for Great Britain in the next few days, according to shipping plans.

Five British ships which left New York under sealed orders are scheduled to arrive momentarily with American Red Cross supplies, Chairman Davis declared. They carry 2,047,257 pounds of foodstuffs, 220,024 pounds of clothing and bedding, four complete field kitchens and eight ambulances. Chairman Davis explained these supplies, and others soon to be turned over to Daniel Grant, chairman of the American Red Cross Committee at London, for distribution to the British Red Cross and other relief agencies.

Large quantities of articles made by Red Cross chapter volunteers throughout the country are arriving daily at the Red Cross warehouse at Jersey City, according to reports reaching here. Orders have been given for the shipment to England, on the first available boats, of 202,000 articles of clothing, 603,000 supplies, 17,300 hospital garments.

Expenditures for British war relief by the American Red Cross total $2,590,292, according to latest tabulations. It was stressed that this does not include any evaluation of chapter-produced garments and surgical dressings.

Letters arrived at national headquarters today from British children who have received chapter-produced clothing in evacuation centers and rural communities.

Cable advices reachin here from the League of Red Cross Societies at Geneva describe conditions as "desperate" among children and the sick and wounded in the Paris area. To meet a critical shortage of milk and children's foods, an American Red Cross "mercy train" has reached Paris with $50,000 worth of foodstuffs to be used solely for children, the sick and wounded in this region. These supplies were bought with funds exclusively donated for this purpose.

Upon reaching Paris, supplies will be distributed by Wayne Bartholomew, a member of the American Red Cross European delegation who has been stationed in that section.

HOW'S THIS?

The following is a composition exactly as written by a boy of 10 at Kitty Brewster School, Aberdeen, Subject: Beasts and Birds.

The bird I am going to write about is the Owl. The Owl cannot see at all in the daytime, and, at night it is as blind as a bat. I do not know much about the Owl, so I will go on to the Beast which I am going to choose. It is the Cow. The Cow is a mammal and it is tame. It has six sides right, left, fore, back an up-side and below. At the back it has a tail, on which hangs a brush. With this it sends the flies away, so that they will not fall into the milk.

The head is for the purpose of growing horns, and so that the milk can be somewhere. The horns are to butt with. The mouth is to moo with. Under the cow hangs the milk. It is arranged for milking.

When people milk, the milk comes, and there is never an end to the supply. How the Cow does it, I have not yet realized, but it makes more and more.

The Cow has a fine sense of smell. One can smell it far away. This is the reason for fresh air in the country. The man cow is called an Ox, and it is not a mammal. The Cow does not eat much, but what it eats, it eats twice so that it gets enough. When it is hungry it moos, and when it says "milk," it is because its inside is full up of grass.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

MIDDLESEX, SS. LAND COURT
To the Honorable the Judges of the Land
Court for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:
Respectfully represents Sherman W. Saltmarsh, of Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth; that he is owner of a certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth, and described as follows:
Lots 1 and 3 on plan of land recorded with Middlesex, SS. Book 240, Page 123, Plan 35, together bounded northwesterly by Street 28, 141 ft. 6 in. (formerly called Old Lane 160 feet), southeasterly by land formerly of N. Corcoran, Subdivided also of 128 feet and 6 in. (formerly called Old Lane 160 feet) and westerly by Mr. Vernon Street 160 feet. That said lot is owned by said Saltmarsh, and is mortgaged to said Commonwealth by George A. Atton, a duly recorded Book 240, Page 172, and duly recorded Book 240, Page 172, purporting to secure a note for $1000, payable in 3 months from date with interest. That the record title to said lot of land is clouded by a mortgage given by George A. Atton, to said William Wheelwright, dated May 1913, and duly recorded Book 240, Page 172, and duly recorded Book 240, Page 172, purporting to secure a note for $1000, payable in 3 months from date with interest. That the mortgage named said mortgagee and those claiming under him have been in possession of said land for more than twenty years after the expiration of the term of the mortgage, and the full performance of the conditions thereof. WHEREFORE, your petitioner prays that after a hearing notice a decree may be entered on the foregoing allegations as authorized by Section 23 of the General Laws as amended by Chapter 20 of the Acts of 1921.

SHERMAN W. SALTSMARSH
Commonwealth of Massachusetts
Middlesex, SS. Case No. 10,000
Upon the foregoing petition, it is ordered that the petitioner give notice to all persons interested in the land, appear before the Land Court, at Cambridge, within and after the expiration of thirty days from the date of the filing of this petition, and show cause why the same should not be granted.

By the Court.
CHARLES A. SOUTHWORTH, Recorder.

Dated: August 16, 1940.
A True Copy, Attest:
CHARLES A. SOUTHWORTH, Recorder.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS
Middlesex, SS. Land Court
To the Honorable the Judges of the Land
Court for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:
To Winchester Cooperative Bank, a duly existing corporation having an usual place of business in Winchester, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth; Leslie Pierce, Harold M. Pierce, Charles Tanso and Albert F. Tanso, of said Winchester; and Vacuum Oil Co., a duly existing corporation having an usual place of business in the County of Suffolk and said Commonwealth; and to all whom it may concern:
Whereas a petition has been presented to said Court by William Tibbels, of Medford, in said County of Suffolk, praying that he be appointed administrator of the estate of Robert Tibbels, late of Winchester in said County of Suffolk, and confirm his title in the following described land:
A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon, situated in said Winchester, bounded and described as follows:
Northerly by Brookside Avenue 84.87 feet; southerly by land now or formerly of the Society Vacuum Oil Co. 84.87 feet; and westerly by land now or formerly of Charles Tanso and the Winchester Cooperative Bank 150.00 feet.
The above-described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located and shown as shown on said plan.
If you desire to make any objection or defense to said petition you or your attorney must file a written appearance and a moving and oral setting forth the grounds and specifying your objections or defense in the office of the Clerk of said Court in Boston at the Court House, on or before the twenty-third day of September next.
Unless an appearance is so filed by or for you, your default will be recorded, the said petition will be taken as confessed and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any defense entered thereon.
Witness, JOHN C. LEGGAT, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this twenty-seventh day of August in the year nineteen hundred and forty.
Attest with Seal of said Court.
JOSEPH L. BENNETT, Deputy Recorder.
Wm. F. Ensey, Esq., 15 State Street, Boston, for the Petitioner.

GRANADA THEATRE, MALDEN

"Maryland," filmed entirely in beautiful Technicolor, with a cast of favorites including Walter Brennan, John Payne, Brenda Joyce, Fay Bainter, Marjorie Weaver, Hattie McDaniel and Charles Ruggles, will open a seven day engagement at the Granada Theatre in Malden today.

The background is beautiful and authentic because much of "Maryland" was filmed on location just outside of Baltimore, where the unusual world-famed Maryland Hunt Cup Race is held.

The absorbing story centers on a mother's aversion to horses after her husband has been killed in a race thrown during a fox hunt. But despite her inhibitions, her son becomes a proficient horseman and, to further complicate the situation, he falls in love with the granddaughter of a horse trainer.

Walter Brennan has a fine role as the horse trainer. Fay Bainter is the mother with John Payne and Brenda Joyce in the romantic love story. The romance, sweeping beauty and traditions of the proud South, together with the stirring heart-story of two spirited youngsters, make the wind-up Thames guides attackers from its mouth 50 miles away to London's location, to the world's most extensive lock works, to the power plants, the Ford auto plant at Dagenham, the cement works at Northfleet, and other strategic river-side industries.

Eighteen per cent of Great Britain's inhabitants live in London. In addition to being the administrative, financial and cultural center, the capital city is chiefly the world's food market. The world's busiest river port, London handles one-third of all Britain's foreign trade, and receives more than 100 per cent of the 60 million tons of food and raw materials which enter annually. No other port in England has facilities for handling such important goods as rubber, meat, and tea.

Many of the city's vital industries, such as oil refineries and blast furnaces, are spread along the banks of the Thames where raw materials can be delivered by water. Thus the winding Thames guides attackers from its mouth 50 miles away to London's location, to the world's most extensive lock works, to the power plants, the Ford auto plant at Dagenham, the cement works at Northfleet, and other strategic river-side industries.

RED CROSS SEWING

The Winchester Red Cross Chapter will reopen its room on the 3rd floor of the Town Hall, for war relief sewing, on Monday, Sept. 16 from 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. From this date the room will be open for war relief sewing on every Monday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

It is very urgent that as many volunteers as possible who can give part or a full day sewing to the call as the Winchester Chapter received from National Headquarters at Washington this week a very large quota of garments to be made.

Let us all do what we possibly can to help alleviate some of the suffering of these people who are so greatly in need of warm clothing.

JOHNSON WINS ELEVEN INNING PLAYOFF GAME

Artie Johnson, local pitcher, twirled the Hartford Baby Bees to an 11 inning 4 to 2 victory over the Scranton Minors in the Eastern League championship playoffs, Monday.

Johnson, in going the full distance, yielded only eight safe hits. In only one inning was he scored upon, Scranton obtaining their only runs in the third frame. Two runs in the last of the eleventh inning gave Hartford the edge in the extra inning combat. Scranton is the farm team of the Boston Red Sox.

More VALUE
—any way you measure it!

WITH this advertisement, Buick ushers in a brand-new automobile model year.

1940 production is history—recording the greatest manufacturing and selling season our company has ever known.

You may be sure we grimly realized we had to accomplish things in our new cars for 1941 that we could count on to continue our advance.

So, on top of the $42,000,000 spent on our plants and machines these last four years we've added another $10,000,000 in new facilities.

We've taken our greatest all-time car and steadily and carefully brought it forward to a perfection of action, ease, goodness beyond anything ever offered under our name.

Every car in all five series of the whole new line deserves unused fresh-minted language.

Stylewise, their suave and dynamic beauty refreshes the jaded eye as would sight of a hydrant in the desert.

They move and function like young wild things. They're all grace and poise and eagerness. They bring to driving and handling a keener pleasure and a new thrill.

Go see these superb new cars at your dealer's—without delay. They make plain why Buick is rightly called "exemplar of General Motors value."

ONLY CAR IN THE WORLD WITH ALL THESE FEATURES

- BUICK FIREBALL VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINES—115, 125 and 135 horsepower.
- MICRO-POISE BALANCING AFTER ASSEMBLY.
- COIL SPRINGS ALL AROUND—no lubrication, no spring covers.
- "MASS-STREAM" BODIES, with concealed running boards.
- COMPOUND CARBURETION—30-mile economy at 50 mile speed.
- PERMI-FIRM STEERING—for freedom from steering wheel play.
- DUREX MAIN BEARINGS—practically indestructible in normal service.
- FORE-AFT DIRECTION SIGNAL with Automatic Cut-Off.
- MASSIVE BUMPER—with built-in front license frame.
- PLUS: Full-length Torque Tube in Sealed Chassis * Tiptoe Hydraulic Brakes * One-Piece "Lift-Off" Hood * Built-in Automatic Chase * Heavy-Duty Oil Bath Air Cleaners * Sealed Beam Headlights * Two-Tone Body Colors * Safety Plate Glass All Around.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM.

Ask especially about the new micro-poise-balanced FIREBALL engines—the 1941 turbulence of Buick's Dynaflex design and kingly of all the features that make Buick the sensation of the new automobile year.

FLOWER SHOW

The theme of "Harvest" has been chosen as the central idea of a Flower Show to be held on Thursday, Sept. 19 at the Congregational Church in Reading from 2 to 10 p. m. There will be several classes which will stress the harvest motif, as well as decorations and commercial exhibits along the same line.

Among competitive classes there will be window sill, tray, modernistic and miniature arrangements. There are classes featuring antique, basketry, metal and wooden containers.

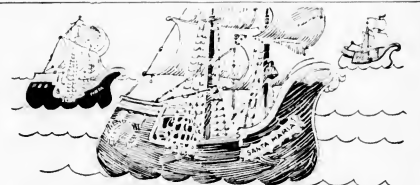

Winchester flower lovers are planning to attend this show from which the proceeds will be turned over to the Reading Chapter of the American Red Cross. The Garden Committee of the Reading Women's Club, which is sponsoring the show, takes this means of expressing gratitude that we live in a country where the harvest belongs to those who did the planting.

McSPADEN A WINNER AT STONEHAM

Pro of the Winchester Country Club Harold McSpaden in company with 16-year-old Walter Wilcox combined to bring first prize to the Winchester Club in the annual Pro-Junior tournament at the Bear Hill Golf Club, Stoneham, Sunday. The Winchester pair put together a card of 77 to beat George Carley and John Sheehan of Alhambra by two points.

A tie existed for third place Dan Johnston and George Ford of Needham and Roy McPhie and Roy Bromsdon of Brae Burn both registering cards of 80. Net honors were divided between Johnston and Ford with 305-70 and John Hayes and Jack Igou of Weid Country Club with an 82-70.

Jim Feran and Pro Phil Friel of the Woburn Country Club likewise competed in the event but failed to win a prize recording a score of 86-74.

HELD FIRST MEETING

The Eastern Middlesex Lodge, P. M. 1314, held its first meeting of the season at the Winthrop Community Center. It was an open meeting and a large gathering of members and friends were present.

After a few opening remarks by the president, Dr. M. Baer, the speaker of the evening was introduced. He was Richard Bluestein, executive secretary, New England regional office of the Anti-Defamation League. A few excerpts from his stirring address follow:

"Hate, which breeds division has no place in our country and cannot be tolerated during the time of crisis. For such hate is clearly the wedge with which the totalitarian governments hope to break democracy."

"Catholicism, Protestantism, Judaism have a common task in these troublesome times. They must keep their adherents morally aware of the dangers that confront us internally."

The next speaker was Miss Wiven, president of District 1 Grand Lodge Ladies Auxiliary, P. M. 1314, who helped organize a Ladies Auxiliary to the Eastern Middlesex Lodge.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Rounds of Central street returned yesterday from Cleveland.

GOVERNMENT MATCH COVERS DONATED

Treasury Department
 Washington, D. C.
 September 6, 1940

To the Editor of the Star:
 I have received a copy of the August 23rd edition of your newspaper and have read your editorial headed "Shoe on the Other Foot," which refers to book matches bearing a warning against counterfeiters and the name of the United States Secret Service.

The last paragraph of the editorial states that the cost of these paper match covers is passed on to the taxpayer. This statement is grossly inaccurate. Since January, 1940, the Secret Service has engaged in an educational campaign having as its watchword the phrase "Know Your Money." The purpose of this campaign is to educate our citizens against the twin dangers of counterfeit money and forged government checks. In addition, it represents the first time in history that a Government law-enforcement agency has attempted to suppress a major crime—counterfeiting—by education instead of the century-old method of prosecution and imprisonment. The counterfeiter can succeed in disposing of his worthless product only if his victims are ignorant about money. The fact that education has resulted in the saving of heavy losses to the public will be readily apparent when it is understood that over a recent five-year period our people lost an average of more than $1,000,000 a year by accepting counterfeit money, but during the past year such losses amounted to about $260,000.

Moreover, we are removing from the youth of the country the temptation to begin a criminal career through the so-called "easy money" counterfeiting route. We are reducing the number of prisoners to be otherwise maintained by public funds in penal institutions. We are working night and day to protect the public pocketbooks, and I feel that in light of our editorial you might be interested in learning of our true aims, which look to the saving of taxpayers' money and not to its expenditure.

For your information, the paper match covers mentioned in your editorial were prepared by the Diamond Match Company with our permission and were presented to the Secret Service by the company without any cost to the Government or any obligation to any of its branches. The information printed on the covers represented the extent to which the company cooperated with us at its own expense in our constant battle to protect the currency and the people of the nation.

Very truly yours,
 Frank J. Wilson,
 Chief, U. S. Secret Service

MRS. CLAFIN DEAD

Mildred Davis Clafin, wife of Walter L. Clafin, passed away very suddenly on Friday, Sept. 6 at the New England Sanitarium and Hospital in Melrose. Her death came as a shock to her many Winchester friends where she was born and lived for many years before moving to Stoneham. Mrs. Clafin was the daughter of the late Reuben S. and Anna B. Davis and was born in the Davis Homestead which used to stand where the Parker & Lane Building now is.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at the Kelley & Howe Funeral Chapel, Winchester and were conducted by the Rev. Arthur Olsen of the Melrose Unitarian Church.

Mrs. Clafin is survived by her husband, two daughters, Cynthia and Muriel and her sister, Mrs. Helen D. McLean.

Burial was in the family lot at Windwood Cemetery.

 RICHARDSON AND RAMSDALL
 ANSWER QUESTIONNAIRE

Mr. Harris S. Richardson, of Winchester, Candidate for State Senator, from the Sixth Middlesex District, answers the Questionnaire sent him by the League of Women Voters as follows:

1. Do you favor the extension throughout the State of special Children's Courts such as the Boston Juvenile Court?

Yes, if it does not bring too large a tax burden on the people.

2. Do you favor fewer and better State Teachers Colleges rather than the continuation of the nine existing institutions?

A special Recess Commission will report on this 1941 Legislature session. Withhold my decision until then.

3. Would you support legislation permitting Boston to decide for itself whether it wishes to elect its City Council by Proportional Representation?

Yes.
 Mr. Richardson is a resident of Winchester, graduated from the Chelsea Public Schools and Harvard College. Has served the Town of Winchester as Chairman of Finance, Chairman of Board of Selectmen, on Board of Appeal and a present member of the Planning Board. During his term of four years as Senator he has served on important Special Recess Commissions such as Commission on Investigation of Subversive Activities, and Commission on Investigation of Pollution of Water in Boston Harbor and Metropolitan District.

William Eben Ramsdell, of Winchester, Candidate for the State Legislature, answers the Questionnaire sent him by the League of Women Voters as follows:

1. Do you favor the extension throughout the State of special Children's Courts such as the Boston Juvenile Court?

Answer: Yes, providing the additional burden on the taxpayer is not too great.

2. Do you favor fewer and better State Teachers Colleges rather than the continuation of the nine existing institutions?

Answer: A Special Recess Commission has been studying this subject for two years and will report to the Legislature at its next session in 1941. Until I have an opportunity to familiarize myself with the report of this Special Commission, I do not care to express any views on this subject.

3. Would you support legislation permitting Boston to decide for itself whether it wishes to elect its City Council by Proportional Representation?

Answer: Yes.
 Mr. Ramsdell resides in Winchester, graduated from its Public Schools and from Boston University Law School, is an Attorney-at-Law. Mr. Ramsdell was a member of the Board of Selectmen, Winchester 1931-33, and Representative in the General Court from Middlesex Twenty-Ninth District 1933-40.

Three times the voters of the Sixth Councillor District have honored Mr. Burtnett, an outstanding Republican, by electing him to the office of Governor's Councillor. He always has served, and is at present serving, the citizens of the district with commonwealth with dignity, ability and integrity.

As ranking member of the Executive Council Committee on Finance, Councillor Burtnett has consistently and vigorously upheld the policies of the present Republican Administration.

Councillor Burtnett is Chairman of the Council Committee on Military and Naval Affairs and in that capacity has conscientiously supported Governor Saltonstall in his sincere and constructive efforts to have Massachusetts fully prepared to cooperate with the Federal Government in the present National Emergency. The situation on Beacon Hill requires the continued service of a Councillor who has proven that he believes in and will co-operate with the present Republican Administration and one who is also equipped with the necessary experience to render sound and mature judgments on problems of vital interest to our mutual well-being. Councillor Burtnett should be retained in office.

 TEA

Mrs. Booth Opens Home

Seventy-five interested women were present at the tea given by the Winchester Unit of the British War Relief Society at the home of Mrs. Francis Booth of Lakeview road on Wednesday afternoon. General conversation and war work discussion was interrupted to listen to Mrs. Anna R. Ross, Chairman of the Greater Boston Committee of the Society speak. She told of the organization's work at headquarters in New York City where over 1500 cases of finished work garments, clothing and dressings had been assembled and shipped to England without the loss of a single cent. That within three weeks of the time of shipment the articles were in use. Mrs. Ross stated that the membership money keeps a running fund available for the purpose of wool to be distributed from to branch units, of which there are now some 200 in the country. Also that part of their fund is sent direct to the British Red Cross.

Many questions were asked Mrs. Ross and it was realized more than ever that all effort, all strength, all enthusiasm is needed now to meet the call for help. Marion Waugh and Mrs. Fred M. Cameron were kept busy answering questions about the local group and they proudly showed the display of finished articles which are ready for shipping. The Winchester Unit in three short weeks has accomplished considerable work and are grateful for the daily increasing inquiries and contributions. The silver received at the tea establishes the Winchester Unit's Military Red Fund. Checks for two boxes have been received and a third is almost complete.

Poulters at the candle lighted tea table were Mrs. William L. Palmer, Mrs. Paul Howarth, Mrs. Howard J. Chasley and Mrs. J. Harper Blaisdell. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Charles Folsom and Mrs. Harold T. Deiterman.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF SOCIETY

Due to the ever increasing response to a call for workers to assist the main unit of the British War Relief Society the next meeting of the group on Wednesday, Sept. 13, will be held in the hall of the Episcopal Church. The unit has met, since organized three weeks ago, at the home of Mrs. Fred M. Cameron on Church street. All persons who have attended these meetings and those who are offering their time to join will please note his change in place of meeting. Coffee and tea will be served on the box lunches and all who are interested will find work to do from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. Further inquiries may be made by calling either Mrs. Marion Waugh, Win. 285-J, or Mrs. Fred Cameron, Win. 1584.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS.
 ELIZABETH ANN CALLAHAN

Mrs. Booth Opens Home

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Callahan last Saturday morning with a solemn high mass at St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. Joseph E. McGoldrick was celebrant with Rev. Fr. Francis L. Sullivan as deacon and Rev. Fr. Joseph Mahoney, subdeacon. Seated in the Sanctuary were Rev. Samuel J. Matthews, S. J., of Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Callahan was rendered by Mr. Thomas Wall and Mrs. John Collins of Woburn. She was a soloist accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Florence Fisher Reardon.

Committal prayers were read at the grave by Rev. Fr. Joseph Mahoney. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, East Woburn.

The bearers were William P. Mahoney of Arlington, William E. Reil of Woburn, Parker T. Murphy of Dorchester, Frank H. Mahoney of Winchester and George Styles of Lexington. Mrs. Callahan passed away at her home on Thursday, Sept. 5. She is survived by her husband, Timothy Callahan, and four daughters, Miss Abbie C. Callahan, Miss Gertrude M. Callahan, Miss Phyllis M. Callahan and Miss Louise A. Callahan, all of Winchester. She also has three sisters, Miss B. Harkins of Meadowbrook, Penna., Mrs. M. H. Morse of Long Island, N. Y. and Mrs. Frederick A. Whalen of Lexington. Mr. Callahan was a charter member of the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters and was also a member of St. Mary's Married Women's Society.

SOFT BALL A FLOP

Bad weather, with cold, cloudy skies and a smattering of rain, tended to keep the attendance down at last Saturday's soft ball game between the Ten O' Men and the Olympians for the benefit of the Red Cross. A modest sum was realized from the game however. No one has been found who can give the score. Apparently the girls were absolutely unable to stand up to the Ten O' Men, and finished the game yawning after the ball in complete realization of their defeat. The attendance was estimated at 200.

ATTENTION, RED CROSS SURGICAL DRESSINGS GROUP

Beginning Tuesday, Sept. 17, all surgical dressings will be made at the home of Mrs. Annan Shattlin, 12 Everett avenue, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. This group will meet every Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. There will be no sur for making surgical dressings at the Winchester Town Hall until further notice.

STRENGTHEN THE TICKET

A Superior Court Judge recently said in open Court: "I am very much impressed with the wise and comprehensive statement of District Attorney Edmund R. Dewing. It indicates a broad grasp of his duties to his County and to the public, with a large measure of common sense and judgment based on sound reason."

Facts ABOUT HOOD'S SUPERTEST Verified BY THESE HOUSEWIVES

On a Supertest farm: Mrs. George F. Brewer of Newton Centre, Mrs. S. Sherwood Smith and Mrs. J. Robinson Rues of Hingham and Mrs. Theodore K. Babcock of Reading with B. W. Mowers, D. V. M., Hood Veterinarian.

Examining special Supertest equipment on a farm—Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Harkow, Mrs. Brewer, and Mrs. Russ examining a stainless steel strainer.

Mrs. James Cunningham Gray, Jr. of Middlefield, watches one of the countless routine daily tests of Hood's Supertest Grade "A" Milk.

In the Hood Laboratory—Dr. A. C. Fay of the Supertest Council explains to Mrs. Charles S. French of Boston how a microscopic examination is conducted.

Showing the special Supertest bottle doubly protected by the Hood tamper-proof closure.

Seven mothers of growing children—careful household managers who still find time for a full and active life outside—were asked to verify the facts about Hood's Supertest Grade "A" Milk.

They did for you everything that you would do to check on the most important single food you buy for your family—Milk.

These women, at our expense, visited the farms and pastures of Supertest producers—the pick of New England's dairy farmers. They went through Hood's Milk Laboratory—one of the finest, most modern, and complete in the country. They visited the Hood Dairy Plant, and the special Supertest Bottling Room that assures complete safety.

And here are the facts they verified—a story of vital interest to every woman who is anxious to give her family the best.

7 CONSUMER VERIFIED FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW

1 VERIFIED SELECTION—For over two years, by constant attention to selection and elimination, each cow in every herd producing Supertest Grade "A" Milk is a proven quality leader. Farmers receive premium payments for their extra efforts.

2 VERIFIED PURITY—More than twice as many veterinary examinations are made than is required, and is customary. This extra care is reflected in the constant high degree of purity of Supertest Grade "A" Milk.

3 VERIFIED CLEANLINESS AND CARE—Special equipment, special cooling systems, and extra sanitary procedure to safe-guard Supertest Grade "A" Milk are required, and rigidly and frequently inspected at each farm where it is produced.

4 VERIFIED PROTECTION—Supertest Grade "A" Milk is bottled in a special room, in bottles used for this Milk exclusively. All Hood plant employees are under constant medical supervision. The Milk is doubly protected with an inner and outer tamper-proof Hood seal closure.

5 VERIFIED FLAVOR—This superior flavor has been proven by many dairy experts, and by numerous letters and compliments from customers. It is the result of constantly improved feeding methods on the farm, and automatically controlled pasteurization in the dairy plant.

6 VERIFIED CONTROL—Constant vigilance over every step in production is directly maintained by Hood's own corps of Dairy Experts.

7 VERIFIED SUPERVISION—by the Supertest Council—All Supertest Farms must maintain the necessary higher standards to qualify for the Certificate of Approved Methods issued by the Supertest Council.

Is your family getting the health and nourishment benefits of Supertest Grade "A" Milk—it costs no more than regular Grade "A" Milk.

The largest single demand of the American group of the British War Relief Society is for contributions toward the purchase of hospital beds and equipment. Some 10,000 beds is the quota. Many of these have been supported at an amount of $10 a bed.
The Winchester Unit received at their Silver Tea on Wednesday afternoon checks for the purchase of two beds.
This gift illustrates the enthusiasm with which the local organization is being received. It is anticipated funds for the third bed will soon be complete. Winchester citizens are alert to the situation and individuals as well as town organizations are aiding the winter's work to include hours donated to relief work.

ALBERT L. BOHANNON

Albert L. Bohannon, father of Raymond D. Bohannon of Clements street and for many years a resident of Medford, died Monday morning, Sept. 16, at a private hospital in that city after a year's illness.

Mr. Bohannon was born in 1873 in Alexander, Me. At the age of 16 he went to Seattle, Washington, where he spent some years in the lumber business. Returning East he settled in Medford, where for 25 years he was active as a carpenter and builder. Besides his son in Winchester, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Annie L. Bohannon; a brother, Ray Bohannon of Alexander, Me.; two sisters, Mrs. Walter Heinterson and Mrs. Adnan Enokles, both of Alexander; and two grandsons.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Kelley & Hawes Chapel with Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in Alexander, Me.

WAS FORMER RESIDENT

Word has been received in Winchester of the death on Sept. 10 in Lanenburg, of Mrs. Genevieve Brande, wife of Frank Brande and a former well known resident of this town. For many years the Brandes made their home at 50 Lloyd street in the house now occupied by Mr. Lester Leathers. They left Winchester for Tampa, Fla., in 1924. Latterly they had been visiting relatives in Lanenburg where Mrs. Brande died. The funeral and interment took place in northern New York.

MURPHY—LUONGO

Announcement is made of the marriage of Viola A. Luongo of Ledgewood road and Raymond T. Murphy of Exeter avenue, Lynn, in that city on Monday, Sept. 16.

LOICAMO—TOFURI

At St. Mary's Church on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 14, Miss Mary L. Tofuri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tofuri of Tremont street, became the bride of Mario Loicamo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Loicamo of Liberty avenue, Medford. Rev. Fr. Joseph P. Mahoney performed the marriage ceremony at 3 o'clock.

Miss Tofuri had for her honor attendant her sister, Miss Marjorie Tofuri. Miss Nancy Loicamo, small niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl and Dominic Tofuri, brother of the bride, ring-bearer. Bridesmaids were Miss Edith Petrillo of Woburn, Miss Beatrice Pomietto of Newport, R. I. and Mrs. Patricia Loicamo of Medford, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, made with a train and a long veil of tulle arranged with an emerald crown and orange blossoms. Her flowers were white roses and lilies of the valley. The honor maid wore a gown of Spanish rayon tulle with a coronet of blue gardenias and carried an old fashioned bouquet.

With their dresses of blue tulle, the bridesmaids wore coronets of pink gardenias similar to that of the honor maid and carried yellow roses. The flower girl wore a frock of Spanish rayon tulle with a matching baby bonnet and carried a basket of white asters. The ring-bearer was attired in a tuxedo.

Joseph Monaco of Medford was Mr. Loicamo's best man and the usher corps comprised James Loicamo of Medford, brother of the bridegroom; Charles Tofuri of Winchester, brother of the bride; and John Medeiros of Newport, R. I.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving with the parents of the bridegroom. Upon their return from a honeymoon trip Mr. Loicamo and his bride will make their home on Thoms street in Newport, R. I.

The Winchester Public Library is displaying in the non-fiction alcove some interesting amateur photography done by Robert Kitchen of Winchester street. These pictures may be seen at the library until September 25.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore NeGaun of Washington street, Woburn, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Virginia NeGaun, to Donald Ferullo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ferullo of Royal street. No date has been set for the marriage.

PAST NOBLE GRAND SERVICE CLUB

The Past Noble Grand Service Club of Victoria Rebekah Lodge, 178, will hold its first meeting of the fall at the home of Sister Margaret Parker, North Woburn, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 25.

More Power, per Gallon

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU'LL like the size of this trim new Buick SPECIAL for '41—its room, its softer ride, its Permi-firm steering, its fresh smart style and all that.

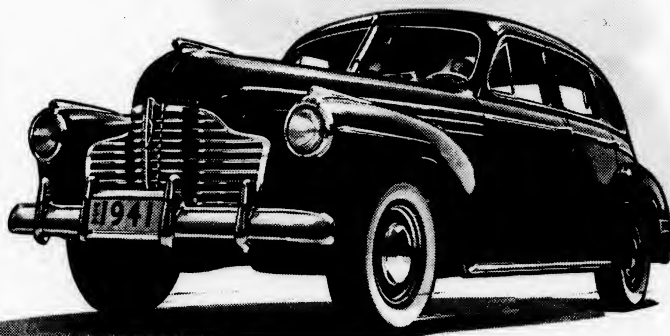

But what you'll go for is what happens under that broad bonnet—the thrill and the thrift you get from that husky, big, 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL* Eight.

For in each flame-packed cylinder of that silk-smooth power plant a flaring ball of fire is set off with each spark-leap.

Packed to higher compression than ever before, fuel gives up more power and more mileage—power when you need it, economy throughout the whole driving range.

Indeed, so great is the power at your command that at 30 you use only one-eighth of the energy at your disposal. All the rest is there waiting for pick-up, hill-climb and sudden getaway.

Even at 50 you use less than one-quarter of your available power, and at 75 still have nearly a half "on call" for emergency use.

*According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, a super motor which travels with a series of explosions like the shock waves of a great pressure is called a "Fireball."

More than that, to this engine you can likewise add Compound Carburetion—and step up both power output and your mileage. At 30 you'll get nearly one and one-half more miles per gallon, at 50 almost two, and at 70 an extra mile and one-fifth.

But that's just one side of the story—the facts side. Only one thing will give you the stirring feel of Buick's thrill-packed behavior on the road.

That's a demonstration—and it's yours for the asking. When will you be in to ask for it?

WINCHESTER SQUAD GROWING IN NUMBERS AND ENTHUSIASM

Opens Tomorrow with Framingham

Under the business-like driving of Head Coach, Henry Knowlton and his assistant, "Ed" Bartlett, the Winchester High School football squad is sweating off the surplus summer fat, smoothing out the rough edges of the early training grind and looking more and more like a dangerous threat to other aspirants to the Middlesex League crown as well as to the non-league opponents on this year's schedule.

The squad now numbers between 55 and 60 players in uniform, the largest squad the school has known for years. One of the indications of the ability of Coach Knowlton is daily emphasized by the fact that every one of these boys is kept busy throughout the practice session and every one of them is learning a lot of football. Frank Marabelli, senior and one of last year's stars, although ineligible because of the age rule this year, deserves the admiration of all supporters of the high school team for his voluntary assistance in working out daily with the scrubs.

With the team well drilled on the plays which will be used in the first game tomorrow at Framingham, the coach has driven steadily toward perfection in the execution of these few plays by goal-line scrimmages at Manchester Field between the first and second teams and by two long and valuable practice scrimmages with Arlington and the Reading High School squads during the past week. These work-outs did much to emphasize the rough spots and to give the boys a taste of what tomorrow's game with Framingham will be like.

The game will commence at 2:30 and the probable starting lineup will be as follows: re, Kimber or Harris; rt, Caputo; rg, Palumbo, capt.; c, Clark; lt, Roop; lt, Keyes or Jackson; le, Callanan; qb, Styles; rb, Derby; fb, Provinzano; fb, McCormack.

The complete list of players in uniform to date is as follows:

Ends: Farrell, Harris, Halvorsen, Smalley, Melvane, Kimber, Lindberg, Augusta, Callanan, Abrahamson, Poirier, Phippen, Cefali and R. Harris.

Tackles: Flaherty, Philbrook, Caputo, Leathers, Keyes, Jackson, Cross and Maurer.

Guards: O'Connell, J. Treacy, Warren, Whittemore, Cloninger, Donovan, Rodakian, Palumbo, Roop.

Centers: Clark, Tibundo, Amico, Ferro, Lentine and Horne.

Backs: Harris, Murphy, Ball, Redding, L. Treacy, West, Pynn, Grindle, Asaro, Styles, McCormack, Derby, Provinzano, Blake and Erico.

There has been a change in the final schedule because of a conflict in the Stoughton date as originally scheduled. Stoughton will play at Winchester at a later date.

The Oct. 12 holiday game at Dedham will be played at 10 a. m.

Dedham is planning a real celebration in connection with this game, which should prove to be a test for the local outfit. Dedham won 13 to 0 in victory over Malden Catholic Tuesday evening under the lights at Dedham, indicating that it will be no "breather" by Oct. 12.

The freshman squad will practice

again under the capable direction of Arnold Nichols, of the high school faculty and will arrange for a short schedule of games with teams of its own caliber.

Mr. William Rodgers has charge of the cheer lead squad this year and having been a college cheer leader himself promises to produce a bunch of real live wires to wield the megaphones.

Under the direction of Faculty Manager, Ray Hayward, the system of selecting and organizing the managers of the fall sports is being re-organized with the idea of giving more boys an opportunity to engage in this work and to win letters as seniors provided they survive the preliminary preparation as assistant managers.

BIG SQUAD OUT FOR FIELD HOCKEY

With one of the largest squads to report for field hockey in several seasons Coach Deborah Fenton, commencing her second year at Winchester High School, is quite pleased with prospects for another successful season despite the loss of seven of last year's eleven varsity players.

Coach Fenton isn't ready to predict another unbeaten, untied season, though the local girls have been unbeaten, untied and unscored upon during the past two years of campaigning against representative teams hereabouts. Such success, while building tradition that is helpful, takes a lot of living up to, and the local mentor is looking no time in getting her charges down to serious work in preparation for the varsity-second team meeting Oct. 1, preceding the first interscholastic match with Medford at Winchester Oct. 1.

Letter carriers available from last year's team include Capt. Helen Caputo, a wing, halfbacks Janet Hayward and Joyce Maxson, and fullback Dolly Greene. All are seasoned, capable performers and to bolster them are Cynthia Foote, Janet Duob, Alice Davis, Charlotte Moran, Claire McGrath, Anna Erico, Joan Moffette, Mary Marchesi, Maxine Lybeck and Barbara Watson, who played on last year's undefeated second team.

With this as a nucleus and an enthusiastic group of promising sophomores awaiting Coach Fenton's plans to fashion another good team. Whether it can equal the record of the past two seasons time alone will tell.

Besides the experienced players listed above, the following are candidates for the team: Mary Lou Allen, Joan Blanchard, Margaret Carroll, Carol Crandall, Ann Doreen, Betsy Drake, Emma Duffett, Grace Filippone, Kathryn Freyganze, Doris Hobbs, Charlotte Leary, Mary Murray, Marion Philbrook, Dorothea Richardson, Jean Stillman, Joanne Wild, Marilyn Tucker, Claire Tapley, Ellen Jackson, Elaine Williams, Lillian Byrre and Nancy Dalton.

The schedule follows:

- October
- 1—Second Team.
- 4—Medford
- 8—Arlington
- 18—Arlington away
- 25—Belmont
- November
- 1—Brookline
- 17—Watertown away
- 14—Melrose away

LAWSON LITTLE TO PLAY McSPADEN HERE

Winchester golfing enthusiasts will get a glimpse of Lawson Little, the present open golf champion, this week-end when that ruler of the greens and fairways comes to town to play 36 holes with Harold "Jug" McSpaden, professional at the Winchester Country Club.

The two will meet on the country club links, playing 18 holes on Saturday afternoon, commencing at 3:15, and 18 holes Sunday afternoon, commencing at 2:45. Harry McGrath, chairman of the country club's golf committee, will be in general charge of arrangements for the match which Phil Hendrick of the home club will referee.

Besides his open championship title, Little is a former Canadian open champion and has twice won both the British and United States amateur titles. The popular "Jug" is a member of Ryder Cup Team, former Canadian open champion and three times Massachusetts open champion. He is the present open champion of the Philippine Islands.

McSpaden and Little are very friendly rivals and there is nothing at all in the nature of a "grudge match" in their local meeting, though each will be very happy to win. The pair have long wanted to hook up in a match and with Little just finishing his season conditions were such as to enable him to come to Winchester.

The open champion will stay on for supper at the country club after the match and his guests an opportunity to meet him.

THE "BANSHEE" WINS AT NEW YORK

The "Banshee" long the terror of decked sailing canoes under the guidance of the Dudley Murphy, returned to her winning ways last week-end at City Island, N. Y. The occasion was a challenge to the Winchester Boat Club team of Fred Fish and Harry Bean, sailing the "Banshee" and "Apache" for the Union Boat Club Challenge Trophy in interschool competition. For many years this trophy was successfully defended by J. A. Newman at Boston and was finally won by Alden Smith, present national champion and William Lux. Smith and Lux sailed again this year when "Banshee" and "Apache" won in straight heats, the "Banshee" being piloted hard by Smith in "Tom" and the "Apache" breaking even with Lux in "Leon II." While the margin of victory was small, it was enough and for the next year at least the interesting trophy remains with the Winchester Boat Club.

SCORES IN MIXED FOURSOMES TOURNAMENT

Winchester players in the annual mixed foursomes tournament at the Bear Hill Golf Club Wednesday turned in the following scores:

Mrs. A. A. Hendrick	91
Walter Wilcox	98
Mrs. N. P. Halliwell, North Andover and T. M. Lewis	87
Mrs. E. B. Badger and J. Wilcox	96
Mrs. J. B. Miller, Oakley and A. W. Friend	97
Mrs. V. Farnsworth and C. G. McDavitt	91

WINCHESTER BOYS IN COLLEGE FOOTBALL

Advices from Boston University this fall seem to indicate that Frankie Provinzano, former Winchester High and Wilbraham Academy flash, will see plenty of backfield service during the fall campaign. Frankie is a real triple threat, running, passing and kicking well enough for big time competition.

At Northeastern Frankie Murray, former Winchester High tailback, is expected to get his varsity chance this fall with a co-captain of the eleven and another first string backfield performer on the ineligible list. Gurney was a reserve back at Winchester High and held a similar role at Springfield last year.

Up at Springfield Kenzie Gurney is expected to get his varsity chance this fall with a co-captain of the eleven and another first string backfield performer on the ineligible list. Gurney was a reserve back at Winchester High and held a similar role at Springfield last year.

Another boy who is expected to break into the gymnasts' varsity line-up this fall is Walter "Little Joe" Josephson, towering end, who was an all-Middlesex wing man while at Winchester High and later played stellar football for Huntington school and last season for the Springfield freshmen.

Down at Orono, Maine, James "Bucky" Harris, former Winchester High captain, saw some action of service as a center a year ago and is expected to make a strong bid for a regular position this fall.

Across the Charles big Don Wilson, lineman on the crack Winchester eleven of 1937, is listed among the guard candidates for the Harvard varsity, but the name of Doug Graham, captain at Winchester High in '38 and last year a regular back on the Crimson frosh, hasn't as yet appeared among the candidates for varsity service.

Tony DeTeso, fiery little all Middlesex League star, is expected to be a candidate for the Tufts freshman eleven, and Bill McEwen, backfield regular at Winchester High last year, is expected to report for duty with Bates freshmen at Lewiston this fall.

ELKS' NOTES

A delegation of thirty-five local Elks, headed by Exalted Ruler Howard H. Smith, of the Winchester Elks, Charles Meek, attended the Inter-Lodge Tournament dinner, held in advance of the current season of competition last Friday evening at the Elks' Home in Somerville.

A delicious lobster supper was served and was followed by an entertainment program and dancing. A most enjoyable evening was spent with final plans being completed for the tournament season which opened for Winchester last evening with Melrose Visiting the local lodge.

The committee in charge of the big Charity Ball which is back on the social calendar after a lapse of several years is pleased to announce that it has secured a loan Skelton, popular colored baritone of the Westminster Hotel Roof show, to appear on the entertainment program which is to feature the ball, to be held at the town hall Friday evening, Oct. 11. Many in Winchester have enjoyed Skelton's singing at the Westminster and are looking forward to the opportunity of hearing him here.

MORTON WON SINGLES CUP

Bill Morton won the Winchester Tennis Association Cup emblematic of the town's singles champion-him by outlasting and out-staying Hall Gamage in the final round of singles play in the annual fall tournament on the Palmer street courts last Sunday afternoon, 9-7, 6-1, 5-7, 4-1.

Morton won his way into the championship bracket by winning from the defending champion, Herb Ross, Sunday morning, 6-2, 6-2. Gamage at the same time accounted for the veteran Jim Riley, also in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. The championship match was well contested and the big gallery gave both players a big hand at the conclusion.

Morton's win adds his name to those already engraved on the cup. Herbert Ross winner in '39, '34, '36 and '38; Larry Frechurn, winner in '34, '32 and '30; Norman Darymple, '37; Hall Gamage, '35, and Jim Riley, '31.

Play in men's doubles has reached the championship round with Hall Gamage and Dick Riley meeting Herb Ross and Al Pennell for the title Sunday afternoon at Palmer street at 2:30.

of the quarter final bracket by virtue of their win over Shirlee White and Leo Lieberman, 6-3, 6-1. In the lower half Jim Riley and Susie Cutler are quarter finalists, having defeated Al Pennell and Mary Keyes, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

The matches in singles, doubles and mixed doubles all furnished some fine competition last week-end and were greatly enjoyed by a good sized gallery. It is expected even more enthusiasm will turn out for the matches this week.

WINCHESTER GOLF

J. F. Gibbons and Dave Shean had a 66 to tie with Ralph Bonnell and Raymond Hollisworth in the four-ball, three-quarter handicap golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. Following is the summary:

A professional woman, who has had occasion to spend some little time in Winchester lately, during a recent visit to the Star, told something of the impression she has obtained from her contacts with the community. She was delighted with the general appearance of the town, its cleanliness, attractive homes, well kept grounds, good roads and fine looking school and church buildings. She was surprised at the recreational facilities afforded, intrigued by the beautiful walks near at hand and much pleased with the cordiality and helpfulness of local merchants. She was not so happy about the atmosphere of the churches she had visited, finding the people reserved almost to the point of apathy toward strangers. No sweeping indictment was offered. In recounting her experience the lady admitted that often strangers attending church adopt an attitude that makes anything but a cordial meeting very difficult. The Star is surely not taking the local churches to task. Whether the fault found with them by this visitor is really a prevalent attitude of a community, or a mere individual's opinion, is a challenge to the visitor's opinion is, therefore, offered rather as a challenge than in criticism.

SOCRATES SAYS

THE SIXTH COLUMN

Carter Glass says that he does not believe in the "third term"; that he is unalterably opposed to the "third term"; but that he is going to vote for the "third term".
What manner of logic is that and what are the possibilities of our defending our democracy and resisting "one-man rule" when such a thing is wrong but if HIE wants it, it's right?

It was this very psychology—unwittingly followed abroad—that helped in the development of dictatorships more than any other factor.

THE TRADE WITH ENGLAND

America wanted England to have those destroyers and all the help we can give, of that there is no doubt. America wanted the air bases and of that, too, there is no doubt.

But the trade for those air bases was a very poor one. We should have bought them, owned them outright. If Hitler conquers England he can claim the bases as the result of his victory, if he so chooses.

The "transaction" was likened to the Louisiana Deal, but that deal was the Louisiana Purchase.

PUBLIC UTILITIES

Willkie once had an apartment on Fifth avenue and the public utility, from which he resigned after putting it on its feet, is still doing business.

Roosevelt has a whole house in the Park avenue district and the public utility, started at "Quoddy Dam" and from which he will not resign, is out of business for good.

But really, what under the sun has it to do with the resignation of the public utility of democracy, a "third term" or as an ally for not having adequate national defense since 1933, the year Hitler began to live on a mountain.

NEW-DEAL-PROOF SHELTERS

America taxes almost confiscatory taxation—a short-lived benefit that cannot be prevented—a higher national debt limit (also one for your self)—a still further changed gold value—absolute loss of foreign trade—unbelievable competition from low priced manufactured goods from totalitarian countries (a fact of the future)—and the shame of facing a "third term".

"Happy Daze"—as prophesied are indeed creeping over the world. It has been said, "An optimist is a fool but a pessimist is a bigger one."

Speak softly—Run to the polls and not to the "New-Deal-Proof Shelters".

Socrates

CARD OF THANKS

To the Editor of the Star:
On behalf of Mr. Groux I wish to thank the voters of Winchester for their strong support at the polls. The voters wasted on local candidates who haven't a chance proves again the desirability of the primary.

W. R. Baker, Manager

TO THE VOTERS OF MIDDLESEX COUNTY

Many thanks and deep appreciation for the splendid vote of confidence by which you have elected me as the Republican candidate for Treasurer of Middlesex County.

Cordially,
Charles P. Howard

FREE THE BONDSMEN

Editor of The Press Herald:

Nothing is more stupid, more incomprehensible, more remote from the truth established by sound logic than the "doctrine of indispensability" which the political followers of President Roosevelt promulgate in their campaign for his election to a third term. But then, Charles Elliot, late president of Harvard University, outstanding American of his day, said: "It is given for few people to be able to determine the balance of logic."

If the President, after seven years of off it with unlimited money and power given him by a hypnotized Congress, could not solve a single economic problem in time of peace, balance the budget or establish prosperity, all the time running the Country behind Canada, England, France and Germany in the degree of recovery from the depression, in heaven's name what would he be in time of war? The war in Europe has been a God-send to him and his henchmen because it has distracted public attention from his blunders and administrative incompetence.

As governor of New York he left the state with a deficit of $100,000,000. His successor, Governor Lehman, paid it while Mr. Roosevelt nonchalantly, with playboy air and serene complacency, piled deficit on deficit thereby ensnaring the poor in the chains of mounting taxes, crippling every endowed institution, hospital, college, charity and foundation, making the poor poorer, retarding business expansion and recovery by that means maintaining unemployment lowering the morale of labor, disheartening ambitious youth by starting the life's rugged way, making a once free people bondmen to an incompetent administration. Futile experiments, resourced, ancient political failures, dreamy idealism, impractical minds have been inflicted upon the people, camouflaged under the name of the New Deal. Does this record make Mr. Roosevelt indispensable?

If you gave the president of a great corporation carte blanche and all the money he wanted and he ran the business more and more in the red after seven years trial when other corporations in the same line of business were prospering, would you keep him in charge of the business? If a man with a sound record of years of successful management of large affairs and proved business ability? How absurd the "doctrine of indispensability"?

If you want a man for President of the United States for the next four years who is not egocentric, not swayed by flattery, not impractical, you cannot vote for Mr. Roosevelt for a third term. On the other hand, if you want a man of unbounded business and money, with many years experience in handling large business affairs successfully, one with an unbroken record of high character from his boyhood, who obtained his college education by honest day labor followed by an honorary degree from a great university, a man of literary and personal cultivation who insists that business is not impractical, you cannot vote for Mr. Roosevelt for a third term. If you are a Democrat you may honor your Country and yourself by naming the next President, naming the days of Grover Cleveland? If you want such a one as you will vote for Willkie. In a certain sense he is not a Republican nor is he a Democrat which is to say he belongs to all the people—he is an American.

Willkie once had an apartment on Fifth avenue and the public utility, from which he resigned after putting it on its feet, is still doing business.

Roosevelt has a whole house in the Park avenue district and the public utility, started at "Quoddy Dam" and from which he will not resign, is out of business for good.

But really, what under the sun has it to do with the resignation of the public utility of democracy, a "third term" or as an ally for not having adequate national defense since 1933, the year Hitler began to live on a mountain.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By Jim Cron and Tom Fina

Tuesday morning found about 800 high school students clustered about the bulletin boards in the halls, looking for the numbers of their respective home rooms to be. However, by the time classes had commenced the chaos had subsided.

Library Club—The Library Club under the sponsorship of our new librarian, Miss Jacks, is extending the opportunity of membership to anyone interested. Miss Jacks needs a particular person for each period of every day. Those interested should see her immediately. The work entailed is very light, and anyone who can typewrite will be especially appreciated. The president of the club is Virginia McPartland, who is waiving the formality of having new members voted in.

Sports—In a recent interview with the coach, Mr. Knowlton, we learned that a new managerial system is being inaugurated. As explained to us, this is the system; each year a certain number of freshmen will be taken as managers, and each year a number of ill-fitted boys will be dropped from the staff. In this way by the time the freshmen are seniors, they will have few select students capable of assuming responsibilities, such as the handling of the transportation, equipment and publicity departments.

Also now this year will be the use of students as trainers for the football squad.

Science Club—Doyle Alley has set the date for the first meeting of the very popular Science Club for the first Wednesday of October in order to elect officers and effect a general organization. The meeting will be held in room 32.

Here's a tip for freshmen and sophomores: the best way to miss most of your Algebra class is to go to the office with some supposedly valid excuse, just before the period begins. These days, the office staff is occupied with much work connected with making the school proceed in an orderly manner.

French Club—The French Club will not have too few students participating in the show, your reporters were recently told by Miss Mackdon.

Sports—Coach Knowlton says that the football squad has worked hard to learn new tactics, and if they play as well as they practice, he anticipates a very successful season. We wish the team and his squad all the success that they rightfully deserve.

By this time the faculty will have recovered from the arduous task of explaining to the newcomers to W. H. S. the intricacies of the lockers which were assigned to them on Friday the 13th.

Trials Club—The annual drive for books commenced on Thursday of last week and all indications seem to show that W. H. S. will be as thrifty this year as ever.

Student Government—The school year of 1941 will witness the revival of Student Government in Winchester High School. The system seems to be very popular as it was adopted by the students by a large centage of about three to one. This does not mean that the one quarter who did not vote in favor of it necessarily oppose student government, however.

The sponsors or faculty advisors for the Council are Messrs. Cooper and Graves. These gentlemen have entertained a genuine interest in the movement ever since it was first discussed by the English classes.

Next year, when the election of officers should take place within the month, The Council will move slowly until all of the problems entailed with such a venture are taken care of.

One of the things that the Council will do is manage many of the assembly programs. They will arrange for speakers and other forms of entertainment which they believe will appeal to the student body. Also, the Student Government will be the leader in all school activities.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF SOCIETY Episcopal Church Meeting

The group sewing, knitting and making emergency dressing bandages at the Wednesday meeting of the British War Relief Society, Winchester District Nursing Association, held at the Episcopal Church is greatly appreciated and proved to be most timely. Until further notice the church hall will be the place of meeting.

Again, a cordial invitation is extended to anyone interested to spend some time to this worthy work. To stress the need is certainly not necessary and all organizations set up to do relief work must be supported. For the duration of the war and long afterwards help from America will be needed.

Information will be gladly given as to work, purpose, and the executive set-up of the society, by Mrs. Fred M. Cameron, (Win. 1834), or Mrs. Marian Waugh, (Win. 2387-J).

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

The regular board meeting of the Winchester District Nursing Association was held on Friday, Sept. 13, at the home of the president, Miss Adelaide Homer with the following members present: Mrs. John I. Cecil, Mrs. Vincent Clarke, Mrs. Robert Holmes, Miss Adelaide Homer, Mrs. E. O. Horner, Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mrs. Theodore Monroe, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. Gardner D. Pond, Mrs. Jameson Slacum, Mrs. William Spaulding, Mrs. Henry K. Spencer and Mrs. James W. King.

Mrs. O'Leary, the nursing supervisor, reported a busy summer with 836 calls made.

Information available through the District Nurse will soon be mailed to all Winchester homes.

Mrs. Percy Burdett elected to the board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. John Pearson who has moved to Hanover, N. H.

HUMANITY NO NARROW CREED

(Written for the Winchester Star)

Service to Humanity is no narrow creed. No rule of despot that thirsts for paltry power. No creed beyond humankind's daily need. It never looks but to the present hour.

One God to reverence, a human being to help. That is Humanity. Service to Humanity is the outstretched hand. And wide open heart, and sympathetic mind. That shares our fellow's burdens. That understands. The wants and wishes and needs of a human kind. That asks no gifts but clear eyes to see.

That is Humanity. Service to Humanity is the pitying touch. Of love above the sufferer's couch of pain or travail. That brings succor to one who needs it much. That is Humanity. Eugene Bertram Willard

As the Star went to press this morning it had not been decided whether the local schools would be closed for the Big Legion Parade in Boston on Tuesday.

OPPORTUNITY FOR MUSIC LOVERS

Through the efforts of an active group committee of Winchester women, music lovers of this town will soon be given the opportunity to further the cause of fine music for young people.

There has been growing among students of high school and college age, a revival of interest in classical music. The Youth Orchestra which Leopold Stokowski has sponsored is one manifestation of youthful enthusiasm for fine music. But by far the greatest sign of this trend toward the classical is the "soft outer" attendance which has taken place at the Boston Symphony youth concerts conducted for the past two seasons in Boston by Whittier Hall.

Although hundreds of greater Boston children of both public and private school attended these concerts, comparatively few children from Winchester were present.

This year, due to the efforts of Mrs. Herbert W. Kelley and Mrs. Ellsworth Snow and now under the active leadership of Mrs. Warren Shoemaker, it is hoped that many more young people of this town, of Junior High School and High School age may have this rare privilege.

A private bus will be arranged to take them from the school to Symphony Hall.

The price of these concerts to the young student is so low, that even with Symphony Hall sold out, enough money is now available to pay the expenses of each performance. For this reason Mr. Beckett has asked the cooperation of Mrs. Shoemaker's committee in Winchester's plan to have young people of this town, of Junior High School and High School age may have this rare privilege.

TROPICAL JELLYFISH IN WINCHESTER RESERVOIR

A jellyfish named Craspedicosta Took up residence out in Winchester (pardon).

They fed her some bait.
Made of copper sulphate.
And dissecting her dinner didn't hurt her.
So ran the rhyme that Winchester residents are singing these days as a result of the finding of a thriving supply of extremely rare but harmless tropical fresh-water jellyfish in the North Reservoir.

State Harry W. Weston of the Winchester Water and Sewer Department shut off the water in North Reservoir a few days ago and reported the presence of the fish to Arthur D. Weston, director of the division of sanitary engineering, State Department of Health.

The fish are extremely rare in this part of the world. Weston found the Marine Biological Laboratory at Woods Hole reported they had been seen in Massachusetts only once before, in an Attleboro pond. And the only other instance in this country, according to Weston, was their occurrence in a pond in Kentucky. The best way to get rid of the fish, the laboratory reported was to use copper sulphate in the water.

How did the fish ever come to live in Winchester? Weston thinks it is just possible that some goldfish were dumped in the reservoir by someone who didn't want them hanging around the home. These fish might have been carrying spores of these tropical jellyfish which later developed into the fish themselves.

Meanwhile Winchester has abandoned ideas of turning the North Reservoir into a tropical fish hatchery and aquarium. Mild doses of copper sulphate are being fed to the jellyfish and they should be gone Weston said, in the next few days. The jellyfish are not poisonous. They are being destroyed more for aesthetic reasons than anything else.

And just in case anyone is interested, the name of the mischievous little invertebrates is plainly and simply Craspedicosta.—(Boston Globe)

ALEXANDER—OWEN

Miss Dorothy Wilhelmina Owen, daughter of Mrs. Georganna Owen of Forest Hills, N. Y., and Frederic Charles Alexander, Jr. of Forest Hills,
N. Y., and Mrs. Frederic Charles Alexander of Lakeview road, were married in Forest Hills at the Church in the Garden on Saturday, Sept. 14.
A reception was held after the ceremony at the Forest Hills Inn.

Miss (Arlington) Owen acted as maid of honor for her sister, and another sister, Mrs. Ruth Owen, was a bridesmaid, the other being Miss Nancy Goddard of Southbridge, niece of the bridegroom. Richard Barnard of Winchester was Mr. Alexander's best man and the ushers were Thomas Morrow of Forest Hills and Eben Jackson of Danvers.

After a wedding journey Mr. Alexander and his bride will reside at 20 Dale Gardens on Austin street in Kew Gardens, N. Y., where they will be at home after Oct. 1.

CLASSICAL RECORD FANS

Anyone interested in forming a record club at which classical recordings, symphonies, operatic, etc., would be played and discussed is urged to get in touch with Cynthia Laraway, 8 Wedge Pond road, Winchester. Now that the cost of good recordings has been reduced, there must be an increasing number of people who will buy and play this type of record. If enough persons desire to meet regularly to share their own records and listen to those of others an interesting and pleasant interchange of music should result.

The State open mixed foursomes tournament opens at the Winchester Country Club this Friday.

RICHARD W. MACADAMS
New Commandant, Winchester Post, A. L.

At the annual election of Winchester Post, 95, American Legion, held recently at the Post Headquarters on Washington street, the following officers were chosen to serve the Post for the ensuing year.

Officers were installed at a joint installation with the officers of the Post Auxiliary, held last evening in Lycium Hall.

The installing officer was County Commander John L. Delany, who was assisted by the Drill Team of Watertown Post, 99, Local Legionnaires attended the installation in uniform and the entire ceremonial was most colorful and impressive. Former National Commander Daniel D. Dwyer of Woham was guest of honor.

It is of interest that once again Winchester Post and its Auxiliary are being headed by husband and wife, former Selectman Richard W. Mac-Adams being the new Legion head and his wife, Mrs. Gussie MacAdams, being the new Auxiliary president.

Committee members were: John L. Delany,
Senior Vice Comd., R. H. B. Smith,
Junior Vice Comd., James W. Blackham,
Chairman, Charles D. Rachee,
Finance Officer, James T. McCallum,
Charles W. MacAdams, Clerk,
Historian, Marshall W. Symms.

Decorators: Richard W. MacAdams, Marshall W. Symms, John H. McCarthy, John C. Moohan, Paul A. Murres, John J. Keefe, George F. Young, Robert J. Sullivan.

Edward Boyle, Bertram Garvey, John P. Moynihan.

CHESTER G. PECK DIES

Chester G. Peck, 60, retired Boston real estate and insurance broker, died last Friday from a heart attack in the Winchester Hospital. He gave up active business interests about six years ago.

Mr. Peck had been well-known at trotting parks in the state, having his own stable of horses that he trained at his estate in Lincoln. He graduated from the Arlington High School. He was a trustee of the Arlington Five Cents Savings Bank, and a member of the First Congregational Church in Lincoln.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Genevieve (Sawyer) Peck; a son, Chester G.
Peck, Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Alexander M. Clark of Cambridge; and a sister, Mrs. William D. Elwell of Arlington.

Funeral services were held in the Congregational Church, Lincoln, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with interment in the Lincoln Cemetery.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Of special interest to Fortnightly members should be the annual convention of the New England Conference of State Federation of Women's Clubs which will be held at the New Ocean House, Swampscott Sept. 23, 24 and 25.

Since each New England state is in turn hostess to her sister states, the convention comes to Massachusetts only once in six years.
Built about the theme "Democracy—Our Heritage and Our Trust," the program offers an exceptional list of speakers and timely subjects.
Much credit for this goes to our own Mrs. Ellsboro who is program chairman for the convention.

Mrs. Harry W. Smith, past president of the New Hampshire Federation of Women's Clubs, is president of the conference and will preside.
Speakers include Lieut. Governor Horace T. Cahill who will speak on "Democracy Versus Sanity," Miss Natalie Hays Hammond, Miss Eunice H.
Avery, Prof. H. Duncan Hall of Harvard University, Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond, Rev. Dr. Rufus C. Stoddard of the Old South Church, and two women who have witnessed air-raid attacks in England and France.
On Monday evening there will be a musical with solos by Martha Atwood Baker and a recital by the Women's Symphony Society of Boston.

A special program on "Citizenship" prepared by Mrs. Fred L. Pigeon, assisted by Harvey S. Graver, superintendent of the Lynn public schools and Miss Isabelle D. McLean, director of Americanization will be presented on Tuesday morning. Tuesday afternoon the President's Round Table will discuss "To Youth Belongs the Future—Maturity the Opportunity to Mold It."

This convention is a rare opportunity for any who can attend and the inspiration gained there will surely be a source of help throughout our own club year.

Fortnightly members are urged to assist in every possible way in the work of the Red Cross and the local committee of the British War Relief Society. The Red Cross is at present meeting at the Town Hall on Mondays from 10 to 4 with especial emphasis on knitting and sewing. The British War Relief Society meets at the Church of the Epiphany on Wednesdays from 10 to 4 and would like workers on surgical dressings for which there is a great demand.
The British War Relief Society will be glad to receive any suitable used clothing.

METROPOLITAN BALLET STAR FOR ARLINGTON

Continuing its policy of obtaining the best the Curry School of Dancing in Arlington can produce, the committee of the British War Relief Society is the addition of Harry Hamilton to its teaching staff for its Boston and Arlington studios. It is not often that a suburban town can boast of a teacher of Mr. Hamilton's ability. He has for the past two years been the featured dancer of the Metropolitan Opera Ballet. Previous to this he was a member of the Fokine Company, soloist with the Ballet Moderne and featured with the Pavlov-Ouk-rainsky Ballet. He has taught for the best known studios in Chicago, New York and San Francisco as well as in Europe.

The Curry School has added Mr.
Hamilton to its staff to take care of the numerous requests for Ballet, Modern and Theatre Dance that have been made the studio for the past few years.

Russell Curry will as usual take care of the Tap, Ballroom and Body Fluency as in past years, but now with the assistance of Mr. Hamilton every type of dancing will be taught by the School.

WINCHESTER LEGIONNAIRES IN CONVENTION PARADE

A delegation of 100 uniformed Legionnaires, with their military band, participated in Tuesday's big parade which highlighted the current national convention of the American Legion in Boston.

The local detachment was led by Commander Richard W. MacAdams, and had in line six past commanders, Rep. William E. Ramsdell, Vincent P. Clarke, Arthur S. Harris, W. Allan Wilde, Stafford Rogers and Marshall W. Symmes. George Donaghey and Tony Cullen were color bearers and the guards were Lawrence Nichols and Michael O'Brien. The Legionnaires carried the official convention canes and made a good appearance.

At the head of the parade was a pretty strutting drum major, whom every one admired but whom no one seemed to know. Some said she came from Reading, others from Saugus, but all agreed that she had attached herself to the band in lieu of another outfit and had done a good job.

The local detachment formed on Commonwealth avenue between Clarendon and Dartmouth streets at 6 o'clock, the hour of assembly being 2. They swung into line at 7:30 and broke ranks at Columbus avenue at 9 o'clock.

Past Commander John McCarthy and P. T. Foley acted as liaison officers during the parade and a former Winchester Legionnaire, Ned Boyle, now a member of the Woburn School Committee was doing traffic duty at one of the busy streets.

Things were very quiet in Winchester on parade day, many of the local business houses closing their doors at noon to permit their employees to see the spectacle. The local schools did not close, though most of them in neighboring cities and towns were reported to have done so. The Star received many queries about the local schools, others being received at police and fire headquarters. Town employees who were veterans were given the day off.

MRS. JESSIE MUNROE MacMILLAN

Mrs. Jessie Munroe MacMillan, widow of Edward MacMillan and a former well known resident of Winchester, died Sunday evening, Sept. 22 in New York, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Herbert Bishop.

Mrs. MacMillan, who was in her 70th year, was born in Dundee, Scotland, but for nearly 60 years she made her home in Winchester, Beverly and Medford, being connected with many societies and clubs in each community and having a wide circle of friends. About a year ago she left Medford and previous to going to New York, had been making her home at 60 Commonwealth avenue in Boston.

Mrs. MacMillan leaves two daughters, Mrs. Bishop in New York, and Miss Helen MacMillan, well known Boston attorney; four sons, Alexander of Washington, D. C.; Edward, of Beverly; Arthur of Medford; and Harry MacMillan of New York; three brothers, David and Gibson Munroe of Beverly; Charles Munroe, Irving Michigan; a sister, Mrs. Mary Schilling, living in New Jersey; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at the late residence in Boston.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd lectures at High School Auditorium Friday, October 18, at 3 p. m. and 8:30 p. m., sponsored by Winchester Mothers' Association, benefit Scholarship Fund. Following illustrated lecture, Admiral Byrd will remain for Antarctica trophy exhibit and to autograph his books sold that night during exhibition.

MRS. ELLEN HURLEY TIMMINS

Mrs. Ellen Hurley Timmins, who died early Monday morning in Exeter, N. H., was the mother of Mrs. James H. O'Connor of White street, the former Valerie Timmins who graduated as a registered nurse from the Winchester Hospital Training School.

Mrs. Timmins, who died at her home, 21 High street, was the wife of James Timmins. She was 76 years old and had made her home in Exeter for nearly 60 years. She was both well known and highly esteemed in Exeter and also had many Winchester friends made through frequent visits to the home of her daughter in this town.

Besides her husband and Mrs. O'Connor, Mrs. Timmins leaves a daughter, Mrs. George McDermott of Boston, a granddaughter, Miss Jacqueline H. McDermott, and a grandson, James H. O'Connor, Jr.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass in St. Patrick's Church, Exeter. Interment was in the Exeter Cemetery.

FIRST MEETING NEXT WEDNESDAY

The first meeting of the Eighth District Presidents' Club will be held in Corinthian Hall, Melrose Highlands on Wednesday Oct. 2 with the Melrose Highlands Women's Club as the hostess club.

Mrs. G. Stuart Woodman of Reading, Eighth District Director will be the speaker, followed by a musical program.

STITCHING FOR THE GYPSY FAIR

The Symmes Corner Group will lead off briskly in the events which the October calendar of the Parish of the Epiphany announces. Tuesday, Oct. 1, at 2:30 p. m. they will be the guests of Mrs. Frances Bowes, 3 Chesterford terrace.

Symmes Corner will again have charge of the gift table at the parish bazaar and realizing how swiftly Nov. 8 comes upon them, this group in good fore-handled Yankee fashion, has taken time by the forelock and has had a series of these sewing party teas during the summer. Other hostesses have been Mrs. Ambrose Reasoner, Mrs. Ralph Swanson, Mrs. Bernard Sweller, Mrs. Guy P. Livingston and Mrs. Lloyd Wallis.

Mrs. Wallis and Mrs. Livingston are the co-chairmen of the Symmes Corner Group for 1940-41 and under their leadership gay-hued waros are being fashioned, bright enough to please romany taste and in tune with the gypsy note which will give color throughout the bazaar.

WINCHESTER BOY LONGWOOD SEMI-FINALIST

Gordon McGovern of this town was runner-up in the boys' singles division of Mrs. George W. Wightman's one-day, one-set tennis tournament for players 15 years and under, last Saturday at the Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill.

Robert Johnson of Lexington won the boys' singles by defeating McGovern in the final, 6-1. John Tarbell of Winchester reached the quarter-final round of play.

On the girls' side of play Clara Tanpley, Mary Keyes, and Betsy Drake were Winchester players reaching the quarter-finals, Miss Tanpley going on to the semi-finals where she was defeated by the ultimate champion, Norma Meister of Sharon, 6-1.

WINCHESTER SKI CLUB

The directors of the Winchester Ski Club held their first meeting of the 1940-41 season last Thursday evening. During the meeting they made man new plans for this year which undoubtedly will make it a very successful one for the club.

Also, Alton Dunsford, one of the club officers, has volunteered to help any of the members perfect their skiing techniques. This will be especially beneficial to beginners who want to learn the fundamentals of skiing, as Alton spends some time each year polishing off his turns and downhill running at the Eastern Ski Slopes School. Last year he passed his third class skiing test and plans to pass the second class test this year. He has done quite a bit of skiing in Switzerland, as well as in New England, and the club is very fortunate to have Alton's help with their skiing.

The officers and directors of the Winchester Ski Club who are working hard this year top all others for the club are:

President—Fred Weir
Vice President—Alton Dunsford
Secretary—Jacqueline West
Treasurer—Jim Pichard

Directors: Ted Elliott, Harry Bean, Fred Whitney, Mary Pinkham, Ken Thomson and Bob Loh

WILL REPEAT OPEN TENNIS TOURNAMENT

Because of its popularity last year, the Winchester open tennis tournament, for players in and about Greater Boston who were not 15 years of age on Jan. 1, 1940, will be held again this season at the Palmer street playground courts, this Saturday, Sept. 28. The one-day, one-set competition will start at 9 o'clock.

Entries will close on or before Friday, Sept. 27, at 6 o'clock with William S. Packer, 11 Yale street (Win. 2644-M). Competition will be held in boys' singles, girls' singles, mixed doubles and consolation singles. To facilitate completion, all matches will stop at 6-5.

Announcing the big NEW FORD 1941 FORD

In some years, some cars take a big jump ahead. The Ford does that for 1941.

It has jumped ahead in size. It's the biggest Ford we've ever built, inside and out. It's wider. It has a longer wheelbase. Its seating room is wider by as much as 7 inches. It has new wide doors and semi-concealed running boards.

You'll notice also a new beauty, achieved by a skillful blending of mass with longer flowing lines. Larger windshield and windows give better vision all around.

One of its biggest advantages is the new soft ride.

New, slower-action springs give a slow, gentle, gliding movement. A newly designed stabilizer helps absorb road shocks, and maintains balance on sharp curves and in cross winds.

More rapid acceleration to match its familiar speed and power makes this new Ford an even livelier car to drive.

These are only a few of this new car's outstanding features. It represents all the rich experience gained in building more than 28 million motor cars.

Any Ford dealer can give you many good reasons for making this your 1941 car.

There are apparently still some people who believe it wiser to send aid to England rather than wait until Germany and Italy get ready to march over here and bomb our cities to pieces.

Although taught here in New England that our national colors are red, white and blue, and admitting that we are somewhat irked with these WPA blue, white and red labels, we suppose it is all O.K. Probably the blue is for the way we feel, the white for the lily purpess of the New Deal and the red the finances of all of us.

Much is reported these days of the bogging down of our defense program. Blame is placed here and there, with government propaganda leading at the present time. According to our opinion the whole program should be placed in the hands of the labor unions. It would save a lot of headaches and give the needy an opportunity to show what they could do—either in making money or in national defense.

Apparently the Thrift Shop, that unique little business enterprise conducted by the women of the First Baptist Church to raise money for the reduction of the church mortgage, is extending its influence well beyond its home town. Not long ago Winchester's Marjorie Mills had a request on her radio hour for the opening date of the Thrift Shop and being uncertain, stated that she would find out and announce the date on a later program. She did so and many eager letters were received, asking for further information. The Thrift Shop started as an experiment in the old Brown & Stanton Block on Main street some nine years ago, remaining open for two months in the fall and two more in the spring. From that beginning the shop has prospered, remaining open from October to June and serving an increasing number of needy people each year. The current season bids fair to be the best ever in view of advance interest, but Mrs. Burnham and her staff are confident they can handle the situation with their usual efficiency.

Our friends down on Cape Cod seem considerably steamed up over the threat to unioize the Cape. First and foremost they object strenuously to buying their jobs at the army camp. According to what we hear they see no reason why they should pay to work. And in our immediate neighborhood, those who in past seasons have worked at the camp show no intention of applying for jobs. Especially buying jobs from a New Bedford union. What appears to be the main topic of objection is what they claim to be an attempt to unioize the whole Cape. According to gossip everyone who has any connection with the work going on at the camp is slated to be unioized. Merchants, store clerks and teamsters are heatedly discussing the situation. The Cape has never to our knowledge given in for unions. The natives down there believe they are just as well off dealing directly with anyone hiring them as they would be by paying union joining fees and dues and then going on a strike. They ask why any Cape Coddler should be obliged to pay $20 to $75 to get a job for three months and be compelled to turn the money over to a union. Altogether the beneficent scheme of social security does not appear to be warmly embraced by these natives.

To those of us who are at times despondent about democratic institutions—republican is a more accurate word since we have a republic and not a democracy but we seem to like the latter term—the primaries last week were encouraging.

In both the Democratic and the Republican list of victors we find men who, as a whole, merit the esteem of their fellow citizens. Among the contestants on the Republican ticket there were very few against whom anything serious could be alleged and the result indicates simply that Mr. Bushnell, for example, seemed to a plurality to be better fitted than any one of his able associates in the race while the approval given to Mr. Dever and Sheriff Sullivan on the Democratic ticket seems to show that after all the ordinary Democrat prefers respectable candidates. Conkley may be an exception to this but special conditions favored him, unfortunately for the Commonwealth.

The Republican party machine—a machine is necessary and it is exact to say that the Republican machine has always been reasonably intelligent and honest—the Republican machine might give some thought to the wisdom of nominating more superior women to office. It has not ignored them, as is witnessed by Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, but it has not, as it appears, been inclined to welcome them as candidates. Doubtless the time is far distant when as many women as men will be in public office and no doubt this is as it should be, but it may well be that the Republican party would be strengthened by having more capable women in its councils.

The independent voter is assuming more and more authority. He it is that decides elections in most years. It seems fairly certain that he will reject Mr. Saltonstall. Heretofore he has thought Senator Walsh to be satisfactory to represent the State. Walsh is a good man but Parkman seems better and this year the welfare of the country demands the best. After all Mr. Parkman is a man who would rank with the high grade men that have gone to the United States Senate from Massachusetts and that is what we need.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By Tom Fina and Jim Conn

The second week of school finds every one acclimated. School life functions smoothly and there is complete co-operation between faculty and student.

Perhaps the most talked of event of the week was the American Legion Parade, held Tuesday. Much to the dismay of the student body there was school. However, this did not prevent many people from seeing the parade. Many people were excused from school and many more did not attend at all.

The first issue of the comparative, the new Red and Black, W. H. S.'s semi-monthly publication dedicated to the news of every day school life, will go on sale about Oct. 1. Last year the Red and Black was published for the first time. Therefore there should be a marked improvement this year. The faculty advisor for the Red and Black is Mr. Kennedy, head of the English Department. The staff for 1940 consists of: News: Leila Jane Smith; Circulation: Harrison Parkman; Sports: Lane McGovern; Features: Elnora Terhune.

When Framingham held Winchester to a scoreless tie, the teams many supporters were dissatisfied. Disappointed. However, one must remember that it was the first game under a new coach against a new opponent. The team was as a strong defensive but a weak offensive outfit now. Wakefield, fresh from a tie with Malden, will present stronger opposition than our team is used to, but it will be one of the better games of the year. Therefore we urged you to attend the game, which will be played at Shore road field.

The annual Athletic Association drive has begun. The A. A. is the largest student organization in the school and its membership annually reaches about three quarters of the total school population. Tickets may be secured from Mr. Hayward in room 16.

A pep meeting was held on Friday, the 27th. It consisted of a short speech by Coach Knowlton and brief addresses by the student managers, cheerers and school songs.

Last Friday, Sept. 20, the first assembly of the new school year was held. Mr. Grindle greeted the pupils and encouraged them to their best.

Then the various presidents and representatives took over. Polly Kimball spoke first as the Junior Red Cross representative here. Last year Polly went to Washington, D. C. at the expense of the Winchester Chapter. She gave her report on the trip and concluded with a plea for support for the coming year. Peter Hickey spoke about thrift and told us that W. H. S. has not fallen below 95 per cent in banking for five years. Virginia McFarland spoke in behalf of the Library Club. Leila Jane Smith explained the Red and Black to the assembly. After Dick Merran had finished, commenting upon Dan Rupp's intelligence, he explained the Science Club. Arthur Tetrault, as president of the A. A., concluded the program. Mr. Grindle dismissed the assembly.

Mr. Hayward intimated to us that the Ping Pong club might be revived if sufficient interest was shown. We know of many pupils who would be interested in this and suggest that they see Mr. Hayward in regard to having a meeting called after school some night.

Student council home room representatives were elected in school recently. How soon this organization will take over is not yet known.

Anyone interested in joining either the girls glee club or the mixed chorus should report to the office. The chorus provides music for graduation.

Tuesday was the first tunic day. The Washburn building turned in a perfect per cent. Out of 27 rooms 16 turned in 100 per cent. The per cent for the school was 97.5. This is a very good record for the first day.

We noted the efficient organization under Mrs. Sawyer. The day for banking a representative called each pupil who failed to bank and advised to convince him of the error of his ways.

Persons interested in selling advertising should see Leila Jane Smith or Mr. Kennedy. The Red and Black is a hard sell to get.

The Junior Class was rather excited when Dr. Alley felt it necessary to make a detailed diagram of how to insert the key, turn it and pull open the drawer.

WINCHESTER STUDENTS AT SIMMONS

New students at Simmons College this year include six from Winchester. Those enrolled in the freshman class are:

Camille West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. West, 74 Wellesmere avenue; Louise Agnes Millican, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Millican, 6 Copley street; Joan Clement, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Clement, 145 Highland avenue; Jane Spaulding Cahalane, 15 Sheffield west; Carolyn Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Blanchard, 19 Mt. Pleasant street.

Priscilla Sprague Blaisdel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Blaisdel, 2 Wolcott terrace, who attended Oberlin College last year, is now registered as a senior in the Simmons School of Library Science.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Ray Williams of the Mystic Valley Parkway is in the hospital recovering from a major operation. Ray is an end on the high school football team.

A large number of automobiles went through town last Sunday, preliminary to the big visitation at the Jewish cemeteries in Montvale this weekend.

Few Legionnaires traveled further to reach the National Convention in Boston this week than Ernest M. Polley, a former Winchester man, who came on with Mrs. Polley from their home in Alaska. Mr. Polley, who is connected with the United States Forestry Survey, is past department Commander of the Legion for the Territory of Alaska. It took him and his wife two weeks to reach Boston, and they are planning to visit relatives and friends in Winchester before returning home.

FROM MRS. ROGERS

To the voters in Winchester and the other cities and towns of the Fifth Congressional District I extend my sincere thanks for the excellent endorsement you gave me at the Primary. I am deeply grateful for your wonderful loyalty and friendship.

I wish it were possible for me to see all of you and personally thank you and tell you how greatly I appreciate your friendship and support. However, as you know, Congress is still in session, as I believe it should be during these extremely important days in the history of our country, consequently I am unable to return home except for very brief periods of a few hours. My duty is in Washington where I am fighting constantly with all my power to help our district and Commonwealth. I know you want me to do all I can to make America strong and maintain peace.

Thank you again for the honor of your endorsement.

Edith Nourse Rogers,

Member of Congress.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Last year drunken driving caused 558 automobile accidents in New York State, with 56 fatalities and more than 200 injured, or a 12 per cent increase in deaths and 19 per cent in injuries over the preceding year's record.

Contributing factors were excessive speed in 48 per cent of the cases, and driving on the wrong side of the road in 23 per cent of the accidents. Obviously a man under the influence of liquor is not aware of his rate of speed or the difference between right and left.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH PICNIC

The First Baptist Church is holding its Home-Coming Picnic on this coming Saturday, the 28th, at the Cherry Hill Farm of H. P. Hood and Sons in Beverly. Transportation will be by private cars and by bus. The bus will leave the church at 10 a. m.

There are excellent picnic facilities at the farm. The picnickers will see the herd of certified cattle and will visit the modern dairy plant. There will be fun for all with swings, slides, the hay mow, croquet, horseshoes and soft ball. A gala day is in prospect for all who go to Beverly. Phone Mr. Fred S. Emery (Win. 2025) for further information.

THE MAIN BROTHERS, SAM AND CHARLES, OF WINCHESTER AT WORLD'S FAIR

In the exhibit, Sam guided his brother to the interesting hearing tests and the Voice Mirror, where he heard his own telephonic voice. They also took in the amusing performance of Delmo the Volar, the machine that talks and sings, and listened in on the free long distance demonstration telephone calls of other lucky visitors who had been awarded some of the 100 free calls awarded daily on condition that other visitors be permitted to eavesdrop.

ATTENTION CANADIAN-BORN

An opportunity is offered you to help your Motherland in the country of your adoption and especially here in Winchester. Will you not get in touch with the Committee-at-large now organizing under the only Nationally recognized Canadian agency for War Relief.

On Thursday, Oct. 3 at 10 a. m. a meeting for definite planning of work will be held at Mrs. W. Holbrook Lowells, 4 Lakeview road.

Committee at large for the Maple Leaf Fund, Inc., president, Mrs. B. R. Gaze, Win. 2212; treasurer, Mrs. George Apsey, 2142; secretary, Mrs. W. H. Lowell, 1128.

WYMAN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

The Fall meeting of the Wyman School Mothers' Association will be held at the Wyman School auditorium on Wednesday, Oct. 2 at 2:30 p. m. The program will be entitled "Information Please."

First will be information on the Winchester Mothers' Association by Mrs. Stanley Barnes, President of the Association. Second, information on Scholarship Fund by Mrs. John West, past President of the Wyman Association. Third will be information on school policies by Miss Mabel Lowry, principal of the school. Fourth will be information on teaching of the three R's in the Winchester schools by Miss Gertrude Lewis, Supervisor of elementary education. A short question period will follow, after which refreshments will be served by the social committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Erskine White.

Every mother of a child in the Wyman School is automatically a member of the Mothers' Association. Dues of 50 cents are optional and are payable at the first meeting.

Mrs. Robert Oxford announces the following list of members who will help her in contacting the others during the year.

For the Kindergarten, Mrs. J. Warren Shoemaker and Mrs. Richard Wilder. First grade, Mrs. Theodore Monroe and Mrs. George K. MacKenzie. Second grade, Mrs. Harold J. Brown, Mrs. Frederick Hicks. Third grade, Mrs. Paul E. Nason and Mrs. James J. McGovern. Fourth grade, Mrs. Alvin B. Bailey and Mrs. Robert Duvel. Fifth grade, Mrs. Donald B. Lewis and Mrs. Norman Padelford. Sixth grade, Mrs. Lawrence Martin and Mrs. Joseph McCauley.

ROBERT H. MONTGOMERY

Robert H. Montgomery, 3 Gray Gardens west, Cambridge, will lead the Metropolitan Division of the Greater Boston 1941 Community Fund Campaign. Henry R. Guild, general chairman, announced this week.

The hope of being asked to organize the Community Fund office in Winchester and the 45 other cities and towns of the Metropolitan Area, which consists of the Greater Boston Community Fund, is deeply appreciated," Mr. Montgomery stated this week.

The Metropolitan Division covers approximately 550 square miles and last campaign over 9000 volunteer workers were enrolled. Nearly all of them carried out their assignments faithfully, and those who did found that their service to the community was a satisfying personal experience.

We feel confident that the Community Fund will command their devoted efforts again this year, and, in addition, that we shall be able to enlist as many as 10,000 volunteers."

Born in Oxford, Ohio, Montgomery was graduated from the University of North Dakota in 1909, with a Phi Beta Kappa key and from Harvard Law School three years later. He is a member of the law firm of Powers and Hall, 30 Federal street, Boston and a director of the American Wool Company and the New England Power Association.

Besides following his hobbies of golf and Western American history, Montgomery is a member of the Charitable Irish Society and the Union, Exchange, Faculty, and Oakley Country Clubs. He holds a card in the Guild of former Pine-Organ Pumpers.

MR. CURRY RETURNS FROM NEW YORK SUCCESS

After an absence of some time during which he was teaching at studios in Scarsdale, N. Y., and New York City, Russell Curry of the Curry School of Dancing of Arlington is again spending his full time in his Boston and Arlington studios due to the demands of local enrollment.

Although Mr. Curry had charge of two studios in New York he also found time to direct all the social events of the Scarsdale High School and to help in the social adjustments of young people in their teens.

Just before Mr. Curry left New York to spend his full time in his home town the Scarsdale High School offered him a position on their faculty. His psychology and teaching ability as well as personality and hearing have won him a name which is unsurpassed in this profession. It was entirely because of his ability that the Columbia Broadcasting Company asked him to join their staff of artists. Such an honor is given only to one person in the dancing profession.

And now the Curry School has a teacher of Ballet and Modern work, Harry Hamilton, whose record is equal to Mr. Curry's. Mr. Hamilton has for the past two years been the featured dancer with the Metropolitan Opera Ballet and previously has danced and taught in the larger cities both here and abroad.

Two such teachers with their proven ability and understanding of young people and their problems should go far toward making the local young people known the country over for their poise and ability.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In connection with the recent August Convention of the National W. C. T. U. the pre-convention worship found "a reverent group of women with minds deeply concerned for the Nation's welfare, with keen awareness of world turmoil, but also with infinite faith in the power of God to bring this beloved nation through its problems, not only to the inner chaos, but also the thirst of international conflict."

Beneath a gorgeous grouping of huge American flags above the platform the delegates had assembled while a violin softly played favorite old hymns.

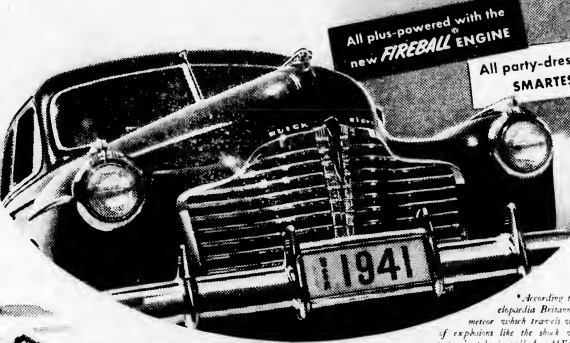

Mr. Alice Mullins O'Neil, the youthful new National Evangelistic director, took as her text the significant promise, And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me.

Some wise person has said, "God will save America if He can use her! We steadfastly believe that God can use America and that He will if America turns her face to God. We covet for our nation such a genuine widespread revival of sincere Godliness that America may lead the way out of the present chaos, forward with God to enduring peace. Jesus' way is the only way and upward way."

There are many dangers. Those who such to lift Christ up must put the liquor traffic down. Anything that saps strength, befuddles the brain, squandering savings, murders multitudes and scars the soul, is an arch enemy of democracy.

extra lift and power-wallop from still further progress in Buick's exclusive Dynaflex combustion principle—here's brand-new Compound Carburetion that combines the lift of an extra engine with economy stepped up a full 10% to 15%!

Here are rugged new frames and new Flash-Way signals. New quiet-easy Concentric Shifting and new Pemi-firm steering. New lovely body lines and new inside roominess. New instrument panels, new oil-bath air cleaners, new concealed running boards—even new clocks.

Yes, here are new things galore, modern new features by the dozen—but one thing is old, and hasn't changed a bit.

That's the plain rockbottom fact that when you see Buick you've seen the best of the bunch.

Make it the first one you see for '41, and save yourself a lot of fruitless looking around.

Here's the sprightly SPECIAL

IT'S official now: the bright and glittering stars of the 1941 season are out—so at any Buick showroom you can see the best automobiles Buick ever built.

You'll see a massive grille, a trim speed-stream radiator ornament—and behind them not one but five series of cars that are gorgeously new from dreadnaught bumper to direction-signaling taillight.

You'll spot a SPECIAL that not only looks like but definitely is the biggest package the money has ever bought.

You'll size-up a 125-horsepower SUPER that's still the shiningest style-star of the season, for all the efforts to duplicate its beauty.

You'll lay eyes on a CENTURY broader, longer, bigger in every way, with an additional twenty-four horsepower under its thrusting hood—and a ROADMASTER that's its rival in action and the very picture of super-streamlined grace.

You'll see a Buick LIMITED that is close to twenty feet of sheer spacious luxury—top-of-the-line in finish, richness and meticulous appointment.

... and the sleek-lined SUPER

All this your wonder-wide eyes will tell you, then your ears begin to take things in.

You'll learn here's lower-swung weight—a better, steadier, softer ride.

SAILOUT CAPSIZED ON MYSTIC LAKE

Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock an excited motorist informed Patrolman John J. Murray in the square that as he was passing Mystic Lake he saw a small sailboat tipped over on its side with two boys clinging to it.

Officer Murray and Patrolman John Dolan took the police life saving boat to the lake, but upon their arrival found that Steward Jim Fitch of the Winchester Boat Club had rowed out to the capsized boat and was towing it and its occupants ashore at the cove above Sandy Beach on the big lake.

The unfortunate sailors gave their names as Robert Taylor, 25, of 62 Robbins road, Arlington and Arthur Miller, 15, of 11 Elmore road, that town. They told the police that a sudden gust of wind had capsized their craft. The Metropolitan Police with their ambulance arrived on the scene just as the local officers were starting back to headquarters. Neither department was needed with a water-dog like Jim Fitch on the job.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The Building Commission has issued permits to alter or erect buildings on the property owned by the following for week ending Thursday, Sept. 19:

Carver Bros. Homes, Winchester—new dwelling and garage at 34 Eaglewood road.

H. E. Chafalo, Winchester—move and alter present single dwelling for two families at 1 Myrtle street.

William Hultgren, Winchester—inside alterations to dwelling at 80 Woodside road.

Repair steps and piazza on dwelling at 136 Cambridge street.

Repair steps and piazza on dwelling at 8 Bonad road.

Four reshingle permits.

THE EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB

Thursday evening, Oct. 3 at 7:45 in the Men's Club of the Parish of the Epiphany will start its year's activities with a meeting in the parish hall.

The club is most democratic in plan. It means to count on wide-spread responsibility and co-operation. It is not planned to be one man's burden—responsibility, while other parishioners forget it until this one man dictates what they are to do and organizes them into spasmodic doing. A new committee of three laymen will have each meeting in charge. They will determine the type of meeting and choose the speaker. The October meeting has been arranged by Mr. Geoffrey Nelly, Mr. Richard Frazier and Dr. Harry Benson.

They hope for a full attendance as this first meeting will have important bearing on the whole year. All men of the parish are cordially invited to come.

SCHOLARSHIP TO WINCHESTER BOY

Included in the list of 30 Greater Boston high school graduates who have met high academic and personal standards and have been awarded the Hayden scholarship by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, is James B. Weaver of this town. The scholarships were established by the Hayden Foundation as a memorial to the late Charles Hayden, institute graduate and member of its alumni.

During the heavy rainstorm last Saturday afternoon at 5:30 a Chevrolet sedan being driven from Park avenue left onto Washington street by Robert E. Fay of 36 Park avenue, was in collision with a Ford sedan driven south on Washington street by Barbara Anderson of 18 Kenwin road. Both machines were damaged but no one was injured.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The first Girl Scout meeting will be on Oct. 10.

A very successful day camp was held during July and August under the directorship of Miss Eva Greig.

Mrs. Glazier, our director for the past year has resigned to go to Virginia. We are very fortunate to have as new director, Mrs. Florence Sherman, who comes to us from Erie, Pa. Mrs. Sherman has an excellent background in social and group work. She will assume her duties on Oct. 1.

Scouts Own will be held this year on Oct. 20, the birthday of Juliette B. Howe, who was the founder of Girl Scouts. Watch for further announcements as to details on Scouts Own.

Winchester girls leaving for Abbot Academy, Andover, Wednesday, included Betty Jean England, Jean Bantam, Bonnie Wilson, Nancy Kelley and Cynthia Teel.

STILL 100 HOMES NEEDED!

Nearly 400 homes have now been secured out of the 500 promised by the Transcrip to British refugee children.

None of the children aboard the refugee ship sunk off England was traveling under the joint auspices of the United States Committee for the Care of European Children and the Transcrip.

So far as is known, evacuated children will continue to arrive as announced.

All the children who have England for homes in this country do so by the deliberate choice of their parents, who thoroughly understand the risks at sea, but feel it better to take the one time risk than to face the continuing day by day risk of bombs at home.

If you can help by taking one of these 100 children or whom homes are urgently needed or can help financially will you please call Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth, Win. 1850.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

One case of Diphtheria was reported to the Board of Health for week ending Thursday, Sept. 19.

BURGLAR SURPRISED IN NORTH END SPA

The operations of a burglar who had broken into Kelley's Spa at the Woburn-Winchester line on Main street early Monday morning were interrupted by Patrolman Archie O'Connell of the Police Department who discovered the marauder behind the counter of the establishment at 1:50 o'clock.

Officer O'Connell was near the corner of Sheridan circle north when he heard glass breaking at the Spa. Hastening to the side door on the south side of the building he threw the light of his bullseye through a window and a youth, whom he described as about 15 years of age and wearing a dark sweater, ducked behind a counter near the rear entrance. Running around the building, Officer O'Connell found that access had been gained by breaking a window on the north side of the Spa. He ordered the intruder to cover out, but the latter succeeded in getting open one of the numerous doors of the building on the side opposite from the policeman and made good his escape. The two local cruisers with Lieut. Edward O'Connell, Sgt. Charles Harold and Patrolmen Henry Dempsey and John Hogan assisted by Woburn Police instituted a thorough search of the district but were unable to find the burglar, though a suede jacket and a hat, dropped by him, was recovered on the ground to the north of the Spa.

A quick check-up by the owner of the establishment found nothing missing, but a more thorough investigation disclosed a small sum of money missing.

UNDER WAY AGAIN

The Evening Branch of the Women's Church Service League of Epiphany Parish is sailing on with its usual promptness when the calendar announces October and the beginning of the active parish year. They will meet in the library of the parish hall Thursday evening, Oct. 3 at 7:15.

Nailed to the mast-head will be the colors they have been sailing under so successfully most of covered years to pay off the rectory mortgage and to give women who are busy in the daytime a chance to know each other in a warm and friendly way.

The first event, Oct. 3, will be a card party. Each player will pay $1.00. The party is open to all members of the parish and their friends. Refreshments will be served. The party will be arranged by the chairman of the Evening Branch, Mrs. John Sherman, and Miss Anna Little.

W. C. T. U. MEETING

The meeting was held in the First Baptist Church on Sept. 20, our only meeting of the year. Some members on the program were as follows:

Miss Annie Stott read a prayer, "The Divine Light on National Problems" delivered before the 1932 Democratic National Convention by Miss Evangeline Booth.

Mrs. Annie M. B. Sanborn offered a tribute of appreciation of our late honorary president, Mrs. May W. Friend, previously our faithful and efficient president from 1931 to 1935 inclusive.

We have lost six members by death the past year, including Mrs. Allena E. Roberts, who was our secretary for 13 years, 1919 to 1933 inclusive.

The Salute to the Flag was led by Mrs. Margaret J. Livingstone of Woburn, our county director of citizenship and legislation, who spoke on our individual responsibility as voting citizens.

Dr. W. Holbrook Lowell has fully recovered from his serious illness and has resumed his practice. Dr. Lowell's son, Dr. W. Holbrook Lowell, Jr., has opened an office in Hartford, Conn.

INSTRUCTED METROPOLITAN AGENTS

To make the American people as free from appendicitis mortality as medical science believes possible is the aim of Dr. Donald B. Armstrong, third vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. But, he says, at the present time the composite American appendix is the birth place of 15,000 deaths a year.

Denying this high and largely needless mortality, Dr. Armstrong points out that these 15,000 deaths could be reduced by at least 50 per cent through the observance of a simple three-point rule. So, in case of a stomach-ache, which may turn out to be an attack of appendicitis, he says to play safe and—

Call a doctor.
Remain quiet and apply an ice bag to the abdomen.
Refrain from taking a laxative, food, or medicine.

So important is this procedure which, Dr. Armstrong stresses, should be followed in every case of abdominal pain, that it will be brought to the attention of millions of American families during a nation-wide campaign against appendicitis in which the insurance company is participating.

Based on sound medical experience, the recommended procedure is reinforced by studies made by health authorities. These definitely prove that many deaths from appendicitis can be laid to self-treatment, and that some of these could be prevented if a doctor were called in time to provide proper diagnosis and treatment.

The use of laxatives, Dr. Armstrong says, has probably caused more appendicitis deaths than anything else except delay in having an operation. A recent study of appendicitis patients took—

No laxative, only one in 62 died; one laxative, one in 19 died; more than one laxative, one in nine died. How serious is each day's delay in hospitalizing an appendicitis patient is also shown by the study. Among those patients who went to the hospital at the beginning of an attack of appendicitis, it was found that: Within 24 hours, one in 61 died; within 48 hours, one in 24 died; within 72 hours, one in 17 died; after 72 hours, one in 13 died.

As one contribution to the nationwide campaign against appendicitis, the insurance company is enlisting its thousands of field representatives for the widespread distribution of the three-point rule and other information about appendicitis. At the Metropolitan headquarters in this town the staff of agents for the company contact some 4000 families in Winchester and vicinity. These agents received instructions from Dr. Laurence J. Golden, who addressed the group at the local office last Friday, Sept. 27.

MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Washington-Highland Chapter To Hear Professor Zimmerman

Prof. Carl C. Zimmerman, of the Department of Sociology at Harvard, will talk on "Siam," at the opening meeting of the Mothers' Association on Tuesday, Oct. 8 at 2:15 in the Washington School auditorium.

Professor Zimmerman spent several years in Siam, making the first Rural Economic Survey of that country for the Rockefeller Institute, at the request of the King of Siam. The story of his personal experiences should prove unusually interesting.

Tea will be served by Mrs. Cameron and her social committee.

DANCE TRAINING

Many times parents know that their child should have some form of dance training to give it poise, grace and coordination but do not know exactly the kind of training their particular youngster should have; exactly when kind it will enjoy most and above all do best, not necessarily to carry on professionally but for fun and healthful living.

The Curry School of Dancing of Arlington has an innovation in the dance field. A class known as the Children's Hour. A class for youngsters between the ages of 4 and 8 to find out what they can or should do. To find out whether they are suited for tap, ballroom, modern or just enjoyment through social dances. To help them obtain correct posture, graceful carriage, correct walking and sitting habits and above all a social consciousness.

Wealth a Nuissance

"Wealth tends to disorient itself," said Ho Ho, the sage of Chinatown. "One who attains even the semblance of riches must employ many servants to write letters and answer the door bell."

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

At a morning coffee held at the home of Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini on Wednesday the board of the Winchester Chapter, Guild of the Infant Saviour, approved the program for one of the busiest years ever to be undertaken by this organization.

The first meeting will be held at Lyceum Hall on Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 8 p. m. At the high school auditorium Jack Lamb will bring his motion pictures of Famous Flower Gardens, Bass and Trout Fishing and Travelogue. The others for this evening will be headed by Franklin Evans, assisted by Peter Hickey, Edward McDevitt, Paul Costello and Robert Cavanaugh.

On Friday morning, Oct. 18, at Lyceum Hall at 10 o'clock an old friend, Mrs. Hector Gai will assist us in selecting our fall reading. Mrs. Gai appeared before the Guild last year and was greatly appreciated. The hostess for this lecture will be Mrs. Theodore Dissel. Morning coffee will be served.

As this is the tenth anniversary of the Winchester Chapter a luncheon commemorating its founding will be held at the Country Club, Brookline, on Oct. 30. Mrs. James Gaffney is in charge of the day, assisted by Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, Mrs. Michael Hintlian, Mrs. William Hickey, Mrs. James Carr, Mrs. Frank Evans and Mrs. Ralph Sexton. There will be an excellent program and all members present and most are invited to join together on this birthday celebration.

THREE WEEK-END MOTOR ACCIDENTS

A slight accident occurred last Saturday afternoon shortly before 2 o'clock as cars were parking on the Shore road for the football game with Wakefield. A Packard sedan, driven north on Shore road by Edward M. Sullivan of 53 Shore road, was in collision with an Oldsmobile coupe, driven by Walter I. Hatch of 53 Cordis street, Wakefield, who was backing into a parking space. Both machines were damaged but no one was injured.

At 11 o'clock Saturday night a Hummobile sedan, being driven north on Main street by Roger P. Hill of 53 Cornhill street, Woburn, was in collision near the Winchester Theatre with a Chevrolet touring sedan, also headed north and driven by Alfred A. Miller of Allen road, Billerica. Both machines were damaged but no one was injured.

Sunday afternoon shortly after 4 o'clock an unusual accident occurred on Pond street in front of the Edison Station. The rear door of a Plymouth sedan, being driven east on Pond street by Edward J. Martin of 33 Sheridan circle, came open as the machine passed a Ford sedan, driven west on Pond street by James Barletta of 12 Richardson street, Brighton. The door struck and damaged the front fender of the Ford and a passenger in the latter machine, Eleanor Barletta, complained of injuries to her stomach.

TWICE IN THE SAME PLACE

Two-day morning shortly before 2:30 Patrolman John H. Boyle of the Police Department took into custody on Main street the operator of an automobile who was charged at Headquarters with driving after his license had been revoked by the Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

The man gave his name as William T. Morelli of 24 Elijah street, Woburn. Police say he was arrested on a similar charge Sept. 24 by Officer William Callahan. Morelli appeared in the Woburn Court Tuesday morning, at which time the second charge was postponed, to be considered with the first, a continuance until Oct. 9 having been granted after the original arrest.

NEW SCHOOL ORGANIZED

Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman, minister of the Unitarian Church, is establishing a School of Religion to take the place of the ordinary Sunday School. The pupils from the third through Junior High school grades will meet in a junior church service, which is modeled after the regular Sunday morning service of the Church.

The method of visual education will be employed to vitalize and awaken interest of the children and young people. Combined with it will be the opportunity for discussion of the great characters of the Bible and the leaders of liberal religious faith, in an effort to formulate a code of spiritual values with which to motivate life decisions. Miss Everett, the minister's secretary, is now at the Church every day and will be glad to answer any questions concerning the School.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Fortnightly is co-operating with the Red Cross and the British War Relief Society. In connection with the latter we are taking over the remaining of clothing for British civilians and we shall want all the warm clothing in usable condition that you and your friends can supply. For the present such clothing must be left with Miss Hodge, 17 Edgell road or with Mrs. C. F. Hall, 8 Lawrence street. Clothing will be called for if you will telephone Mrs. Nutter, Win. 0447-R.

CADILLAC LINE FOR 1941 HERE

Bill Mitchell, sales manager for Charles H. Ungermann, Inc., 40 Winn street, Woburn, Cadillac dealer for Winchester, announces that the new 1941 Cadillacs will be on display at their salesroom, beginning the first of October. "Quality car owners will be delighted with this new car," he said. "The genius of Cadillac design and stylists has produced a line of cars that have no equal for sheer beauty, luxury or comfort."

"Their beautiful design identifies the entire line of 1941 Cadillacs for what they are—The Aristocracy of the Motor World." "But, the biggest surprise of all," he said, "when you see these new models is their price. You will find that you can buy the world's finest motor car at the lowest price in its star-studded history. Don't buy any car before you accept my cordial invitation to see and ride in Cadillac for 1941," he concluded.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In the National W. C. T. U. worship service at the Chicago convention, Mrs. O'Neil, National Evangelistic director said: "Many persons sincerely believe that 'Just one drink' won't matter. America must be taught that one drink does make a difference! The story of suffering families paying the price for drinking parents are not a thing of the past."

"There are other equally grave dangers to be eliminated if our nation is to be used by God. Time will not permit their discussion here."

"What is our part in this great return to God? We must establish a vital relationship with Jesus Christ as our personal Saviour and Lord. We must ask forgiveness for our sins. Prayers are needed for our friends. Let us pray for legislators and kings and presidents, that the spark of divinity somewhere within them may triumph until Christ shall be first."

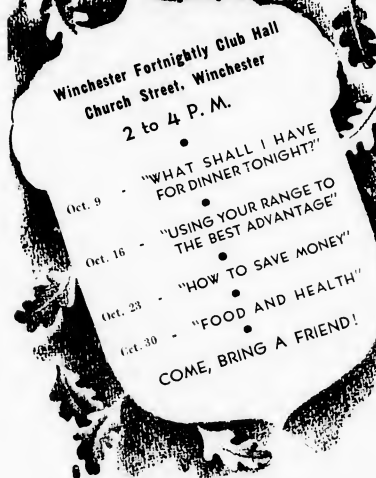

"We must catch a world vision, working to establish the Kingdom of God right where we are. May we keep our courage high, no matter how dark the sky becomes. "And still behind the dim unknown Standeth God among the shadows, Keeping watch above His own."

"ROLLING KITCHEN"—MOBILE FEEDING MOTORIZED UNIT TO BE FINANCED BY PARISH PLAYERS OF THE FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH OF WINCHESTER

PROCEEDS FROM PLAYS TO BE GIVEN TO SUFFERERS IN GREAT BRITAIN

Announcement was made today of the plans for the new season of the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church of Winchester. The proceeds from the series of three plays will go immediately to the Winchester Branch of the British War Relief Society, Inc., to help finance a new "rolling kitchen," capable of feeding 400 destitute war sufferers in Britain at a time.

The fifteenth season of the "Little Theatre Beneath a Spire" promises to be full of gala events. "Tonight at 8:30" by Noel Coward, will be presented on Nov. 8 and 9. "Pygmalion" by George Bernard Shaw, on Feb. 7 and 8, and "The Man Who Came to Dinner" (subject to release) by George Kaufman and Moss Hart, on April 26 and 27.

Because the proceeds from the plays is urgently needed for the British War Relief, seats will be sold in advance for all three performances. The Winchester "rolling kitchen" will be a complete traveling kitchen built with the most modern equipment that can be provided, including insulated food compartments, thermos compartments for hot coffee, tea, soup and stew. Rolling kitchens are used to feed men, women and children of Great Britain in the stricken areas, and are critically needed now. Not only distressed civilians must be cared for, but civil defense workers and rescue parties, firemen fighting big conflagrations, police helping to keep order in badly damaged areas, as well as the fighting forces defending Britain. As winter approaches as water and gas mains and electric wires are destroyed by bombings, the need will be more intense.

Winchester residents will be glad to know they can help directly to equip one of these "rolling kitchens" by subscribing to the Parish Players season tickets.

Tickets for the series may be obtained from Mrs. Clarence E. Ordway, tel. Win. 0911, or at Parker and Lane's, tel. Win. 0102.

NEW ENGLAND REGION GIRL SCOUT CONFERENCE

Winchester Girl Scouts will be represented at the Regional Conference New Ocean House, Swampscott, Oct. 2 and 4, by about 20 leaders and council members.

Among the speakers are Mrs. Grace W. Elliott, National President of Y. W. C. A.; Mrs. Harvey Mudd, National President of Girl Scouts and Dr. J. Edgar Park, President of Wheaton College.

Delegates will attend Round Tables for training and discussion.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

to BOSTON EDISON CUSTOMERS

The new rate schedules, filed with the Department of Public Utilities on September 13, 1940, are now in effect. They will provide for reductions in electric service rates in certain classifications which will result in an estimated saving to customers of approximately $750,000 a year. These reduced rates now give thousands of customers an opportunity to use more electricity at no greater cost.

FIRST ART EXHIBIT

The first art exhibit of the fall season is to be shown during the month of October in the gallery of the Winchester Public Library. There will be hung some 25 portraits done for the most part by contemporary portrait artists. The Winchester Art Association has expended every effort to make this exhibit representative of this particular field in art.

The Boston Museum of Fine Arts has lent four portraits from its gallery of contemporary artists as well as the Grace Home gallery which have lent some two or three moderns. From the Fogg Museum three early American portraits are being sent to add to the collection. The remaining portraits are being lent by the following well known Boston artists: Mary Evangeline Walker, Mr. Jacob Bird, Mr. John Lavelle, Mr. Bernard Keves, Margaret Fitzhugh Brown and Marguerite S. Pearson.

The Winchester Art Association who are sponsoring this exhibit will hold their first meeting in the Winchester Public Library on Sunday, Oct. 6 at 4 o'clock. At that time there will be a private showing of these portraits to the members of the association followed by a lecture and informal discussion. The speaker for this meeting will be Miss Mary Hutchings of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts who will address the meeting on "Portraiture in general. Miss Hutchings is considered to be one of the foremost authorities on portraiture in the country and her talks have always been received with enthusiasm by art lovers.

Throughout the remainder of October this exhibit of portraits will be open to the general public during 11 hours. All and every resident of Winchester are welcome to take advantage of this excellent collection of portraits.

WISWELL AGAIN HEADS CROSS-CUP-PHISHON POST

George C. Wiswell, Commander of Crosscup-Phishon Post No. 281, A. L. E., has been re-elected to the position of Commander of the Post for the coming year.

More than 250 members of the Crosscup-Phishon Post (Boston Advertising Men) No. 281, American Legion, unanimously re-elected George C. Wiswell of Fletcher street, this town, as their Commander this week. As a result of this election, Mr. Wiswell becomes the first commander in 12 years and the third in the history of the Post to receive the honor of being selected as commander for two consecutive years and is the result of a very successful administration during the past year. Due to present uncertain war conditions, the Post deemed it advisable to continue Mr. Wiswell as commander for 1940. He is known as the "Tex Rickard" of Boston.

EVERY LECTURE OPEN OCT. 23

Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 23, is the opening date for Miss Eunice Harriet Avery's Winchester series of interpretations of world events. This will be Miss Avery's 19th consecutive season of lectures in support of the scholarship fund of the Winchester South College Club. That this fund is second only to New York and Chicago in its yearly contribution to Smith, that it has sent nine girls through Smith, is witness to Miss Avery's continued power to interest and stimulate her audiences.

Increasingly popular as a lively and temperate analyst of affairs, Miss Avery has spent last summer in intensive study of the United States and Canada, weighing the quality and strength of the North American civilization. Against the background of her recent summers analyzing the European democracies and the Axis countries, her observations, observations and inferences should supply explanation for much that is puzzling in today's red hot news.

The Winchester course parallels, but in shorter form, Miss Avery's lectures at the Statler in Boston. There are nine afternoon lectures by Miss Avery; the opening lecture will be given by Prof. Hans Kohn, distinguished modern historian who has scored such success on the same occasion the last two years.

Dates of the lectures are Oct. 23, Nov. 6 and 20.

The regular meeting of Winchester Assembly will be held on Friday, Oct. 11 at 7:15 in the Masonic Apartments, Mt. Vernon street, Winchester.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The History Study Group of the Winchester College Club will meet next Monday morning, Oct. 7, at 9:45 o'clock at the home of Mrs. James McGovern, 48 Everett avenue. The topic for study this year will be "The Far East," and as formerly, the meetings will be held on alternate Mondays. Any member of the College Club is welcome to join this group.

All those interested in the Music Study Group this year are particularly urged to be present next Wednesday morning, Oct. 9, at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. George A. Wilson, 29 Pierpont road. Plans will be discussed and a program of study will be formulated for the year.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

With an increase of membership from 27 to 56, much interest is being manifested in the American Legion Auxiliary, 50 members attending the last meeting.

The next meeting will be held at the Legion Post Headquarters on Monday, Oct. 7 at 8 p. m. at which time the business will be discussed and the program planned for the year. Refreshments will be served and motion pictures, shown by Mr. Donald T. MacAdams of Cinema Inc.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Katherine Roche, Mrs. Mary Dineen and Mrs. Elizabeth McLaughlin.

Miss Margaret L. Irwin of 39 Ridge street, accompanied by her sister and Mrs. Dana J. Harding of Medford has just returned from a visit to New York and the World's Fair.

CANTARIAN PLAYERS TO PRESENT "WHO KILLED THE COUNT?"

One of the more important news flashes of interest today comes directly from the Winchester Unitarian Players. It will be your privilege to attend and their pleasure to present a newly created production bearing the magic, mysterious and magnetic title of "Who Killed the Count?"

Released for production only within the last six weeks, the Unitarian Players are indeed most fortunate in presenting the rights to present this thrilling mystery drama ably authored by Alec Coppel.

A play of this nature affords us the type of entertainment that will help lessen the tension and strain that we are experiencing daily as a reaction to the present war hysteria.

Winchester is looking forward with keen anticipation to Nov. 15 and 16 when the Unitarian Players present "Who Killed the Count?"

Included in the list of boys who have made a class B rating at Hebron Academy, Hebron, Me. is Earle Goldsmith.

FIRST MEETING OF WINCHESTER GROUP THEATRE TONIGHT

The 1940-41 season of the Winchester Group Theatre opens tonight with a play reading in the Art Gallery of the Winchester Public Library at 7:45 p. m. open to both sustaining and active members and their friends.

Under the chairmanship of Dell S. Smith, a group will read a current comedy hit, in a manner similar to that used in producing plays for the radio. Those reading parts include Rosamond Lynch, Louise Oliver, Dell S. Smith, Dorothy Willis, Esther Knight, Ernest Gross, Lyndon Burnham, Eugene Pollard, Prescott Taylor, Warren Whitman and E. C. Whitmore.

Prior to the play reading there will be a talk by Beulah Page Sibley, director of the Group's fall production, "The Last of Mrs. Cheyne" covering plans for the casting of the play and the try-outs which will soon be held.

The Group has also announced plans for the fall dance to be held on Nov. 1 at the Winchester Country Club with music by Ruby Newman's Orchestra with Sammy Eisen.

BOY STRUCK BY CAR
David C. Moore, 14, of 24 Bryant Street, Woburn, was struck and painfully injured Tuesday evening shortly before 7 o'clock at the bridge over the main line of the Boston & Maine Railroad on Swanton street.

According to the Police the car involved, a Chevrolet coach, was driven by Herbert S. Mullen of 18 Richardson Street. Mullen said he was driving east on Swanton street and as he drove onto the bridge a train passing underneath filled the entire area with smoke.

Young Moore, who was near the rail of the bridge at the right angle, ran into the middle of the bridge directly into the path of the machine. He was taken to the Winchester Hospital by Gaetano Mistretta.

Mrs. Ralph Bennett, chairman of the membership committee gave her report on membership. She explained that every mother of a child in the Wyman School is an automatic member of the association, but that it is necessarily dependent on the dues to operate. Some dues are used for various ways. Some toward a scholarship fund and the remainder to a sinking fund.

Mrs. Keeney then introduced the first speaker, Mrs. Stanley Barnes, president of the Winchester Mothers' Association. Mrs. Barnes gave a most interesting account of the beginning of the present day workings of the association.

Mrs. John West, the next speaker, explained the new system for six girls in the past. She then talked of the most appealing on the scholarship fund.

Miss Mabel Lowry, principal of the school spoke on the policies of the school. She explained the why of school rules and regulations and insisted on greater co-operation among the mothers.

Mrs. Gertrude Lewis, supervisor of the Winchester schools was the last speaker. Her subject was the teaching of the three R's in the schools. She said that the children are learning to read, to write, and to think, and that the parents must help them to do so.

The meeting adjourned at 8:30, after which delicious refreshments were served by the Executive Committee.

Those who heard her left with feeling that perhaps they had been born in the wrong generation. Teaching is so much more fun than it has been in the past, and at the same time more effective.

WYMAN SCHOOL MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Wyman School Mothers' Association was held in the auditorium of the school on Wednesday, Oct. 2 at 7:30 in the afternoon.

Mrs. Robert Keeney, president presided. Mrs. Malcolm C. Wilson led the group in singing "God Bless America." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Kenneth B. Hiscoe.

The group then saluted the flag. After the reading of the secretary's report Mrs. Keeney asked for help in the matter of the school.

HARVEST HOME SUPPER

First Congregational Church

The annual Harvest Home Supper will be held at the First Congregational Church next Wednesday evening at 6:30, when Dr. Herbert Gezork, a self-exiled German pastor, will speak.

Dr. Gezork was at one time minister of a church in Berlin, and now Professor of Christian Ethics at Andover-Newton Theological School and Wesleyan College. He is a brilliant speaker and in great demand.

His subject will be "Freedom in a Fascist World."

Winchester Garden Club

The Winchester Garden Club met Sept. 26 at the home of Mrs. Frederick A. Russell. Yellow roses intervened with the zephyrus, created a harmonious theme among autumnal arrangements of various grasses.

The speaker for the afternoon, Mrs. Barton Gale, president of the Nahant Garden Club, was presented by Mrs. Wanda A. Lyon, a member of the program committee. Mrs. Gale, a former resident of this town gave an instructive talk on "How to Plan a Flower Show."

A question period followed and at the request of the members, Mrs. Gale described the setting of the Historical Flower Show given by the Nahant Garden Club.

PUNTS AND PASSES

Another Winchester boy broke in to the college football picture last Saturday when Pete Galuffo, rugged co-captain of last year's high school eleven, started at halfback for Northeastern freshmen against St. John's Prep. . . . Walter Josephson and Ken Gurney were in the Springfield line-up against Mass. State last Saturday. Josephson, towering two inches above the six foot mark and weighing a cool 190 is the gymnast's highest unit. Gurney, 5'7 and 165, is a back ender. Everyone in Winchester was happy to see Coach Mansfield's Bates team come from behind last Saturday to whip A. L. C. of Springfield, 29 to 14. Framingham, Winchester's first game football opponent can hardly be classed as a soft touch when Water-down can only win by a single touch-down victory from the Blue and White last Saturday. Winchester should have had two touchdowns in the season's opener. . . . Paul Capone are former Winchester High football players now members of the Woburn Shamrocks eleven in the independent class. Capone plays in the line and "old Deadpan" Lentine in the backfield. Last Sunday against Methuen Lentine ran well with the ball and controlled some very serious blocking to the Woburn cause. A 57-yard run one of the longest of the game, was Frank Provinzano's contribution to Boston University's victory over the Norwich Cadets last week-end. . . . Francis Murray, former Winchester High backfield star, was starting quarterback last Saturday for Northeastern against Vermont.

BUTTERS BACK IN ACTION

Last week-end proved another red letter occasion in the matches of the Palmer Beach Horsehoe Association, witnessing as it did the return to action of Arthur E. Butters, well known State of Maine champion, who signalled his reappearance on the local courts in very nearly, if not quite as auspicious fashion as the association's president, Royal P. Teele, the week previous. As a matter of fact Arthur didn't make the mistake Roy made of staying in action too long, but left while his luck was holding, his excuse being an al fresco family dinner party with friends. Arthur was pretty tough while he pitched, though he avowed he hadn't touched a show all summer. President Teele also showed no indication of slipping from the heights he scaled the previous week-end, his summer in the antique business having apparently sharpened his eye and trained his throwing arm permanently.

WINCHESTER GOLF

Alfred Bond and M. R. Durkin had reduced 70's to lead the field in the handicap turkey golf tournament at the Winchester Country Club last Saturday afternoon. Horace Ford and Dan Connors tied for gross honors with 80's. The summary:

Handicap Medal	Score
A. Bond	82-70
M. R. Durkin	88-70
M. Rose	86-72
H. Ford	80-73
J. J. Gurney	80-73
D. Connors	80-74
P. E. Smith	91-74

WINCHESTER BOYS ON TECH LIST

Winchester boys on the Dean's List for scholastic excellence at Massachusetts Institute of Technology include David Wheeler Howard and Donald Alan Howard, members of the class of 1941, and Peter Lawrence Sibley of the class of 1942.

Mark Keller former star pitcher for the Winchester Legion and St. Mary's baseball teams has a fractured left arm, sustained when an automobile backed into him in Woburn.

WINCHESTER OPENS LEAGUE SEASON WITH LEXINGTON

Winchester High School opens its Middlesex League season tomorrow afternoon on the Shore road athletic field, with Lexington High at 2 o'clock.

The locals may not be at full strength for Lexington as several players were injured in last Saturday's bruising battle with Wakefield, and though none of the injuries was serious it is quite likely that neither Jim Styles, blocking back, and Mike McCormack, fullback, will be ready for tomorrow's whistle.

Styles aggravated a knee injury received at Framingham and McCormack injured his back. Both have been in uniform this week, but have been used sparingly and if they start against Lexington, will hardly stay long in action.

Pete Provinzano, Winchester's ace passer, will be back in the game against the Minutemen, after an enforced absence due to a leg infection. Also helping the backfield picture is the return to the squad of old Johnny Tracy reported for practice this week-end. True reported for practice this week and will probably see action Saturday.

Lexington doesn't figure to be too tough having lost 21-0 decision to Wellesley last week. The Minutemen are holding a very light club, according to the weight charts and there are few veterans in their lineup. Coaches Knowlton and Bartlett, however, are taking nothing for granted and have worked their charges hard on fundamentals this week to correct some of the many faults that cropped out in the Wakefield game.

Winchester's line will probably take the field against Lexington as it did against Wakefield with Callanan and Harris at the ends; Caputo and Hayes tackles; Caputo and Callanan guards; and Clark, center. The backfield will hardly be decided upon much before game time with the conclusion of Styles and McCormack playing an important part in the final selection.

Champion Lee V. Steuben of Windy-river, (smooth-haired) red dash-dash owned by Windyriver Kennels, Topsfield, winner of the following best of winners, Morris and Essex, 1939; winner of Hound group at Brockton and Cambridge, 1939; and best American-bred dog in the show at the North Shore Kennel Club in Hamilton August 1, 1940.

This dog, and many others of high class, will be shown at Gore Place on Saturday, Oct. 5 when the Ladies Dog Club will hold their 25th annual show. This show is for the benefit of the Gore House restoration and the Gore House various war units.

WINCHESTER SECONDS WON FROM WAKEFIELD

Winchester High School second football team won from the Wakefield second Monday afternoon on the Shore road athletic field 13 to 0 with a score of 13 to 0 with the touchdowns. The local seconds had a lot more success stopping the famed Wakefield end sweeps than did their varsity brothers on the preceding Saturday.

WAKEFIELD TOO GOOD FOR WINCHESTER

Heavy, Hard-Hitting Visitors In 19-0 Win

Wakefield High's heavy, hard-hitting football team over-powered an out-manned Winchester High eleven last Saturday afternoon, 19-0, on the Shore road athletic field in the first football game between the two schools since 1932.

The visitors with a line averaging 175 pounds from tackle to tackle, plus a 190 pound fullback and average six feet in the other positions, were just too good for the comparatively light, inexperienced Winchester players who were more outclassed than the score would indicate.

Wakefield's propensity for fumbling kept its score within bounds, the local boys showing a fine nose for the ball in recovering each of the five times the visitors mislaid the ball.

Wakefield rolled up 18 first downs and 325 yards while Winchester was unable to make a single first down all afternoon. The locals roughly gained 10 yards on the ground against Wakefield with Billy West contributing nine of them. Whether Wakefield had a kicking, passing game isn't known, for the visitors disdained to kick all afternoon and passed but three times, once successfully to convert after their second touchdown.

The other two heaves late in the game being muffed by the receivers. Winchester passed eight times, completing two for no gain, and having one intercepted. One of the two completed for a gain of five yards, went for nothing when the receiver, with a good chance to roll up yards, lateraled the ball to "the little man who wasn't there" without looking to see whether he was or not.

In fairness to Winchester it should be said that with Peter Provinzano on the bench with a leg infection the local's passing game was minus its only really capable passer, and passing was Winchester's only chance against Wakefield. The absence of Provinzano also kept the locals best running back and kicker out of action, but it is doubtful if Pete could have gone anywhere against the raging Wakefield linemen. Palumbo kicked well enough so that Provinzano's loss in this regard did not hurt too much.

Winchester was further handicapped when Mike McCormack, steady fullback and one of the best defenders in the state, was forced out with a back injury in the first few minutes of play. Young Billy West, who replaced McCormack, took a solid running on his first try, but he lacks McCormack's savvy at this stage of the campaign and was frequently out of position to stop the visitors' drives.

Winchester's defense, through the line, if Winchester had a shot at last Saturday, it was Dan Ron, who played the best game at guard he has ever played.

The visitors used no deception in their attack. With Bartnick and Lazaro carrying they swept the ends, found and often five interlopers preceding runners, blocking hard and effectively. Varying the end sweeps were vicious lunges into the center of the line by the 190 pound center and the 175 pound tackle.

Bartnick and Seery, alternated to advance from the Wakefield 26 to the Winchester 15 in the first quarter and on first down the bulky Seery hit inside Winchester's right tackle to score. Conroy's try for conversion failed.

Bartnick and Conroy got away for long gains in the waning minutes of the second quarter to place the ball in the Winchester six. Bartnick rushed twice to get over from that point, at least three Winchester tacklers missing good chances to bring him down. Conroy passed to Carisella for the extra point.

The last quarter had hardly commenced when Bartnick and Conroy started at the 15 after a pass interception to cover 70 yards in 15 rushes, reaching the Winchester 15. Here Conroy went over at right end, eluding several Winchester tacklers.

Winchester is preferring the story of the ball game. Perhaps Winchester's defeat was a good thing. At least the boys now know why their coaches have stressed blocking and tackling. They had a chance to see how far a team can go on these important fundamentals alone.

Many of the Winchester players, even the letter men, were facing Saturday their first really tough, hard-hitting football team. They took a grueling, but they hardly cracked wide open. They lost by one touchdown when they weren't so bad at all considering the opposition. If they will profit by their defeat, the Wakefield game may turn out to be a blessing in disguise. The locals have played a lot of soft games the last few years. No fault of theirs. It just happened that way. They know now what it is to be beaten soundly and hit hard in the process.

If they can bounce back from this one they may yet show themselves to be a football team to be proud of. The summary:

WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY

Now that schools are in session again the Young Peoples' room is on its 12 to 6 schedule and busy all the time. The Children's Librarian, Mrs. Lloyd, has set aside one section for her Boy Scout readers where practical books on scouting and the Boy Scout fiction series are kept. A section enjoyed by the younger readers is devoted to animal stories and there are groups for boys and girls books. All the new story books are in a center case while the new non-fiction books are shelved together near the charging desk. On a special table are scrap books made by the Children's Librarian from the colorful book jackets of her latest books. In these scrap books are gayer pictures and summaries of the stories.

The new popular books are:
Ages Five to Nine

Wooden Shoes in America by Lois Maloy and Alice Dalgliesh. Picture book showing the lives of two little Colonial Dutch children in New Amsterdam.

Katy's Quilt by Ruth Holbrook. A thoroughly American story of Katy and her crazy quilt.

Salute by C. W. Anderson. A 10-year old farm boy and his love for horses.

Sally Does It by Dorothy Baruch. Everyday happenings in the life of an average girl.

Keep by Irma Black. Stories of a white chicken.

All About David by Elizabeth Mifflin Boyd. A boy's story about a typical American lad.

Fire, The Mascot by Paul Brown. A dog story taking place in the days of the horse-drawn fire engines.

The Little Singing Time by Satis Coleman and Alice Thorn. Twenty-one short simple songs for the very young child.

The Great Gypsy by William P. duBois. Story of an amazing horse with red and white vertical stripes.

Sinfi and the Little Gypsy Goat by Chesley Kuhnmann. The continuous efforts of Sinfi to keep her beloved pet goat.

A Job for Jeremiah by Eleanor W. Nolen. Story of a little colored boy living at Mt. Vernon just after the Revolution.

For Ages Nine to Twelve

The Littlest House by Elizabeth Coatsworth. The experiences of three little children earning money to furnish a play-house cottage.

The Cuckoo Calls by Nora Burglon. Life in Finland just before the recent invasion.

Oxus in Summer by Katherine Hull and Pamela Whitford. A sequel to the Far Distant Oxus with further adventures of the three Hunterlys.

Heidi Grows Up and Heidi's Children by Charles Tritten. Sequels to the much loved Heidi stories.

For Ages Twelve to Sixteen

Mail Wagon Mystery by May Justus. An appealing family story with an interesting mystery.

Nansen by Anna G. Hall. An inspiring biography of the great Norwegian explorer.

Cap'n Ezra, Privateer by James Adams. Thrilling adventure story of two farm boys coming to Newburyport from New Hampshire at the outbreak of the War of 1812.

Judy Grant, Editor by Vera Connolly. A girl's experiences working on a woman's magazine.

Shadow Cove Mystery by Mary Constance DuBois. Adventure and mystery story of interest to older girls.

Ninth Inning Rally by Ralph Henry Barbour. One of Mr. Barbour's usually good stories with an element of mystery and theme of baseball.

Government Hunter by Montgromery Atwater. The experiences of a wealthy city boy on a Western dude ranch.

Son of the Danube by Boris Petroff. A story based on the authors' boyhood about several lively Bulgarian boys.
Little Green Orchard Mystery by Mabel Widdemar. A readable mystery story for older girls.

EPIPHANY WOMEN BEGIN YEAR

Tuesday, Oct. 8, the Epiphany parish house will begin its regular Tuesday activities. From 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. the parish hall will be, as usual, a work-room, where good will to men gets turned into tangible comforts for those in need. Here surgical dressings will be made, for our own sick or wounded in the Winchester Hospital, and for those farther away. Associated with last year's director of this activity, Mrs. Walter Hawkes, will be Mrs. R. E. L. Meehan.

At some of the sewing tables hospital garments will be made. At others sturdy stuff will turn into shirts for boys in mountain parts of our America where there is more need than kind hearts and deft hands nearly can meet. There will be gay prints to please a little girl's heart when it arrives at her school as a pretty dress. This year a committee will have charge of this work and the supplies for it: Mrs. Roland Fletcher, Mrs. Fred Archer and Mrs. Ray Manger.

At 11 o'clock the first council meeting of the year will assemble in the Rector's study, with Mrs. Gerald Hills presiding. There will be a number of new members elected at the business meeting of the Women's division of the Church Service League in May. Mrs. Donald Heath as the second vice president, will be Mrs. Hills' first assistant.

Practical affairs in the parish house will be in charge of Mrs. Harvard L. Mann, and the kitchen will be looked after by a committee: Miss Eleanor Dow, Mrs. Warren Jenney and Mrs. E. Craig Greiner.

Mrs. John Aitchison will be associated with Mrs. Thaddeus Harris in the care of vestments.

Three parish groups will be represented in the council by new leaders: the Evening Branch by Mrs. John Sharon, the Jordan Group by Mrs. Malcolm Cook, and the Symmes Corner Group by co-chairman, Mrs. Lloyd Wallis and Mrs. Guy Livingston.

Mrs. E. Craig Greiner will meet with the council as chairman of the Gypsy Bazaar to discuss plans and progress.

Before the Council meeting the members of the council will come to a Corporate Communion in the church at 10:30. This service will commit the work and the workers of the year to that Leader and Helper without whom the best human undertakings may become tense, jangled and burdensome.

At 12:30 the officers of the Tuesday Group, Mrs. Warren Shoemaker, Mrs. Ralph Bennett, Mrs. Alexander Aiken, and Mrs. Paul Roberts, will serve a luncheon for all league members. Work will continue in the afternoon.

CHARTER MEETING OF W. S. C. S.

A meeting was held in Crawford Memorial Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, Sept. 25, which may be considered a turning point in the history of the women's activities in this church.

The recent union of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant Church, representing eight million members, necessitated some changes in the administration of the business of the various church societies, that the work of the great Methodist Church may be done unitedly and efficiently.

The former Ladies' Aid, the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society and the Woman's Home Missionary Society representing the women of the Methodist Episcopal Church are to be merged into the new organization, known as the Woman's Society of Christian Service. These former societies have a long and honorable record and their work will be continued in the new society of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the united Methodist Church.

At the charter meeting of the new W. S. C. S., the pastor, Rev. Roger E. Makepeace, conducted the impressive ritual in which all participants, Mrs. Makepeace read the constitution and all present signed the charter roll. Mrs. LeRoy presented the names of candidates for office and they were unanimously elected.

Presidenta Emerita Mrs. Anna M. Dunster and Mrs. Grace M. Mowbray. President Mrs. Arthur C. Fay. Recording Secretary Mrs. Roger M. Burroughs.

Corresponding Secretary Mrs. Mabel Gray. Treasurer Mrs. Edna M. Johnson. Secretary of Community Service Mrs. G. Raymond Hancock.

Secretary of Literature Mrs. Fred Decker. Secretary of Missions Mrs. William Carter and Mrs. William Maxwell.

Advisory Board—Mrs. Norman Hitchcock, Mrs. Frank Herrick, Mrs. Ralph Hatch, Mrs. Andrew Good and Mrs. Leonard Griffith.

Mr. Makepeace paid a fitting tribute to Mrs. Dunning who had been a loved and honored president of the Ladies' Aid for many years and to Miss Snow who has been the faithful president of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society for 25 years.

On account of the stormy weather and the inability of some of the members to be present at this first meeting, the charter roll will be kept open till the next meeting, the second Thursday in October.

Preceding this meeting, a fine supper was served by Mrs. Fay and her assistants. Among the guests were Rev. Ralph Decker, a classmate of Mr. Makepeace and his wife who have recently come to Winchester.

SEVERAL INJURED AS CARS CRASHED HEAD-ON

Several persons were injured last Saturday afternoon shortly after 4:30 when a Chevrolet sedan, driven by Thomas J. Newcomb of 206 Norfolk street, Dorchester, while heading north on Cambridge street, was in collision at Calumet road with a Ford coupe owned by Gilbert Phelps of 18 Ware street, Cambridge, and driven by Frank G. Phelps of the same address.

The machines crashed head-on, Phelps' machine, travelling south, being on the left hand side of the road according to the police. Both machines were wrecked and had to be towed away.

Riding with Newcomb in the Chevrolet were his wife, Mrs. Bertha Newcomb; his son, Walter, 9, Francis DeGraan, 50, and Dorothy DeGraan, 14, both of 276 Norfolk street, Dorchester, and Bertha Green, 14, of 206 Norfolk street, Dorchester.

All the occupants of the Chevrolet were taken to the Winchester Hospital in the police ambulance by Officers James P. Donaghey and James E. Farrell. At the hospital they were treated by Drs. Roger M. Burgoyne and Francis Tucker for lacerations and contusions as well as a general shaking up. Bertha Green sustained a bad laceration of the forehead, and Dorothy DeGraan, an injury to her mouth.

Phelps received injuries to his face and chest when he was thrown against the steering wheel of his machine. He told the police he was driving home from Manchester, N. H. He was unable to account for being on the wrong side of the road, and stated that he had not fallen asleep.

Wears Shabby Wedding Clothes

There's nothing gay about the wedding clothes which the Austrian peasant bride wears for the occasion. She discards her bright and elaborate costume and dons an ill-fitting black alpaca coat and skirt.

RED CROSS WAR RELIEF

Chairman Norman H. Davis informed this week the Central Committee of the American Red Cross that Red Cross Relief to the wounded and needy in Great Britain was to date $3,000,000 and that the organization was "prepared to meet every British request received."

Mr. Davis said: "The American Red Cross is in constant contact with the British Red Cross, and the Women's voluntary services, two officially recognized British agencies for dealing with military and civilian relief, and we are responding to all their requests for aid."

"Thanks to the generosity of the American public which over-subscribed our $20,000,000 war fund and to the action of Congress in making available $50,000,000 for certain categories of European relief, the Red Cross is in a position to act promptly and generously on all legitimate requests for relief from the stricken British people."

"Since early June the Red Cross has made 102 shipments of relief supplies in British boxes and two clipper planes. Sixty-six different British steamships have provided for the Red Cross Relief supplies, and not one of the shipments has been lost at sea or otherwise."

"Shipments of medical supplies, surgical instruments, hospital equipment, ambulances, drugs and surgical dressings have gone to the British Red Cross, while to the Women's Voluntary Service we have furnished food, clothing and food kitchens. No item of relief has been sent without previous clearance with the British relief agencies, as to its need and acceptability."

"Chapters in the Greater New York area are furnishing volunteer blood plasma to the British Red Cross for treatment of wounded soldiers and civilians. Also Red Cross cabled 5000 pounds ($20,000) from its National Children's Fund to assist in the establishment of ten refugee cottages for poor children under five whose homes have been wrecked by bombs."

"It readily can be seen," Mr. Davis said, "that the American Red Cross is providing every possible type of relief which the British might need."

The Building Commissioner has issued permits for alterations and erection of new buildings on lots owned by the following for the week ending Thursday, Sept. 26:

A. J. Archibald of Winchester: new dwelling and garage, 208 Forest street.

Gerla K. Cronin of Winchester: new dwelling and garage 23 Henry street.

Paul T. Budzell of Winchester: add to present garage 6 Penn road.

DRAFT REGISTRARS NEEDED

Town Clerk Mabel W. Strison, who is in charge of the draft registration in Winchester on Wednesday, Oct. 10, from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., states that more volunteer registrars are badly needed. To date not more than 15 have offered their services and Miss Strison estimates that at least eight for each precinct, or 18, will be needed to handle the registration efficiently.

Few of the town's election officers have volunteered to serve, at least as yet. Head registrars for each of the six precincts have been secured. They being Alfred E. Sweet, 17 Nicholas II, Fitzgerald; 2, Cynthia Laraway; 3, Charles L. Lampee; 4, Fred H. Scholl; 5, Harrison Chadwick; 6, of these Messrs. Scholl, Chadwick and Sweet are election officers.

Any citizens of the town who are willing to give their services as registrars are urged to communicate with Miss Strison at the town clerk's office at once.

AN IMPORTANT LAND SALE

Development of Brooks Estate Begun

A portion of the estate of Peter C. Brooks, who were represented by C. W. Whittier Bros. of Boston, has been sold to the Brooks Park Inc. who are represented by Edward T. Harrington Co. of 7 Common street, Winchester, and the sale of what the citizens of Winchester have known as the Brooks Estate on Grove street is to be commenced. It is of great interest to the townpeople as it is the beginning of the development of one of the most beautiful sections of Winchester into home sites.

It is a location which many a Winchester has looked at and admired because of its wonderful panoramic view across the beautiful Mystic Lakes toward the green fairways of the Country Club and the charming home on Myopia Hill, a picture, with its background of glorious sunsets which hold one spellbound.

Sixteen acres are being subdivided into building sites by the new owners and is to be carefully restricted in an endeavor to make it one of the most desirable developments in this beautiful section of Winchester.

For many generations this property has been held by one of the oldest and most prominent families in Massachusetts and reflects the careful thought of several generations in its landscaping and embellishments.

BACHELOR DINNER FOR MR. LANE

The dinner was given by a group of more than 100 friends at Hayes Inn. The dinner was given by a group of more than 100 friends at Hayes Inn.

Mr. Lane, widely known as a funeral director with the Lane Funeral Service of Winchester, is to marry Miss Nancy Agnes Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Stewart of Lynn, at St. Joseph's Church in that city on Saturday, Oct. 12.

IMPORTANT DRAFT NOTICE

To clarify a misconception that Aliens who have registered as such do not need to register for the draft, following from Governor Blandine's proclamation is published upon the request of Town Clerk Mabel W. Stinson:

"Every male person . . . who is a citizen of the United States or an Alien residing in the United States, and who, on the registration day fixed by law, is herein has attained his 21st anniversary of the day of his birth and has not attained the 26th anniversary of the day of his birth is required to present himself for and submit to registration."

MARRIAGE INTENTIONS

Ernest Harold Crockett, 62 Golden Hills park, and Eleanor Estelle Thompson, 26 Clematis street, Robert Horton Gardner, 91 Mystic Valley Parkway, and Elizabeth Macdonald, 49 Salisbury street, Edward Gentry Egan, 601 East 9th street, New York City, and Jeanette Smith, 235 Mystic Valley Parkway, William Angell Durant, 65 Myrtle street, Modford, and Ann Elizabeth McKenzie, 65 Hemingway street.

TAKE A BRITISH CHILD!

The British government has stopped the sailing of the children for the present. The Transcript is still anxious to have homes guaranteed for additional children when sailing is resumed. ART ASSOCIATION SHOWING PORTRAITS

The exhibition of portraits which opened this week at the Library Art Gallery includes a wide range of subjects and different painting styles.

In the group of old paintings is the portrait of Mrs. Henry Gibbs by John Greenwood (1727-1792) who is generally credited with establishing the American style of portrait painting. Also in the older group is the portrait of Anne Grant by William Dunlap (1766-1839), showing a short, stout little lady in a tight fitting green blue gown with a heavy chain about her shoulders and the pink ribbon of her lace-trimmed cap under her firm little chin.

Two modern works will immediately strike the viewer upon entering the gallery. Dear Diary by Margaret Fitzhugh Brown and Jacob Blander's study of Dr. Nisson Touroff. The first is an excellent example of the picture with a story, showing an attractive young woman in a flimsy white dekollet gown, seated before a dressing table with her pencil poised above a small red book and a far away look in her eyes. A white fur-trimmed aqua cloak in the background enhances the finely painted warm flesh tones of the shoulders and arms.

Dr. Touroff is painted in severe and most conventional portrait style. The figure is finely drawn, once again the flesh tones are excellent and the artist has caught an expression of quiet strength that is very vital.

It is difficult to credit Mr. Blander with painting Young Medical Student and Portrait of a Boy after seeing his study of Dr. Touroff. Both the figures are of a different approach as well as being more broadly painted.

There are three fine studies by Blander being the portrait of an old man with long white hair and flowing beard. Here again the skin tones are chosen with delicate touch and the expression about the eyes is very lifelike. The same artist's study of a ruddy-faced working man is a fine character sketch. The blue shirt, marked down hair, and heavy hands being to the life. Mr. Keyes' ability to maintain in a softer vein is clearly apparent in his attractive portrait of John Lavallo's portrait of Joshua H. Child will appeal to those with sporting tendencies, the costume head-dress, and the pose are all of that of a true sportsman.

John Lavallo's portrait of Joshua H. Child will appeal to those with sporting tendencies, the costume head-dress, and the pose are all of that of a true sportsman.

WATTS—ASELINE

As the chiming in the new tower rang out for the first service of marriage in the Church of the Epiphany since their recent installation on Thursday evening Oct. 10, Miss Ruby Elizabeth Aseline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Aseline of Cabot street, became the bride of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick William Watts of Fall River. Rev. William S. Packer of Winchester assisted the pastor of the church, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, in reading the service, which was a candlelight ceremony in a most attractive setting of cedars, elms, fern, white dahlia and white chrysanthemums. The wedding music was played by the church organist and choirmaster, Enos Held.

Members of the church vestry served as ushers. Dr. John T. Williams, Dr. C. Guy Lane, Dr. Robert M. Green, Dr. Stephen George Jones, Dr. Milton J. Quinn and Dr. Fred Higginbotham were honorary bearers. Interment was in Mt. Auburn cemetery.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and two of her three honor attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Herbert Todd Wadsworth (Dorothy Aseline) of Winchester and Mrs. Norman William Strickland (Marjorie Aseline) of Waban. The third was Miss Mary Little Fuller of this town. Bridesmaids were Miss Betty Schermer and Miss Ruth Pollock both of Winchester; Mrs. Moulton Herrick (Katherine Davenport) of Cambridge and Miss Constance Pumphrey of Waban. N. J., a college classmate of the bride.

The bride wore a period gown of white satin having a long full train. Her conventional hair was styled and arranged with a cap of old lace and she carried a bouquet of valley lilies and houndaria.

All the bridal attendants wore primrose style gowns of white tulle with hoop skirts. The matrons of honor and the honor maid carried rosebuds and delphiniums, the predominating shade of the bouquets and their small matching caps of flowers being a deep salmon. The bridesmaids' caps and bouquets were similar to those of the honor attendants but with the delphinium shade predominating.

Mr. Watts had for his best man Robert C. Bogle of Fall River, the usher corps comprised F. William Aseline, Jr., of Winchester, brother of the bride, Mr. Wadsworth and Mr. Strickland, the bride's brothers-in-law; Willard S. Gilbert of Fall River, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Donald A. Bogle, Walter A. Hargins, both of Fall River; and Alan H. Bolger of North Conway, N. H.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the church parish hall where the decorations were similar to those in the church. Mrs. Aseline, the bride's mother, wore a deep salmon tulle gown, with matching cap and bolero, and a cordelia eves. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Watts, also wore a gardenia corsage with her gown of electric blue velvet. After an extended tour through the Berkshires and New York State, Mr. Watts and his bride will spend their honeymoon at Lake Placid. They will make their home in Cambridge.

The bride graduated from Winchester High School, from Edgewood Park Junior College at Briarcliff Manor, N. Y., and from the Amy Sachs School of Design and Interior Decoration in Boston. Mr. Watts is a graduate of Bryant College of Business Administration in Providence.

Many parties were given preceding the marriage, among them being a buffet supper given Sunday evening by Mrs. Wadsworth at her home on Norwood street for the bride, party and bride's parents. Mr. Strickland gave a luncheon at her home in Waban Monday noon for the bride and her attendants, and Mrs. Aseline, the bride's mother, gave a formal dinner for the entire bridal party at her home before the marriage rehearsal.

MISS THOMPSON ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Thompson of Clematis street, announce the engagement of their daughter Eleanor to Ernest Crockett, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Crockett of Sausalito. The wedding will take place in the near future.

FUNERAL RITES FOR DR. TORR WAGNER HARMER

Funeral services for Dr. Torr Wagner Harmer of 11 Everett avenue, distinguished Boston surgeon who died Oct. 2, were held last Friday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany, which he had served as vestryman and of which at the time of his death he was senior minister.

The pastor, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, read the service, assisted by the Rev. Roy Squire Burton, now Bishop of Haiti. Organ music was played by the church organist and choirmaster, Enos Held.

Members of the church vestry served as ushers. Dr. John T. Williams, Dr. C. Guy Lane, Dr. Robert M. Green, Dr. Stephen George Jones, Dr. Milton J. Quinn and Dr. Fred Higginbotham were honorary bearers. Interment was in Mt. Auburn cemetery.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY AMERICAN LEGION

The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary American Legion was held on Monday evening, Oct. 7, in the Legion Hall. About 10 members were present and the newly elected president, Mrs. Richard MacAdams, presided.

New business was discussed and new committees appointed. The Auxiliary plans a very active season ahead.

After the business meeting the members were entertained with movies from Choma Inc. and put on by Donald MacAdams, brother of the local Post's Commander.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses of the evening, Mrs. Kathryn Roche, Mrs. Elizabeth MacLaughlin and Mrs. MacDinn.

ELKS BALL TONIGHT

The Elk's Charity Ball, back on Winchester's social calendar after several year's lapse, is expected to attract a large gathering of Elks and their ladies, as well as many of the pleasure-loving public to the town hall this evening.

Karl Rohde's big time orchestra will play for the dancing, and nine acts of excellent vaudeville will be presented, commencing at 8 o'clock. Dancing will follow the show until 1 o'clock. Howard A. Brownell is excited over the Winchester Lodge, with Robert "Sam" Murphy heading the ball committee and John J. Doherty in charge of the program.

20TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Clark W. Collins of Lloyd street reached the 20th anniversary of their marriage on Sunday. A large group of friends honoring the occasion by flowers and calls, and enjoying afternoon tea. Mrs. Collins was assisted at the tea table by Mrs. Percy Buehler, Mrs. Loring P. Nichols, Mrs. James R. Doty and Mrs. T. Price Wilson.

MISS LANGILLE ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Langille of Stoney road, Medford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Eva Langille, to Lester Sherman Mahogany of Fulton street, Medford. SEWING MEETING

Quite a group of women met at the First Congregational Church on Wednesday to sew layettes for the Red Cross. There were representatives of the Mission Union, Western Missionary Society, the Handicraft Group, the Guild and Dramatic Society present. Luncheon was served at a small charge.

Next week the ladies are asked to bring their own lunch and coffee will be served. At this meeting knitting material will be available. Also during this month the work will be for the Red Cross.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF SOCIETY Winchester Unit

Each Wednesday sees new faces at the parish hall of the Epiphany church, where women meet to make badges and garments that are needed in Britain. Some of the same faces working at Epiphany on Wednesday are seen on Monday at Red Cross. For there is no competition between these two agencies of mercy and no wasteful duplication. The American Red Cross stands ready to meet every conceivable need of the British Red Cross, and the field which the British Red Cross fills is a field where large needs arise. The British Red Cross cares for armed men wounded in battle and for civilians who are injured by combatant action.

As this war has developed, sickness and wounds and want are more widespread than ever before, and to new kinds of woes the British War Relief is ministering. Civilian refugees and those who have lost everything by enemy action are provided for by garments such as Winchester women are making on Wednesdays. There is still room for more workers and need for more production. As winter deepens the thought of sudden helplessness will haunt us more heavily. We shall be more eager to make sure that no relief centers have empty pegs and empty shelves when a new group of the homeless come shivering to their doors. Against many kinds of horror and pain we of America cannot protect these spiritual kinsmen of ours who suffer for the sake of things that we believe in and that we live by. To do what it is in our power to do, comforts American women. That is the reason the number of workers for the British War Relief grows week by week.

Those in charge of the work-rooms cordially urge all interested women to come in Wednesday, Oct. 16, to see the kinds of work needed and to find their most effective way of helping.

GAVE SHOWER FOR MISS FOWLER

Mrs. E. R. Sherburne gave a shower at her home on Lakeside road Wednesday evening for Miss Eleanor Fowler of West Medford. The house was very prettily decorated for the occasion and Miss Fowler, the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Among the guests were Miss Eugenia Peppard, Miss Barbara Fifield, Mrs. Lester Gustin, Mr. Robert B. Graham, Miss Mary Herrick, Mrs. Herbert Rogers, Miss Stella Rogers, all of Winchester; Mrs. J. Warren Fowler, Mrs. Charles Olson, Miss Jane Fowler, Mrs. Horace Knight, Mrs. Stella Whittaker, Miss Marie Abbott, Mrs. Allan Beausang, and Mrs. Lewis Lattimore, Jr., of West Medford; Mrs. Joseph Herman of Medford; Mrs. Frank Abbott of Boston; and Mrs. Horace Horton of Boston.

IMPORTANT MEETING

A meeting of members of the Retirement System in Winchester will be held Monday evening, Oct. 14, at 7:30, in the General Committee Room of the Town Hall to elect a member of the Retirement Board for a term of three years, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Building Commissioner Maurice Dinneen. Vincent E. Clarke, chairman and William E. Priest are the other members.

HOME FROM NEW YORK

Miss Anne McVeeney of Foxcroft read spent the week in New York City visiting her cousin, Miss Rose O'Hara on Fifth avenue. She returned Monday evening with a box of new material. Miss McVeeney is a member of the Epiphany church, which she visited her sister, Irene, in Brooklyn.

Jane Doty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Doty of Lawrence street, is attending Skidmore College.

SILVER TEA

A delightful social event took place on Thursday of last week when Mrs. William C. Scott opened her beautiful home for a silver tea sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Crawford Memorial Methodist church. The guests were received by the hostess, Mrs. Scott; the president of the society, Mrs. Arthur C. Fay, and the wife of the pastor, Mrs. Roger E. Makenzie. In the dining room, which was gay with beautiful flowers and gleaming silver, delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Roger M. Burgoyne, Mrs. Frank Horak, Mrs. Thomas Reese, Mrs. Vincent Clarke, Mrs. Sadie Fancie and Miss Mary L. Hodge. The pourers were Mrs. S. C. Burgoyne, Mrs. J. F. Hodge, Mrs. Anna M. Dunning, Mrs. Nestor Davis, Mrs. A. B. Bent and Mrs. A. D. Nicholas. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. W. T. Carver and Mrs. R. W. Armstrong.

The table of home-cooked food was in charge of Mrs. Ralph Hatch, Mrs. Leonard Griffiths and Mrs. B. Marshall. The entertainment consisted of a style show in which Edith Clark, Inc. of Winchester displayed a large number of attractive costumes suitable for all occasions. Many guests were present and all enjoyed the atmosphere of sociability and good will.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE OF FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Women's League of the First Baptist Church held its first meeting of the season on Thursday.

The ladies gathered at 10 o'clock for sewing. At noon a delicious luncheon was served by Mrs. Carrie L. Eldredge's group. The afternoon meeting opened with a devotional period led by Mrs. W. A. Snow. The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. W. L. Corbett, Home Missions Vice President of Boston East Association, her subject being "Have You Done Your Homework?"

The business meeting then followed with the reports, which were most encouraging. Program Chairman, Mrs. Malcolm C. Wilson, announced our theme for the year, "Witnesses of the Light; our foreign study topic, "China" and home study topic, "Migrants of the Crops." She concluded with a talk, "White Light of Ministry—Service." (Women's Missionary Work for the coming year.)

ADDRESSED ART ASSOCIATION ON PORTRAITURE

The opening of the art exhibit of Contemporary and Early American Portraits, now being shown at the Winchester Public Library, was held Sunday, Oct. 6, from 4 to 6 o'clock. The Winchester Art Association, sponsors of this representative and highly interesting group of portraits, was addressed by Miss Mary Hutchings from the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

Miss Hutchings gave an instructive and well-delivered lecture on portraiture in general. In speaking of the most controversial point in all paintings, Portraiture and the question of "likeness" to the subject, she brought up four main topics of discussion. These were in brief: The quality of decorativeness in portraits as exemplified by Holbein's work in which he is the accepted peer of all artists—the psychological aspect, giving as example Rembrandt who is considered the greatest artist in this field by his ability to "suggest" character in his subject; the English school of the 18th century composed of Gainsborough, Reynolds, Romney and others because of their influence on early American portrait artists; and finally draftsmanship producing startling likenesses which led later to the so-called Classical Modernists of today whose passion for color, especially in unusual juxtaposition, is now dominating American work.

Miss Hutchings then briefly spoke of the portraits now hanging in the gallery and heartily congratulated the Art Association for so fine a representative group. She concluded her talk by saying that the present day American portrait artist is distinctive as an individual and as an American, showing no great influence of the English, German and French schools but developing a style of his own.

After the lecture tea was served under the direction of Mrs. Carl L. Eaton, hostess for the Association. Mrs. Marshall Phil, chairman for this meeting had Miss M. Alice Mason to pour and the following ladies as servers: Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Marshall Phil, Mrs. Robert Dalzell, Mrs. Joseph Donnell, Mrs. Melvin Engle and Mrs. Charles Underwood.

WARNING

To Friends of the Salvation Army in Winchester

The Salvation Army is about to launch its annual maintenance appeal in Winchester, with William N. Eggers, 17 Stowell Road, as chairman of sponsoring committee and G. Dwight Cabot, Winchester Trust Company, as campaign treasurer. Mr. Cabot, with official collectors, to be named later, are only ones authorized to receive contributions.

At the proper time, you will be informed of the arrival of the bona fide collectors in Winchester. They will be in full uniform and have the words "Public Relations Department," on collar of coat. They will carry identification pass and have credential letter, signed by Mr. Eggers.

Because

There's NO WASHING or IRONING. Never again will I question the true economy of a good laundry service. It's so much more convenient for me to use this COMPLETE FAMILY SERVICE, saving as it does time, money and washday worries. It's inexpensive, too.

I pay $1.50 for 10 lbs. and 10c for each additional pound with shirts professionally finished for only 5c each extra.

You'll like it, too"

WINCHESTER YOUTH INJURED AS WOBURN BOY DIES IN MOTOR CRASH

Gerard Gagnor of 569 Washington street received painful leg injuries and a severe shock early Wednesday afternoon as the result of an automobile accident on Salem street, Woburn, in which a Woburn youth, 17 year old Robert Martin of 81 Winn street, was fatally injured.

Martin and Gagnor were riding in an automobile, driven east on Salem street by Gagnor. At a point opposite Murray's Barber Shop their car was in collision with another automobile, also headed east and driven by George Breen, 17, of 5 Central street, Woburn. Police say the Breen car cut over from the outside, forcing Gagnor's car into a pole. The force of the impact drove the radiator back under the front seat, pinning the occupants under the wreckage.

It was with difficulty that Martin was finally extricated by the police and rushed to the Choate Hospital where he died at 2:30. He sustained a fractured skull, multiple lacerations of the head, the loss of one eye and other injuries.

After the collision Breen's car veered to the right and after ripping off 65 feet of fence, finally stopped in a nearby yard. Breen was not injured.

MISS AVERY'S 19TH SEASON

Tickets for the series of ten lectures on world affairs by Eunice Harriet Avery, sponsored by the Winchester Smith College Club, will for the second year carry the privilege of punched attendance. This punch system, applied to the nine afternoon lectures, allows the subscriber nine admissions without reference to dates. The subscriber may bring eight friends on one admission, if she likes, or more conservatively, bring one or two on spare punches accumulated through illness or being away.

This will be Miss Avery's 19th consecutive season of lectures in support of the Winchester club scholarship fund. In this year when interest is focused so intensely on world happenings it is good to feel that one may combine that interest with support for a cause important to the American future, if undramatic.

The lectures will be given in the Wyman School Hall, Wednesday afternoons at 2:30 on Oct. 25; Nov. 6 and 20; Dec. 4; Jan. 8 and 22; Feb. 7 and 19 and March 5. The evening lecture on March 21 will be given by Prof. Hans Kohn of Smith College, distinguished modern historian.

The committee for the lectures, under Mrs. Clinton E. Farnham, chairman, includes Mrs. John Ely Harbard, Mrs. John B. Cecil, Mrs. Merton E. Grush, Miss Helen A. Hall, Mrs. Albert A. Haskell, Mrs. Robert Jennings, Mrs. Henry Kimball Spencer and ex officio, Mrs. Geoffrey C. Nolley.

SMITH-BRYER

Miss Nettie E. Bryer, daughter of Mrs. Ruby M. Bryer of Washington street, is wearing a wine velvet gown, trimmed with white lace and a gardenia corsage for her marriage. The ceremony will be performed at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother by Rev. Charles L. Noyes, pastor of the Second Congregational Church.

Mrs. John Van Lenthem of Medford is attending the bride as matron of honor and will wear a dress of autumn brown velvet and a corsage of talisman roses. Lauren W. Smith of Methuen will be his brother's best man.

A reception will be held immediately after the ceremony at which the bride and bridegroom will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Bryer and Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Smith.

After a honeymoon trip to the World's Fair in New York, Mr. Smith and his bride will make their home at 76 Bromfield street in Lawrence where the bridegroom is clerk of the City Water Department.

On Friday, Oct. 1, the board of directors of the Winchester District Nursing Association met at the home of its president, Miss Adelaide Homer. The attendance included Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, Mrs. Alton Jackson, Mrs. Robert Holmes, Miss Homer, Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mrs. Theodore Jones, Mrs. Howard Morrison, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. Gardner Pond, Mrs. Harlow Russell, Mrs. Jameson Slocum, Mrs. Henry Spencer, Mrs. William Sperry and Mrs. James Willing of the board with the Nursing Supervisor, Mrs. Angeline R. O'Leary.

In the report of the treasurer, Mrs. Pond, announcement was made of the generous gift of $100 from En Ka.

Arrangements have been made for the Winchester District Nursing Association again to make use of the En Ka volunteer drivers for transporting patients to and from clinics. The new form of publicity, a folder effectively explaining in words and pictures the nurses' services available through the Winchester Nursing Association has not only been sent to every household on the 1940 list of residents, but is also to be distributed to new-comers by Mrs. Butler of the Wellesley Hospital.

The nurses' report showed a total of 231 visits for the month of September. Of these 75 were paid in full, 78 were paid for in part, and 70 were free calls.

Mrs. O'Leary and the District Nurse, Miss Peterson, are to attend a series of ten lectures and demonstrations in nursing techniques at the Metropolitan State Hospital in Waltham, beginning Oct. 16. The subject will be "Mental Hygiene for the Nurse."

The Boston Council of Social Agencies is to conduct an experiment with Winchester as its proving ground. On Wednesday, Oct. 9, representatives of agencies who might use the service of volunteers met with Mrs. Donovan and Mrs. Warner of the Boston Volunteer Service Bureau to discuss the possibility of establishing a central town registry for those offering their time and abilities. The Winchester District Nursing Association is represented at this meeting by Mrs. Spaulding.

Mrs. Percy Blugie was announced as the newly elected board member of the Winchester Hospital, to succeed Mrs. W. B. at $4.50. The subject of the address was "Safety" and was conducted in the form of questions and answers.

Mr. Arthur O'Leary of 104 Church street, this town, the local young man is much in demand as a lecturer on safety, having been the guest speaker at the meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association at Salisbury on Tuesday evening of this week.

A BUSY BEGINNING

The group of young women in the parish of the Epiphany who are known as the Tuesday Luncheon Group began the busy work Tuesday, Oct. 8, with a busy day. Again they demonstrated that they take life in the active way. A luncheon club in most places means a band of people who eat luncheon; in this Epiphany Group it means a hand who get luncheon. In some organizations officers are named and it is their duty to do; in the Tuesday Luncheon Group they also do. For the officers, Mrs. Warren Sheenaker, Mrs. Alexander Akers, Ralph B. B. and Mrs. Paul Roberts, prepared and served luncheon to 50 members of the women's division of the Church Service League Oct. 8, at 12:30 p. m.

In the afternoon they entertained newcomers at tea, at the residence of Mrs. Maxwell McCreery. Invited as honor guests were Mrs. Thomas Salmon, 121 Church street; Mrs. Charles Burnham, 125 Church street; Mrs. John H. Lynch, 6 Curtis street; Mrs. Benjamin Dorman, Lantern lane; Mrs. Alfred Higgins, 17 Clement street; Mrs. Robert Thompson, 16 Cabot street; Mrs. Stanley Barnes, 7 Ravenscroft road; Mrs. F. Donald Bates, 11 Park avenue; Mrs. Paul E. Lamarche, 2 Myrtle terrace; Mrs. Robert T. Brown, 2 Calumet road; Mrs. John Turner, 1 Cottage avenue; Mrs. Robert Votch, 5 Wedgemere avenue and Mrs. William A. Everett, 59 Wedgemere avenue.

The atmosphere of work mingled spicily with the tea, for winter plans were discussed. Again the Luncheon Group will present Mrs. St. John Thaxter, now known and popular with Winchester people, in a series of play-readings, beginning in February. From what the series carry from its sponsors the Luncheon Group will make its usual contribution to the parish welfare committee and will keep its usual watchful eye out for paint, replacements, and improvements for the parish kitchen, where the Group reigns busily on Tuesday.

Their special committee on kitchen housekeeping, Miss Eleanor Dow, Mrs. Warren Jenney, and Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, invited the League to look in and enjoy the state in which the kitchen begins the year.

On next Tuesday, Oct. 15, the weekly luncheon will be in charge of Mrs. Frederick Taylor and a committee of her choosing.

BOAT CLUB NOMINATIONS MADE

The annual meeting of the Winchester Boat Club will be held at the club house on Friday evening, Oct. 18, at 8 o'clock.

The meeting will be held for the purpose of electing the officers and directors for the coming year and for transacting any other business which may be brought before the meeting.

The following names are being presented by the nominating committee for officers for the coming year:

Commodore—Theodore E. Burleigh
Vice Commodore—Oscar E. Morrow
Secretary—James T. Snow
Treasurer—Frederick Fish
Director—William J. Croughwell, Dwight B. Hill, Willard R. Locke, Kenneth M. Pratt, Harold Pyle, Clarence W. Russell, Allen W. Swan, Donald R. Simonds, George C. Wewell Nominating Committee—Oscar E. Morrow, chairman, Frederick Fish, Willard R. Locke, Harold Pyle, Clarence W. Russell

OPEN MEETING

The annual fall open meeting and ten of the Winchester League of Women Voters will be held at the home of Mrs. Howard J. Chidley, Myopia road on Tuesday, Oct. 15 at 2:30 p. m. The issues of the 1940 Presidential Campaign will be discussed and speakers have been invited from the Democratic, Prohibition, Republican and Socialist parties. The Democratic speaker will be Mr. Orville S. Poland, widely known Boston attorney and chairman of the executive committee of the Civil Liberties Committee of Massachusetts. Mr. Roger W. Babson, candidate for President of the United States on the Prohibition ticket and President of Babson statistical organization at Babson Park will speak for his party, while the Republican speaker will be Mr. Elmer C. Nelson, former State Representative from Milford and special assistant to Governor Saltonstall in 1939 and 1940 who is also in charge of personnel and a member of the State Raising Commission.

The Socialist Party will be represented by the Rev. Walcott Cutler of St. John's Episcopal Church in Charlestown. Guests are welcome and it is hoped particularly that new voters will attend.

After the program, among the guests, Arthur T. O'Leary of Edott's will parade the latest fashions.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON MEETING OCT. 17

Mrs. William O. Thompson is opening her home on Swan road Thursday, Oct. 17, for the fall meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League, which will commence at 2:30. Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, president, will preside and the speaker will be Mary Mahoney, special reporter of the Boston Globe whose subject is "What's Behind the News." Ann Carolyn Thompson will play a group of piano solos and tea will be served by Mrs. John W. Johnson and her committee.

CORPORAL O'LEARY IN SAFETY ADDRESS

A number of Winchester friends of Corp. Arthur T. O'Leary of the Wrentham State Police Barracks had the pleasure of hearing him deliver a radio address on Wednesday morning over Station WBZ at 8:45. The subject of the address was "Safety" and was conducted in the form of questions and answers.

Mr. Arthur O'Leary is the son of Mr. Arthur O'Leary of 104 Church street, this town. The local young man is much in demand as a lecturer on safety, having been the guest speaker at the meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association at Salisbury on Tuesday evening of this week.

PLAN WEINIE ROAST

The Winchester Junior Fortnightly has planned a weinie roast on Oct. 14th at the Girl Scout Cabin off Grove street to give prospective new members a chance to become acquainted with the club and its activities for the coming year.

Entertainment is requested to bring her own supper with the exception of dessert which the club will provide. There will be an opportunity to buy soft drinks at the cabin.

As this weinie roast comes before the first meeting, it is hoped that all interested in joining the club will attend.

O. E. S.

The Round About Club will meet at 8 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Sharon, 18 Winthrop street, Thursday, Oct. 17, at 19 a. m. Plans are to do some work for the Red Cross. Basket luncheon.

WINCHESTER YOUTH HIT-RUN VICTIM

John Graziano, 19 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pietro Graziano of 14 Olive street, was struck and painfully injured by a hit and run driver on Forest street in Medford near the Medford High School Sunday night.

The driver of the car, which the police say was a small roadster carrying several loudly-singing youths, failed to stop after the accident, and Graziano, suddenly struck down, was unable to get the complete registration number.

The Winchester youth, who was on his way home from a wedding, was taken to the Lawrence Memorial Hospital in Medford, where it was first feared he had suffered a fractured pelvis. Later examinations and X-rays were more reassuring and Graziano was able to return to his home on Tuesday.

He had but recently recovered from injuries sustained in an automobile accident in Malden two months ago.

Many persons are asking why the paper is in the center of the town and not in the town tower. It's bound to come out of Elliott.

Reluctantly, we admit it. The Office seems no longer an asset. Winchester. Our pride in growing up from infancy to manhood in our home town, in conducting a successful business, in aiding in the substantial and progressive growth of the town, appears a failure. Not that we should expect ardent appreciation of anything in these New Deal days, but we admit to a sort of pride in imagining that we had faithfully done our part and had become recognized, if not as an asset, at least as no liability to the progress of Winchester. The opening of the fall has caused us to wonder. In fact it has caused us to realize that no man can stand well in his own community as community activities are regarded to-day. And why this thought? The constantly growing realization of the fact, capped with the information this week that our last school department job, the High School paper, is being printed, so we hear, in Somerville. Originally we did all of our school printing. A changing regime brought changes in our office. From printing we went into the estimating business — against the world. This period ended when we received a request for bids in our morning mail and a polite request of our inability to meet competition in our evening mail — although our figures had not, in that short space of time, been compiled. That ended the building. We felt that our figures were of little consequence. When we were then asked why a bid had not been submitted on a pamphlet which we had printed since its beginning, and stated that fact, we were told that while competitive figures were the same as ours, it was and then talk and write to all our relatives and friends so Democracy will live.

Not having any children, we do not have as much at stake as many of our friends, but we certainly are not willing to give in the American way of living. It's been too good to us. Maybe we're just good Texas Democrats gone wrong but we sincerely believe that a change in our national life is vitally needed to continue freedom and remain prosperity.

With sincere good wishes and a strong recommendation that you work and vote for Willie.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM TEXAS

Texas, Oct. 2, 1940
Dear Myra and Irving:
Once a year we send Christmas greetings to our friends and wish them well and bid them a Happy and Prosperous New Year. There's a job to be done before this pleasant custom will be in order this year. We, as Americans, must make up our individual mind and vote our preference to maintain our precious Democracy, which most of us treat so matter-of-factly, or fall in line with the trend of following the whims and caprices of an indispensable strong man. As it now stands everyone has this privilege, but one wrong decision by a majority can lose this fundamental right for you and yours. Our decision as to how this can best be done is to work and vote for men and it takes more than one man who will not plunge this country into war simply to make political headlines, men who will organize defense on a businesslike and efficient basis, men who deserve votes rather than buy them with Government appropriations, men who can reverse this hell-bent race to bankruptcy and men who can eliminate the "class idea" and get all our fellow citizens to work together to eradicate this ten year old emergency-destrating unemployment. Remember we can't drop an inefficient pussy-footing administration as Britain dropped Chamberlain. Let's vote out the boss politicians and build a new interest and faith in our Government.

Mrs. F. D. R. just said, "You pay for everything in one way or another that you get in this world." This statement probably did not refer to our national administration, but even so, it's the first Roosevelt utterance that shows a ray of common sense. Thrift in the eight years in which $600,000,000,000 has been spent for loaf-raking projects and the like. Here's hoping our belated blue-ribbon committee our many enemies and that all is right-side-up when the guns and ships are delivered years hence.

How many of us have asked, "What can I do or why doesn't somebody tell me how I can help to further a good cause?" Governor Stassen of Minnesota answers this question by saying that our forefathers made this great country what it is by individual initiative and doing the immediate job they saw it and not as a boss politician outlined it. Let's think about the mess we're in and work for the best in a none too bright future.

Think the prudent one for yourself and then talk and write to all our relatives and friends so Democracy will live.

Not having any children, we do not have as much at stake as many of our friends, but we certainly are not willing to give in the American way of living. It's been too good to us. Maybe we're just good Texas Democrats gone wrong but we sincerely believe that a change in our national life is vitally needed to continue freedom and remain prosperity.

With sincere good wishes and a strong recommendation that you work and vote for Willie.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.
By Tom Fina and Jim Coon

Wednesday the 30th, the first Science Club meeting was held in Room 34. Dick Morrow, president of the club, called the meeting to order, and then the various officers were elected. The new vice-president is Tasker Hatch, Jim Grimes and Harrison Parker are the secretary and treasurer respectively. Following this, the members of the executive board were chosen. Leila Jane Smith, Helen Carroll, Dan Roop, Peter Hickey and Jim Coon were the chosen members.

This year the club plans to take several trips to various industrial plants. Dr. Alley also suggested that the club might go to inspect telescopes that is available in Winchester. The executive board will determine the time of the next meeting which is expected to be within the next week.

In accordance with Rear Admiral Byrd's appearance at W. H. S. sponsored by the Mother's Association, the high school library is exhibiting a group of books by and about him. A portion of these books were loaned from the Winchester Public Library. With the five week period drawing to a close, many parents may expect to receive white slips showing unsatisfactory grades.

Friday, the first fire drill took place. The building was emptied quickly and noisily. This is fire prevention week in Massachusetts.

The senior class officers are Robert McCormick, president; Jim Styles, vice president; Brock Lynch, secretary, and Janet Hayward, treasurer. The president of the junior class is Bert Callahan. Leo Tracey, vice president; Robert Harris, secretary, and William Deane, treasurer. The sophomore class is headed by William West; Everett Twombly, vice president; Robert Ramsdell, secretary; Marie Moore, treasurer. Richard Fenne is president of the freshman class; with Bob Maynard, vice president; Barbara J. Smith, secretary and Ann Jennings, treasurer.

Almost everybody has had their physical exam now, conducted by Dr. Cunningham and Nurse Savage in the high school gymnasium.

The reports of the students will remind them to take any old magazines to school it will be appreciated by the Junior Red Cross as there is a drive on for them at present. These magazines will be presented to different Seamen's homes nearby.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

The Salvation Army will come to Winchester this year, seeking $2000 according to announcement from the Army's headquarters in Boston. It was also made known that the sponsoring group of well known leaders will be headed by William N. Berger, an attorney of 17 Stowell road and that G. Dwight Cabot of the Winchester Trust Company, will act as treasurer.

In a few days the final plans will be made for the carrying on of the campaign work, however in the meantime, according to those organizing the appeal, donations may be made to Mr. Cabot. He, with the official collectors, to come along later, will be the only ones authorized to accept contributions.

In speaking of the 1940 campaign for funds to carry on a program in aid of the poor among us, the unfortunate, William A. Nicol, Public Relations Secretary of the Army, said: "I had the unique honor to serve as office boy for William Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army. It was he who on July 2, 1865, just 75 years ago found his destiny as he found the poor on a London East Side Street while mounted on a chair, 'telling the story of a God of Love.'"

"Since that day, the Salvation Army has found its calling among the poor. It has never sought an easier mission. The same is true since 1880 in America. Sixty years ago, seven Salvation Army women and Commissioner George S. Ballou landed in New York from England to carry on the work among the poor of the United States."

Mr. Nicol continued: "The flag of the Salvation Army, its program, represents a service to God through service to men. This service to men is carried on through our doors, to thousands of boys, girls, tired and sick mothers with their babies at the Army's fresh-air camps. Five hundred good men are counted in each of the summer contingents at Wonderland, in Sharon. This is a beautiful vacation-land which adds so much to body building for the underprivileged. We have a large youth program, too."

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Sombody told us that Ed Sanderson was sick, so we telephoned. Oh! that was a week ago and Ed is better. He is a man whose courage never fails him. He furnishes an example which helps us all.

Price Wilson has tangible evidence that politics is wrong in every dollar bill. But you just ask Price to explain that one. Sometimes it is difficult to believe that one sees it so obviously. It is a man whose courage never fails him. He furnishes an example which helps us all.

This club has been awarded a certificate of appreciation from the Red Cross because of aid contributed in the recent drive for funds by that great humanitarian agency. It will be remembered that the club sponsored a soft ball game on Sept. 7, the proceeds of which were assigned to the Red Cross. We certainly appreciate this kind acknowledgment when called on to speak at our meetings and always gives of his best on these occasions. Certainly today's effort was no exception to the rule. His purpose at this time was to present some thoughts on "Education for Democracy." He discussed the word "Freedom" as it applies to one's individual ideals which are sought for in this nation and reasoned that, among other things, it means freedom from all unusual attacks which are bound to appear unless our youth

POLICE SEEK DRIVER OF CAR FAILING TO STOP

Sunday night at 11:30 Patrolman Joseph L. Quigley attempted to stop an automobile headed south on Highland avenue. The operator refused to stop when signaled to do so by the officer, but his number was taken and a checkup begun at Headquarters. The car was found to be registered to a Boston man listed as living at a Commonwealth avenue address. The Boston Police were unable to find that anyone by the name given had ever lived at that place. The Registry of Motor Vehicles was consulted and reported that according to their records the car in question was supposed to be garaged on Bradbury avenue in Medford. The Medford Police were appealed to, but they again were unable to locate the wanted party at the address given by the Registry's office.

WINTON CLUB HELD FIRST MEETING

The Winton Club held its first meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Edwin R. Booney on Sheffield road last Monday. Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., presiding. The club voted to give to the Winchester Hospital several needed items: a sewing and darning machine, a linen truck, and cabinets and shelves to complete the addition to the linen closet. No blankets are to be purchased for the Nurses' Home, and altogether these purchases will be close to $800.

The Winton Club, whose sole purpose is to keep the hospital well supplied with linen, will nevertheless find time for a worthy cause, and are co-operating with the Winchester unit of the British War Relief. On Monday, Mr. Robert Mortimore gave a most human and interesting talk on the work of the organization, and all felt a keen interest and strong desire to help. Mrs. Fred Cameron was also a guest and displayed samples of the knitting that is being done.

Mrs. Joseph Worthen is in charge of the War Relief work within the club, and her committee includes Mrs. Robert Armstrong, Mrs. Percy Bugbee, Mrs. Joseph Butler and Mrs. Charles LeRoy. Mrs. Alexander MacDonald has charge of knitting supplies; Mrs. Paul Avery in charge of collecting clothing and Mrs. Gardner Pond for voluntary contributions. Groups are to meet to make surgical dressings three times a month.

Mrs. Rooney, chairman of the 1941 Cabaret, announced that the dates were Jan. 31 and Feb. 1, and that the Rogers Company with Mr. William Rafterman director, will again stage the show.

Ten was served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. James O. Murray and her committee.

SEW FOR THE RED CROSS

The mothers of the children in the first grade of the Wyman School will meet to sew in the Red Cross rooms in the Town Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 16 from 10 to 4. Please try to be there for at least an hour. You do not have to be an expert seamstress to help.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The opening meeting of the Winchester Chapter, Guild of the Infant Saviour, was held on Tuesday afternoon at Lyceum Hall. The board of directors, acting as hostesses, served dessert for one hour preceding the business meeting.

Guests of the afternoon included Rev. John T. O'Reardon, new pastor at St. Mary's Church, Mrs. Moran, T. Ryan, president of the Boston Guild, Mrs. George Breath and new members of the chapter. Presided at 2:30 Mrs. Virgil Ghirardin opened the first meeting of the tenth year of this charitable organization in Winchester. Mrs. Ghirardin served as the first president and it is only fitting that she should guide its activities during this anniversary year. Father O'Reardon most appropriately dedicated the work of the chapter to the Infant Saviour and His Mother. Reports from the various members were heard and plans discussed for the coming year.

A musical treat was given by Jack Sullivan of Lowell, assisted by his sister Lillian. Hard study and excellent instruction alone could account for the chance from a young boy soprano to the well-poised young man who sang so delightfully at this meeting. His voice has a very fine quality and a true naturalness that indicates great things ahead for him. Special events planned for the members during the month include the Jack Lamb lecture at the high school auditorium on Wednesday, Oct. 16 at 8 p. m., and the review of new books by Mrs. Hector Gail at Lyceum Hall on Friday morning, Oct. 18 at 10 a. m. Coffee will be served by Mrs. Theodore Dissel and her committee. The anniversary luncheon at the Charles River Country Club, Newton, on Wednesday, Oct. 30, brings to a close this busy month of October.

So it is with the Baptist young people who are now busily engaged in the full swing of autumn events. A cabinet meeting was held on Sunday to talk over plans for the ensuing winter season. Many fine events are happily anticipated.

WINCHESTER MEDICO CALLED

Dr. Samuel H. Boyer of 77 Church street, who has been a member of the Medical Reserve Corps, has been called to active duty in the regular United States Army. He is attached to the 112nd Central Artillery and stationed at Fort Banks in Winthrop.

EPHANY COVERED DISH SUPPER, OCT. 17

Their invitation begins with questions that have appeal both wide and intimate.

"Do you hate being in debt? Come to supper."

"Do you hate paying interest? Come to supper."

Those who have dined with them before at one of these all-parish events, managed by the Evening Branch, will have added a third question: "Do you love a notable bargain? Come to supper."

For the cookery of the Evening Branch is known for its excellence, and instead of selling a fixed-price ticket for these suppers it is their custom just to put on each table a box for a silver offering and leave all to the conscience of their satisfied guests.

The first supper of the year will be served at 6:30, Oct. 17, in the parish hall. Mrs. George Osborne and Mrs. John Hudson are in charge. The menu is to be in part a surprise, but their reversal of the usual, which will be that universal favorite, apple pie, home-made, home-size pieces, and they promise that the rest of the supper will be in keeping.

The supper is not confined to members of the parish, but the public will be cordially welcome.

BAPTIST YOUTH ASSOCIATION

As the fall days pass hurriedly on, warm shrouding a last ray of summer sunshine on the colorful foliage, people draw nearer to their homes and to their firesides. And so as school opens the young people fall of vim and vigor, and ready to meet all obstacles, return to the usual fall activities.

So it is with the Baptist young people who are now busily engaged in the full swing of autumn events. A cabinet meeting was held on Sunday to talk over plans for the ensuing winter season. Many fine events are happily anticipated.

Last Sunday evening the group met in the chapel of the First Baptist Church where the worship service was conducted by Ralph Jury, the president of the group. Miss Mildred Bowers, a medical missionary who has recently returned from Shooching, China, told of her experience in the strange land where, we understand she has been doing fine work. She told of the miserable conditions and how much the Chinese appreciate the lessons sent over from this country. Miss Bowers is now at Gordon College where she is studying, preparing to return to China.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Conservation and Garden Group opens its 1940-41 program with a pilgrimage on Tuesday, Oct. 15, to the Peabody Museum in Cambridge, and, weather permits, to the Botanic Gardens on Huron avenue. The group will meet at Fortnightly Hall promptly at 1:15 p. m. Members or prospective members may call Mrs. Gleason, Win. 0861-M, or Miss Louise Battroff, Win. 0861-M.

CAR SIDESWIPED IN LEXINGTON

An Oldsmobile sedan being driven from Lexington to Woburn on route 128 last Sunday evening by George Budd of 81 M. V. Parkway was sideswiped and damaged near the Woburn line by an automobile going in the opposite direction. The operator did not stop after the accident, but a passing motorist got the number, which Mr. Budd reported to the Winchester Police.

A checkup disclosed the fact that the machine was registered to a man living in East Boston. The local Police advised Mr. Budd to report the matter to the Lexington Police and gave the authorities in that town the data they secured in their checkup.

A WORD OF THANKS

To all who have so generously met the appeal of the Winchester Committee of the Maple Leaf Fund, Inc., whether it be for warm clothing, work or contribution of money and membership interest in its work. Most grateful appreciation is hereby sent: To Dr. Charles Tozier our thanks are due in particular for the kind offer to show his pictures, "Where Nature Reigns Supreme," on Oct. 21 at 8 p. m. in Metcalf Hall, Unitarian Church.

Then we are deeply indebted to the Unitarian Church for its gracious hospitality on that occasion. To the Winchester Star, our gratitude for its fine co-operation.

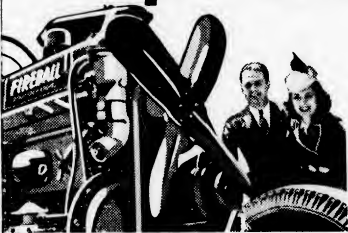

INSPECTING GERMAN FIRE DEVICES

Mr. Percy Ezbe of Symmes road, recently appointed a member of the five man War Department fire defence board, is attending a committee inspection of the latest fire creating devices used by the German Army and fliers this week. These devices have been collected and assembled by American observers of the war abroad.

FROM READING, ENGLAND

A Stoneham friend brought a curious coincidence to our attention this week. Some time ago he sent a gift of cigarettes to a Canadian soldier friend of his enclosing two pictures most cards of the Town of Reading. This week he received one of the cards in return thanking him for the gift. The interesting feature of the return was that the card had been mailed in Reading, England.

No, it wasn't SPEED we were after.

THE mighty straight-eight that propels the 1941 Buick Century, ROADMASTER and LIMITED, is, we believe, America's most powerful standard-production automobile engine.

That suggests immediately that here is the instrument of great speed—but the fact is it wasn't speed we were after when we built it.

We were shooting for more efficient use of the fuel you burn—more economy, more power, more pick-up—yes, even easier car handling through less frequent need for shifting.

Above all, we were out to cut through a lot of the complications that feature current automobile design, and give you a simpler, sturdier, less involved mechanism.

Consider, for example, just one quality of this great power plant—the tremendous reserve of power it puts at your command.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

At 20 miles an hour this Buick uses only 7.4% of its available power—at 30 only 9.7%—at 50, less than one-sixth, and so on.

The balance is available for acceleration, for pull on the hills, for overcoming sand, mud, gravel or other tough going.

You can see for yourself how this tremendous reserve, instantly available, eliminates much of your need for shifting to lower gears, hence makes unnecessary any involved device for this purpose.

It does even more—for with all this power, we can use a more economical gear ratio in our standard top speed.

And that means that all the time you travel in high—from 15 miles an hour on up—you are getting the equivalent of overdrive or fourth-speed economy without mechanical complication.

In consequence: miles per gallon go up as much as 10% to 15%.

This husky 165-horsepower giant actually gives more gasoline economy than our 107-horsepower engine of a year ago.

At 50 it consumes no more fuel than the same-sized engine of conventional design drinks up at 30.

The whys and wherefores of such performance are best understood when you have an engine to look at and someone to answer your questions about it.

Here we can say that two things account for all this good—FIREBALL* design that gets more power out of every gallon of gasoline and Compound Carburetion that gives your engine two distinct ranges of power.

Each of these is important enough to call for personal investigation.

But get off on the right start early—see your Buick dealer now about the year's most important engineering advance.

GROUP THEATRE ANNOUNCES FALL PLAY TRY-OUTS

The first meeting of the Winchester Group Theatre for 1940-41 was held at the Winchester Public Library on Oct. 4 with well over 100 enthusiastic members present. This unusually good attendance for a first fall meeting indicated active interest in the activities of the Group for the coming season.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harlow the coming dance promises to be one of the social events of the fall season. Dancing from 9 until 1, and a buffet served from 10:30 to 12. Many dinner parties are being planned for that evening.

Also announced at the first meeting was an "open" policy in connection with casting the fall production "The Last of Mrs. Cheyne" which will be presented Dec. 6 and 7. By vote of the directors, the casting left entirely to the production and the directors, and Hayden, Jr., who is in the fall play, has placed it entirely with Boula.

On Tuesday evenings, Oct. 28, 29, in the Wadleigh School, Mr. Sibley will conduct try-outs and anyone whether now a member of the Winchester Group Theatre or not, is welcome to attend and try out for parts.

WEEK END ACCIDENTS

Only two slight automobile accidents were reported to the Police over the past week-end. Saturday afternoon at 3:30 a Plymouth coach, in charge of Francis Murcutt, of 40 Harvard street, while stopped on Lake street opposite the Water Department shop was struck in the rear by a Chevrolet coupe, driven by George H. Elms of 147 Highland avenue, Watertown. Both machines were slightly damaged but no one was injured.

At 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon a Pontiac sedan, being driven north on Main street by Max Meltzer of 43 Chester street, was in collision while in a line of traffic at the Parkways with a White truck, owned by the Middlesex Supply Company of Lowell and driven by William R. Milne of 123 Westford street, that city. Milne told the Police Meltzer stopped his car suddenly in front of the truck, and though he swerved to the left in an attempt to avoid the Pontiac, was unable to do so. The rear fender and light of the Pontiac were damaged but no one was injured.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

At the annual meeting of the Better Homes Garden Club, to be held on Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 2 p. m., at the Art Room of the Public Library, Mrs. Emil Louise Fairbairn, well known to many of us will talk on "Gardening Gracefully with Grandmother."

Mrs. Fairbairn will tell us many interesting and delightful secrets of how great, great grandmothers prepared the lovely dried bouquets for their parlor vases and the spicy Pot Pourri for treasured Chinese jars and how she made her beauty preparations.

The lecture is full of interesting things anyone can accomplish with a small flower and herb garden.

MANY AT FALL MEETING

Many Winchester members attended the fall meeting of the Eighth District Presbytery Club which met in Corinthian Hall, Melrose Highlands on Wednesday, Oct. 2 with Mrs. G. Stuart Woodman in the chair.

The President, Mrs. H. H. Stuart sent a letter of greeting to the club and regretted that illness prevented her attendance.

A delightful musical program by Constance Bevans Whitcomb, pianist and Mary Stetson, vocalist, was much enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the Melrose Highlands Women's Club which was hostess for the afternoon.

WINCHESTER JUNIOR DANCES

At a meeting held on Monday morning at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Tappin of Glen road, the patronesses of the Winchester Junior Dances made plans for an informal supper party on the night of the opening dance, to which the entire group will be invited. The supper will take place at the Old Mill tea room in Arlington on Saturday night, Oct. 19 at 7:15. Afterwards the young people will be taken to the Winchester Country Club, where there will be dancing to the music of the Gold Coast Orchestra.

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

Last Tuesday, Oct. 8, the first business meeting of the Washington-Highland Chapter was held in the assembly hall of the Washington School. Mrs. Zimmerman, president, opened by welcoming all and then introduced Mrs. Thomas J. Edwards, music chairman. Mrs. Edwards read a most interesting story of how the Star Spangled Banner came to be written.

After the regular business meeting Mrs. Barnes, president of the executive board of the Mothers' Association spoke on the scholarship fund giving its history and future plans. Incidentally the idea of a scholarship fund was started by the Washington-Highland group.

Preparations for Admiral Byrd's lecture on Oct. 18 at the high school auditorium are well under way. Unfortunately the seating capacity of the hall is limited, and the members were advised to contact Mrs. Gordon Mann, Win. 0165, as soon as possible in order to avoid hearing the fatal phrase "Sold Out."

Mrs. Neil Borden outlined the plans for a new type of dancing class sponsored by the mothers of the grade pupils in all the schools. This is a new venture and one receiving the hearty co-operation of all concerned.

Mrs. John West, formerly president of the executive board, also spoke on the Admiral Byrd lecture and the new dancing class, explaining the whys and wherefores of each undertaking.

Mrs. Zimmerman then introduced the speaker for the day, Professor Zimmerman of Harvard whose subject was "Siam."

Mrs. Zimmerman entertained the well attended meeting with a tuneful assortment of consonants and vowels which, it developed, was the Siamese national anthem. The stage was decorated with cloths and handkerchiefs of that interesting country. Professor Zimmerman gave a delightful talk on the historic and present economic condition of Siam, revealing many amusing situations which developed during their year's stay there.

Refreshments were served by the Tea committee and a social hour followed.

Mrs. Carl C. Zimmerman announces her Board as follows:

First Vice President—Mrs. Neil Borden
 Second Vice President—Mrs. George Chaffin

Secretary—Mrs. Clifford Tongren
 Treasurer—Mrs. Frank Marshall
 Ways and Means—Mrs. Paul Sherrick

WINCHESTER RED CROSS FIRST AID CLASS

The Winchester Chapter, American Red Cross, will sponsor a class in first aid with instruction under the capable leadership of Mr. A. Hanon, qualified Red Cross examiner of Boston. The class will start Tuesday, Oct. 22, at 7:15 p. m. and will meet every week thereafter at this time. The place of meeting will be announced later.

This class affords the townspeople a splendid opportunity to receive without charge a course in first aid. For further information please call either Mrs. George A. Dutting, tel. Win. 2191 or Mr. Alfred Pennell, tel. Win. 0975-J.

TRAIN WRECKED BY WINCHESTER TRUCK

A large cement mixer, owned by the Aene Sand & Gravel Co. of this town, was the cause of a railroad wreck at Wakefield Wednesday morning. According to report, the truck, driven by John Aruda of Somerville, was driven onto the Main street crossing at Wakefield junction in front of the train. The gasoline tank, torn from the truck, sprayed the first coach, which caught fire. Although five passengers on the train were injured, the truck driver, who disappeared, was apparently uninjured.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

One case of Whooping Cough was reported to the Board of Health for week ending Thursday, Oct. 3. Maurice Dinneen, Agent

With Selective Service a subject under constant discussion, many of those who may be possible candidates as well as other townspeople, may be interested in reading books on Preparedness and on the different phases of our government's facilities for protection.

A booklet purchased last week to be used for reference is "The Draft and You" by Emanuel Celler. In this the Selective Training and Service Act of 1940 is carefully explained and complete information given about registration, organization of draft, selection by lottery, and classification with claims for deferment and exemption. This small book should be read by every adult, for the information in it is timely and should be common knowledge to all.

"The U. S. Navy" by Merle Armitage gives detailed statistics of our Navy's equipment, even up to the ships on order at the present moment. "Military Basic Course" by Frank Cruikshank is a handbook of military training with general army rules and regulations from drilling and equipment to first-aid and bugle calls.

"Armies With Wings" by James L. Peck tells the real part air power plays in today's warfare, with plans and strategy explained by an experienced war flyer.

Books on mobilization are "Mobilizing Civilian America" by Harold Tobin and Percy Bidwell which has chapters on conscription, and "Preparations of Preparedness" "M-Day" by Leo Cherne and "M-Day: If War Comes, What Your Government Plans For You" by Donald E. Keyhoe which outlines plan for mobilization in event of America entering the war.

"Defense For America" by William Allen White has chapters by prominent men on subjects of current interest . . . aid to the Allies, our defense, possibility of America going to war, etc.

"The Fifth Column is Here" in which George Britt traces the formation of the Fifth Column in America and points out our defense against it. "Isolated America," a book in which Raymond L. Buell states his belief that in order to preserve American peace there must be a new practical program of international reconstruction.

TECH PROFESSORS COME TO WINCHESTER

Announcement is made in the sale of home sites at the Brookmoot property opposite the Winchester Country Club, the former Stephen Langley estate, of the purchase of extensive lots by a group of professors at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. All lots have wide frontage on Cambridge street and Mystic Lake, and the sales are announced as follows: Gen. B. T. Tallman of Watertown, 27,100 sq. ft.; Albert G. Dietz of Belmont, 29,275 sq. ft.; Ronald H. Robnett of Belmont, 29,127 sq. ft. and Malcolm S. Melroy of Belmont, 26,490 sq. ft. All four gentlemen plan to erect homes on the estate.

7 COMMON STREET
WINCHESTER

An open letter to the citizens of WINCHESTER

We are offering a preview of Brooks Park, a highly restricted, exclusive home colony. This beautiful property is a portion of the Brooks Estate located on the westerly side of Grove Street in Winchester and is a location at which prospective home owners have cast longing eyes for years and which is now offered to you and your friends.

We assume that you have driven through Grove Street toward West Medford and have seen, and perhaps even stopped and admired, the beautiful panoramic view across the blue waters of the Mystic Lakes toward the green fairways of the Winchester Country Club and the lovely homes surrounding them. That you have seen the magnificent sunsets across the lakes with their vari-colored reflections, and the twinkle of lights on Morningside hill after dusk.

Perhaps you have thought of the possibility of owning your home on the naturally rolling fields which have been held for so many generations by one of the oldest families in Massachusetts as a country estate. The possibility is now a reality. Although the plan of subdivision is still under study and consideration, we would like the people of Winchester and their friends to have the first opportunity to select preferred locations.

Won't you accept our invitation to inspect this new development? You will find our agents only to glad to show you over the property.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Mrs. W. Harold Sloan, national director of the Religious Education Department, says:

"Education has been defined as the qualities acquired through individual instruction or social training which make for happiness, efficiency, and the power to serve. Health education, character education, mental development, and the nurture of the soul are all inseparable from genuine religious education. Alcohol education comes in because beverage alcohol destroys happiness, reduces efficiency, impairs the power to serve, and severs relationship between the one who drinks and his God.

The home, the school and the church have been responsible for religious and character education. Once the family altar was in the majority of homes. Today there are more homes where prayer is never uttered, and the Bible (if there is one) is never opened. In the first schools the Bible was the principal, if not the only textbook; today, in some states, reading of the Bible is prohibited. Too many homes are only places of shelter and schools give more of one course of doubtful value. Even scientific temperance instruction has been left to the teachers. Some are indifferent, some antagonistic.

In many respects the church has failed in religious education. In the United States there are 210,000 churches, one for every 619 persons. There are 436,000 liquor places, one for every 249 persons. We do not need more churches, but more conscientious workers in every church.

The W. C. T. U. has a Religious Education Department, trained teachers, a fearless determination to eradicate the liquor traffic, and an influence felt, even today, around the world, but it is dependent on you to work through your church. Every one for whom your church is responsible should receive education about the nature and effect of beverage alcohol. The W. C. T. U. has a Peace Department. In the Sept. "Missionary" Albert Einstein, formerly a refugee from Germany, now America's most famous new citizen, physicist, mathematician, scientist, philosopher and theorist of relativity, pays this tribute to the Christian Church:

"Having always been an ardent partisan of freedom, as soon as the revolution broke out in Germany I turned to the universities to find their defenders of freedom. I did not find it. The universities took refuge in silence."

I then turned to the editors of powerful newspapers that had lately, in glowing articles, had claimed to have the persistent courage to fight for spiritual truth and moral freedom. I feel obligated to recognize that I now admire what I used to consider of little value.

Quoted in the "Baptist Times" of London, Eng.)

Colors of Flag

Red in the flag is for courage, zeal, fervency; white is for purity, cleanliness of life and rectitude of conduct; blue is for loyalty, devotion, friendship, justice and truth. The star is an ancient symbol which signifies dominion and sovereignty. Washington is noted as having said of the flag: "We take the stars from Heaven, the stripes from our mother country, separating it by white stripes, thus showing that we have separated from her, and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty."

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The opening fall meeting and tea of the Winchester League of Women Voters was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard J. Chadley, Fernway. Following the secretary's report by Mrs. John Turner and the treasurer's report by Mrs. John Dickey, Mrs. Clarence Newton, chairman of finance, outlined the year's program from a financial viewpoint. New members were reported by Mrs. Clifford Williams, in place of Mrs. William Goodhue. Mrs. Walter Winslow told the League that for two weeks previous to election day in November there would be a non-partisan League headquarters held at Edette's, for the purpose of pre-election information to all who seek it. Mrs. Philip Woodward then reported for the Legislative committee well as for the Foreign Policy committee in place of Mrs. Frank Kelley who was unable to be present. The first study group of the year, namely, Government and Economic Welfare, with Mrs. Malcolm Nichols as chairman, and Mrs. Theodore Monroe as hostess will begin next Wednesday and will continue for four weeks according to the report of Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, with the last meeting devoted to the health programs in secondary schools.

The all gas cooking school conducted last Wednesday by Mrs. Hazel A. Cheever, Home Service Director of the Arlington Gas Light Co., was of great interest to Winchester housewives.

Actual cooking demonstrations on modern automatic gas ranges and on the silent gas refrigerator were conducted to show what can be done with modern gas appliances in comparison with the older types.

All the food that was cooked was given away as prizes, and the winners for last Wednesday were as follows:

1. Oven Dinner—Mrs. Ida Hackett, 856 Main street.
2. Orange Rolls—Miss Mary Connolly, 9 Herick street.
3. Coffee Almond Refrigerator Cake—Mrs. A. Kennedy, 29 Oak street.

4. Toast Rings with Creamed Salmon and Peas—Mrs. Gertrude E. Seamon, 8 Lincoln street.
5. Smead Menu—Dinner—Mrs. Robert J. Dotter, 14 Reservoir street.
6. Molded Salad—Mrs. Robert L. Lewis, 390 Main street.

FRENCH CHILDREN BIRTHDAY GUESTS

Marshall Phil, Jr., of the Parkway celebrated his seventh birthday Saturday by entertaining two little French children, Ann Marie and Herve Michèle du Pont, evacuees from Paris, who are spending "the duration" with Mrs. Phil's sister and brother-in-law, Prof. and Mrs. George F. Doriot of Boston.

A trip to the zoo, pony rides and games were the order of the day ending with a birthday party at 6 o'clock. Since it was also the birthday of Mrs. Ramsay Sinclair, the mother of Mrs. Clarence Newton, she shared honors with Marshall at the dinner party. Mrs. Newton's two children, Doris and Alisa-Craig were also present as well as Phoebe Greenwood and Peggy and Sally Holmes.

TIMELY ADDRESS BY WINCHESTER MAN

Mr. Cedric Seager of this town, who is becoming much in demand as a lecturer, spoke Tuesday before the Malden Old and New Club at Legion Hall, Malden, on "Turkey and the European Conflict."

Mr. Seager, who is the son-in-law of Rev. and Mrs. William S. Packer of Yale street, in his address praised the genius of the late Kamal Ataturk, maker of modern Turkey, who made friends with his enemies in order to checkmate the eastward march of resurgent Germany. Ataturk saw the shadow of Hitler falling across the Balkans long before the German dictator was shouldered into power in Paris or London. He alone prepared for war whilst advocating peace. For that reason Turkey, once the most humiliated of Balkan nations, is today a force to be reckoned with by Hitler. But Turkey will not move without Russia's consent. Not only because Russia is Turkey's most powerful neighbor but also because when Turkey was fighting for her very life 20 years ago, putting the Greeks to rout and challenging even England and France, it was Russian money and Russian munitions which helped her to win the day. Turkey has not forgotten that.

If war should come, the city of Istanbul (formerly Constantinople) will probably be abandoned without a struggle. The Asiatic shores of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles, Turkey's first and most formidable line of defense. This calls to mind Ataturk's foresight in abandoning Constantinople for the city of Ankara. He moved to Ankara, in the heart of Anatolia, because he knew that Constantinople was an easy mark and because he knew that a blow it is to a nation's morale to lose its capital.

TAKING THE AIR

They didn't exactly "take it" perhaps, but they did "let" the air out of the tires of a large number of cars parked around the town hall and Legion House Monday evening.

The Selectmen were in session, along with a meeting of town employees called to fill a vacancy in the Retirement Board. A meeting of draft registrars was also in progress and at the Legion House the executive men were gathered. Many good men and true as well as not a few women were among those whose cars were ranged about the two buildings.

The car driven to the rear of the library during the evening was chased away by Custodian Robert E. Olson. They evidently had gotten in their heads to go home. They were driven away by the Legion House emptied many of those who went to their cars found from one to three very flat.

The Police were notified but there wasn't much they could do about it just then. However, if the culprits should happen to be discovered we'll venture to guess that they will realize an entire lack of sympathy on the part of the car owners with their actions.

G.O.P. Motion Picture Caravan

MOVIES OF WILLKIE SHOWN BY REPUBLICAN CARAVAN

Wendell Willkie, Republican nominee for President, will appear in motion pictures to be shown throughout the state.

The films will be exhibited at open air meetings on the screen of a striking and unique movie-sound trailer under the direction of the Republican State Committee.

The Presidential Campaign film include a one-reel picture entitled, "The Truth About Taxes" takes as its theme President Roosevelt's 1932 declaration that "taxes are paid in the sweat of every man who labors," and undertakes to demonstrate that everyone is being taxed to pay for the reckless spending, bureaucracy and waste of the New Deal.

The point is made that "taxes are willingly paid" for national defense, but that "our money has not been spent for the last seven years for national defense." Instead, the New Deal is accused in the picture of "squandering" millions of dollars on boondoggling projects.

A feature of the picture is an animation effect showing the prosperity of the country during the Twenties, when the national debt was being rapidly reduced, in contrast to the swift climb of the debt to $14,000,000,000 since President Roosevelt entered office.

"Willkie - McNary Know Their Farming," shows Wendell Willkie and Senator McNary visiting their respective farms in Indiana and Oregon. The Presidential nominee is shown with Miss Mary Sleeth, of Rushville, Ind., manager of the Willkie farm.

The narrator points out that the Willkie properties "are not Hyde Park estates"—they are "practical corn belt farms, operated on a 50-50 basis by thrifty, hard-working partners, and entirely on a commercial basis."

Various scenes show the corn fields, livestock barns and equipment on the Willkie farms, and demonstrate Wendell Willkie's active interest in conservation of the soil and wild life, and his support of rural electrification. The film includes scenes of Senator McNary's farm, "Fir Cone" near Salem, Ore., which was homesteaded by his grandfather who came over the Oregon trail, and where the Republican Vice Presidential nominee was born.

The film, "We The People," opens with scenes of Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence was proclaimed and the Constitution was adopted. It points out that it was in Philadelphia that George Washington wrote his immortal Farewell Address, in which he established the great American tradition against a third term in the Presidency.

Against this historic background, the picture moves on to the Republican National Convention last June where the delegates "resolved that we will keep this nation a republic."

Mr. Willkie makes a short talk in this picture, setting forth his political creed. He asserts that he intends to base the primary issues in this campaign on the failure of the New Deal to bring about full productivity and reemployment in this country, on its reckless spending and on the Third Term.

In addition to its motion picture showings, the trailer-caravan carries phonograph recordings of addresses by leading candidates of the national and state tickets and other prominent speakers. The unit is equipped with its own generating plant to operate powerful amplifiers.

A SOURCE OF COMFORT AND CONSOLATION

Our service is rendered to bring to those bereaved a minimum of grief and a lessening of the great sorrow which exists in time of sorrow. We strive to create a comforting atmosphere—so to afford comfort.

THE Interstate Commerce Commission is a branch of the Federal government which is charged with the regulation of common carriers operating in interstate commerce, including motor trucks and buses. Its regulations are established only after much thought and study. Consequently, what this official body rules on such matters as the "driving of motor vehicles" is of interest to all private operators who want to be safe drivers.

The I.C.C. rules for "before driving" say that no motor vehicle shall be driven unless the driver has satisfied himself that certain required parts and accessories are in good working order. Listing lighting devices, both service and hand brakes, horn, windshield wiper, rear vision mirror, tires and steering mechanism. These rules also require motor vehicles under I.C.C. jurisdiction to carry at least one spare electric light bulb, one set of tire chains and an adequate number of fares. Buses having a seating capacity of ten or more persons must also carry a metal first aid kit and a hand axe.

I believe the average motorist can dispense with the hand axe, but the other articles are as essential to the private driver as to the interstate truck or bus operator. Moreover, every driver should s-s himself before driving his car that the aforementioned parts and accessories are in good working order.

These regulations are designed to safeguard the public, and if the I.C.C. had jurisdiction over privately operated cars, it would doubtless make these regulations applicable to all drivers. Conscientious motorists will take them to heart.

JOHN H. MCLAUGHLIN

John H. McLaughlin of 20 Converse street, Malden, a former well known resident of Winchester, died Friday morning, Oct. 11, in the Malden Hospital after a long period of failing health.

Mr. McLaughlin was born 70 years ago in Ireland. He came to this country as a youth of 14, and after a short residence in Woburn lived for more than 40 years in this town, being employed by Kelley & Hawes and for a time by the Whitney Machine Company.

After leaving Winchester he was employed at the bakery of the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company in Somerville until his retirement because of ill health two years ago.

Mr. McLaughlin was a widower. His wife, Mrs. Mary (Lyons) McLaughlin, having died in 1925. He leaves two daughters, Mrs. Marie Sullivan of Charlestown and Miss Ruth F. McLaughlin of Malden; two sons, Lawrence J. of Lynn, and Walter McLaughlin of Malden; and two grandsons, William McLaughlin of Lynn and Robert McLaughlin of Arlington.

The funeral was held Monday morning from the late residence with Rev. Fr. O'Connor in the Sacred Heart Church, Malden. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

The Auxiliary to Post 97, American Legion, is holding a Halloween bridge party Wednesday evening, Oct. 23, at the home of the president, Mrs. Gladie MacAlams, 3 Kenilworth road. A most enjoyable program is being planned and members are urged to attend. Gentlemen are invited and may enjoy games of their own choosing. Refreshments will be served.

The Auxiliary is planning a series of parties, of which the Halloween party is the first, to raise funds to meet the welfare demands which will soon be made upon its treasury.

ALL DAY SEWING MEETING

Twenty-five women attended the all day sewing meeting at the First Congregational Church Wednesday, making layettes for the Red Cross. At the next meeting to be held Wednesday, Oct. all are urged to bring lunch. Coffee will be served.

Mrs. Harold Pover of 45 West street has knitting material, and any one wishing to obtain supply should call her at Win. 0565-M.

Mystic School Notes

A reception to the teachers of the Mystic School was held on Oct. 1 at the home of Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff. Mrs. E. G. Peirce was in charge with Mrs. Alvan Litchfield and Mrs. Edmund Fuller pouring. Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes, president of the elective board spoke on the coming lecture of Admiral Byrd.

On Oct. 8, a kindergarten tea was held at the home of Mrs. R. H. B. Smith, 11 Lawson road with Mrs. James Jones in charge.

Interesting to many will be the fashion show to be held Tuesday, Oct. 22 in the Mystic School auditorium. Fashions will include from 1840 through 1940.

ENGAGEMENT OF INTEREST

Mr. Christian J. Boehm of Malden announces the engagement of his daughter, Helen, to Mr. Henry Hower Rathbun, Jr., of New Hartford, N. York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hower Rathbun.

Mrs. Boehm was graduated from the Bouve Boston School of Physical Education and is now a member of the faculty at Wheaton College.

Mr. Rathbun was graduated from Colgate College and is a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. He is now employed as draftsman by the Central New York Power Company.

UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY

Many parents will be interested to know of the unusual opportunity offered to those young students of dance who come to the Studio of Catherine Murphy Samoiloff, long a resident of Winchester, who has had extensive training in the Dance with Ruth St. Denis, Adolph Bolsh, and other masters of the Russian Ballet and others.

One of the interesting features of Mrs. Samoiloff's teaching is the emphasis which she places on the dramatic aspects of the dance. Mrs. Mary Witham who plays for Mrs. Samoiloff's classes is well known in Winchester in her field of music.

SYMPHONY CONCERT IN MALDEN

The New England Philharmonic Orchestra, of which Emil Aleroy, a member of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, is conductor will play in the new High School auditorium at Malden Friday evening, Oct. 25, at 8:15 o'clock. Mr. Aleroy, a symphonist for 20 years, created the New England Symphony, an orchestra of 55 players. His organization has appeared successfully in several New England cities and offers a program of standard symphony music. Many music lovers in Winchester are planning to attend the concert in Malden.

NEW GIFT SHOP OFFERS

Song Haven, Winchester's new gift shop, opened on Tuesday, at 17 Church street in the National Bank Building, Blanche A. North, its proprietor, has conducted a very successful shop of a similar type at Hyannis for several years and already numbers numerous Winchester people among her customers.

Any one wishing to obtain supply should call her at Win. 0565-M.

EPIPHANY RUMMAGE SALE

Friday, Oct. 25, the Evening Branch of the Epiphany Church Service League, will again be the agents by which things retired from use in one household come out of hiding and begin a busy life in another household through the fall rummage sale.

They are in keen pursuit this year of those shoes and coats and hats and dishes which Epiphany housewives have been saving because they are good and somebody in the family thought he would be using them again. "Face up to those shelves and closets," say the Evening Branch, "and tell yourself honestly just how long since that waiting overcoat was used. Don't keep for your eye's sake, somebody what another person would use right away and continually."

Articles for the sale may be brought to the parish house at any time. They must be there by Oct. 22 in order to be priced and arranged.

The proceeds of the Rummage Sale will be used in payment of the rectory mortgage. So the sale is parish wide in profit and town-wide in service.

The hours of business are 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. The salesroom will be the parish hall, on the second floor of the Epiphany parish house.

In charge of the sale are Mrs. V. James Horn and Mrs. John Hanlon.

NURSERY SCHOOL AT UNITARIAN CHURCH

A Nursery School Class is being started this Sunday, Oct. 20, at the Unitarian Church in order to make it more convenient for parents who wish to attend the morning services.

Miss Mary Lord, director of the kindergarten, is in charge. She will be assisted by the Misses Rhoda and Ruth Elliott and Miss Terhune. Both Miss Lord and Miss Terhune are students at Miss Wheelock's School for kindergarten teachers. The newly-painted furniture and equipment have created a very cheerful and delightful atmosphere, and a most interesting program for the little tots has been developed.

At the regular morning service the Girl Scouts will join the congregation for their annual "Girl Scouts' Own Service."

MARIBEL OWEN CHRISTENED

Maribel Yerna Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Owen (Maribel Vinson) was christened last Sunday afternoon at the Church of the Epiphany by Rev. William S. Packer.

After the service a supper party was held at the home of Mrs. Owen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Vinson, 105 High street. Several persons prominent in skating circles were present, including Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Blanchard, the former Thetford skater who preceded Mrs. Owen as United States' Women's champion; Mr. and Mrs. George E. B. Hill, Mr. Hill having been a former skating partner of Mrs. Owen, and Richard Hapgood, well known skating writer.

Mrs. Owen is staying on in Winchester to speak at the Boston Book Fair "Sports Night" on Wednesday evening, Oct. 23 at the Boston Garden. She will then fly with her infant daughter to San Francisco, Calif., where she and Mr. Owen are to spend the winter as directors and instructors at a new skating rink there.

The Art Study Group of the Winchester College Club will open its fall course next Friday, Oct. 25, at 10 a. m. with a meeting at the Winchester Public Library. Papers will be read by Miss Helen Redford, Mrs. Waldo V. Lyon and Mrs. Robert A. Drake on "The Development of Medieval Art as Expressed in Church Architecture and Church Symbolism."

The History Study Group will hold its second meeting this year Monday, Oct. 21, at 9:15 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Daniel P. Morse, Jr., of 17 percent road.

ENTERTAINED FORTNIGHTLY MUSICIANS

Members of the Glee Club and Music Committee of the Fortnightly were entertained at tea recently by their chairman, Mrs. Charles Greco, at her home on Sheffield west. Plans for the season were discussed and a pleasant social hour enjoyed. Mrs. Isabelle Winslip and Mrs. Blanche Barnard poured.

ALL ASKED TO COOPERATE

Ministers, professional and business leaders, as well as well known women, are sponsoring the 1940 annual appeal of the Salvation Army, in which $250,000 is sought. That group is headed by William S. Rogers, an attorney of 17 Stowell road who makes it known that the work of collecting will soon be in progress.

He has made a special appeal to the men and women of Winchester, which reads, in part:

"Annual participation in the 1940 annual appeal of the Salvation Army in Winchester is invited. In the year that marks the sixtieth anniversary of the Army's work in the United States and the seventh year since its founding, your help is asked so that the Army may continue its work of restoring faith and hope in hearts of the friendless men and women."

"The Evangeline Booth Home and Hospital will continue to reach out to every part of the State so that unmarried mothers and their babies may find a haven. The homeless man, the woman who has been lost in the economic turmoil of our day will be given food, a place to sleep; yes, clothing. You will be aiding to stem the tide of juvenile delinquency through the Army's boys club program. Boys, girls, tired mothers and their babies at "Wonderland," the Fresh Air Camp at Sharon."

This general program is supplemented by a local relief fund which has done wonderful work for men, women, families who have met temporary reverses. The funds for the local relief fund come up of money retained in Winchester at the close of the appeal.

Included in the sponsoring group are: Attorney E. F. Andrews, Ralph H. Bennett, Rev. Howard J. Chidley, Dr. Richard J. Clark, Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, Harry E. Damon, Jr., George T. Davis, chairman, park board; Horace H. Ford, restaurateur; Mrs. Don S. Greer, Mrs. Paul H. Howard, William A. Kneeland, president of Winchester National Bank; Miss Corinne Mead, J. Henry Miller, James J. Quinn, superintendent of schools; State Senator Harris S. Richmond, Mrs. Horace S. Ridley, John Roosevelt, manager of Phone's of Winchester; Rev. R. M. Rushton, Leslie J. Scott, Dr. Richard J. Sheehy, Harold J. Clark, Mrs. Frances K. Wallburg, T. Preston Wilson, editor, Winchester Star; Harry T. Winn and Mrs. Henry E. Worrestor.

GROUP THEATRE STARTS SCENIC CONTRIBUTION

The Winchester Group Theatre has issued a call for any who might be interested to help in the construction and painting of sets for the fall production, "The Last of Mrs. Cheyne." Since for work has been secured at 1021 Main street, near the Wolcott line, where construction of sets has begun. There will be regular work periods on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:45, and on Saturday afternoons at 2. Anyone interested, whether expert or not, and whether male or female, will be welcome.

As previously announced, there will be official try-outs for parts at the Wadleigh School on Monday evening, Oct. 28, under Pauline Pace Shiley, the director, who is this year in full charge of casting the play. Anyone interested, whether now a member of the Group or not, is invited to try for a part.

The next regular scheduled event on the Group Theatre calendar is the fall dance at the Winchester Country Club on Friday, Nov. 1. Already many members have announced dinner and cocktail parties preceding the dance, and it is expected that the affair will be a real one in the local social calendar.

TO SEW FOR RED CROSS

Mothers of children in the second grade of the Wyman School will meet to sew in the Red Cross rooms in the Town Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 23, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Please plan to help for at least part of the time.

TOWN OF WINCHESTER BOARD OF SURVEY

Notice is hereby given that the BOARD OF SURVEY OF THE TOWN OF WINCHESTER will give a public hearing in the Selectmen's Room in the Town Hall Building on Monday, the twenty-first day of October 1940 at 8 o'clock P. M. upon the petition of Charles A. Gleason, Jr., President, Brooks Park, Inc. for approval of certain plans filed with said petition, of a proposed street extending from GROVE STREET at a point about 820 feet southwesterly from Grove Place and extending westerly, southerly, and easterly about 1770 feet to said Grove Street at a point about 140 feet northerly of the Winchester-Medford Town Line, which the petitioners propose to open for public use.

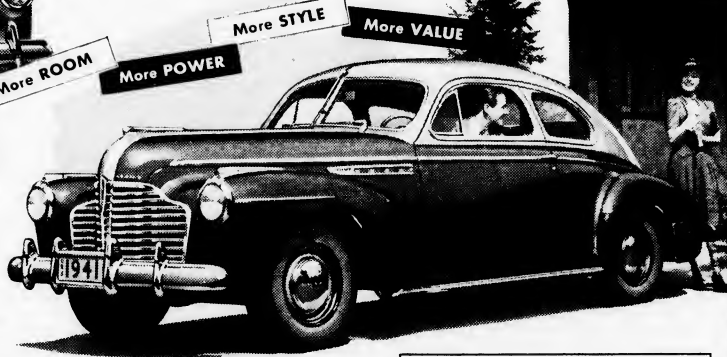

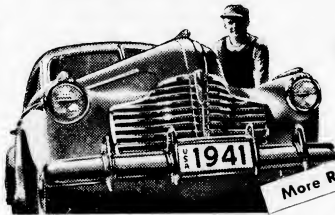

After which hearing the Board may alter said plans and may determine where such shall be located and the width and grades thereof.

Prior to the hearing the plans may be examined at the office of the Town Engineer.

By order of the Board of Survey this seventh day of October 1940.

GEORGE W. FRANKLIN,
Executive Clerk

"Take it away, mister - it's the best yet!"

OUT in the vast Buick plants you'll find men who were building motorcars when many of us were still looking forward to our first long pants.

So when these veterans talk to you about 1941 models, you're listening to Old Man Experience, seasoned by years-long, backstage-in-the-know.

And straight from the shoulder, without any ifs, ands, buts or maybes, these old-timers will tell you that the Buicks now coming off the assembly lines top anything produced here since the first "one-lunger" chugged its way down the street.

It isn't only that they're handsomer carriages. Or that they're bigger, roomier, sturdier with road-hugging weight and poise.

It isn't just that the new FIREBALL* engines, micropoise-balanced to vibrationless ease, carry Buick's exclusive Dynaflex principle to new heights of agile brilliance while actually getting 10% to 15% more miles per gallon.

It isn't simply that these great eager cars ride easier, handle more nimbly, surround you with travel-luxury that even surpasses the oft-praised comforts of home.

It's even more in the brawn and inbuilt-character and fine-drawn precision—in all the things you don't see about a Buick no less than in the things you can lay eye on.

For while designers were snaring inspiration on paper, while engineers were calculating new marvels, while test-crews were hammering experimental models over the roads—other men were busy arming skilled hands with new and finer tools, setting still higher levels for fine craftsmanship to reach.

Now this modelwise fellow sums it all up.

He says simply, "the best yet" is waiting for you.

He means we have never before built automobiles so good as these we offer you now.

Never before so well and durably combined so many materials, so successfully contrived to give you maximum contentment with your automobile.

You'll find a lot of fine cars offered this coming year—the natural go-ahead of a progressive industry sees to that.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT

delivered at Flint, Mich. Transportation based on rail rates, state and local taxes (if any), optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

for the Business Coupe

But our man isn't boasting when he invites you to a Buick showroom to see "the best yet."

Heart and soul, he believes it is just that.

So do we.

And before long, we think, so will you.

DOMENICO FLOWERS

Domenico Flowers of 17 Holland street, a resident of Winchester for 45 years, died Monday afternoon, Oct. 14, at the Winchester Hospital, following a major operation which he underwent earlier that day.

Mr. Flowers was born 57 years ago in Italy. He spent his youth in his native land, but as a young man came to this country and for the past 45 years had lived in Winchester, being well known, both here and in Woburn where he was associated in the baking business with his brother.

Mr. Flowers leaves his wife, Mrs. Catherine L. (Smythman) Flowers; seven daughters, Mrs. Catherine Wealek of Wakefield, Mrs. Theresa Fulgenti of Medford, Mrs. Josephine Doherty of Woburn, Mrs. Mary Johnson and the Misses Rosalyn, Marilyn and Christine Flowers, all of Winchester; and two brothers, Joseph and William, and Philip Flowers of Woburn.

The funeral was held Thursday morning from the late residence with high mass at 10:30 a. m. at St. Mary's Church at 6:00 o'clock. Interment was in Calvary cemetery.

TWO DRIVER STOPPED

Saturday night shortly before 11 o'clock, Patrolman James E. Farrell of the Police Department, while patrolling on Washington street, stopped a G. M. C. truck, registered to a Low-bury cleaning and dyeing establishment, and arrested the operator on the charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor. A man riding with him was arrested on a drunkenness charge.

At Headquarters the driver gave his name as Arthur L. McGowan of 11 Ruggles street, Roxbury. His companion gave his name as John J. Sawley of 58 Warren avenue, Woburn.

In the District Court at Woburn Monday morning McGowan was fined twenty or both counties on a fine of $50 for operating under the influence of liquor. Sawney was found guilty of drunkenness and his case was filed.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Two cases of Dog Bite were reported to the Board of Health for week ending, Thursday, Oct. 17.

Maurice Dinneen, Agent

Somerville does its part to find and help its share of America's 3,000,000 hard-of-hearing school children, many of whom are unaware of their handicap.

Hard-of-hearing children often repeat grades. Such youngsters cost the average community from $7200 to $25,200 per thousand during their grammar school careers!

Discovery and follow-up of hearing defects cuts repetition of grades at least 50 per cent, says the Boston

Guided for the Hard of Hearing, a Community Fund agency which will give free consultation during National Hearing Week, Oct. 20-26.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

The Art Committee will visit the studio of Mr. Wilbur Herbert Burnham, "craftsman in Stained Glass," 1126 Boylston street, Boston on Friday, Nov. 1. Mr. Burnham will be remembered as the speaker who gave an interesting illustrated talk on "Stained Glass" last December. Here is an excellent opportunity to see some of the actual processes in making stained glass windows.

The group will leave Fortnightly Hall at 1:30 p. m. All club members are cordially invited. For further details or information about transportation call Mrs. Everett L. Vincent, Win. 2009.

NORTH END HOMES DAMAGED BY YOUNGSTERS

The Police received complaints last Friday evening from several residents of the North end who stated that clotheslines had been cut, milk bottles broken and buildings stoned in that section of the town.

Officer A. T. O'Connell rounded up a group of girls, from 10 to 12 years old, who were stoning a garage, and took them home, reporting the matter to the parents. A crowd of youths, said to be from out of town, and reported to be responsible for more or less damage to several places in the North end, escaped before the arrival of the police.

WINCHESTER BOY PICKED UP IN MIAMI

A 15-year old Winchester boy, who left his home in the North end last week to go on a sight-seeing tour has been located by the Police in Miami, Fla.

Police Headquarters was notified early last Saturday afternoon by the State Police that the Miami authorities had picked up the boy and were holding him pending word from Winchester.

The boy's parents, who had gone to New York where they hoped to find their son, were notified and started at once for Miami to bring him home.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Scouts Own will be held next Sunday, Oct. 20. Services will be at 8:45 a. m. at the Church of the Immaculate Conception and other Scouts will meet in the Metcalf Room at the Unitarian Church at 10:30 a. m.

The Cabin is being used to good advantage these lovely fall days, several troops having had cook-outs.

The Medford Council has extended an invitation to the leaders and seniors of the Winchester Girl Scouts to attend a meeting at Felland on Oct. 19. Mr. Schriber, head of the Salem Council will speak on "Explorers" and Mr. Millar on "Emergency Service Corps."

Mrs. Heath is to be on the welcoming committee.

BROKE WINDOWS WITH SLINGSHOTS

Last Saturday forenoon, in response to complaints from residents of the Parkway and Myrtle street, Chief William H. Rogers and Sergeant Thomas F. Cassidy questioned two Winchester youths, aged 13 and 15, who admitted shooting B. B. shot slingshots at the windows of houses in that vicinity.

The boys and their fathers visited headquarters and agreed to make restitution for the damage done, but later it was found that a number of large windows at the Wadleigh School had also been broken by B. B. shot. Police believe the two boys are responsible for this damage as well as that done private homes, and the amount necessary to replace the school windows will be quite sizeable.

FASHION SHOW

Announcement is made of a coming fashion show in Winchester to be held under the auspices of Court Santa Maria, No. 150, Catholic Daughters of America. The affair is to be held Nov. 11 in Lyceum Hall. A technical moving picture of furs from the raw pelt to the finished product is to be shown, with mannequins in the Court acting as models for the fur fashions in fur, millinery and clothing. Novelty dance numbers will also be a feature of the program.

Mrs. Elizabeth Monahan of Georgetown Ave. is chairman of the affair, and a lady added by an active committee.

OPEN HOUSE

The Junior High School is open house on Wednesday evening, Oct. 23, commencing at 7:00. All parents are invited and refreshments served. The school will add to the usual open house a special feature with a fashion and beauty show to which every girl from 12 to 18 years of age is invited. The girls' committee will be in charge.

MOTORIST STRUCK SIGN AND CAR

Last Saturday night while patrolling his beat on the west side, Officer Edward F. Bowler saw an automobile in turning from Church street onto Glen road jump the sidewalk and strike a street sign, damaging the latter. The operator refused to stop at the signal of Officer Bowler and drove off toward Cambridge street.

As Officer Bowler gave chase he met Roland R. Carter of 19 Governor's avenue who told him as he was driving his Chevrolet from Cambridge street onto Glen road his car was struck by an automobile answering the description of the car that had previously struck the post at the corner of Glen road and Church street.

After striking Mr. Carter's car, the operator of the machine stopped but according to the Police, did not make himself known, driving off along Cambridge street.

The number of the car was secured and the owner, John W. O'Malley of 88 Bay State road, Boston, was notified to come to Winchester and inform the local authorities of the identity of the operator driving his machine at the time of the two accidents.

AN OPEN LETTER TO SKIERS

The directors of the Winchester Ski Club have devised a program for the coming season which will be of great help and much enjoyment to the members of the Club.

We hear on all sides that skiing is dangerous and realize the fact that there have been a number of serious accidents. As everyone knows it is lack of control that causes these accidents and we of the Winchester Ski Club are planning to do our bit towards preventing uncontrolled skiing. To do this we have laid out a course of instruction for new skiers.

We plan to start the season with a "dry course." This consists of exercises especially designed to limber up and develop the particular muscles used in skiing. Outdoor hills will condition the legs and aid in the breathing. By doing this we will be better prepared physically when skiing starts. Good physical condition is a great help to control.

Then when snow comes we have arranged for instruction in the fundamentals of technique. Perfection in any sport is coordination between the brain and the muscles, and not until the brain has been conditioned can the muscles be trained to carry it to a successful conclusion.

First, therefore, we need knowledge of the subject, and this is the instruction. From then on it is a question of practice until we have coordination. It comes in a remarkably short time if we are conscientiously practicing once we have the knowledge of what we are attempting to accomplish.

With accomplishment comes confidence and the unlimited pleasure which the sport of skiing offers us comes only when we ski with confidence.

The course as laid out will bring control, confidence and ability to anyone who will faithfully devote serious concentration to the instruction and will open to him the real joy of skiing. It also will qualify him to take the U. S. E. A. S. A. technique tests if he so wishes. These tests are designed to further control and are designated as class three and class two. The other tests of the U. S. E. A. S. A. are downhill classifications. As B and C are the minimum for the Class C downhill it will be required to have passed the third class technique test.

However, we will specialize in control and technique as we know this is the wish of the majority of Club members. It is the hope of the directors that as many members as possible who avail themselves of this course will have the U. S. E. A. S. A. class three technique test in mind as an objective. Passing this test will mean you have gained a certain knowledge of the fundamentals and are, therefore, on the right road to good skiing.

Further plans for the season are intra-club contests, Sunday trips to the nearest snow and two week-end trips.

Directors of the Winchester Ski Club

WINCHESTER AT MAYNARD

Winchester High plays its second Middlesex League game of the campaign Saturday afternoon with Maynard at Maynard, and a hard game seems in the making.

Maynard has always given Winchester plenty of competition, especially in its own back yard, and though the Orange wasn't particularly tough last autumn it has undoubtedly improved this season while Winchester is emphatically not as strong as it was a year ago.

Belmont was rather lucky to pull out a single touchdown victory over Stoneham while Maynard scored twice against the hockey towners despite Belmont's opening season win over the Orange. Maynard's lopsided defeat of Concord last Saturday indicates that Mike Vodychys has his boys rolling and the nifty towners always like to win from Winchester.

Coach Knowlton expects to start the same team at Maynard that went against Pynchard except that if Winchester kicks off big Jackson will start at Keyes tackle. He and his assistant, Coach Bartlett, while encouraged by their changes improved showing against weak Pynchard, were by no means satisfied last Saturday and any indifferent showing on the part of veteran players against Maynard will find these boys warming the boards.

A fighting team is what Coach Knowlton wants and must have against the Orange. Winchester is to remain in the Middlesex League pennant fight. Kickoff at 2:30 o'clock.

ARLINGTON BREAKS WINCHESTER'S UNBEATEN STRING

Winchester Girls Lose 1-0 After Two Perfect Seasons

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team lost its first game since 1937 last Friday afternoon when Arlington High won a surprise 1-0 victory over the locals at Arlington. Until this game Winchester had been unbeaten, untied and undefeated over a space of more than two seasons.

The game was close and hard fought all the way with Winchester, even in its losing role, showing the better all around play. Especially in combination play did Coach Fenton's charges appear to flourish, but Arlington made up for its lack of teamwork by its ability to drive the ball hard and far, and it was finally this driving ability that accounted for the lone goal of the tussle.

The first half was scoreless, but during the second half Arlington came into possession of the ball near midfield and worked it deep into Winchester's right defensive sector.

There a hot scrimmage ensued, and from this scrimmage, in front of the local goal Miss Walker, Arlington's inside left, banged the ball past Goalie Ann Downer, who never had a chance to make her leg come up.

So scored was her lone goal of play. Winchester tried hard to even the count in the waning minutes of play, but to no avail. The last drive came one shot into the Arlington net, but the ball was hit outside the striking circle and wasn't touched by an offensive player so it was no good. Later Cynthia Fodge banged the ball at the Arlington goal which finally lodged inside, between the post and the netting. This shot too was not allowed by the referee. The last minute Winchester thought it had scored.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds won a 1-0 victory over the Arlington jay-vees with Dottie Richardson, right inner, whacking in the deciding goal in the eighth.

The local girls got some consolation the following morning when at the officials' conference at Wellesley College, the host Arlington, again the score being 1-0, the Winchester second team played the second half against Arlington after the varsity had scored and held the opposition scoreless.

Following is the summary of Friday's game:

ARLINGTON SECONDS WON

The Arlington High second football team won from the Winchester High seconds, 19-12, on the Shore road athletic field Monday afternoon. With a hard game last Saturday, the Winchester seconds used a number of its varsity subs who weren't able to see service and the visitors were a bigger team than the locals.

Ernie passed to Poirier for Winchester's first score, Poirier running about 20 yards. Leo Treacy intercepted Arlington on passes and galloped 40 yards for the local's second score. Arlington's deciding touchdown came on a long pass down the center alley that none of the local defense could reach.

MIDDLESEX FOOTBALL LEAGUE DISBANDED

The Middlesex County Football League of which Winchester High has been a member since its inception in 1937, will disband at the conclusion of the current year, it was decided at the annual fall meeting of the organization Wednesday afternoon at Lexington.

Concord High School withdrew from the league at the end of last season and this year poor material at some of the other schools has prompted them to decide that they will not compete in its ranks after 1940. The league authorities felt it was better to disband the group than to try to get suitable teams to replace those lost or to continue with only three or four teams.

The disbanding of the football league will not affect the basketball, basketball and track competition under the Middlesex banner.

Ruth Evans Cutter, daughter of Mrs. A. H. Cutter of 6 Black Horse terrace, has been awarded the degree of bachelor of science from the Simmons College School of Nursing. President Bancroft Beasley announced Thursday. Miss Cutter was also awarded a nursing diploma. She graduated from Winchester High School in 1935 and was active at Simmons in the Anne Strong Club. Student nurses' group. She trained at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

PUNTS AND PASSES

Quite an unusual setup down at Tufts last Friday when the Tufts freshman football team played North-eastern freshmen. Two former Winchester High players, co-captains of last year's local team, B. Drake and C. Drake, faced each other with the officials before the kickoff. This time as rival captains, Pete Galuffo, Russo, back, captain, and played for Northeastern, and Tony DeTosco, fiery center, captained and played the pivot position for the Jumbo club.

Both boys played good half for their respective teams. Galuffo, a greatly improved player, threw the pass that resulted in his team's first touchdown, and DeTosco, a star behind the Tufts line, making tackles in his own dynamic fashion.

At Northeastern they took a lot of Galuffo and expect him to step into a varsity job next fall. Coach Knowlton and Ted Bartlett, who saw him at Tufts, thought he was very smooth out there. He left the game at half time with an injury to his right arm.

DeTosco is of course a bit small for college football, but those who have seen his fierce tackling and smart defensive play for the Jumbos believe he'll make his letter before he leaves Tufts hill.

Scams as if the last two Winchester boys to face each other as college captains were Fred A. Drake and Jim Blair of Maine U. Both were backs.

Pete Sibby co-captain of Winchester High's great championship team last year, back played end for M. T. E. last Saturday against Hyanis Teachers College. It was the Engineers' first football start in 37 years.

Coach Knowlton entered Pete Provizano and Bill West in the schoolboy passing contest which preceded the Bears-Buffalo pro game in Boston last Sunday. The boys didn't pitch because the contest started a good half hour before the time set for the local game.

They say Mrs. West won't go see Bill play football yet. Knowing her football through growing up at Mercersburg Academy of which her dad was principal, she's afraid Bill will be making some mistakes at this stage of the game.

Mr. West, however, was fighting about the sidelines last Saturday. Quite a record the local boys are making along with "Poker" Capone and "Deadpan" Paul Lentine. "Poker" was one of the best and smartest guards to play for Winchester High in recent years, even if he was of the watch-charm variety. He was an easy "All Middlesex" choice.

They say Arly Lentine is learning to get along with Wendell Mansfield down Lewiston way. The Bates mentor forgets about the clock when he gets going on football all night long, and Mansfield can't stand up under it.

George Franklin didn't make the Bates-Northeastern game after all. Had to take the bus home last Saturday.

Office Johnnie Murray went in to see the kid brother play for Northeastern against his old Coach Mansfield. Says Johnnie, "He looked good."

Well, well, Woburn tied Saugus and according to their tell was jobbed out of a win. Looks like quite a while before Winchester will have come Turkey Day.

Now if the boys would only put some of the "umph" into their playing Mary Maynard would be a good place to watch Winchester would be going places too.

Maine State series starts this week-end with Mansfield's Bates eleven playing Maine U. on which Winchester's J. Harris is playing first string center. We imagine Art Butters will take in this one. He's an old Maine you know.

WINCHESTER GIRLS BLANKED BELMONT

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team, blank to normal after their defeat by Arlington last Friday, won a 4-0 decision over the Belmont High eleven on Manchester Field Monday afternoon.

Winchester, trying just a bit too hard during the first half and Helen Carroll's goal was the only one they were able to score during that time. Coming back for the second half, however, the local attack commenced to click once more and three goals, two by Captain Carroll and the other by Cynthia Fodge, were added to the Winchester total.

Between the halves of the first team game the Winchester seconds won a 3-0 victory over the Belmont team. Nancy Dodson and Anna Errico doing the scoring. Following is the first team summary.

WINCHESTER HIGH WON FROM PUNCHARD

Locals With Juggled Lineup in 13-0 Victory

Winchester High, with a revamped lineup, bounced at least part way back from their Dedham beating by winning 13-0 from Pynchard High last Saturday afternoon on the Shore road athletic field before the small crowd to see a game in Winchester for some time.

Pynchard has been having a poor season and this probably accounted for the dearth of rooters in their stands. The local stands were also empty from full at game time, and though some few trickled in through the opening quarter, the crowd was away below what one could expect had both teams been going well.

Coach Knowlton juggled his lineup for Pynchard in an effort to get a combination that would at least be out there trying. He had planned to start Captain Palumbo and Tibaldo at the ends, but with Matt Clark on the bench with a "charlie-hoss" Tibaldo had to play center, Kimber starting at right end, Jim Treacy starting at Palumbo's guard with Butch Whittemore continuing to have the nod for the other guard over the veteran Van Froyth. Butch was the starting quarterback instead of Styglos and Billy West took over Dean Derby's wingback patrol, McCormack returning to fullback.

This new combination with caputo and Keyes at the tackles and Provizano at the tailback slot, showed flashes of form entered Pynchard completely the first half. Especially the interference formed and ran much better than at any time in the season. The blocking still didn't pitch because the contest started a good half hour before the time set for the local game.

They say Mrs. West won't go see Bill play football yet. Knowing her football through growing up at Mercersburg Academy of which her dad was principal, she's afraid Bill will be making some mistakes at this stage of the game.

McSPADEN GIVEN LIFE JOB AS "PRO" AT COUNTRY CLUB

The Winchester Country Club is thought to have made golfing history when it recently signed its popular professional, Harold McSpaden, U. S. Ryder Cup Team member and star tournament performer, to what is virtually a life contract.

Under the terms of the contract, "Jug" as he is known in golfing circles, may hold his position at the local club as long as he wishes—for life if he wants it that way. The contract is one of the most unusual ever granted a professional and effectively spiced rumors that McSpaden would leave Winchester after failing to accept a position with a large club in his native State of Missouri. In addition to his life job both "Jug" and his wife have a home in the city.

McSpaden, who last year won both the Canadian and Philippine open championships and who has always given an excellent account of himself in the big money tournaments, will leave town Nov. 25 to visit Chicago and make a City before moving in the winter circuit tournaments in Miami during December.

Most residents who drive automobiles will be pleased to learn that the Selectmen have ordered the Police to stop the dangerous practice of riding bicycles against the traffic on Thornton street. The Star has often commented upon this irritating as well as dangerous habit of the town's youth and hope that the Police will be diligent in carrying out the Selectmen's orders!

An interesting fact in the New Deal government we are now experiencing has been aptly put by Gen. Hugh Johnson in his column in the Boston Herald. He writes:

"Now here is a strange thing we have observed; how many, many voters for Roosevelt are victims of (this) fear. We see everywhere people who are afraid they may be taken off relief, people who are afraid they will be put on relief, people who are afraid to vote because they fear their relatives will be handled by a political boss out of a job, people who are afraid for racial reasons, people who are afraid we won't get into the war in time, people who are afraid (like the French and the English were until after the invasion) to swap horses in midstream, people who are afraid Hitler will be personally of Wilkie than he is of Roosevelt (it's difficult, by the way, to imagine how Hitler could be), and people who are afraid that the central strategy of any way—so let's start going socialist now! It was this fear that democracy is finished anyway! which sap the will of the French people and hastened their surrender."

Replying to our last week's item concerning the long period during which Mr. J. Frank Tuttle has been a subscriber to the Star, we have received word from Mr. Herbert Underwood, Mr. Tuttle's personal friend, that he has taken the Star for the past 50 years, subscribing in 1890, but his wife, who is the daughter of the late James B. Brudbury, of Central street, has been a reader of this paper since its first issue in 1880. Her father's subscription was carried on following Mr. Brudbury's death by his widow and upon her marriage, Mrs. Underwood continued as a reader through her husband's retirement. Another subscriber from the same town, Mrs. M. Palmer, retired mathematics teacher of the Winchester High school, Miss Palmer's father, the late Edwin B. Palmer, came to Winchester in 1880 and subscribed to the Star upon his arrival in town. At his death Miss Palmer assumed the subscription and has continued to date. We enjoyed this week a friendly call from her during which she stated she looked forward to the receipt of the paper each week. The Star expresses its thanks to both subscribers for their continued loyalty.

Frankie Doodle keep it up
N-ot mind your enemies
But with the cash be handy
Frankie Doodle hired a house
To live in it for four years
F-rankie stayed for eight and now
W-ants twelve or even more Refrain as above
Frankie Doodle said he would
W-ould save a lot of money
F-rankie started in to spend
And wasn't he a honey
Refrain
Frankie Doodle said he would
S-quander his money
F-rankie said that in his tracks
Or did it? What's your guess, say?

BOWLING ALLEY CONTROVERSY STILL ON

Oct. 16, 1940

To the Editor of the Star:
We are home owners and neighbors living near the site of the proposed bowling alley on Swanboro street. We have objected to this bowling alley ever since an application for a license was first made and refused by the Board of Selectmen in 1936. The site of the proposed alley, although in a business zone, is very near houses and property used exclusively for residential purposes, and lies within 17 feet of a residential district. We do not think it is a good thing to have a bowling alley so close to homes and in a neighborhood where there are a great many children. We believe that the quiet enjoyment of our homes should be protected.

We have been put to great expense and trouble by the repeated efforts of Salvatore Marchesi and Rosari Marchesi to obtain the necessary license and permits to establish a bowling alley on their lot. They have made applications to the Selectmen for a license and we have had to appear and state our objections; they have three times sought building permits and we have been compelled to appear before the Board of Appeals. Long and costly litigation has resulted from these efforts of the Marchesis and we have had to be represented by counsel.

The latest application for a bowling alley license was made this last July. The Selectmen held a public hearing at which everyone was given an opportunity to be heard. Each member of the Board visited the neighborhood of the proposed alley at least three or four times and all the facts were made known by the Marchesis were thoroughly considered by the Board. On Aug. 5 the license was refused. Marchesi then brought an action against the Selectmen to compel them to issue the license, claiming that they had acted arbitrarily, capriciously and unlawfully in refusing the license. Last hearings were held at which we again had to be represented. The court found that the Board had acted impartially, fairly, and upon reasons well founded in law and dismissed the action. During these proceedings, members of the Board testified that they did not consider this a proper location for a bowling alley and that they would not grant a license for a bowling alley at this place to anybody at any time.

During the course of this controversy the Marchesis frequently stated that they proposed to go ahead and build the bowling alley building and that they would attempt to get the license from the Selectmen at some later date even if it took them years to obtain it.

This position taken by the Marchesis is disturbing to us neighbors. We do not believe that the people of our town or the Selectmen want or are going to be continually subjected to this sort of trouble. Three Boards of Selectmen have refused to grant this license. We sincerely believe that this would be a waste of time and the fullest confidence in our Selectmen that the matter will now be treated as finally settled.

My dear Editor,
I want to convey the fact, in reference to your editorial of Oct. 11, that the people of Winchester know that you and your staff are an asset to Winchester. Reason one: The activities in the town have found generous space in the "Star" which is the equivalent of an early calendar; this not only gives gratis advertising but gives the public an opportunity to hear many constructive programs. Reason two: Each organization and various groups, whether they assigned their printing to the "Star" or not, have received the same courteous attention and personal interest. Reason three: Your Editorials are fearless, courageous and patriotic. I hope that the near future will bring a response, insuring restored faith that the "Star" is an asset to Winchester.

Very sincerely,
Joseph M. Pizzano

WARNS AGAINST WAR

Commending the cooperation of all concerned in the vast job of registration, Hon. Edith Nourse Rogers took occasion yesterday, however, to warn against any lessening of the determination to keep America out of active participation in European or Asiatic wars.

Mrs. Rogers as a member of Congress, has fought consistently for national defense to the end that this nation be so strong that no country would dare force war on this hemisphere. She has fought as consistently to keep to the forefront the determination that this country shall not become actively involved in European hostilities. Knowing war at first hand she is determined that no American soldier shall ever fight again on European soil.

In line with national conscription she has succeeded in having Fort Devens selected and built up to serve as a training center for the young men called from this area in order that they may be near their homes. As a high ranking member of the important House Foreign Affairs committee she has again called on Secretary Hall to keep Congress and the nation informed of diplomatic developments in Europe so that America may steer a course that will not bring us into active participation in the European turmoil.

Her resolution to keep Congress in continuous session during this crisis was intended to keep the people's representatives on hand as vigilant as possible in order that this position that would involve us in hostilities abroad.

She has fought on the one hand for the strongest possible national defense program and on the other to keep alive the will of the people that we keep out of war. Properly combined these two aims, she believes, will save this country from attack and keep us out of wars abroad.

GROUP THEATRE FACES BUSY WEEK

Tryouts and Dance

Activities of the Winchester Group Theatre really gets under way with a rush during the coming week with tryouts for the fall production and the fall dance both coming in the same week.

The fall play, to be given Dec. 6 and 7 will be "The Last of Mrs. Trenchard" and the production chairman is George W. Hayden, Jr. Bulah Page Sibley who has directed several Group Theatre productions in the past is in full charge of casting, and tryouts will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings, Oct. 28 and 29 in the Wadleigh School at 7:30 p. m.

On Friday evening, Nov. 1, the Group will hold its fall dance at the Winchester Country Club from 9 until 1. An illustrated announcement of the dance sketched by Jeanne Moran was mailed to all members during the past week, but the dance is open to the public. Assisting Mrs. Richard A. Harlow in the distribution of tickets are Mrs. James Woolley, Mrs. Samuel Graves and Mrs. J. Henry Smith.

Many members of the Group Theatre are entertaining groups of friends preceding the dance.

ADMIRAL BYRD LECTURE

With enthusiasm and eagerness, a capacity house rose to greet Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd as he ascended the platform of the high school auditorium escorted by the Winchester High School Sea Scouts promptly at 8:30 Friday night. Mrs. Mary Ranton Witham then accompanied at the piano while Mrs. Walter W. Winship lead the audience in the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. Following this, Mrs. Stanley J. Barnes, president of the executive board of the Winchester Mothers' Association, the sponsor of this evening's lecture for the benefit of its Scholarship Fund, introduced Stevenson Corey, the Admiral's supply officer on the 1933-35 expedition, who in turn presented Admiral Byrd.

The audience listened spellbound until after 10 o'clock to the thrilling story of the life and adventures in Little America, including Admiral Byrd's historic visit at Bolling Advance Base, dog team trips, discoveries and mapping of thousands of square miles, all made vivid as pictured in 9000 feet of film.

A group of high school senior boys acted as ushers with John G. Penniman as chairman.

At the close of the lecture all were invited to adjourn to the gymnasium where an Antarctic trophy exhibit, loaned by Admiral Byrd and Stevenson Corey was on display.

Since Admiral Byrd had agreed to remain for a short period to autograph his books, the book stall proved to be most popular.

A nursery school was introduced by Mrs. Robert Keene and her large committee who so successfully made the coffee bar a distinct pleasure.

Mrs. Alexander Samoiloff's gay artistic decorations of the coffee bar were designed and executed by a group of sixth grade children.

WINCHESTER RED CROSS

War Relief Work

The Winchester Red Cross Chapter urgently calls for more volunteers to sew on Red Cross War Relief garments and to make surgical dressings for shipment to Great Britain. The chapter has been allocated a large quota by National Headquarters which is to be completed and shipped by January.

Sewing unit meets every Monday and Wednesday at the Red Cross room, third floor, Winchester Town Hall, from 10 to 4 o'clock.

Surgical dressing unit meets every Tuesday, at the Red Cross room, second floor, Winchester Town Hall from 10 to 4 o'clock.

These are busy days for everyone, but a few hours or a day will help so much to complete the war relief quota for these people who are so desperately in need. Won't you please help?

ALFRED H. MARCHANT IMPROVED

The many friends of Mr. Alfred H. Marchant of Bangley will be glad to learn of his improved condition following a sudden serious setback occurring last Sunday.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The attention of the Study Group in French Art is directed to the first museum trip of the year, to be held one week from today, Friday, Nov. 1 at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Mrs. Sayward will speak on "Church Symbolism."

WILL PREACH AT LEXINGTON

Rev. George Hale Reed will preach in the Unitarian Church in Lexington at the morning service on Sunday, Oct. 27 at 11 o'clock.

Graveyards Are Traps

"Elephant graveyards," where, according to superstition, elephants have to die, are probably due to a native African method of hunting. This consists of baiting a large area, and then burning it over. An observer has seen up to 91 elephants killed in such a drive.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON NOTES

Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, president of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League presided at the opening meeting of the Circle on Thursday afternoon, Oct. 17 at the home of Mrs. William O. Thompson, 25 Swan road.

Mrs. Fred E. Ritchie announced that plans are ready for the annual bazaar which will be held at the Copple Plaza Hotel on Nov. 6 and 7 from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. Winchester is having the handicraft table this year with Mrs. Harold F. Meyer, chairman and Mrs. Ritchie, sub-chairman; Mrs. Albert S. Crockett in charge of advertising and Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke in charge of bridge and fashion show tickets.

Mrs. Woodford L. Wilcox, chairman of the sewing committee, announced the first all day sewing meeting to be held on Nov. 19 at Mrs. Reginald Bradlee's, 6 Lodgewood road, and urged all interested in sewing to be accomplished.

Mrs. Richmond introduced Mrs. Mary Mahoney, special reports for the Boston Globe, who chose for her subject "What's Behind the News." Mrs. Mahoney proved to be a most delightful speaker with her many interesting stories of what had happened to her in her search for the news. Her keen interest in her work, together with her ready wit and apparent joy in telling her stories in a very sincere and informal way greatly pleased her audience.

Mary Ranton Witham, chairman of the music committee, introduced Miss Ann Carolyn Thompson, talented young daughter of the hostess who presented the following piano selections in a most skillful manner: Prelude in D Minor by Porter; Danse Nizre by Scott; Waltz in G Major by Chopin; From the Carnival by Grieg; Music Box by Lech.

Tea was served by Mrs. John W. Johnson assisted by Mrs. Edward C. Grant, Mrs. Harold Bates, Mrs. Ralph Bennett, Mrs. Hope S. Froelick, Mrs. John W. Smith and Mrs. Charles Wansker. Mrs. Frank S. Garrett and Mrs. John C. Moakler poured.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY

Preceding the Democratic rally to be held in the high school auditorium on Saturday night, Oct. 26, at 8 p. m., there will be an automobile torchlight parade from one end of town to the other.

Senator David I. Walsh, always popular in Winchester, will lead the list of speakers, which will include Attorney General Paul A. Dever, Owen Gallagher, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, Mrs. Katherine A. Foley, candidate for Secretary of State, John Donahue, candidate for State Treasurer, James H. Brennan, candidate for Attorney General, and many others.

The speakers will be introduced by Chairman Frank Hurley of the Winchester Democratic Town Committee. The public is cordially invited to attend.

RED CROSS SEWING

The women of the First Congregational Church have been meeting Wednesdays this month from 10 to 1 p. m. and sewing for the Winchester Chapter of the American Red Cross.

So far they have completed 150 articles of baby's clothes under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. George Nardin and Mrs. Harold Dover. Thirty-four women reported Wednesday of this week including one loyal woman with her entire bridge club giving up the entire day for Red Cross instead of their usual bridge party. The help of all these faithful workers is greatly appreciated.

Wednesday the 29th, there will be another sewing meeting. All women of the church are welcome to come and bring their friends. Chowder will be served at noon for a small charge.

ELKS' NOTES

Winchester Lodge of Elks, a patriotic organization with the National Flag as its emblem, has 36 members who have registered for the selective service draft and await a possible call to the colors.

A large delegation of Elks went up to Woburn Wednesday evening to attend the District Deputy's visitation at Woburn Lodge. There were many outstanding speakers and dignitaries of the order among the guests.

An especial feature of the evening was the presentation of a handsome silver loving cup on an onyx base by Winchester Lodge to Woburn Lodge in recognition of Woburn's victory in the inter lodge golf tournament held during the latter part of September. A loving cup was chosen as the victory symbol to emphasize the real fraternal feeling which has always existed between Winchester and Woburn lodges.

William Holland, chairman of the Winchester golf committee and captain of the local team, made the presentation, stressing in the course of his neatly phrased address the fine feeling of friendship existing between the two lodge teams and offering his own and his team-mates' congratulations to the victors. The cup was accepted by Exalted Ruler John Doherty of Woburn Lodge, and turned over to P. D. D. Warren Cox.

A large group of candidates is lining up for the John J. Pershing class which Winchester Lodge will initiate at the first meeting in December. The lodge membership is having a fine growth and the growth is of a solid character that is bound to be permanently beneficial.

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

At the October 8th meeting of the Washington-Highland Chapter, a portable radio was raffled, the winner being Mr. Douglas Lees of Brooks street, West Medford. It came not only as a surprise but as an unexpected gift as he was celebrating his birthday on that date.

We'll Put Our Money on POWER!

THERE are two ways you can go about engineering an automobile.

You can think it out or you can tinker it out.

You can get right down to the tough job of building better, livelier, abler performance into the engine—or you can fiddle around with expedients that seem to do the job.

It is plain, of course, that the sole source of car performance is the power plant.

And all engineers know that if you build in enough power and flexibility you can get the thrilling kind of performance car owners want.

Pull, pick-up, hill-climbing, economical gear ratios, less need for changing gears—you can get them all from abundant power.

The one thing that has stood in the way has been the difficulty of getting this power without also increasing the size of the engine.

Now, sweating out more power from the same size engine and the same amount of fuel is a down-to-earth, hard-work job.

But—it's the right and proper way to get the wanted results without falling back on extra mechanisms that complicate chassis design.

And that's what Buick engineers have done.

NUTSHELL PICTURE

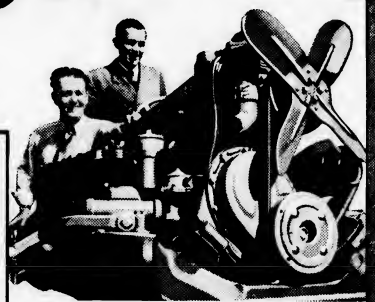

of America's Most Powerful Standard-Production Engine

Basic source of this engine's peak power is the FIREBALL design which compacts the fuel charge into the shape of a flattened ball around the spark. Fired from its head under higher compression pressure, each charge lets go with heavier wallop that extracts more power from each charge of fuel. Amplifying this is Compound Carburetion, in which the usual large carburetor is replaced by two smaller mixers teamed to work together. Only one of the carburetors is in normal driving. The other cuts in automatically whenever it is needed to provide extra power, shuts off when the need is past. Result: Actually more power from less gasoline.

They have concentrated their 1941 creative thought on providing greater and more flexible power in the engine itself.

They have done this through FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion—and what they've accomplished for you boils down to this:

You get more power—eight, eighteen or twenty-four more horsepower from the same size engines as last year—power that gets you off like a bullet and sweeps you up a hill like a fighter plane "going upstairs."

You get more mileage—from all engines and at all speeds—as much as 10% to 15% more miles per gallon and the benefits of overdrive all the time you are in "high."

You get easier car handling—less gear changing from a tremendous power reserve that pulls the hills and negotiates traffic without the necessity of dropping into lower gear ratios.

You get greater safety—from quick pick-up that lifts you surely out of tight spots, and from the full and immediate braking power of your engine without the "lag" while liquid couplings and the like readjust themselves.

Finally you get a chassis that is clean, simple and direct in design—uncluttered by intricate mechanisms that are hard to service and difficult to repair.

In brief you get basic improvement in your car's capacity for performance—and when you're spending several hundred dollars for an automobile, that's important enough to look into.

TO SEW FOR THE RED CROSS

Mothers of children in the third grade of the Wyman School will meet to sew in the Red Cross room in the Town Hall on Wednesday, Oct. 24, from 9 to 4. All who can be there please plan to come for at least a part of the time as there is a great deal to do.

"RICKY" RECOGNIZES ADMIRAL BYRD

As Admiral Byrd's ship returns up marks as his afternoon lecture for the school children, who overflowed the seating capacity of the high school auditorium he told how he had two reasons to always be interested in Winchester. One that he had been born in Winchester—Virginia, and also that one of his loyal and hard working expedition workers lived here. He said the important work of Stevenson Corey as the supply officer on the second expedition was a large contribution to the success of the venture.

He then said he had just learned that another Antarctic friend and companion was in the hall and called to the stage "Ricky," a large husky. The dog put both feet up onto Admiral Byrd's shoulders and the meeting and evident pleasure in seeing one another brought forth loud applause from the children. "Ricky" is owned by Fred F. Dustin of Saugus who accompanied the Admiral to little America as the fuel engineer. The dog was born on the ice and pictures of him and other puppies were seen in the films.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The national director of the Soldiers and Sailors' Department speaks of our national defense policy.

"Even now there have been great increases in numbers in the various military training camps throughout the country, purely by the action of volunteers. The liquor interests are alert to take advantage of what they regard as their big opportunity."

"Already there have been disturbances. Where these camps are located every community as a direct responsibility for the conditions around them. Under the law as it now is only, the community can clean up these conditions. See that your community does its duty."

The increase in the number of men and boys in uniform means a great increase in our responsibility in retarding alcohol education to them. In official quarters there is growing appreciation of the dangers of alcohol to these men. The Navy officers themselves determined after report that they did not want liquor back on their ships. They are not yet sold on the idea that alcohol is dangerous, but they recognize the dangers of the local dives and wish to combat them with service clubs, where unfortunately they also want to sell beer. Local cities and communities will be responsible. Let us multiply the sources of information as to the nature and effects of alcohol, trusting that the truth will make men free.

REPUBLICAN RALLY TUESDAY EVENING FOR NEGRO RESIDENTS

Tuesday evening, Oct. 22, Mrs. Maude Crowell headed a committee which arranged a most successful Republican Rally in the New Hope Baptist Church and was sponsored by the Winchester Women's Republican Club and the Republican Town Committee. Nearly 100 persons enjoyed the showing of the motion pictures, released by the Republican National Committee, which featured Wendell Willkie in "We the People," "Willkie and McNary Know Their Farming" and "The Truth About Taxes." Following the pictures the first of three speakers was Mr. John E. Wyche, young colored Republican, formerly candidate for Representative from Ward 9 in Boston and a member of the Crispus Attucks Political League.

Mr. George Gordon, state chairman of the Colored Workers of Massachusetts, spoke briefly and expressed his confidence that the whole National and State tickets would be supported in Massachusetts by the negro.

Following Mr. Gordon's talk Mrs. Warren C. Whitman, president of the Winchester Women's Republican Club introduced Mr. Raymond S. Wilkins, chairman of the Town Committee, who expressed his pleasure in a large meeting. Next introduced was Mrs. Blanche Webb, a member of the Republican State Committee, whose fine work among her own people in Boston has been a splendid contribution to the Republican work.

Mr. Willis Polls of Woburn brought information of the progress of the campaign there and of an active program. During the evening the National Negro Hymn was sung by all present followed by the Star Spangled Banner.

Refreshments were served by Miss Mary Winbush and Mrs. Orrhay. Byrd, assisting Mrs. Crowell closed a very successful and interesting evening.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Another club year lies before us. Let's greet it with cheerfulness and resolve to work with each other. To be happy.

Even a brief perusal of our new year book shows a busy, interesting and worth-while year ahead, not only in the program of the club as a whole, but also in the various committee activities, to which each member is, of course, sincerely invited.

Our first regular meeting will be held Monday, Oct. 28, and there are many interesting features on the program. Special guests will be our four pioneer women: Mrs. Ida Ripley and Mrs. Lena R. Wellington, "the two oldest living presidents who still hold continuous active membership;" Mrs. Harriet C. S. Hildreth, now General Federation Director from Massachusetts; and Mrs. Eleanor Hudson Welch, chairman of the Division of the Preservation of Antiques in the General Federation.

Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds will give her report on the annual State Federation meeting in Swampscott last May.

A delightful musical program will be presented by Norma Bertolami, pianist; Viviane Bertolami, violinist; and Rand Smith, baritone. Norma and Viviane Bertolami, although they are young in years, are accomplished musicians, and have already made a place for themselves in the musical world. Rand Smith possesses a pleasant personality and a voice of unusual range and great natural beauty.

Following the meeting there will be a tea and reception to new members and the pioneer women.

And don't forget that meetings hereafter begin promptly at 2 p. m.

On Friday, Nov. 1, the art committee, of which Mrs. Everett L. Vincent is chairman, will visit the studio of Mr. Wilbur Herbert Burnham, "Craft-man in Stained Glass," 1126 Boylston street, Boston. The group will leave Fortnightly Hall at 1:30 p. m. For transportation call Mrs. Vincent, Win. 2009.

GEORGE WASHINGTON SCHOOL NOTE

The following program was presented at the George Washington School on last week Tuesday by the pupils of the sixth grade. The theme of the program was an outgrowth of their recent study of pre-historic times with emphasis on the later Cave men. Doris Newton was the announcer.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF UNIT

Winchester Combats War and Winter

Recruits keep coming on Wednesday to the parish hall of the Church of the Epiphany, where they find the central war-room and work distributing station for British War Relief and more recruits will be welcome.

Next Wednesday those who sew will be furnished with a new material. Cheerful and useful stuff will be at hand to be fashioned into warm dresses and bloomers for girls whose homes in England, Wales or Scotland have been wrecked by bombs or fire.

For this week again the cable news from England says, "Send children's clothing. That is the pressing need."

It was 3 o'clock on a recent Saturday morning when a bomb fell on the English home. The two children, Anne and Harry, escaped serious injury. But when dressing time came with dawn there was nothing to put on. Search in the wreckage found an old suit that was cleaned off for the day, but it was not a dress for Anne. That story brings women to the Winchester central work-room, to make themselves a cog in the human machine that is setting itself up all over America to make sure that warm clothes will not be far away when children wake to find that kind of morning.

Winchester women know that emotion which is not promptly translated into deeds is sentimental and wasteful. They are active, they knit, they hunt up the mittens that are too small, the warm coats that their households can spare. They can handle the headlines and the radio flashes because they are actively combating the doubled civilian war of war and winter.

All the red dresses got there in time.

To this question British War Relief can give a confident answer. Three days after our Winchester-made dresses, mittens and baby caps reach a British port the are actually in use, on the heads of babies, on the hands and on the backs of homeless brothers and sisters. So efficient is the distribution system that works through 37 different agencies in Britain.

On Tuesday, Oct. 22, representatives from all the units of greater Boston heard fresh news of the British War Relief activities on both sides of the Atlantic, when the national chairman, Mr. Robert R. Appleby of New York, spoke at the Chilton Club. Representing the Winchester unit were Mrs. Fred Cameron, Mrs. Marion Waugh and Mrs. William B. Weeks.

Leaders in the Winchester work will have time to give information over the telephone about the kinds of sewing and knitting to be done. Mrs. Cameron can be reached at Winchester 1884, and Mrs. Waugh at Winchester 2387-1.

Committee of Safety Chapter, D. A. R.

The first meeting of the year of Chapter D. A. R. Daughters of the American Revolution, was held on Monday, Oct. 21, at the home of the vice regent Miss Clara R. Russell, at 125 Madison street, with a large attendance of members. As there was a long business meeting, there was no speaker at this meeting.

The Golden Rules of the National Society was celebrated in Winchester on Oct. 11, and the Massachusetts State Society took note of the Jubilee by presenting in very fine program its annual meeting at the New Ocean House, Swampscott, on Oct. 1 and 2, which many of our chapter attended. The benefits of those unable to attend the regent, Mrs. J. Churchill Himes, gave a most interesting account of the program in seven episodes depicting the history of the national organization since its foundation in 1890. Many fine old costumes were worn in these episodes and it was all most inspiring, particularly the Pageant of Flags in the first World War episode.

Miss Russell, who attended the regent board meeting at the Conley Plaza hotel in Boston on Oct. 18, gave a further account of the Jubilee celebration in Washington, as related by the state regent, Miss Ethel L. Henshaw.

The matter of our own chapter Jubilee project was discussed at some length, but just what form this will take has not yet been definitely determined.

At the close of the business meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles B. York, Mrs. Harry T. Jackson and the hostess.

I always ask the Wakefield Laundry to help me with my Housecleaning

Because . . .

MY WASH RUGS are so difficult to clean I don't attempt it. They renew their beauty and return them rolled on tubes.

CHENILLE SPREADS also my Crocheted and Candlewicks are given a new appearance that just delight me.

BLANKETS require proper laundering and their scientific process makes my blankets lustrous, comfy and pure.

AND CURTAINS laundered by them add charm and smartness to my rooms.

After the rest of the housecleaning is finished these articles come back ready to go into service once more. It's a great convenience.

BRITISH WANT KITCHENS!

Regulating German propaganda regarding an alleged food shortage in Britain. Lord Woolton, British minister of food, speaking by short wave radio to United States listeners, declared that Britain's stocks were good and asked that instead of sending food, "sending credits to purchase war necessities—such things as mobile kitchens."

He said he wanted to establish a large fleet of mobile kitchens in every town in the country so that food could be rushed to those who need it after bombing raids.

The Parish Players of the First Congregational Church are giving the proceeds from their 15th season's plays for the purchase of one of those "rolling kitchens." The first production, a group of Coward's famous comedies entitled "Tonight at 8:30" will be presented Nov. 8 and 9 in the Little Theatre Beneath a Spire. GIRL SCOUT NOTES

"Scouts Own" which was held last Sunday, was very popular and well attended. Protestant girls met at the Unitarian Church and Catholic girls at the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

Senior Scouts met with Mrs. Oliver this week; about 40 girls were present. This troop is planning its season's activities with the idea of helping the Red Cross.

On Saturday, Oct. 19, the Senior and Sea Scouts held a combined meeting with the Fellowship of Boy Scouts at Tufts College.

The topic for debate as outlined by Commodore Ralph Stevens was "Sea Scouts Emergency Patrol Measures"—trying to find what service scouts can render in their own communities. Mr. Maxwell Miller of Boston led the discussion. The ladies' association meeting was held Wednesday morning. New officers were elected.

"WHERE NATURE REIGNS SUPREME" BY DR. CHARLES TOZIER

The pictures of Canada's vast untouched spaces, its commanding mountain peaks, with their glaciers, and its lakes, quite comparable to and now more accessible than the well-known Swiss giants; its rough water trout streams, and angler's heaven with tent or picturesque cabin for rest, its wild life, so difficult to catch with even the highest powered camera, and its cultivated beauty spots at Banff, Lake Louise, to mention only perhaps the best known, all these defy adequate description and must be seen repeatedly to be properly appreciated.

The Winchester Committee of the Maple Leaf Fund, Inc., was proud to enjoy the hospitality of the Unitarian Church for this occasion. Mrs. Burt R. Gage, chairman, greeted the audience and thanked them for their interest in the cause of refugee children in Canada. She then introduced the newly installed minister of the Unitarian Church, Rev. Paul H. Chapman, who gave the invocation, a repeated welcome, and a touching word picture of French refugees, soldiers and civilians alike.

Mrs. Winship, accompanied by Mrs. Witham, sang "God Bless America" and the audience joined enthusiastically in the chorus.

The meeting was then turned over to Dr. Tozier, our generous townsman. In his brief evening remarks, he paid tribute to all forms of relief, with special attention to Canadian Relief, and to our 3000 mile unfortified border line and added the following most appropriate poem:

Three thousand miles of border line!
No fort nor armed host;
On all this frontier neighbor
Ground from east to western coast;
A spectacle to compare with
A thought to stir the blood,
A living proof to all the world
Of faith in brotherhood.

Three thousand miles of border line!
Now has a century
Seen such along this common course
But peace and harmony.

O nations bound in brotherhood!
O faith in fellow
What better way on earth to dwell
Than this God-given plan?

Three thousand miles of border line!
One hundred years of peace!
In all the issue of history
What parallel to this?
God speed that surely dawning day
That coming hour divine
When all the nations of the earth Shall greet such border line!

To do justice to the quality, color-note and the authenticity of these unusual pictures, many of them of three dimensional scope, and enlarged by telephoto lens, is beyond an amateur reporter.

A preview of colorful Guatemala's market place and Indian costume dances was shown and then on to the matchless beauty of Canada. If you would see roses, inches in diameter, cineraria of unusual shade, orchids in profusion of variety and color; if you would watch wild life at play on the icy glaciers and fearless ski runners braving treacherous steep, or 500 pound bears at a boxing match deep in the forest, or eider-duck and cormorant chicks pecking their way through the shell in their natural and wild habitat these pictures will bring you all and more than has been noted above.

With the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" the evening was brought to a fitting close, the large and appreciative audience applauding heartily.

The next meeting of the Maple Leaf Fund, Inc., will be held at the home of Mrs. F. C. Alexander, 5 Lakeview road at 10 a. m. Thursday, Oct. 31, for reports, new business, and distribution of home-work, knitting and sewing.

ADMIRAL BYRD MET FORMER ASSOCIATES FOLLOWING LECTURE

The social hour following the recent lecture by Admiral Byrd was enjoyed by nearly 400 persons. And none, seemingly, more so than the Admiral himself. He had generously consented to stay for a short period, meet people and autograph any of his books purchased at the book stall during the evening. When Mr. Gordon Mann of Euclid avenue came up with his book and requested a certain name, Admiral Byrd looked up and recognized a "shipmate" of World War days when stationed at Halifax, N. S. Mr. Mann was in the air service under the then Commander Byrd.

Following this enjoyable meeting he next met Mr. John A. Rutherford of Winslow road. The Rutherford family home was across the street from the Byrd residence when the men were children. The Admiral was interested again hear of the three nannies in the Rutherford house named Tom, Dick and Harry, in honor of the three Byrd brothers.

Later in the evening Admiral Byrd had a pleasant visit with Mr. Frederick S. Hatch of Jefferson road. The men were classmates at Annapolis. Mr. Hatch of the class of 1911 and Admiral Byrd in 1912. During 1918-1919 they were associated in work in the Navy Department in Washington.

MRS. FRANCES E. SMITH

Mrs. Frances E. Smith, widow of Charles O. Smith and a life-long resident of this town, died Friday, Oct. 18, at her home, 40 Pickering street, after several months' illness. She was in her 61st year.

Mrs. Smith was born in Winchester, the daughter of James E. and Bridget (McDevitt) Rogers. She was educated in the Winchester schools and married Mr. Smith June 22, 1898. Her husband died several years ago.

Mrs. Smith was a late member and past president of the Mary Scarett Auxiliary, U. S. W. V., of Stoneham, late member and past president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to Woburn Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars and a member of Winchester Court, Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters. For most of her life time she was a member of and active in the work of St. Mary's Parish, becoming a member of the Immaculate Conception Parish, upon taking up residence on Pickering street a few years ago.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. John Pearce (Florence Smith) and Miss Dorothy Smith, both of Winchester; four sons, Charles, James, Harold, all of Winchester, and Earl Smith of Lebanon, N. H.; a brother, James Rogers of Wilmington and 14 grandchildren.

The funeral was held from the late residence Monday morning with high mass of requiem celebrated at the Immaculate Conception Church by Rev. Fr. James Leahy. Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery, Medford.

TEA FOR MISS HOWARD

The fourth grade of the Wyman School will give a tea for Miss Howard at the home of Mrs. Langley Keyes, 1 Copley street on Wednesday, Oct. 30, at 3:30 p. m. Mrs. B. Edward Zinn has charge of the refreshments and will be assisted in serving by Mrs. John W. Bedman, Mrs. Eugene Maxson, Mrs. Winslow Nutter and Mrs. Donald G. Crowell, and Mr. Maude White will pour.

OUR QUOTA ONLY $2000

Plans are about completed for the campaign collection work by the Salvation Army in Winchester, where a quota of $2000 is being sought. William N. Buzes, attorney, of 17 Stowell road, who is chairman of the sponsoring committee, indicates that already friends of the Army have expressed their intentions of following up their usual custom of giving a fine donation for the work of the Army among the needy. Mr. Buzes and his associates are hoping to reach scores of Winchester men and women who never have aided the Salvation Army.

Within the week it is expected that the official collectors will be named. They will contact all in Winchester. In the meantime Mr. Buzes asks that all donations be sent to the campaign treasurer, G. Dwight Cabot, of the Winchester Trust Company. Mr. Cabot and the collectors, when named, are only ones authorized to accept donations. The collectors will have proper identification and will give printed receipts for all money handed to them.

You'll say it's Too Good to be True...

UNTIL YOU SEE AND DRIVE IT!

HERE'S one time when even the hard, cold facts read like a page out of a story book! That's why we say—judge this car by the evidence you get when you're in there behind the wheel!

Judge it by the traditional Dodge craftsmanship that helps explain why there are more Dodge cars on the road today than any other car in the Dodge field...Witness the new jewel-case instrument panel!...The fittings that gleam like fine silverware!...The deep, pillow-type upholstery!

There are new safety and economy advantages besides! For example, a spring-balanced rear deck lid to the luggage compartment, that raises or lowers without effort—and that can't fall accidentally! New Safety Wheel Rims to hold the tire to the rim should a "flat" occur; new Oil Bath Air Cleaner that prevents grit from attacking the engine's "innards" and greatly prolongs its life!

And now, the car that pioneered the All-Steel Body, Equal-Pressure Hydraulic Brakes and other vital improvements offers you Fluid Drive*—for the first time in a low-priced car!

Why not see and drive it? Drop in on your Dodge dealer now!

RANDALL'S NEW STORE OPENS MYSTIC SCHOOL FASHION SHOW

Randall's new store, completely refurnished and decorated, opens today at its former location on Mr. Vernon street. Finished in mahogany and chromium, with the latest in modern istic tables and centers, its interior makes one of the finest of any store in the center.

By clever utilization of room and fittings many more bottles for the popular luncheonette, together with increased counter and showcase space, make ample facilities for serving many customers. The color scheme of dark brown, blue leather upholstery and chromium, combines perfectly with the new walls and counters.

Randall's will continue to serve Winchester people with the best in candies and ice, and its well known and popular luncheonette will continue to satisfy its host of patrons.

The fashion show held Tuesday afternoon at the Mystic School under the auspices of the Mystic School Mothers' Association proved a most enjoyable affair. Those who modeled were Miss Frances Millett, Mrs. Franklin
Flanders, Mrs. John Ordway, Mrs.
Boulton Harbank, Mrs. R. L. Mabron,
Mrs. Margaret Freeman, Mrs. James
Jones, Mrs. John Chipman, Mrs. Gerald Barrett, Mrs. Lillian Symmes, and Mrs. Alvin Chandler.

The models were introduced in sprightly fashion by Mrs. James Casson, the introductions adding much to the pleasure of the audience. Miss Jean Larrack, supervisor of music in the public schools, furnished music, and older and daughtiness were served by Mrs. John Jamison.

Arrangements for the fashion show were in the hands of Mrs. Guy Livingston and Mrs. Theodore Elliott.

Attractive New Colonial

Just completed at 6 Drexel Avenue, off Wedgemore Avenue and Yale Street in exclusive Wedgemore Park Section.

This latest creation is somewhat smaller than those previously built and sold by the same builder in this fashionable neighborhood.

FIRST FLOOR contains a large living room, beautiful dining room with corner cupboard. Kitchen equipped with all conveniences imaginable. Panchled library with large bookcases. Main room and full bath. Five closets on first floor.

SECOND FLOOR has large master chamber with two closets.
Ladies' dressing room and wardrobe. Master's bath with tiled shower.
Two other good size chambers and another tiled bath with shower. Two linen closets. Stairway leading to roof floor storage place.

BASEMENT has lovely knotty pine paneled game room with fireplace, double hung windows and hardwood floor. Laundry with white enamel washtrays, ironing board built in. Large "hobby room", lavatory.

There is a two car heated garage, attached, two screened porches.

Quality and simplicity are the keynotes of this massively built home, well financed, 4 1/2% mortgage, small amount down payment.
Priced remarkably low for such quality merchandise. The heating cost in this well insulated home will be very low.

One home next to this one offered for sale I have sold the past week to people that you would be delighted to have for neighbors.

RANGLEY

I have acquired a beautiful home in lovely secluded Ranglely.
First floor: living room, music room, dining room, kitchen and lavatory. Second floor: four nice chambers and sleeping porch, tiled bath and shower. Heated by oil. Garage, new lot. This property may be sold when you read this, if still available I shall be pleased to show by appointment.

Beautiful large lot at Stratford Road for sale.

Brooks Park

in Winchester

For generations the Brooks Estate of Winchester has been considered one of the most beautiful in the Commonwealth. It is now our privilege to offer a portion of this property overlooking the Mystic Lakes and surrounding country as a carefully restricted development, moderately priced, designed to preserve the old New England tradition.

Brooks Park, near schools and transportation, is located on the westerly side of Grove Street, near Symmes Corner.

Lots range from 10,019 to 18,800 sq. ft. Priced from $1,100 to $2,000.

No Water or Sewer Assessments.

SERVICE CLUB MEETING

The Past Noble Grand Service Club of Victoria Rebekah Lodge, 178 held their regular business meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Sister Margaret Sharon. The meeting was presided over by our President, Sister Lillian Donaghey, initiation followed the business meeting, after the close of the meeting, Halloween games were played by the large number of members present.

The members were all in Halloween costumes which added color and fun to the party. The club expect to take a mystery ride to some noted place, where they will enjoy a banquet and entertainment on Wednesday evening, Nov. 13.

On Nov. 20 we are very proud to announce that Sister Mary Sharon, one of our most beloved Past Noble Grand will be installed President of the Eastern Middlesex Past Noble Grand Association, congratulations Sister Sharon.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess after which the party broke up to meet again at the home of Sister Jessie W. Mobbs, 57 Lake street on Tuesday evening, Nov. 26.

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER

Don't forget Nov. 19, George Washington Assembly Hall at 8 p. m. A group of talented mothers will present an entertainment which will jog the musical memories of some of us and certainly amuse all.

Mrs. T. J. Edwards and Mrs. Arnold Chandler are in charge and have spent a great deal of time and thought on this production. Such an undertaking has never before been presented by a group of School Mothers.

Again the Washington-Highland Mothers are the pioneers.

WHY NOT CALL ON FRED?

Winchester's newest beauty shop opens in Winchester this week in the newly renovated and constructed Richardson Building on Mt. Vernon street. Mr. Fred, well known hair stylist, for many years with Jordan Marsh Company, has opened parlors at the request of numerous Winchester friends and patrons. His new salon is complete in every appointment. Although an expert in all branches of beauty culture he will specialize in hair contouring and custom permanent waving.

Rates List Finders, that popular telephone index, is on sale at Wilson's the Stationer.

Fall Meeting

The Winchester College Club will hold its fall meeting Tuesday evening, Nov. 12, at 8:30 in the Unitarian Church. Dean Bernice Brown Cronkrite of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Radcliffe College, will speak. Coffee will be served at 8 o'clock by the Mt. Holyoke alumnae. Club members are invited to bring guests to this meeting.

Art Study Group

The first meeting of the study group in French Art was held at the Public Library on the morning of Oct. 25. The Cathedral of Chartres furnished the keynote for this course. The chairman, Mrs. Robert A. Drake, gave a thorough introduction in her paper of the historical background of the Gothic period. She particularly stressed the subject of church symbolism, giving many examples of the beliefs in saints and legends during the middle ages.

In a paper on the development of ecclesiastical architecture Mrs. Waldo V. Lyon ably traced the evolution of the Gothic cathedral. Miss Helen L. Redfern then discussed the subject of church symbolism. With a fine series of some 40 of her own drawings of these symbols, she discussed their significance. The members of this group feel that with such scholarly papers and splendid illustrations, a fine background has been formed for the meetings to come.

History Study Group

The next meeting of the History Study Group will be held next Monday, Nov. 4, at 9:45 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Herman F. Pike, 30 Arlington street, Winchester.

FALL FAIR SOON

The Crawford Memorial Methodist Church is holding its fall fair Friday, Nov. 15 in the church parish hall. The theme and decorations will be in keeping with a World's Fair. Decorated booths selling candy, gifts, food, aprons, handkerchiefs, white elephant articles including good clothing and other useful items are among the interesting things found at the fair.

Lunch at noon and tea during the afternoon will be served by the ladies. A typical worlds fair stand will be one of the centers of attraction at supper time.

A fascinating demonstration of glass blowing by Mr. Walter N. Ennis from M. I. T., a silhouette maker, a puppet show playing Pinocchio and a laugh provoking "Information Please" program will be among the outstanding features of the fair.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOR

"In as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."
Math. Chapt. XXV Verse 40

These words of our Lord may well apply to the earnest intentions of a group of women who met at the home of Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, 12 Foxcroft road on Friday, Oct. 31, 1930 for the purpose of forming a Winchester Circle Guild of the Infant Saviour.

The records show there were 41 women present who comprised the charter membership. They were as follows:

Mrs. Warren Arnold
Mrs. A. L. Benson
Miss Josephine Brine
Mrs. Thomas Burke
Mrs. Mary Butler
Mrs. James Carr
Mrs. Harold Cunningham
Mrs. Louis Chevalier
Mrs. James Cook
Mrs. John Cosello
Mrs. William Coughwell
Mrs. James Day
Mrs. Theodore Dineen
Mrs. James A. Doherty
Mrs. C. H. Dolan
Mrs. George Dwyer
Mrs. Johnathan Felt
Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini
Mrs. James Haley
Mrs. Clarence Henry
Mrs. William Hickey
Mrs. Michael Hittman
Mrs. Sydney Hopper
Mrs. Mary Loomis
Mrs. Joseph McFarlane
Mrs. Gertrude McNally
Mrs. E. T. McGillock
Mrs. Oscar Morris
Mrs. E. Ross Murphy
Mrs. Frank Murphy
Mrs. Philip O'Rourke
Mrs. Stanley Puffer
Mrs. Milton Quinn
Mrs. John B. Seaton
Mrs. Richard Shesby
Mrs. John Sullivan
Mrs. Julia Sullivan
Mrs. George Taylor
Mrs. Patrick Walsh
Mrs. Frank Williams

Also attending were the following guests:

Rev. Thomas R. Reynolds, S. D.
Mrs. A. L. Benson, Pres. Boston Guild
Mrs. William Hall, Chairman of Sewing
Mrs. Mary Coonan, Treasurer

At this meeting Mrs. Ghirardini was unanimously elected chairman and first President. She appointed the following officers:
Mrs. William Hickey, vice president
Mrs. Mary Lyons, treasurer
Mrs. Michael Hittman, secretary
Mrs. Louis Chevalier, chairman of sewing

This was one of the most enthusiastic meetings we have ever held. A delightful tea was served and our first meeting adjourned.

On Nov. 12 of next year as an organized group we participated for the first time in the bazaar held at the Copley Plaza Hotel in Boston. At that time Winchester did not have a table but assisted Mrs. J. E. Holden.

During the 10 years that have elapsed, we have contributed to Boston, approximately 6000 pieces of sewing.

A poem by Agnes Carr, dedicated to the Winchester Chapter Guild of the Infant Saviour, aptly describes the work and spirit of our organization.

At our meeting of Dec. 2, 1930, it was voted to strike out the words Winchester and insert Winchester Chapter. Thus we became known as the Winchester Chapter Guild of the Infant Saviour.

On April 17, 1932, as a group, we attended the 8 o'clock mass at the St. Mary Church and received communion in a body. This was followed by a breakfast at the St. Mary's Hall, which started an annual custom.

Among our most prized possessions is the beautiful card presented each year by Mrs. Hickey, a memento. Also during the 10 years of our existence, we have contributed a great share to the social activities of Winchester. We have sponsored some of the most successful bridge parties, penny sales, dramatics, musicales and lectures.

Prominent among the bridge parties were those held at the summer home of our dear departed Mary Lyons at Scituate. She also was instrumental in introducing our penny sales. These two functions, as the years passed, have helped to a great extent in making our table at the Bazaar, one of the most successful.

When, owing to illness, Miss Lyons was unable to continue with this work, both affairs were ably carried on by Mrs. Michael Hittman and Mrs. John Gorman.

Dramatics, in the Winchester Chapter, are synonymous with our old standby Anita McFarlane. Anita has been untiring in her efforts and devotion to the Guild.

Our first morning lecture was held on Jan. 19, 1934 at the home of Mrs. Ghirardini. This lecture was given by Miss Elizabeth McNamee on the subject "The Charity of Christ."

This inaugurated a series of lectures which have been held each year. A number of the members have opened their home for this purpose. These lectures have contributed greatly to the social and educational advancement of our group.

Prominent among the speakers for our first series in 1934 were the Rev. Michael J. A. Horn, S. J. and Rev. Charles D. McNamee.

We have been privileged, during the years that followed, to hear many eminent members of the clergy, also many other able men and women, who contributed greatly to the success of this series.

Through the efforts of our Past President, Mrs. James Carr, Monsignor Fulton J. Slone came to us for the first time on May 4, 1931, and again a few years later. I am sure we all feel highly honored to have had the privilege of sponsoring lectures given by so great a dignitary of the Church.

Our membership has been greatly increased during the ensuing years under the leadership of the following Presidents:

Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini 1930-1931
Mrs. Michael Hittman 1931-1932
Mrs. James Gaffney 1932-1933
Mrs. James Carr 1933-1934
Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini 1934-1941

Real happiness consists in service to others. We are happy that we have been of service to the needy, whom the Guild of the Infant Saviour aids and we, who have been so privileged, have been spurred on by the marvelous spirit and enthusiasm of our first and present President, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini, who we are so happy to have serving in this capacity on this our tenth anniversary.

"JAPAN AND THE WORLD"

"Japan and the World" is Eunice Harriet Avery's very timely subject for the second lecture in her Winchester series, to be given on Wednesday, Nov. 6, at 2:30 in the Wyman School auditorium. This series is sponsored by the Winchester Smith College Club in support of its scholarship fund.

Mrs. Robert Blackler, Mrs. James R. Doty, Miss Adelaide Homer, and Mrs. Robert Jennings will be ushers, and Mrs. Henry Kimball Spencer and Mrs. Albert A. Haskell will be at the ticket table.

Led All Candidates
In State Primaries

Official tabulation of the votes cast in the Sept. 17 primaries, as released by State Secretary Frederic W. Cook, showed that Gov. Saltonstall polled 304,659 votes, the largest number of any candidate in either party, and 65,000 more than Atty.-Gen. Dwyer.

Robert T. Bushnell polled 97,973 votes for attorney-general.

Henry Parkman, Jr., unopposed Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate received 274,628, as compared with Sen. David I. Walsh, 286,468 in the Democratic primary. In the latter primary 103,981 of the ballots were left blank as to the senatorial candidacy while Parkman drew only 72,592 blanks.

The official vote is as follows:

REPUBLICAN
Everett Saltonstall	Governor	304,659
Frederic W. Cook	Lieutenant Governor	298,855

If It's Heavily Advertised It HAS to be GOOD

OUR BRAND of democracy was won for us, and is being held for us, by men who chose their own careers, owned big farms, built big factories, and did what selling was necessary to keep those farms and factories busy.

One of the biggest aids in mass selling is mass advertising. In the long run, it "polices" itself.

Advertising of poor products always fails. Only a first rate product, fairly priced, can stand the dazzling glare of national advertising. When you think of the heavily advertised soups, soaps, breakfast foods, mechanical refrigerators, automobiles, silverware, radios—you are thinking of the aristocrats among commercial articles.

MRS. HADLEY ENTERTAINS COMMITTEE AT LUNCHEON

On Monday, Mrs. Dwight W. Hadley had as luncheon guests at the rectory the wives of those members of the Epiphany Men's Club who will take charge of the every-member canvases for 1940-1941. Those present were Mrs. Henry Elton Moffette, Mrs. Gerald Hills, Mrs. Gerald Curtis, Mrs. Charles Hart, Mrs. James McConnell, Mrs. Maxwell McCreary, Mrs. Geoffrey Nealey, Mrs. Clarence Perkins, Mrs. Frederick Taylor and Mrs. William Wilson.

The group present made plans for the dinner at which they will have as guests the members of the canvases committee, Tuesday, Nov. 19.

WINCHESTER LADIES PARTICIPATE

Ten Winchester women are active in arrangements for a Christmas arcade and gift sale to be sponsored by the Ladies' Committee of the Robert Brook Brigham Hospital in John Hancock Hall, St. James avenue, Boston, Nov. 13, 14 and 15.

They are Mrs. O. Kelley Anderson of Lakeview road, who is in charge of reservations for the luncheons that will be a daily feature for the three days of the sale; Mrs. Frederick Taylor, Mrs. Alexander P. Aitken, Mrs. Philip Woodward, Mrs. Fulton Brown, Mrs. John Dickie, Mrs. Paul Ellis, Mrs. Maurice Freeman, Mrs. James Harlow and Mrs. George.

FORTNIGHTLY OPENS SEASON

The first regular meeting of the 60th season of the Fortnightly was a delightful event. Bright-hued autumn foliage, flowers and fruit arranged by the direction of Mrs. E. Adie Emery, chairman of the hospitality committee and Mrs. George Budd, chairman of the social committee, made attractive decorations for the stage and tea table.

During the business session Mrs. R. K. Miller, Jr., presented the work of the Red Cross and Mrs. Mary Hodge told of what the British War Relief Society is doing. Mrs. Alonzo D. Nicholas spoke of the Mobile Kitchen which the State Federation is planning to send to England at Christmas. A special offering will be taken at the next meeting as Fortnightly's contribution to this Mrs. Clifton Hall told of the project being undertaken by the Fortnightly in connection with the British War Relief. This is the collecting and reconducting (mending and cleaning) of used but still usable warm clothing for British civilians. Mrs. Robert A. Reynolds reported the annual State Federation meeting in Swampscott.

In recognition of their outstanding contributions to "celebration," Mrs. Paul H. Howard, president, on behalf of the Fortnightly presented Pioneer Medals to Mrs. Eleanor Hudson Welch and to Mrs. Henry W. Hildrich who, with Mrs. Ella Kivley and Mrs. Lena R. Wellington, Fortnightly's other two Pioneer Women, were special guests of the day.

The musical program presented by Norma Bertolami, pianist and Vivian Smith, baritone, delighted all. Norma is only 17 and Vivian 11 years of age which makes their performance all the more remarkable and enjoyable.

Following the program a brief reception was held for the Pioneer Women and new members and tea was served under the direction of Mrs. Budd, with Mrs. Jesse S. Wilson and Mrs. Edward R. Grosvenor presiding at the tea table.

MRS. ROGERS IS WINCHESTER'S CANDIDATE

As a candidate for re-election to Congress in the Fifth Middlesex District, Hon. Edith Nourse Rogers offers a record of leadership and courage in approaching the tremendous problems of the day and of conscientious attention to duty that includes the distinction of not missing a roll call in the House in its two long sessions.

She has not campaigned for re-election as she has been in Washington on the job to which she was elected—and has been forced to forego the pleasure of her frequent visits with the people of the district.

Very early in the European crisis Congressman Rogers saw that only the greatest vigilance would prevent this country from becoming embroiled and she introduced a resolution that kept Congress in session so that developments could be openly discussed. As a high ranking member of the important Foreign Affairs committee she has demanded that Secretary of State Hull keep Congress and the country informed of diplomatic reports on the situation. To leave the fate of the nation in the hands of any one man seemed to her a dereliction of duty and a step toward dictatorship.

Knowing war at first hand Congressman Rogers is determined that war must be kept out of America and America out of the war. She has worked for a strong national defense for years. On the other hand she has emphasized again and again that every safeguard be built to prevent our becoming involved in a way that would cause our youth to be sent into wars abroad.

Mrs. Rogers almost single handed waged the battle that halted the efforts of the Bata Shoe Company of Czechoslovakia to develop in this country a low wage chain system shoe factory that would have dealt a death blow to the leather workers of America. Not only were all American standards violated, she declared, but there was reason to believe the Bata concern had passed under Hitler's domination. This is but one of her contributions to labor's interests.

Through her efforts Fort Devens is being enlarged and prepared for a training center so that men called from this area under the draft can be near their homes. This fort, a vital part of the National Defense system, is a tribute to years of effort on her part.

Mrs. Rogers has worked unceasingly for the district and the welfare of thousands who annually have asked her assistance has been her constant thought. Her offices in the district and Washington are always open and she is continually on the job.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS REHEARSE FALL PLAY

The Winchester Unitarian Players are busy rehearsing the English murder mystery, "I Killed the Count" which they are to present Friday and Saturday, Nov. 15 and 16, at 8:15 p. m. at the Unitarian Church.

This English comedy of murder and mystery was written by Alec Coppell and has quite recently been released for amateur production. In the large cast of ten men and three women, whom the Unitarian Players have asked to assist them, are: William Spaulding, John Kishler, Richard Harlow, Lewis Wadsworth, Warren Whitman, Robert Jackson, Bradford Hill, Richard Offutt, Severin Ritchie, Kenneth Hall, Martha Hill, Ethel Goodwin and Dell Scott Smith.

Mrs. Dermot Townley-Tilson and Mrs. Theodore von Rosenzweig are in charge of production and Mrs. Theodore R. Godwin, Win. 1580 is ticket chairman.

The following Winchester residents attended the Maine State Teachers Conference held at Portland, Me. last week. Edward H. Kenerson, Marshall W. Symmes, Leo Blaisdell, Waldo F. Glover and Robert B. Metcalf.

BUMP—KELLEY

With one of her sisters as an honor attendant and two other sisters serving as bridesmaids Miss Helen Frances Kelley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Willis Kelley of Willow street, was married on Saturday afternoon, Oct. 26, at the Church of the Epiphany, to Morrison McKelvey Bump of Wilmington, Del., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Milan R. Bump of Montclair, N. J. and Denver, Col. Easter lilies, white chrysanthemums and cythotium ferns made an attractive setting for the service which was read by the rector of the church, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, at half past four o'clock. Eos Hol, organist and choirmaster, played the wedding music.

Miss Kelley was given in marriage by her father. Her honor attendants were Mrs. Stanley E. Stager, Jr. of Wilmington, Del., sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Barbara Coburn Kelley of this town. Bridesmaids were Miss Frances Kelley, Miss Louise Kelley, and Miss Evelyn McGill, all of Winchester; and Miss Annette Osborne of Cleveland, Ohio.

The bride wore a gown of blush satin, made with a sweetheart neckline, long sleeves and a long train. Her veil of tulle was arranged with a coronet and a pair of beaded nuptial lace and she carried a bouquet of valley lilies, bouvardia and orchids.

The honor attendants wore copper satin gowns with bonnets to match and carried chrysanthemums and gerbera. Gowns of peacock blue satin with matching boots were worn by the bridesmaids and their flowers were pom pom chrysanthemums and African daisies.

Miss R. Bump of Saddle River, N. J., was best man for his brother and the usher couples included Stager Holstein Harvey, 3rd, and Joseph DeCarra, Laurel of Wilmington, Del., Paul R. Metcalf, Jr., of Providence, R. I., Cyrus R. Taylor of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., and Dr. George Ross Starr, Jr., of East Orange, N. J., fiancé of Miss Barbara Kelley.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Kelley, mother of the bride, was a gown of powder blue velvet and silk jersey with a matching hat and corsage of orchids. Mrs. Norman P. Good of Wilmington, Del., the bride's aunt, also wore a gown of blue velvet and silk jersey with a matching hat and corsage of orchids.

Upon their return from a southern wedding journey Mr. Bump and his bride will live at 5 Arlington street in Cambridge where they will be at home after Dec. 1.

The bride is a graduate of the Brimmer School and of the Connecticut College for Women. Mr. Bump prepared for college at Phillips Andover Academy and was a member of the class of 1941 at Yale University.

GYPSY CAMP TO BE SHOWN

The Romany trail will lead to the Epiphany Parish House on Friday, Nov. 8, where the efforts of Mrs. H. A. Hanchard and her helpers will produce, as if by magic, a colorful gypsy camp. Festive costumes, and gay colored booths, the tinkle of tambourines, the bubbling contents of cooking cauldrons will delight the eye, the ear and the nose of those who heed the irresistible call of the gypsies.

A great variety of wares will be displayed at the booths tended by busy gypsy lassies. Unusual and beautiful hand work will be found at the Hanchard booth. A professional artist will cut the life-like silhouette of adult or child. Two fortune-tellers will hold forth for those who cross their palms with silver. A variety of gifts, kitchen gadgets and plants will be on sale, while baked foods, candy and preserves will lend that palatable touch. A booth will be devoted to children's clothing and accessories; while the toys, movies, grabs and ice cream are designed to appeal especially to the younger generation. The White Elephants will offer, as usual, many an opportunity to score a "lucky find."

Luncheon, tea and supper will be served with a group of costumed waiters and waitresses adding to the Romany spirit. The increasingly popular turkey supper has been limited to serve 200, with no supper tickets sold at the door. All supper reservations must be made by calling Mrs. Dunbar Carpenter at Win. 2080 as soon as possible.

The gypsy band is under the leadership of Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, while the other responsibilities are subdivided among the helpers.

Mrs. J. W. Shoemaker, candy; Mrs. A. P. Aitken, children's accessories; Mrs. H. A. Blanchard, decorations; Mrs. E. A. Bradley, food; Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth, fortune-telling; Mrs. Lloyd Wallis and Mrs. G. P. Livingstone, gifts; Mrs. Maxwell McCreary, Mrs. P. D. Wadsworth, handcrafts; Mrs. C. A. Hart, ice cream; Miss Roberta Ray, junior fortune teller; Mrs. J. F. Sharon of the Evening Branch, kitchen. The program, luncheon, Mrs. O. P. Phinney, movies; Miss Dorothy A. Hall, plants; Mrs. H. B. Sawyer, preserves; Mrs. E. J. Jones, poultry; Mrs. George MacConnell, silhouettes; Mrs. R. H. Frazier, Mrs. R. L. Garner, Mrs. P. B. Roberts and Mrs. C. H. Wankers, supper; Mrs. F. Carpenter, supper tickets; Mrs. A. S. Mancini, tea; Mrs. F. E. Booth, telephoning; Mrs. H. E. Moffette, toys; Mrs. A. S. Crockett, waiters and Mrs. E. F. Boyd, white elephants.

EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB

The commandment against covetousness doesn't specify that the sisters must not covet their husbands' program, and there is temptation in the program the Men's Club has arranged for Nov. 7. For they will have a demonstration of effective public speaking as well as an exposition of the principles of good speech to a group. And what woman wouldn't like to learn how to put an idea to her church league or to her bridge club clearly, forcefully and tactfully?

The speaker the men have invited is Mr. N. P. Bishoff, and he will bring with him students who will demonstrate the golden-tongued orators of the South, North, East or the West, they will revise their opinions and think of effective speaking as a very practical matter. For effective speech is one of the things industry counts important and for which it even provides helpful training. Mr. Bishoff has had experience with such training for example, of men who as foremen must have clear and convincing speech. The meeting will be in the library of Epiphany parish house at 8 p. m. on Thursday, Nov. 7. The committee in charge of this November meeting are Frederick Taylor, Gerald Curtis and Dr. William Wilson.

UNIQUE METHOD OF SPREADING INFORMATION TO VOTERS

BRITISH WAR RELIEF

Winchester Unit

It multiplies by division. That sounds like doubtful arithmetic, but it is good biology, an accurate description of the way living stuff can behave. And it is an accurate description of the way work for the British War Relief has taken hold of the Winchester minds and busied Winchester hands.

Began in one Winchester house less than three months ago, this aid to a sister democracy has grown rapidly to a phase which only a hovering airplane and observer with X-ray eyes that could look through roofs and ceilings could compass. Leaving aside the two large projects on which Winchester is engaged, the trailer ambulance, and the traveling kitchen, and considering only work with the hands, one would have to go all about in Winchester to get the whole picture.

For many a woman is knitting in her own home while she listens to the music appreciation hour or to the political speech that confirms her opinion or offers the possibility of another clue to lead her out of the painful labyrinth of her indecision how to vote. Pounds of yarn, white and blue and gray, go out of the central supply and workroom in the Epiphany parish hall each Wednesday, and a week later these come back knitted into cold-defying garments. The helmet of soft blue for the Royal Air Force may, a fortnight later, be miles up in the frosty winter air fighting off an invading plane. The dark blue gloves for the navy may be in the battle where the course of history is being decided. The white yarn, that Winchester needles are knitting this week into sea-boot stockings may soon comfort a seaman doing grim duty among the gray waves of the cold North Sea. The khaki colored wool scarf may be doing sentinel duty where the old Roman wall. There is drama these days in knitting.

Some women are using play time and play time groups; for example, the weekly bridge club that now gives up cards every other week for relief sewing or handbag making.

Through November on Wednesdays the First Congregational Church will have a group busy at British War Relief. And so the story goes on, each week bringing more women to work and still more work to do. The reporter seeking out all the British relief activities would have to look into many Winchester closets and attics where women are hurrying out warm woolen garments, coats, overcoats, dresses for women and children; stockings, caps, mittens, scarfs, baby blankets. And she would find all these all flowing toward the Fortnightly rooms, where the Fortnightly Club has headquarters for assembling garments.

The reporter would have to poke her head into the garage where a young mother, unable to spend hours at a workroom, has tucked her onesies into the car and is driving off on errands for the Winchester unit. She would have to follow the click of typewriters and find two women who type for British relief, one of them keeping headquarters supplied with instructions for the knitters.

From 10 o'clock until 4 each Wednesday the central workroom at Epiphany is open and any interested woman will find the answer there as to what work is needed and what she can best undertake. She will there meet face to face the leaders of the Winchester work, or they will be glad to give information by telephone. Mrs. Fred Cameron at Win. 1984, and Mrs. Marion Waugh at Win. 2387-J.

British War Relief work grows because it is so Winchester women's living thing. In addition to the compassion which they feel for every people suffering from war, there is comradeship with Britain, defending not merely herself but principles that are nearest our American hearts.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

Mr. Karl Zerbe, head of the drawing department at the Museum School painter and lecturer, will speak on Sunday afternoon at the tea which opens the November show of the Winchester Art Association in the Winchester Public Library. The exhibition is a collection of the work of Paul Zorach Ipeur, daughter of the eminent sculptor, William Zorach, from early childhood to maturity and demonstrates the natural development of an artist. It has been shown only twice before, at New York's Museum of Modern Art and at Chicago for study by convening progressive school teachers.

Mrs. George A. Marks is chairman of the exhibitions committee, assisted by Mrs. Alexander Alken, Mrs. Fulton Brown, Mr. Bradford Eddy, Mr. Thayer Richards and Mrs. Charles A. Underwood.

Mrs. Howard J. Chibley and Mrs. Richard Parkhurst will pour, assisted by Miss Janet Eaton, Miss Ellen Jackson, Miss Laurie Nickerson and Miss Katharine Seaton. Mrs. Donald C. Davis is in charge of the tea.

Phillips Brooks Calendars now on sale at Wilson the Stationers.

MRS. GEORGE W. DEARBORN

Many Winchester friends were shocked to learn of the sudden death on Sunday evening of Mrs. Ellen M. Dearborn, widow of the late George W. Dearborn of 6 Herriek street. Following a day of activity she died of a heart attack.

Mrs. Dearborn was a native of Canton, N. H., the daughter of Joshua C. Blaisdell and Adelaide O. (Caldon) Blaisdell. She had been a respected resident of Winchester for the past 30 years, taking active part in the church and social affairs of the town. She was a member of the Unitarian Church, the Ladies' Friendly Society, the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League, the Fortnightly and the Woman's Republican Club.

She is survived by her daughter, Mrs. A. H. Scott of Boston, and one sister, Miss Martha A. Blaisdell of Brookline.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at the Kelley & Hawes chapel, Rev. George Hale Reed, her former pastor, officiating. The interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

WALTER CLARK BARTLETT

Walter Clark Bartlett, a former well known resident of Winchester, died Saturday, Oct. 26, at his home, 56 Summer street, Waltham, in his 84th year.

Mr. Bartlett, a native of Plymouth, was for some years a resident of Winchester, living on Stevens street and being associated with Alvin M. Freeman in conducting a fish market on what was then Pleasant street, now Mt. Vernon street. He was a member of William Parkman Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of this town.

Mr. Bartlett left Winchester years ago, and had since made his home in Waltham. He was a widower and is survived by two daughters.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Wentworth Chapel in Waltham, the Masonic ritual being exemplified by the officers of Isaac Parker Lodge of that city. Burial was in Manomet.

WINCHESTER HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The fall meeting of the society will be held in the Art Room of the Winchester Library on Nov. 7 at 8 p. m. Mrs. Kathleen Emerson Swan will be the speaker, her subject, "A Little Old House on a Hill."

Bates List Finders, that popular telephone index, $1, on sale at Wilson the Stationer.

DANIEL F. HIGGINS

Mr. Daniel F. Higgins, a resident of this town for over 30 years, and widely known to many townspeople, died suddenly at the Glover Memorial Hospital, Needham, on Tuesday. He had up to a little over a week ago, made his home at 59 Woodside road, this town, but had moved to Needham to make his future home. Although he had not been in good health for a considerable period, his death was unexpected.

Daniel Francis Higgins was born in Quincy. He was 56 years of age and the son of William and Josephine A. (Wrisley) Higgins. He married Miss Alice Merrill of Melrose, who survives him, together with two sons, William M. and Robert R. Higgins, and one daughter, Miss Elizabeth Higgins. He also leaves one sister, Mrs. Paul Burger of Boston and a brother, Mr. Freeman W. Higgins of Battle Creek, Mich.

Funeral services are to be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Winchester Unitarian Church, of which the deceased was a member. The service will be conducted by Rev. George Hale Reed.

WAS BORN IN WINCHESTER

The death was noted last week in the Providence Journal of Mrs. Augustine P. Norone in her 79th year. She was born in Winchester in 1862 and was the daughter of John and Julia Keefe, her maiden name being Catherine Elizabeth Keefe. She attended the Winchester schools and graduated from the high school in 1880, marrying Mr. Norone in St. Mary's Church in 1884, when she moved to Bristol, R. I. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Mary E. Hennessey, and a brother, John Keefe, both of this town.

TO SEW FOR THE RED CROSS

Mothers of children in the fourth grade in the Wyman School will meet to sew in the Red Cross rooms in the Town Hall on Wednesday, Nov. 6, from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Please try to be there for at least part of the time.

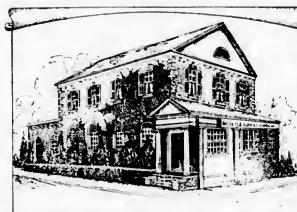

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Kimball have been spending the week at Branawick, Me., shooting. They were members of a party of Arlington folks who yearly enjoy the fall camp life on the New Meadow River.

MIDLANDS FEEL THE EFFECT OF MODERN WARFARE

The Midlands, which German bombers have added to their aerial blitz-krieg program, may be defined as the dozen central counties of England, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

Little idea of their importance is conveyed by saying that they extend from Staffordshire east to Hunting-tonshire, from Derbyshire south to Bucks. For the Midlands are bounded the north by Robin Hood's Sherwood Forest, on the southwest by Stratford-on-Avon and the Shakespearean south by ancient Oxford on the Thames, on the east by Cambridge and the picturesque Fen Country.

The Geographic Center of England, the plains of the Midlands lie east of the Severn, north of the Thames, south of the Trent, and west of the hills of East Anglia. The approximately four million inhabitants of these plains form about a tenth of England's population.

Dominating the western Midlands, Birmingham has grown on its varied metal industries to become England's second largest city, in the midst of a whole constellation of manufacturing suburbs.

Staffordshire is one of the most important counties in England for its industrial productivity. Its northern section is notable for the cluster of towns known as the Potteries, possibly the most concentrated and business center in the world. South Staffordshire is the site of the Black Country, darkened with the smoke of a thousand specialized metal industries.
Leicestershire, now known for its industrial city of Leicester, England's "booming capital," still preserves the matted estate of Kenilworth from the days of Queen Elizabeth.

These great industrial centers have transformed agriculture on the Midlands plains to nourish large city populations. The Vale of Evesham, for instance, is one of England's chief orchard districts. The rural districts

GOVERNOR

LEVERTT SALTONTALL

Saltonstall at Many Rallies

Asks Voters If They Want "Old Crowd Back"

"Do you want to re-elect a sincere administrator possessed of integrity with a proven record of honest service in every department of government, or do you want the old crowd back?" Governor Saltonstall has asked the voters at rallies throughout the state.

"Two years ago in the gubernatorial campaign I told the people that the issue was not a political one, but a moral one," the Governor said. "The issue today in this campaign is still a moral issue. It resolves itself to that one question."

"The people of Massachusetts two years ago rose in their might and demanded that waste, extravagance and inefficiency be eradicated from our state government."

"From the moment on January 5, 1939 when I took over the duties of the Governorship the people of Massachusetts have received sincere, humane, and honest government."

"I placed the Civil Service Department in the hands of a new commission composed of able men who had no axes to grind—men who took great civic pride in the progress and the future of our state—men of unblemished character who enjoyed the utmost respect of our citizenry. I knew that I could rely upon these men to give every boy and girl, every man and woman in this Commonwealth a square deal. This guarantee of fairness will attract the best and most qualified personnel to our state services. This was the fulfillment of a promise."

"When automobile insurance companies are permitted to continue in business without proper supervision, not only are the victims left without the means of collecting from the insurance companies, but the people who carried this liability insurance in mutual companies are oppressed and made to pay for the failure."

"Under my administration as Governor, every automobile insurance company is closely supervised. None of them went bankrupt during the last two years. Our reformatory insurance law means something today. That is the fulfillment of a promise."

"The last vestige of the pardon and parole racket has been completely wiped out. I have insisted that every provision of our statutes with reference to pardons and paroles be strictly complied with. I have refused to consider any application for either a pardon or parole unless and until it was recommended by the parole board and brought directly to the attention of those officials who had handled the case from its origin. For the first time in many years the protection of the public has come first. That is the fulfillment of a promise."

"Our state police, headed by our Commissioner of Public Safety, Eugene M. McSweeney, are a credit to our Commonwealth. I asked the legislature to pass an act which permits our state police to retire after 20 years of service. Under my administration as Governor, this law is on our statute books and these men now have the protection to which they are rightfully entitled. This is the fulfillment of a promise."

"Gross inefficiency and appointments of political henchmen to lucrative jobs in the liquidation of the closed banks were rapidly ending up the money of the depositors. The men and women of Massachusetts had deposited their hard earned money in these banks, and they were entitled to receive their money back, with the lowest possible minimum of expense. When I became Governor I appointed a commission and instructed them to find immediate means of straightening that hedge podge of delay and waste appointed new executives. I told them that the process of liquidating closed banks was not a life job. Speed was the command. 'Cut the cost of liquidation,' I ordered. 'This is the money of the depositors.' Those actions of mine brought instantaneous results. Final dividends have been paid to 12,500 depositors in two banks which are now entirely liquidated. Partial dividends have been paid to depositors in several others. Four more will be liquidated by the end of the year. Costs of liquidation have been cut in half. That is the fulfillment of a promise."

Mother of Ten Votes for Willkie

Medford Democrat Has Four Sons in Draft

A woman with as large a stake as any in the draft registration is Mrs. Clarence E. Farnam of Medford, mother of ten, whose four sons are signed up, as her first political advertisement appeared in Boston papers.

Her boys and others stand ready to give up homes, jobs, and lives that this country may be prepared against attack by the totalitarian nations, she writes. In return they ask the Government be prepared and led by a man qualified to build up the armed forces of the nation, feed, clothe, and arm the young men properly.

She believes that man is Wendell Willkie.

Mrs. Farnam has always been interested in Government and has been an ardent worker for President Roosevelt and his decision to run for a third term, which she regards as a trend toward dictatorship.

"I would rather see my sons shoulder guns and go to fight in Europe than stay here and face a totalitarian government," said Mrs. Farnam today.

John L., her eldest, William, 22, youngest of the boys, and Arthur are connected with the First National Bank and C. Eugene, Jr., is in the insurance business.

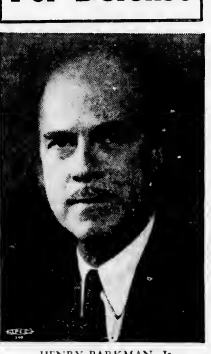

Young Bill has just signed up with Co. E of the Lawrence Light Guard, and John expects to join the First Corp Cadets, whose football coach he has been for some time. Eugene and Arthur are married.

The rest of the family, from Mr. Farnam, an official in the Financial Transportation Company, an armored car service, to fifteen-year-old Doris, are ardently with Willkie. Except for Doris and her sisters, Phyllis and Olive, who are under age, all plan to vote for him.

Now that she has brought up her healthy and handsome family, Mrs. Farnam finds time for all sorts of philanthropic and club activities. She is past master of the Medford Grange, having held all offices; was the only Medford woman to serve as delegate to the 1932 Democratic convention, is vice president of the Walter E. Lawrence Associates, a member of the Medford board of public welfare, and was for two seasons chairman of the local Christmas Bazaar Fund.

Mrs. Farnam was also the organizer and first president of the Bolly Madison Club, which once entertained the entire Democratic State ticket at a banquet. Fellow members scarcely speak as they now pass by, she admits, but thinks it worth it if Willkie gets in.

HENRY PARKMAN, JR.

Parkman Was Once A Boston Dockworker

G. O. P. Nominee at Ease With People of Every Kind

Since early Colonial times the name of Parkman has been a respected one in Massachusetts history. The present Republican nominee inherited this great name and the fighting qualities it has stood for in the past.

Much has been written about Henry Parkman since he entered public life. Most of it has been favorable, but the myth about Parkman's wealth pops up time and again. He was not a wealthy man, standing 6 feet 3 inches and at all times is wholly himself, unswayed by habits and hypocrisies. He began his business career as a laborer on the Boston docks. He was graduated from Harvard in 1915 with Phi Beta Kappa honors, and after service overseas as a captain of infantry, returned to Boston, got a job as a longshoreman and studied law at night.

Because he does, in a sense, combine the old and the new, the aristocratic and the democratic, Parkman undoubtedly possesses a valuable contribution to public life. He is not effusive, but he is genial. His hazel eyes crinkle at the corners pleasantly and his wide mouth, under the close cut, bristly little mustache, smiles with frank good-nature. He speaks rather quietly, with a baritone voice through his school and labor was as much at home among a crew of longshoremen as among a group of Harvard professors. He meets both as equals.

HORACE T. CAHILL

Parkman Hits at Walsh Stand

Says Opponent Has Failed in His Duty

Charging Senator Walsh with striving desperately to justify his head-charging attitude on national defense, Henry Parkman, Jr., Republican candidate for the United States Senate, in an interview today called upon the Senator to explain his reference to "pressure groups" which he claims have succeeded in getting America to take its present firm stand against aggressor nations.

With his reference to "pressure groups," Mr. Parkman charged that the Senator "was insulting the president, insulting his own colleagues, and the intelligence of the vast majority of his countrymen."

Continuing, Mr. Parkman quoted Senator Walsh as saying in defense of his isolationist attitude, "if that is pure sentiment and not sound reasoning, then I am prepared to take the consequences" and added: "Senator your answer is not far off. On November 6th, you will hear it. That is NOT sound reasoning. And you most certainly will get the consequences which you are entitled to expect."

Taking up the question of aviation, Mr. Parkman declared that Walsh had been the major obstruction to the building up of the airplane strength of the United States Navy.

"Any modern minded man should know," Parkman said, "that this is the age of airplanes. Our naval and military experts have long recognized that we must have air strength. They knew it before it was so graphically proved to them by the death and destruction abroad. Senator Walsh, chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, has constantly pulled back on the naval air program from January 1, 1939. At a time when realistic naval leaders were demanding more planes, he was issuing a warning against the utility of building too many aircraft which might be out-moded almost as soon as put in service."

"It is obvious on the record that as chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, my opponent has been the Great Obstructionist in the air program, as he has in virtually every attempt to make this country really strong in fact and action rather than merely in empty boasts."

"When I go to the United States Senate, I shall stand unflinchingly against any weak policy of trying to appease dictators with soothing syrup. I shall vote and work to make this country so strong that hopeless gestures of conciliation will never be necessary. I shall, as I have been standing, for all possible aid to Britain."

THINK

To the young men and women voters of Winchester and vicinity:

Think carefully before you cast your vote for President of the United States on November 5th!

It is more than sixty years since I became a voter, and I feel that this is by far the most important and crucial election that I have taken part in. The question at issue is not "Shall we have a Democratic or Republican President?"—but which of the two men, Roosevelt or Willkie, would you rather trust for the next four years, to lead us out of the mess we are now in?

You are familiar with the boyhood and school boy life of each. Which had the better foundation for a useful and successful managerial position? One became early in life a practical politician, then Governor of a great State, and President of the United States for eight years, and in 1940 seeks to be re-elected for a third term.

The other was brought up on a farm, taught school for a time, as a young man went to work at the bottom of the ladder without wealth or a distinguished family to assist him, and in 1940 is an acknowledged leader among the business men of the nation.

In the present chaotic conditions throughout the world and in the threatening and unprepared condition in which we find ourselves, do we need most a practical politician or an able organizer of our mammoth, but idle possibilities in production, manufacturing, inventions, farming and transportation?

The campaign is on. Who are among the principal Roosevelt leaders?—Flynn of New York; Hague of New Jersey; the Kelley-Nash outfit in Chicago, Curley and Coakley of Boston.

The National Convention in Chicago was the most colossal exhibition of Hitlerism ever seen in this country. Now, after two terms in office, if Roosevelt is willing to kidnap his own Party, what would he not do if his greed for power is not curbed?

In the meantime, Willkie is going from one end of the country to the other, meeting the people face to face, offering a solution of our problems, almost single-handed determined to drive from the head of our government a man so greedy for power that sometimes reason seems almost to have deserted him. In the strongest terms, Willkie condemns the policies of Roosevelt, who failed to put men and women to work, who attempted to pack the Supreme Court, and who tried to drive from office Senators and Representatives who do not agree with him.

You young men and women have had a hard time getting started in life during the last eight years, prepared by education and training to take an active part in the work of our country and contribute to its prosperity, and in thousands of cases no work could be found. Why?

A distinguished Democratic speaker recently said the reason is that there has been gathered in Washington to help the President run this country, the most gigantic crowd of crackpots ever assembled in any city on the face of the globe.

There are hundreds of relatively young men in this country who, if given a chance, would break up the gangs of professional politicians, oftentimes connected with the racketeers and gangsters of the underworld in order to preserve their power,—who would inaugurate a period of honest business management for this country. We elected such a man right here two years ago in the person of Robert F. Bradford, District Attorney of Middlesex County, who was elected for the express purpose of cleaning up the personnel of this County. He has thoroughly done what he was elected for.

We have such a man as a candidate for President of the United States—Wendell L. Willkie—to be elected for the same kind of a job in Washington. Will you vote for HIM, or vote to retain in office for another four years the man who has gathered around him for the past eight years such an army of political adventurers?

Third Term

Another question, and by many of our leading statesmen considered the most important question of all—Is it wise to have any man in the White House MORE THAN EIGHT YEARS? When the nation was formed this question was given the most careful consideration by Washington, Jefferson, and many others. Later, Jackson said, "It would seem advisable to limit the service of the Chief Magistrate to a single term of either four or six years." And Wilson said: "It is intolerable that any President should be permitted to determine who should succeed him—himself or another." And they all agreed that here was a real danger to this country, and from that day to this the great statesmen of our nation of all parties, have been opposed to it, and their feeling is so strong today that many of the leaders of the Democratic Party, putting country before party, are to leave Roosevelt and go with Willkie for this particular reason alone.

What are the reasons now given after all these years for changing this policy?

The New Deal says that Roosevelt has made such a wonderful success as President that his greed for further office must be satisfied as a proper reward.

FIRST—

That he is the indispensable man to shape our foreign policy among the nations of the world.

SECOND—

As to the second reason, Roosevelt, Willkie and a very large percentage of our people are agreed on what our foreign policy should be: help England, and prepare as rapidly as possible to be ready to meet an invasion by anybody, East or West. FOREIGN POLICY IS NOT AN ISSUE BETWEEN THE CANDIDATES. The question is which of them is best fitted to carry out this policy.

Much is said about changing horses while crossing the stream. Fortunately, WE ARE NOT YET IN THE STREAM, and may yet, with wisdom under Willkie, keep only on the edge of it.

Production is What is Needed

Which man is best qualified to put the great forces of our nation to work? One man has tried it for eight years, and idleness is the result of his efforts. Shall we still trust him to act further in this great emergency? We must judge him by past performances.

Roosevelt has first stifled business enterprises and discouraged large and small industries from producing; second, he has spent, in time of Peace, twenty billions of dollars more than he has taken in, has believed in spending freely, "priming the pump," as he called it, no matter what the cost or profit might be; third, he has created the largest and most mercenary political machine known in the world—unless it be that of Hitler or Stalin; fourth, although the world has for a long time been in the most terrible of wars, he has made little preparation for protecting this nation until compelled to by the immediate possibility of having forced us into war.

He has tried every foolish policy that has been suggested, but has failed to advocate the only policy by which a man, a business, or a country can permanently prosper—namely that old New England policy which has developed the mightiest country of the world—

Hard work, careful planning, keeping the Expenses less than the Income—Saving up something for a Rainy Day.

Willkie is preaching this old, substantial doctrine from one end of the country to the other, and says he will put it in force immediately if elected to office. Willkie's indomitable courage, his terrible earnestness, has aroused tens of thousands of Americans, young and old, Republicans and Democrats alike, to give their time, their money, and their individual effort, just as they did in 1775 and 1776, to wake up America before the nation goes over the brink into despotism.

Which Candidate will you choose?

This is not only an important election, but it is one of uncertain outcome. Massachusetts may be the very state to determine the outcome. Let each one of you after careful thought feel as if your vote might be the one that would determine the result in Massachusetts.

Notwithstanding the terrible uncertainties of the future, as an octogenarian I am an optimist and always have been, and I believe that 1940 will be the beginning of a new era if we give the young men and women a chance, and furnish them with an enthusiastic and level-headed leader.

SYDNEY MARCH
DRIVE FOR $2000 STARTS

With the arrival in Winchester, this week of the official collector in the annual appeal of the Salvation Army, the work of reaching the $2000 objective rests in full swing. He is Sydney March and will be in full uniform of the Army, carrying proper identification, a credential letter, signed by William N. Beggs, the chairman of the sponsoring group.

Winchester with 32 other towns in the Metropolitan Division of the Army's effort to gather funds for its work in Boston and nearby towns, will join in the work to answer the call for 10,000 new donors, made by Damon E. Hall, former head of the Boston Bar Association who heads the Greater Boston campaign.

As the service work in 1940 has progressed and as 1941 is faced, officers of the Army see a greater need—for which funds must be on hand if any emergency arises.

Mr. Beggs, the leader of a fine sponsoring committee feels that Winchester folk will come to the aid of the Army's plea. He attended a meeting of the general committee in Boston recently where Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, pointed out that the Fifth Column greatest ally would be the want, hunger, unhappiness, folk, three evils that the Salvation Army would alleviate.

In speaking of the work in the appeal at Winchester, William A. Nivola, the public relations secretary of the Army, said:

"Mr. Beggs and his sponsoring group are ever eager to help our cause so that we may go on serving the needy and the friendless. But we of the Salvation Army always want our friends to know and to inform those who have never assisted us—that any of the 30 institutions and departments in Greater Boston are ever at the call of any unfortunate person in Winchester. Then, added to these succor dispensing units, Mr. Beggs and his aides operate in Winchester a Salvation Army local Relief fund. This money is retained in Winchester following the appeal and the expenditures are made as need is known. The fund gives immediate aid to those who face temporary setbacks."

He added: "Your Winchester folk operate this work. They report to us once each year on what they have done. Mr. Beggs and his aides are in position to know needy folk. They work quickly."

Mr. Beggs points out that other than the official collector, none other but the campaign treasurer is authorized to accept donations. He is G. Dwight Cabot, treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company. Money may be mailed or handed to Mr. Cabot.

The 194th stated meeting of Winchester Chapter No. 175, Order of Eastern Star will be held Monday evening, Nov. 4 in the Masonic apartments, Mt. Vernon street, at 5:30 o'clock (note change of time).

Dinner will be served at 6:30 and reservations should be made through Sister Sigrid M. Grimes, tel. 0936, not later than Nov. 1. All reservations must be paid for.

At 8 o'clock the meeting will reconvene for the official inspection by Sister Evelyn M. Jewett, Deputy Grand Matron, assisted by Sister Maude A. Cunningham, Deputy Grand Marshal.

Scholarship for the evening will be T. Parker Clarke, past patron. Reception committee, G. Raymond Bancroft, P. P. and Sister Belle W. Marchant.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Because of the sudden and unavoidable absence of Mr. Wilbur Herbert Burnham from Boston the trip to his stained glass studio, planned by the Art committee for Friday, Nov. 1, is postponed to Friday, Nov. 8. This is deeply regretted by the committee but the change is unavoidable. Mr. Burnham expects to have some extra exhibits next week to compensate for the inconvenience caused. All arrangements except the date remain the same.

A busy week is in store for Fortnightly members. On Monday, Nov. 4, comes the first meeting of the Literature committee, of which Mrs. Arzella M. Higgins is chairman. The theme for this year's study is "Literature that Portrays the History and the Character of the People of Different Parts of Our Country." Mrs. John B. Edge and Mrs. Bortman Albro will speak on "The Northeast."

Tuesday, Nov. 5, is American Home Day with an excellent program prepared under the direction of Mrs. Norman W. Mitchell, chairman of that committee.

10:15 a. m. "Practicality in Interior Decoration" by Mr. J. J. Russell Barlow, interior decorator with Bon Marche, Lowell. Lecture illustrated with actual material and designed to appeal to women with average homes.

11:15 a. m. "Cooking With Confidence," a demonstration by Miss Florence Buxman of Lever Bros., of cake, pie, muffin and other kinds of cookery. The products of this demonstration will be distributed among the audience.

12:30 p. m. Luncheon in the Methodist Church.

1:45 p. m. "Lighting in the Modern Manner," Mrs. Blanche Card of the Boston Edison Company will demonstrate that the modern lamps and fixtures may be retained and yet conform to the standards of efficient modern lighting. Also the newest ideas for outdoor and indoor Christmas lighting.

2:30 p. m. Miss Cynthia Proctor of the Marjorie Mills Herald-Traveler kitchen will present menus, games and decorations for parties, especially for the coming holidays. Printed copies of these menus, etc., will be distributed to the audience.

On Friday morning, Nov. 8, at 10:15, Miss Helen Mosher of the International Institute of Boston, will speak at the home of Mrs. John Caruthers, 7 Pine street, under the auspices of the Education committee. Miss Mosher will speak about the purpose and accomplishments of the Institute and her recent trip to South America. She will also exhibit interesting articles she has collected on her travels. Morning coffee will be served after the presentation of Mrs. Leon D. Hughes chairman of the committee.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. Frederick I. Rennert of Winchester and Duncan Lake, Ossipee, N. H., announce the engagement of his daughter, Ruth, to Mr. Harry Chamberlain Davis, Miss Rennert is the past president of the Winchester Junior Fortnightly.

Mr. Davis, son of Mr. Henry E. Davis of Belmont and the late Mrs. Davis, received his L. L. B. degree from Northeastern University and is associated with the Home Savings Bank.

No date has been set for the wedding.

APPOINTED AT SIMMONS

Katharine P. Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Hall of 12 Winslow road, has been appointed chairman of Old English Dinner at Simmons College. Old English Dinner is held annually by members of the Student Government Council.

Miss Hall, who is a junior in the Simmons School of English, spent her freshman year at the University of North Carolina. At Simmons she is a representative to Student Government this year. She was chairman of Sophomore Luncheon and has been a member of the Junior Welcome Committee.

C. D. OF A FASHION SHOW

The large committee which will have charge of the coming C. D. of A. fashion show to be held Nov. 14 in Lyceum Hall is headed by Mrs. Elizabeth Morahan. She will be assisted by Mrs. Anna Hanlon, Miss Mary O'Melia, Miss Margaret Costello, Mrs. Nellie Moffett, Mrs. Anna McGurty, Miss Mary Quigley, Miss Alice Quigley, Miss Margaret King. Attractive gowns and furs are to be shown, with an entertainment and dancing. Members of Court Santa Mary, 59, will act as models.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Addison F. Holmes of Wildwood street was hostess to the Winchester Garden Club on Thursday, Oct. 24. The president, Miss Mary Alice Fitch, presided at the coffee urn. A short business meeting followed with reports from various committees. Miss Fitch expressed her appreciation to the club for her birthday flowers. It was voted unanimously that the club contribute to the American Ambulance Fund, sponsored by the Garden Club Federation of Massachusetts. This organization hopes to send the ambulance the first of January.

Miss Corinne Mead, librarian of the Winchester Public Library, gave a most interesting talk on "Books for the Garden Lover." Some of the books recommended by the speaker were: "The Garden Clinic," giving types of plants, care and culture; "Lawns and Trees," telling how to revitalize them; "Magic Gardens" by Clarkson, herbs, their uses in cooking and medicine; "Bouquet and Bitters," Julian R. Meader; "Just Weeds" by Edwin Rollins Spencer, technical description where found and how to eliminate; "Soilless Culture" by Laura, chemicals needed; "Birds in the Garden," McKenny, planting to attract them; "Home Book of Trees and Shrubs" by Levinson; "House for Week-ends," by Virginia Kirkus; "Harvest at Stillwater," by Gladys Tabor; "The Circling Year" by Vanda Water; "Stories and Legends of Garden Flowers" by Quinn. Miss Mead presented these books in a very charming manner and was much enjoyed by the club, much enjoyed by the club.

MEN YOU CAN TRUST

to Conduct your Government on an Honest and Sensible Basis

Wendell L. WILLKIE

for PRESIDENT of the United States

An understanding, humane executive. Up from the land, he knows the problems of agriculture and industry, of capital and labor. Pledged to preparedness and devoted to peace, he will serve every American interest, domestic and foreign, loyally and ably.

Leverett SALTONSTALL

for GOVERNOR

Stands squarely on his record of honest, sensible government, maintaining essential services effectively at the lowest possible cost and without a shadow of scandal. Pledged to continuation of those policies, he merits re-election in November.

Charles L. McNARY

for VICE PRESIDENT of the United States

A pioneer in farm relief legislation; a consistent advocate of sound social reforms; his 23 years in the Senate are a strong record of constructive service, liberal thinking and undiluted Americanism.

Horace T. CAHILL

for LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Able supporting the policies of Governor Saltonstall and the Republican party, he has contributed much to the reduction of waste and extravagance in State affairs. Continuation of his service is needed.

Robert T. BUSHNELL

for ATTORNEY GENERAL

An able attorney with sound and practical experience in civic affairs and in the administration of public office; the well-rounded lawyer who has won state-wide recognition for honesty and ability.

Frederic W. Cook

for SECRETARY

Never opposed for office by a Republican and never defeated by an opposition candidate for 20 consecutive years, he stands for re-election on his record of conscientious service in an office of great responsibility.

William E. HURLEY

for TREASURER

A faithful, efficient public officer, he has saved the Commonwealth substantial sums. Through his alertness and application of business principles to administration, he has given efficient, economical administration.

Russell A. Wood

for AUDITOR

His fearless exposure of unauthorized expenditure of State funds guarantees the citizens of the Commonwealth that integrity and efficiency will continue to rule as long as he is retained in office.

Henry PARKMAN

for U. S. SENATOR

Unchallenged honesty and ability; rugged and persistent in promoting sound legislation, his energy and sincerity are needed in the United States Senate to insure immediate action for national defense.

ENTERTAINING PARTY

Miss Miriam McKenzie, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Wilfred McKenzie, was hostess at a most unusual and entertaining party for many of her young friends last Friday evening.

Invitations were in the form of notices to attend special classes at the McKenzie home and upon arrival, the guests reported to the "principal" who gave them cards assigning them to various rooms for special periods. Groups over supposed late assignments quickly changed to smiles when dancing to a fine piece of orchestra proved to be the substitute, while games took the place of Physical Education.

Real money was exchanged for refreshments at the "cafeteria" and the thrill of the evening was the presentation of the money thus collected, a sum over $46 by Mr. William C. Welch, who is in charge of collecting money for an ambulance trailer for Winchester, England. Egan "Tim" Phillips, the English student of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Aldrich made the presentation.

Mr. Clinton Jones led the singing of school songs and the glow club played and later entertained with classical music to the great enjoyment of the young people.

HALLOWEEN OVER

Halloween passed last night with comparative quiet. Winchester's chief complaint from pranksters being broken glass. Several of the enthusiastic celebrators were caught by the police, and in several instances were conducted to the police station for examination. Store windows about the center were marked with chalk and soap, as were various parked automobiles, while in one instance a hyacinth was painted and in another a street marker was re-lettered with the German insignia. The exceptionally large detail of police officers was probably responsible for the small amount of damage done.

WINCHESTER ART ASSOCIATION

On Sunday afternoon, Nov. 3, at 4 o'clock the Winchester Art Association will open its November exhibit at the Winchester Public Library. This is to be a one-man show given by Danby Zorach showing the development of an artist since childhood. Educational as well as entertaining, the unique show has been seen by only two other cities in this country.

It was shown in the Modern Museum in New York and also in one of the well-known galleries in Chicago. The exhibit starts with the crude drawings of early childhood and continues on up through the present. A remarkable exhibit in itself it is further enhanced by the fact that the artist today is one of the recognized younger artists of this country.

Miss Zorach now Mrs. Adolph Inear, is the daughter of the well known American sculptor William Zorach. She will open the exhibit by a talk discussing this very development that are apparent in her drawings.

After the lecture she will be served to members of the Art Association, who will have an opportunity at that time to examine the show more closely and put any questions they wish to Miss Zorach.

This exhibit will be open to the public during library hours throughout the remainder of November.

M. C. W. G. NOTES

The second in a fall-winter schedule of bridge and whists was held on last Wednesday evening at the home of Director Halligan on Washington street.

Next Sunday is Guild Day at the Holy Ghost Hospital in Cambridge. Each branch throughout the Diocese in turn sends a substantial donation of canned goods to the hospital and semi-annually all the branches join in one grand Guild Day when a very fine entertainment and musical program is offered throughout the hospital on each ward and room. The effect in these many bed-ridden patients is not without being sufficient compensation for the efforts in putting on such an event.

The next regular meeting of the local branch will be held on the second Thursday in November.

WINCHESTER CAST LARGEST VOTE

Town Republican vs. Usual, Saltonstall Exceeded Wilkie, Latter Two to One Over Successful Roosevelt

Winchester had the largest vote in the town's history at the National Election on Tuesday, the vote being 5594 for the Republican ticket, headed by Wendell L. Willkie, G. O. P., and 2193 for the Democratic ticket, headed by Franklin D. Roosevelt, D. P.

Lawrence Saltonstall, successful Republican gubernatorial candidate, received 5594 votes for the Democratic Paul A. Dever. The veteran Democratic Senator, David L. Walsh, who successfully withstood the challenge of the popular Republican, Henry Parkman, Jr., lost his ticket in Winchester with 2558 votes, Parkman polled 2522. Incidentally Parkman and the Republican candidates for county commissioners were the only G. O. P. candidates to poll less than 5000 votes here. Senator Harris S. Kimball of this town, running unopposed for State Senator in the Sixth Middlesex District, got the biggest vote in town, 6151. Winchester's Representative, William E. Ramsdell, an ex-Republican and unopposed, was re-elected with 6128, the popular National Congressman, Edith N. Rogers, polling 6067 in her contest with Francis J. Rourke.

Aside from the voting for county officers, Winchester voted down by substantial margins the three articles dealing with the sale of liquor in town. The vote on the package store, which was the closest of the three, with 2310 in favor and 5040 opposed.

The town voted for the $10 old age assistance plan, 3302 to 2600, but the old age assistance sweepstakes was voted down 3424 to 2416.

The town hall was a busy place all day, though the impression was that so no vote was in the hands of the election of 1928 when long lines formed outside the hall, was lacking. Despite the size of the vote there was more, if not less, waiting at the precinct booths, two more compartments having been installed in each to accommodate the voters. This increase in facilities was necessitated by the law which says there shall be one compartment for each 50 voters; the increase in the size of the polling place necessitating this installation.

Winchester's total vote on Tuesday was 7636 out of a total of 8188 voters, a percentage of 93.1. Adding the 1930 ballots, the total vote becomes 7962, and the percentage, 97.41 all time high.

CROCKFORD-THOMPSON

The marriage of Miss Eleanor Estelle Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Thompson of Chemist street, and Ernest Harold Crockford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Crockford of Golden Hills road, Nagsauk, took place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Emanuel Episcopal Church in Wakefield, with the pastor, Rev. Stewart Harrison, officiating. Miss Thompson, wearing a gown of royal blue velvet trimmed with ermine and a corsage of orchids, was given in marriage by her father. Her attendant was Miss Dorothy Thompson of this town, who wore a postman's blue silk crepe dress with a corsage of tulle roses. Frederick Crockford, who was his brother's best man and another brother, Roy Crockford, also of Nagsauk, served as usher with Edmund DiPietro of Melrose.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, who assisted in receiving. The house was decorated with garlands of white and pink, and the bride and groom were seated at a table with a white and pink floral arrangement. The bride's bridesmaids were Miss Margaret King, Miss Mary Jane King and Arthur E. A. King, Jr. The groom's best man was Mr. Charles W. King, who was also a bridesmaid. The bride's maid of honor was Miss Margaret King, who was also a bridesmaid. The bride's bridesmaids were Miss Margaret King, Miss Mary Jane King and Arthur E. A. King, Jr. The groom's best man was Mr. Charles W. King, who was also a bridesmaid. The bride's maid of honor was Miss Margaret King, who was also a bridesmaid.

The bride is a graduate of Winchester High School, class of 1938. Mr. Crockford, who is a machinist at the J. H. Winn's Sons Watchband Factory in Winchester, is attending Nagsauk High School, Franklin Union and is now taking courses at Wentworth Institute in Boston.

TULLY-SHINNICK

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Shinnick of Washington street announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Anne Tully, to Silbey Kane Tully, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis W. Tully of Chestnut Hill, Brookline and Warner, H.

The ceremony was performed on Saturday, Nov. 2 at 4 o'clock in St. Mary's Church by Rev. Fr. Francis L. Sullivan. Following a honeymoon sojourn in the South, the couple will make their home in Brookline.

The bride, a student at the Berlitz School of Foreign Languages, was the ladies' squash committee of the University Club of Boston and is secretary of the Massachusetts Squash Racquets Association. She is now serving on the Massachusetts Republican Finance Committee.

Mr. Tully studied at Phillips Andover Academy, followed by Military Academy before going to Yale, from which he was graduated in 1933. He is a lieutenant (J. G.) in the United States Navy and has been called to duty. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi, the Naval Reserve Officers' Association and the University Club of Boston.

The Fire Department was called at 5:20 p. m. Friday to put out a brush fire on Jefferson road.

REV. HOWARD J. CHILDLEY, D. D., Complete 25 Years as Pastor of First Congregational Church

On Sunday, Nov. 3, Rev. Howard J. Childley, D. D., completed 25 years as pastor of the First Congregational Church. A special service was held in the church, and the Rev. Childley became pastor of the First Congregational Church Nov. 3, 1915, coming from the First Trinity Congregational Church in Orange, N. J. Previous to his coming here, he had been pastor for three years, from 1912 to 1915, at Dr. S. Parker's Church in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was ordained in 1908 from Dorchester in 1908 and had just received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from the same church. During Dr. Childley's pastorate the First Congregational Church, which last spring observed its 100th anniversary, has grown and prospered. There has been a membership increase from 550 in 1915 to approximately 1500 and the church now ministers to some 2000 persons. The Sunday School has increased in size from approximately 300 to 500 pupils. The annual church budget of $14,000, including benevolences, has doubled.

OBSERVED SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Richard O'Brien of Watertown gave a dinner party and reception at their home Saturday evening, Nov. 2, for Mrs. O'Brien's mother-in-law, Mrs. Mary O'Brien, who was celebrating her 25th wedding anniversary.

Assisting in the receiving line were Mrs. O'Brien, who was her sister's attendant at her wedding, and Mr. Charles W. King, who was best man. Also present and assisting were Mr. and Mrs. King's two daughters and son, Miss Margaret King, Miss Mary Jane King and Arthur E. A. King, Jr. The guests, who were received by the bride and groom, expressed their thanks in a manner that left no doubt of their appreciation.

Mr. and Mrs. King were married Nov. 3, 1915, at St. Mary's Church, by the late Rev. Nathaniel J. Merritt, who was then pastor.

INCORPORATED 1871

Largely through his leadership the church auditorium was completely remodeled and a chancel added in 1925, the large parish house being built the following year. This building program with the furnishings entailed cost nearly $300,000, all of which has been paid with the exception of $5000. Aside from his multitudinous pastoral duties, Dr. Chidley has served as president of the Florence Crittenton League of Compassion for 13 years, was chairman of the board of trustees of North Carolina College for Negroes at Durham, N. C., for 10 years, until the college was taken over by the state; has been a member of the Commission on Worship for the Congregational Denomination for seven years, is a member of the executive committee of the Federal Council of Churches and of the American Geographical Society.

In addition he was one of the leading editors of the Pilgrim Hymnal published by the Congregational Denomination and has published five books of Children's Sermons and one book of sermons for adults.

Dr. Chidley has been vitally interested in town affairs, and his ministry has spread well beyond the limits of his church. He has been especially sensitive to the needs of the poor, in and out of the church, receiving and answering many appeals aside from those of his parishioners. His ministry and that of Rev. D. Augustine Newton cover 45 of the churches 100 years in Winchester, during which time there have been 12 pastors.

Especially significant of his ministry is its very apparent appeal for men, of whom large numbers are weekly in his congregations. His nature sermons at the observance of Fisherman's Sunday attract large numbers of sportsmen to his church each year for this unique service, which had its inception in Winchester.

In recognition of the quarter century he has spent in its service, the First Congregational Church at a special meeting on Oct. 27, adopted the following resolutions, offered by Mr. William L. Parsons:

"On this notable anniversary of the coming of the Rev. Howard J. Chidley to the pastorate of our church we send him our cordial and affectionate greetings. We are mindful that it was 25 years ago that on Nov. 3, 1915, that Doctor Chidley preached his first sermon as our pastor. We recall his effective leadership throughout a period of service which is longer than the pastorate of any other minister of this church—a period of remarkable growth and enduring achievement. We wish to acknowledge our sincere appreciation of his devoted service. We join with him in dedicating ourselves anew to the work which lies ahead and we wish for him a continuance of strength and vigor in his loyal leadership.

The Clerk is requested to sign and deliver a copy of this resolution to Doctor Chidley on Saturday, Nov. 2, and to cause a copy thereof to be printed in the church calendar for Nov. 3.

CUTLER—GLENDON

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. G. Glendon of 4 Ware read and announced the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Mary to Mr. Avery Cutter of Arlington and Littleton on Thursday, Oct. 31 at St. Mary's rectory. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. John G. Riordan.

Miss Lillian MacDonald of Winchester was the maid of honor and Richard Glendon, brother of the bride was best man.

After a short trip to New York, Mr. and Mrs. Cutter will reside in Brighton.

WINCHESTER ASSEMBLY

The next regular meeting of Winchester Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, will be held on Friday, Nov. 8, at 7:15 p. m. in the Masonic Hall, Winchester. On Friday, Nov. 22, at 7:15 p. m. there will be initiation work.

WINCHESTER DISTRICT NURSING ASSOCIATION

On Friday morning, Nov. 1, the Board of Directors of the Winchester District Nursing Association met at the home of the president, Miss Adelaide Homer.

The following 15 members were present: Miss Adelaide Homer, Mrs. Reginald Bradlee, Mrs. Vincent P. Clarke, Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, Mrs. O. Homer, Mrs. Ralph T. Dope, Mrs. Theodore M. Jones, Mrs. James O. Murray, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. Richard Parkhurst, Mrs. Gardner Pond, Mrs. Thomas M. Richter, Jr., Mrs. Jameson Shorrock, Mrs. William Spaulding and Mrs. Henry K. Spencer.

Mrs. O'Leary, the nursing supervisor, reported 322 calls made during the month of October and that they are doing nursery school work again at the West Side Nursery School one week and at the Winchester Nursery School three days a week.

Miss Mead, the librarian, who has volunteered to supply library books to shut-ins whenever she has time available to do so. The folder, "Skilled Hands," which was recently issued by the Winchester District Nursing Association and which told of the services available through the District Nurse will be found in the table of literature community interest and also in the parent's room.

Mrs. O'Leary and Miss Peterson attended a conference on Mental Hygiene for Public Health Nurses at the Metropolitan State Hospital on Oct. 16, being the first of a series sponsored by the Waltham District Nursing Association. Miss Peterson attended a conference on Tuberculosis Nursing at the Middlesex Hospital.

Mrs. O'Leary had a conference with the Assistant Manager and the district agents of the Metropolitan Life Insurance policies. Mrs. Spaulding reported on a meeting held in the General Hospital Room at the Town Hall on Oct. 9, which she attended as a representative of this organization. Miss Donovan who is in charge of the workers for this Boston Council of Social Agencies spoke about the need of volunteers in Boston Agencies. The point was made that with so much war relief work being done other community and social service work might suffer. It was decided to form an organization to put volunteers in touch with the agencies where they could work most effectively and to supply local needs as they might arise—to serve especially as a means of putting to work volunteers among the young women and new-comers to Winchester who have no contact with the local agencies. The name, Winchester Volunteer Service, was chosen.

GROUP THEATRE ANNOUNCES "CHEYNE" CAST

With rehearsals now under way for its fall production, "The Last of the Cheyenne," which will be given at the Winchester High School Auditorium Dec. 6 and 7, announcement of the complete cast has just been made as follows: Evelyn B. Smith, Gerald Taylor, Ruth H. Hart, Prescott E. Taylor, Katrina H. Morse, Charlotte E. Nichols, Rosalind Lynch, Eugene C. Harlow. Approximately 100 couples enjoyed an evening of dancing to the music of Ruby Newman's orchestra, Mr. Newman personally leading his men. As the last social affair of the group the affair was a great success, with many new and prospective members in attendance.

Mr. Elliott Cameron, Chairman Board of Selectmen, first to enroll for membership in the American Red Cross 1940 Roll Call that starts Monday, Nov. 11 and continues through to Nov. 30. Mrs. George A. Dutton, Chapter chairman is placing the Red Cross badge of honor to show the citizens of Winchester he is proud to do his bit for this humanitarian cause.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS REHEARSE MYSTERY PLAY

A recently released English mystery drama, "I Killed the Count," by Alice Coppel, is the first production this year of the Winchester Unitarian Players. On Friday and Saturday evenings, Nov. 15 and 16, at 8:15 p. m., this amusing play will be presented in Metcalf Hall at the Unitarian Church.

The cast includes the following players, some familiar to Winchester Unitarian Players' audiences, and others appearing for the first time in their productions: Ethel Goodwin, Martha Hill, Dell Scott Smith, Kenneth Hall, Severin Ritchie, Richard Offit, Bradford Hill, Robert Jackson, Warren Whitman, Lewis Wadsworth, Richard Harlow, John Kishler, and William Spaulding.

Mrs. Dermot Townley-Tilson and Mrs. Theodore von Rosenzweig are production chairmen, and Mrs. Doris Branson Whitehouse, who has directed several of the Unitarian Players' most successful presentations, is coaching the play.

Miss Nancy Hall, who assisted with various dramatic productions at Tufts College during her college course, has designed the set for "I Killed the Count" and is in charge of its construction. George Hayden is technical adviser for the play. Mrs. F. H. Norton and Mrs. A. T. Buntin are assisting in costumes.

A social committee will serve coffee each evening between acts two and three.

All seats of the play are reserved, are $1 each and may be bought from Mrs. T. R. Godwin, Win. 1580.

CANADIAN RELIEF

At the home of Mrs. F. C. Alexander, on Thursday, Oct. 31, the Winchester committee of the Maple Leaf Fund, Inc., held its second meeting, to report progress in membership, and additional contributions to the fund.

Many knitted articles were received by Mrs. Grey, chairman of knitting, and work for children's nighties was distributed. One enthusiastic member of the group taking seven garments for home work was Mrs. F. N. Stephens, Mrs. D. V. Estabrook; for a Telephone Bridge on Nov. 19. Twenty-five or more hostesses will entertain one table of bridge.

A prize is provided for each table. Each hostess will telephone the highest score of all four tables will receive a grand prize. All prizes have been donated.

A discussion on the paramount need of assistance to the 7000 English refugee children, now being placed in foster homes in Canada, followed, and it is hoped we may be able to present, at the next meeting, a detailed plan of active help in this field of war relief.

Please watch the Star for announcement of that date.

Any help, great or small, to this Canadian relief is gratefully received. So we hope to exceed our sincere thanks to the En Ka Society for its recent gift.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

Dean Bernice Brown Cronkrite of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Bridgeport College, will speak to the Winchester College Club next Tuesday evening, Nov. 12, on the subject, "The College Student and American Defense." With her study of the college after and her work with graduate students, Dean Cronkrite is well equipped to give a stimulating address on this topic.

This meeting will be held at the Unitarian Church, with coffee served at 8 o'clock and the lecture at 8:30. College Club members are invited to bring guests.

ARLINGTON GAS LIGHT COOKING CLASS

A genuine interest has been shown in the four demonstrations given by Mrs. Hazel A. Cheever, Home Service Director for the Arlington Gas Light Company. During this series of classes, the flexibility, dependability, and economy of the modern gas range and refrigerator was definitely brought out.

The following women won the food cooked at last session on Oct. 30. Mrs. A. Premo, 21 Eastern street, Mrs. A. Walsh, 27 Nelson street, Mrs. M. Cote, 208 Washington street, Mrs. R. Hayden, 65 Church street, Mrs. H. Devlin, 46 Garfield avenue, Woburn.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

In September "Missions," under the heading, "Anniversary of Madness," (the beginning of the second year of the second world war), the editor says:

"Europe is apparently beyond human salvation. 'We have learned,' said American Legion Commander M. V. Miranoff, 'that it is impossible to end war in Europe through the process of war.' No American plunge into war now could possibly save Europe. It would only add fuel to the mounting flames. It could only destroy American democracy and freedom. What we know as the American way of life would disappear. It would survive only in memory as a lost heritage."

Vividly Mr. Virgil Jordan, president of the National Unitarian Conference Board, as reported in the New York Herald Tribune, warns that "Within a year an American army, navy, and air force will be actively engaged in hostilities in Europe, Asia and South America. All manpower will be conscripted for military and labor purposes. Our currency will be progressively depreciated. Prices and wages will be fixed. Industries, transportation, communication, will be operated by political agencies. In the event of disorders, sabotage resistance by aliens, unemployed, dissenters and taxpayers, will be suppressed by espionage, censorship and armed force. At the end every important nation, including the United States, will be helplessly insolvent."

The Winchester High School freshman class at a straw vote held Tuesday, gave the Republican candidates, Willie and McNary 127 votes and the successful Democratic Roosevelt and Wallace, 60. Browder and Ford, Communist party candidates, got a single vote, and the Socialist standard bearer, Thomas and Krueger, two votes. Saltonstall was favored by the freshmen over his Democratic rival, Dever.

WINCHESTER GIRLS BEAT BROOKLINE

Winchester High School girls' field hockey team scored another shutout Friday afternoon on Manchester Field, blanking the Brookline High eleven, 3-0.

Joyce Maxson's goal was Winchester's edge during the first half, but with the resumption of play, Captain Helen Carroll and Joyce again tallied to give the local girls a clean-cut advantage.

Between the halves of the first team game the two second teams battled to a scoreless stalemate with honors very even. Following is the varsity summary:

JUNIOR CARSONIAN MUSIC CLUB MEET SUNDAY

The Junior Carsonian Music Club held its first meeting of the season at the home of Clara Carson, 79 Mountvale avenue, the well known music teacher Sunday afternoon.

The program consisted of piano, violin, mandolin, guitar solos. Many Winchester pupils took part in the program. The pupils taking part were: Marie Brown, David Elther, Jean Brown, Frank Nielson, Mary McDonald, Patricia Mellough, Estelle Wilson, Kathleen, Kathleen, Richard Murphy, Mary O'Neil, Frances Breskahan, Paul Barstow, Robert Barstow, Constance Wilson, Mildred, Catherine, McLaughlin, Jeanne Burke, Claire Burke, Margaret Garnett, Eleanor Nason, Marie Mattoni, Russell Dockham, Jack, McLaughlin, Charles, Ralph Calozzo, Donald Morgan, Lillian Anderson, Jack McGarry, Gey McGarry, Mary Triantafouri, Theresa Triantafouri, James Verras, John Breslin, John Stevens, Helen Sweeney, Albert Landry, William Stanton, Dorothy McDonald, Charles Brown, Phyllis Mattoni, Harry Robinson.

WINTON CLUB

The November meeting of the Winton Club was held last Monday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Worthen on Wedgemore avenue. Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., presided.

The Winton Club is co-operating with the Winchester Unit of the British War Relief, Inc., and the work is well under way. Volunteer groups, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Worthen, are meeting three days a month to make surgical dressings, and many members are knitting socks, sweaters, etc. Contributions of clothing have been received at the headquarters.

Dr. Eileen R. Rooney, chairman of the 1941 Cabaret committee, is already busy on the program, which promises to be one of the gayest, exciting musical parties. The financial success of this always popular social event insures an ample supply of linen for our local hospital. The dates are Jan. 30, 31 and Feb. 1.

NEW PHYSICIAN IN WINCHESTER

The most recent addition to Winchester's practicing physicians and surgeons is Dr. Charles E. Rooney, a Woburn young man, who opened an office at 125 Washington street this week.

Dr. Rooney, whose Woburn home is at 12 Scott street, is a graduate of Woburn High School, of Boston College, with the degree of A. B., and of Tufts Medical School. He served his internship in rotating service at St. John's Hospital in Lowell and for the past two years has been surgical house officer at the Carney Hospital in Boston. He is a member of the Massachusetts Medical Society.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

The Girl Scouts of troop two gave a dance at the Congregational Church parish house Friday evening, Nov. 1. The Washington School room was invited and the hall was decorated with pumpkins, corn stalks and large colored balloons. The dance was given in honor of Barbara Bayley who has moved to Texas. The orchestra dedicated "There I Go" to Barbara. Everyone who went to the dance had a very enjoyable time.

WINCHESTER AND BELMONT IN 19-19 TIE

Belmont's Air Attack Offset Winchester's Rushing Power

In a rip-roaring battle of offenses that had the supporters of both eleven poyoped and cheered with excitement, Winchester and Belmont High Schools played to a 19-19 stalemate Monday afternoon at Belmont in the last Millisack League game that will be played between the two teams.

The game was generally conceded to be the most dramatic championship, each team having won two and lost none. The result leaves Winchester and Belmont deadlocked and it is not likely that the game will be broken for Belmont has only Lexington left to play and Winchester's last league game is with Stoneham. A loss for either Belmont or the locals will be distinctly an upset.

Monday's game was postponed from Saturday because of rain. Despite the fact that Winchester was able to score three times, the locals showed little of the fire they displayed in beating Maynard. A little more will be seen on the part of the local boys might have brought victory to their standard, and especially a bit of gambling through the air in the closing minutes of play might have resulted in another score, but Belmont too had his hard luck, so perhaps the tie was fair enough after all.

Belmont had the edge in first downs, 16-11, rolling up almost all of them through the air. The home team was surely air-minded, throwing 32 forwards, completing 22 and having two intercepted. The local boys seemed bewildered by the Belmont overhead game, failing to rush the passer and thereby leaving a second too slow in getting to the Red and Blue receivers.

Generally speaking Belmont employed a slot pass in the first half, and over the line of scrimmage, and while Swain, its passer, was very effective, and its receivers, good, it must be admitted that Belmont had little to offer in the way of pass defense.

On the other hand Belmont was totally unable to cope with Winchester's rushing game, of which Jack Tracy was the spearhead. The first half and Peter Provinzano after half time. Never has Provinzano run as hard as he did today, and he was the ball game and the local forwards opened some nice holes for their backs while generally shacking Belmont's attempts to advance the ball on the ground.

Belmont scored their first touchdown midway through the opening half. Peter Provinzano had kicked short to his own Peter, who passed and passed made a first down at the 30, where on third down Swain passed right down the middle between West and Provanzo to the end of the line. The ball at the 15 and went over easily. Carleton failed to rush the extra point.

Winchester came right back. Taking the kickoff to the 11, West, and Provinzano made a first down and Tracy in two pretty reverses made it first down again at the 15. Once again big Jack on a reverse over center got into the clear, his own momentum causing him to fall at the end line. West placed her at center for the touchdown and Palumbo converted beautifully at placement to give the locals a 7-6 advantage starting the second quarter.

The advantage was short lived. Starting at its 20 after the kickoff, Belmont passed its way quickly to the Winchester 25 with Swain heaving to Walsh and Carleton, A. A. 15 yarder for holding set Belmont back to its 40. But Swain again uncorked a nice long pass out to the right to Carleton, who took the ball at the 20 and galloped over. A pass attempt for the extra point was knocked down.

Winchester had to kick after the Carleton and Provinzano's boot was muffed and recovered by the locals at the Belmont 25. Provinzano rushed twice for a first down and then West spun through the line to rife a pretty lateral across the field to Provinzano. Peter going over for the score, Palumbo failed to convert.

Still the first half scoring wasn't over. Winchester kicked twice. Belmont 20 and Swain passed four times to reach the Winchester 20. Again Swain passed to Caskie for a first down and then once again to Walsh for the touchdown. Carleton rushed for the extra point and Belmont led, 19-13.

Winchester came back after half time to even the count. Tibauda intercepted a Swain pass thrown from the Winchester 30 and got back to his 40. Tracy then got away on a pretty reverse to the Belmont 30. Here Provinzano hit of tackle and cutting back nicely over center rased all the way for the score, really going like he meant it. Palumbo missed the all important try for the extra point from placement.

That ended the scoring. Jim Tracy intercepted a Swain pass at his 40, and was nearly in the clear behind nice interference for a long touchdown jump when he was pulled down from behind. Winchester with seconds remaining and in scoring position chose to stick to its running plays instead of gambling with a long pass or two that might have meant the ball game. The summary:

WINCHESTER BOY IN MOVIES

Peter Scully, whom Star readers will recall as a former popular Winchester boy, has met the test of motion picture successfully and is currently appearing in Universal Pictures' "Seven Sinners," starring Marlene Dietrich and John Wayne.

Peter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Scully whose present home is in Buffalo, N. Y., but who formerly lived in Winchester on Wedgemore avenue. He was educated in the Winchester schools and graduated from Winchester High School where he was a member of the honor roll each year and participated in football and tennis. At graduation his classmates voted him the best looking and best dressed class member as well as the one having the most poise, three attributes invaluable to one choosing a movie career.

After high school Peter attended Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he was a "Duke" pledge. He has two sisters, Nan and Mollie, and two brothers, John and Edward, all of whom attended the Winchester schools.

On the silver screen Peter is using his mother's maiden name and is known as Peter Sullivan. Recent reports from Hollywood are that he has been signed to a contract by Universal. His many friends will watch his career with interest, hoping that this "home town boy" will scale the heights to stardom.

ACTIVITIES OF THE BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE

The merry chorus of voices from within the recreation room at Miss Betty Elliott's on Thursday evening, Oct. 25, gave evidence of a Halloween party in full swing. True enough, it was the young people of the First Baptist Church of Winchester who had gathered to enjoy an evening of fun and entertainment.

Gay costumes lent much to the atmosphere glimpsing the shadowy background of Halloween for there were witches, blackcats, ghosts and goblins.

After playing many new and exciting games the young ladies and gentlemen proceeded to the dining room where refreshments which delighted both the eye and palate, were served. For this service and labor the group wishes to thank the parents of group members. The party will long be remembered by those who attended.

On Sunday evening the regular youth service was held in the chapel of the church. Mr. Edward Barram, superintendent of the American Sunday School of Watertown gave an interesting message entitled, "Life Begins With Self Sacrifice." Mr. Barram has had a varied experience, having graduated from Moody Bible Institute in Chicago. He is now studying at Gordon College in Boston where he is president of the Mission Society.

Rev. Howard Childie welcomed an unusually large congregation at the morning service at the First Congregational Church last Sunday. The date marked the children's 25th anniversary as pastor of the church. His remarks on the occasion were of interest to all and of especial enjoyment to many of his older parishioners. The fact that could all of those whom he had united in marriage, together with their descendants, have been present, the church would even then have been filled, was of especial interest. In fact many of those whom he had married made an especial effort to attend. His church has occasion to be well satisfied with his 25 years pastorate over our town's leading church.

BENEFIT SEASON FOR "ROLLING KITCHEN" OPENS TONIGHT

The Parish families of the First Congregational Church open their benefit season to purchase a "Winchester Rolling Kitchen" for the Britain tonight at "The Little Theatre Beneath a Spire".

The opening production is Ned Coward's well known comedy "Tonight at Eight-Thirty." Winchester residents have enthusiastically supported this war relief project, and a full house is assured for both nights. A final list of sponsors is given, also a list of contributors to the Winchester Rolling Kitchen Fund. Other contributions to the fund may be left with Mr. Cabot at the Winchester Trust Company or sent to Mrs. Howard Childie.

WINCHESTER GIRL AS RED CROSS KNITTER

Approximately 3,000,000 people in the United States and about 140,000 in Massachusetts who huddle around with stiff, aching joints, are waiting for a cure of arthritis.

Because of its seriousness not only to the individuals affected but also to the community which loses valuable citizens through this crippling disease, the Robert Breck Brigham Hospital in Boston has long pioneered not only in its treatment but also in research into its cause and cure.

To raise money for the continuance of the research, the hospital is sponsoring a festive Christmas Arcade and gift sale in John Hancock Hall, St. James Avenue, Boston, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Miss Jean Roberts of Winchester will be shown as a Red Cross knitter. Daily luncheons daily fashion shows and valuable door prizes are listed among the attractions.

Local women working for the success of the Christmas Arcade include Mrs. O. Kelley Anderson of Lakeview, chairman; Mrs. Randolph reservations; Mrs. Prescott R. Taylor, Mrs. Alexander P. Atken, Mrs. Philip Woodward, Mrs. Fulton Brown, Mrs. John Dickey, Mrs. Paul Ellis, Mrs. Maurice Freeman, Mrs. James Harlow and Mrs. George Marks.

THANKS FROM MRS. ROGERS

To the Editor of the Star:

With profound and everlasting gratitude I extend my heartfelt thanks to the voters of Winchester and the other cities and towns in the 13th Congressional District. Your marvelous vote of confidence in me and my work for you is deeply inspiring. Always I shall strive to be worthy. I would like to see personally each and everyone of you, to tell you how greatly I appreciate your loyalty and strong friendship. Thank you for the interest you are still in session. I believe it should be during these difficult days. My duty is in Washington and with the inspiration of your love and confidence and trust in me I return with increased energy and courage to do all I possibly can for you.

Edith Nourse Rogers
Member of Congress

MRS. EDMUND C. FILLER ENTERTAINS

Mrs. John G. Pennington then presented the following group of ushers whom she thanked for so efficiently seating the audience: Chas. Brazau, Robert Conlon, Jimmy Conlon, Tasker Hart, Peter Hickey, Brock Lynch, Lane McGovern, James O'Connor, Harry Parker, John G. Pennington, Jr., James Scully, Arthur Terrell.

The musical notes and ceremony added to the evening's pleasure by the following high school sea song, singing as soloists and the high school mariner girls selling candy was commented on by Mrs. Filler and again Mrs. Lucius Smith was thanked for her assistance. Louis Goddu, skipper, Ted B. Robinson, mate, S. Procter Jones, Wilbert Callahan, Robert Cross, John Campbell, Clifford Loring, Ralph Swanson, Robert Griffiths, Wm. Kennedy, Robert Harris, James Whittemore, Walter Smalley, Chas. Philbrook and Wm. Howden, crew on the S.S. Tarquin. And Skipper Catharine Nutter, Alice Davis, Dorothea Koefe and Janet Doub of the S.S. Amy.

Although Mrs. Donald Woodward was unable to be present, she sent in her report of success and appreciation to the following Junior High girls who sold candy at the afternoon performance: Jacqueline Barnes, chairman; Barbara Booth, Barbara Ryder, Clara Capone, Marilyn Cheloff, Mary Jackels, Nancy Nutter, Janet Price, Jane Russell and Joan Zimmerman.

Others of the committee present who assisted in various ways were Mrs. Chas. Wilson, Mrs. Maxine Brazau and Mrs. Harold Partridge and these women were thanked by Mrs. Filler for their helpfulness.

Mrs. Stanley J. Barnes, president of the executive board of the Mothers' Association of Winchester, then heartily thanked all present for their assistance and congratulated them on their successful evening.

A delightful tea was then served with Mrs. Lucius Smith pouring at the tea table.

GOODNOUGH-PATTEN

A marriage of Winchester interest took place at St. Joseph's Rectory in Medford Sunday afternoon, Nov. 3, when Miss Mary Nora Patten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Patten of Pleasant street, Medford, became the bride of Arthur Earl Goodnough, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Goodnough of Main street, Rev. James P. Ryan performed the ceremony at 2 o'clock and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Patten wore a gown of white satin having a long train. Her veil of tulle was arranged with a coronet of old lace and pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. She was attended only by her sister, Mrs. Francis Doyle of Medford, who wore a dress of pink faille trimmed with a diamond net and a diamond hat of net with a nose length veil. Her flowers were red roses. Marshall Goodnough of this town wore a tuxedo and carried a boutonniere of white flowers.

After their return from a wedding journey to New York City and upper New York State Mr. Goodnough and his bride will make their home at 8 Richmond Park in Boston.

The bride is a graduate of Medford High School and of the Fay School in Boston. Mr. Goodnough, a graduate of Winchester High School, is associated with Kennedy & Co.

WAS FATHER OF WINCHESTER MAN

Patrick McElhinney, 78, of 35 Buchanan street, Woburn, who was fatally injured Saturday evening when he was struck by an automobile while crossing Main street in the south end of Woburn, was the father of Edward H. McElhinney of 18 Salem street, this town.

Mr. McElhinney died Sunday morning at 2:30 in the Choate Hospital, having sustained a fractured skull and other injuries. He was taken to the hospital by the driver of the automobile that struck him, William Scribner of 3 Hampton avenue, Burlington, who told the police he did not see Mr. McElhinney until it was too late to avoid him.

Mr. McElhinney had been for some years a resident of Woburn and was widely known there. Besides his son he leaves a brother, Daniel, of Woburn; a sister, Mrs. Mary O'Donnell, and five grandchildren.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning from the home of his son in Winchester. Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated in the Immaculate Conception Church. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery.

TURKEY DINNER AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The great event of November is the First Congregational Church is a home-cooked dinner of turkey and all the fixings, patterned on the dinner served last November by Mrs. F. Patterson Smith and Mrs. Denton W. Randall. This one will be prepared by Mrs. Vincent C. Greenough, Jr. and will be held on Nov. 21 under the auspices of the Women's Guild, President, Mrs. J. Harper Blasdel, of the Methodist Union (President Mrs. F. W. Carver). Those in charge of the decorations are Mrs. George Nardin, who is now in Winchester, and Mrs. Wm. McElhinney, who was chosen to play a leading role in the sound film "Romance in Brookline."

Hour of Snark Selim

The village of Hiv or Hu in Egypt is the home of the famous Snark Selim, who died in the year 1894, after sitting stark naked for the greater part of his long life on the banks of the Nile at the spot now marked by his tomb.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By Tom Fina and Jim Ooon

Monday the history classes gave an assembly about the method of election of the president. At the end of the program Arthur Teutoul spoke for the A. A., giving a financial report. The A. A. is putting on a drive for the Wellesley game on Shore road field, January 12.

Each week the banking record comes closer to being perfect. Only three rooms failed to have 100 per cent last week.

The student council held a meeting this week.

In one of Mr. Keeney's English classes the interesting question of marking came up in a symposium. It was pointed out that under the present system the pupils are solely interested in their marks and not their progress.

Ten week tests are coming up in a few days much to some few pupils' dismay.

Mr. Small has started to look for talent for the class play already. The play takes place in the middle of January.

In a campaign for better assemblies the student council has approached all of the teachers who head the various departments and asked for ideas upon assemblies having to do with their subject.

Wednesday, a group of pupils went in to the second Symphony concert. Since the Wednesday Science Club will hold its third meeting at the school year in March 24.

MELROSE MYSTIC VALLEY CROSS COUNTRY WINNER

With Winchester's captain, Dick Palson, winning individual honors, the High School of the Mystic Valley interscholastic cross country meet sponsored by Winchester High School and run Wednesday afternoon over the local courses.

Melrose scored 40 points to lead the five team field, Beverly finishing second with 54. Winchester and Woburn tied for third with 75. Wakefield was last with 123. Melrose also won the junior varsity race with Beverly again second. Driscoll of Beverly was the individual winner.

In winning the varsity meet Palson covered the course in 14 min. 45.2 seconds. The course record is held by his brother, Bill, now leader of the Harvard freshman harriers, and is 14 min. 43.3 seconds. Cox of Melrose finished second Wednesday with Kelly of Woburn, third; Sears of Beverly, fourth; and Phippen of Winchester, fifth.

Following is the summary of the Winchester finishers:

1. R. Palson	28. R. Collins
3. R. Phippen	34. R. Young
5. D. Phillips	47. R. Goddard
22. H. Hawks
23. J. Leonard	30. Junior Varsity
8. Erikson	16. Eaton
9. Sheehan	17. Gattneri

GAVE LUNCHEON BEFORE HARVARD-PRINCETON FOOTBALL GAME

Mrs. Alfred J. White of Foxcroft road gave a luncheon for her daughters, Miss Natalie White and Miss Shirley White, last Saturday noon at the Hotel Continental in Cambridge.

In honor of the Harvard-Princeton football game which many of the 100 guests were attending, courses of gold chrysanthemums were given the girls favoring the Princeton tiger and crimson ones to those supporting John Harvard.

Debutante Natalie wore a frock of chambray colored daisies with a veiled brown bonnet-shaped hat. Shirley was in turquoise blue and chambray colored hat and both carried bouquets of gold snapdragons, single chrysanthemums and larkspur. Mrs. White was gown in violet, a corsage of violets enhancing her violet frock. The same color with which she wore a matching hat.

KEN PARKER IN LOCAL MOVIE

Picked from a field of approximately 400 aspirants, Ken Parker, grandson of Mrs. Clara Parker of Mystic Valley Parkway, and well-known local actor, was chosen to play a leading role in the sound film "Romance in Brookline."

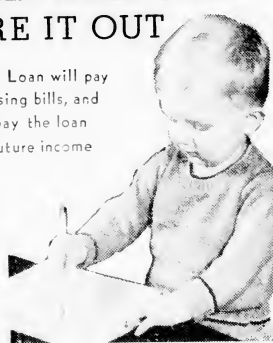

The movie, which is being sponsored by the Brookline Junior Chamber of Commerce, will feature some two hundred local persons and is under the direction of Edwin Cooper, formerly a director with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

The picture, which will have its opening at the Brookline Theatre on Nov. 7, has as its theme, a simple love story, of how a boy meets a girl, marriage, and love in Brookline.

Don't forget the Ladies' Friendly Society, Unitarian Church Bazaar, Nov. 19.

PINTS AND PASSES

Pete Galuffo must spend about half his time playing against former Winchester team-mates. Latest was Gerry Fiorello, for whom Pete substituted in his high school days, now playing for Wentworth. Both boys made touchdowns when Northeastern frosh played Wentworth last Friday, the college boys winning 14 to 6. Frankie Provenzano has finally sealed the heights and is now rated a starting back at B. U. In commenting on the old Winchester star with Cubby, Don't star recently Pat Hanley described him as the most improved player on his squad. How to go, Ref? . . . It's a bit hard to say. Ray Hayward's coaching that inebriate from the May-wood stands was really too good to pass unnoticed. The gent had been throwing his weight about quite a bit until Ray took him in hand. Then he went away as meekly as a lamb. Quite a way with them, has Ray? . . . Ted Bartlett, Winchester's assistant coach, is going down to Lexington this weekend to help his old chief, Wendall Mansfield, in the game the latter's Bates team will wage in the Maine State series with Colby. Don't forget the white gloves, Bart, it may be cold down there. . . . Tony DeToro continues to start for the Tufts-yearling eleven in spite of Zull's (former Medford and Bridgeton boy) size and reputation. Neither mean much to Winchester's "Peggy". . . .

Add Belmont to the teams that have gone big time in uniforms. . . . For something a little different in sideline wear see that parka being sported by Lou Goddu. Sort of a cross between an Esquimaux hat and a horse blanket. Very warm, says Lou and plenty of room for action. . . . Big Leo Lerley and Ed Cummings, 135 pound colored lad, are practicing with the Winchester varsity regularly now. Both have been in their studies, but expected to be all right for Woburn, and if the work in the Reading scrimmage Wednesday is any criterion, should help. . . . Yesterday was a regular old last year and is a big loss, going nearly 200. . . . Understand Woburn's coach, Jim Brennan is worrying about Winchester. Not about the outcome of the game, but about the locals' record which he is afraid may not get the gate. Up in the once tanning city they figure Winchester a very soft touch for this year's turkey day. . . . When you are handling out the furline overshoots to Winchester's most faithful reader, don't overlook Hal Gammage. First team or second team, Saturdays or weekdays, rain or shine, he's there. . . .

THE PROVERBIAL CAT

So the cat came back, and Mrs. McCurry the he was put out quite much in a hurry. . . .

But the poor little puss made his way back home. . . .

He evaded the remains of his chair. . . .

And today quite for him, he was sitting there. . . .

So a drop of milk for his consolation. . . .

Nothing about him but devotion. . . .

That there wasn't a wall. . . .

And all the way with us Britishers. . . .

Cat and all. . . .

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY WINCHESTER MERCHANT DIED SUDDENLY

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary was held on Monday evening, Nov. 4, at the Legion home, 591 Main street. About 20 members attended. Reports of all the committees were read and new business transacted.

Mrs. Ella Rolfe, County membership chairman, gave a most interesting talk on membership and the work of the Auxiliary. She also conducted the new business transacted.

Mrs. Frances Conlon entertained the members with a musical program. Mrs. Alice Murphy rendered popular selections on the piano. The members joined in singing "God Bless America."

Refreshments were served by the hostess for the evening Mrs. Gertrude Koefe. Mrs. Esther M. Carthy, Mrs. Alice Murphy and Mrs. Julia McGraw.

All present had a most enjoyable evening and are looking forward to the next get-together Nov. 21. Meeting called to order.

Nathan Kniznik of 75 Wilcox street, Dorchester, proprietor of the Winchester Cleaners & Dyers at 591 Main street, died suddenly Friday morning, Nov. 1, while in Havorth on business.

Mr. Kniznik left his Winchester shop apparently in the best of health and accompanied by his son, Bernard, went to an establishment with which he had business in Havorth. He collapsed upon entering the plant and died almost immediately of an aneurysm attack of heart disease.

Mr. Kniznik was 55 years old and prominent in Dorchester where he was identified with many organizations and associations. He was vice-president of the North Russell Street Synagogue in Boston, where funeral services were held Sunday morning. Interment was in Everett.

Broadly known, Mr. Kniznik leaves his wife, Mrs. Kate Kniznik, venting at 1 are looking forward to the next get-together Nov. 21. Meeting called to order.

In 1928, the year "Al" Smith ran against Herbert Hoover, the town polled 212 votes of a registration of 5947 or 36 per cent. In 1932, there were 6149 votes cast from a registration of 6096, a percentage of 69.99, and in 1936 there were 6966 voting from a list of 7441, a percentage of 94.02. Results for those years are interesting:

Hoover	1928	3766
Smith	1928	1961
Hoover	1932	4108
Hoover	1932	1988
Hoover	1936	4929
Hoover	1936	1939
Hoover	1936	2394
Hoover	1936	2183

There were many interesting scenes at the town hall, many persons obviously ill or infirm being assisted to the polls, some making the trip into the hall in wheelchairs and others leaning on the arms of nurses or attendants.

It is quite likely that Mr. Daniel Kimball of Wilwood street, civil war veteran, was the oldest person to vote here, he being 99 years old with his 100th birthday falling during this month. Mrs. Mary S. Hawley of Church street, aged 97 years, was another of the older voters at the polls. There was no confusion at the hall and no trouble. Peak voting hours differed in the various precincts, precincts 3 and 4 being fairly well cleaned up by the middle of the afternoon, while big votes were recorded in 1, 2 and 6 during the late afternoon and evening. Generally speaking of course the busiest time was about train time during the morning.

Winchester cast 266 absentee ballots, divided as follows: Precinct 1, 35; Precinct 2, 28; Precinct 3, 77; Precinct 4, 51; Precinct 5, 63; and Precinct 6, 12.

The first precinct to report its figures was Precinct 5, of which Fred H. Scholl is wardens. Its total being received at 9:15. The last precinct to, precinct 2, came in at 2:37 a. m., and it was 3:25 when the final tabulation was announced by Town Clerk Malcol W. Stinson. Tired workers and political henchmen had left the hall well before that hour and telephone calls were coming in from the precincts. It was 4 o'clock Wednesday morning when the Town Clerk and her assistant, Miss Helen Stinson, finally arrived home.

Throughout the day workers of both parties were busy at the polls, the Republicans, having an especially efficient corps on duty. Following is the vote summary:

Precincts	1	2	3	4	5	6	Total

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

"What is Right With the World?" Most of us today know pretty well what is wrong with it and at times are tempted to think that's all there is to it. But to both interest and inspire and to hear the other side, Edward P. Gates, B. A., LL. D., will speak on this subject at the next meeting on Monday Nov. 11, at 2 p. m. at Fortnightly Hall. Mr. Gates is a world traveler, lecturer, lawyer and successful business man who is especially interested in youth, world friendship and community service.

Also at this meeting Mrs. George A. Dutton, a valued member of the Fortnightly and chairman of the Winchester Chapter of the Red Cross, will give details of the organization and arrangements for defense which have been set up by the local Red Cross. This should be of great interest and importance to Fortnightly members and through them to other townspeople.

The Fortnightly Juniors will be special guests, and since it is a holiday it is hoped that members will see fit to bring as guests members of their families at night and not otherwise be free to attend.

On Friday, Nov. 15, at 2 p. m. Dr. Edward A. Rushford of 184 Lafayette street, Salem, will open his studio to the Fortnightly Antiques committee. Dr. Rushford will lecture on "Louis Prang, Engraver on Wood." Prang was one of America's important lithographers and is called the father of the American Christmas Card.

Dr. Rushford owns one of the finest English and newer collections in the country, which members may see following the lecture.

Cars will meet at Fortnightly Hall at 1 o'clock sharp. A few of 50 cents will be charged and reservations must be made not later than Tuesday, Nov. 12, with your chairman, Alice C. Eberle, Win. 0800, or the chairman of the day, Alice R. Andrews, Win. 0017.

Reserve the forenoon of Wednesday, Nov. 20, for the first Musicale of the season. Full details next week.

ART ASSOCIATION

On Sunday, Nov. 3 the Winchester Art Association opened an exhibition of pictures by Dahlov Zorach (Mrs. Adolph Ipeart) at the Winchester Library Gallery. This exhibit which should interest a large variety of people shows the artist's work from childhood into maturity. A unique show which has only been shown in two other galleries in the country consists of drawings of the child for three up to the age of 22. This exhibition was prepared for the educational project of the Museum of Modern Art in New York City.

The speaker at this meeting introduced by Mr. John Ely Burchard, was Mr. Karl Zerbe, head of the Boston Museum School of Fine Arts. Mr. Zerbe gave an excellent informal talk followed by a long period of discussion by various members of the Association. He prefaced his remarks by saying that during his travels he has seen an exhibit of children's art in Mexico and had concluded that the young untrained, unspoiled Mexican children produced the best work while the work of the American children was trite and unpromising. His belief in early training of the right kind is tantamount to real artistic work later. If a child's imagination is in any way thwarted by teacher or parent the development is seriously hampered. He pointed out that in his opinion Miss Zorach's work had been a natural development encouraged but not corrected by her father, the famous American sculptor William Zorach.

After the talk by Mr. Zerbe an informal tea was served. Mrs. Donald Davis had charge of the tea and had for her boursers Mrs. Richard Davis, assisted by Mrs. John Burchard. Servers were Misses Janet Eaton, Ellen Jackson, Katherine Seaton, Laurie Nickerson, Janice Dexter and Hope Wilson.

This fine exhibit is to be open to the public for the remainder of the month of November during library hours. Everyone interested in art and its development among children should attend it.

MYSTIC MOTHERS' BRIDGE

The Mystic School Mothers' Association is holding its annual district bridge on Tuesday, Nov. 19, in the school assembly hall.

Mrs. Clarence Zarse is general chairman assisted by Mrs. Clinton Mason. Heading up the various committees are Mrs. Adolph Johnson who has charge of the decorations. This year the hall will have a patriotic atmosphere with its red, white and blue colors.

Mrs. Warren Jenner is in charge of prizes. Mrs. Charles Hart is chairman of the floor committee. Mrs. Theodore Chilcote has an able committee helping her with the refreshments.

Mrs. Charles Clarke is head of the candy committee and will have six girls from the sixth grade selling the candy during the afternoon.

Mrs. Theodore Atkinson has been working hard as chairman of the donation committee. Who ever holds the lucky number will win a pair of Kenwood blankets.

Tickets for this bridge are 30 cents and may be obtained from the chairman, Mrs. Franklin Flinders, Win. 2156.

The proceeds from this bridge are given to the scholarship fund of the Mystic School.

Notepaper from the up at Wilson Station.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Over 100 women gathered at the Charles River Country Club on last Wednesday to observe the 10th anniversary of the founding of the Guild of the Infant Saviour. The spacious rooms of the club were gayly decorated with fall flowers and the guests were received by the huge fireplaces in the hall by the president of the Chapter, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini and the hostess of the afternoon, Mrs. James F. Gaffney. In the dining room members were seated at round tables with one large table across the end for the guests of honor, the toast mistress, Nov. 13 for the second lecture, Mrs. Earl M. Wood, who presided in the capacity of toastmaster, introduced the various speakers.

A huge birthday cake was cut and given to those present with their dessert.

The entertainment was given by Ernest Woesson, accordionist and Mrs. Francis Conlon, reader.

Much praise was heard from all for the splendid way which Mrs. Gaffney and her committee completed their plans for the affair. Assisting were Mrs. William Hickey, Mrs. Ralph Sexton, Mrs. Michael Hintham, Mrs. James Carr, Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini and Mrs. Thos. Feeney.

Lecture Mrs. Francis R. Mullin will open her home on Main street on Friday afternoon, Nov. 15 for the second lecture of the fall series sponsored by the Guild. Rev. Louis Bonn, S. J., Professor of English and Dramatics at Boston College will be the speaker.

Mrs. Mullin will give a short organ musicale preceding the lecture. As only 75 can be accommodated it is urged that those who have not made their reservations should do so immediately and this promises to be a most outstanding afternoon. Tea will be served.

Bridge A large group gathered at Lyceum Hall on Monday for the bridge sponsored by Mrs. John Gorman and Mrs. Robert Cavanaugh. The proceeds will be used to make the table at the bazaar more outstanding. As this table always attracts notice from the crowd on this day, it will no doubt be more successful and attractive this year.

A new chairman of decorations has been created and Mrs. Gorman most ably presided in this capacity. Throughout the year there are many affairs that requires skill and artistry in decoration and members are happy in Mrs. Gorman's appointment.

HOSPITALITY COMMITTEE

At the Unitarian Church a Hospitality Committee has been organized with representatives in each precinct of the town. This committee will function not only on Sunday mornings but also through the week in endeavors to awaken interest, to discover new people, to make them feel at home in the church. They held their first meeting on Monday, Oct. 28, and served at the church for the first time last Sunday morning and their services were graciously received.

The committee includes Mr. and Mrs. A. Russell Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. D. Earle Osgood, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Dutch, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Goldard, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot F. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Stone, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse S. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis W. Nash, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. D. Townley-Tilson, Miss Polly Kimball and Mr. William Flewelling.

BOOK WEEK AT WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY

"Good Books—Good Friends" is the slogan on the little book marks being placed in the books of young readers at the Winchester Public Library. This is the slogan for Book Week which is to be observed this year from Nov. 10 to 16. It will be the 22d anniversary of Book Week and teachers and librarians throughout the country are emphasizing to their young people the significance of good reading.

Many organizations are giving their support to Book Week, among which are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs, and the National Youth Administration. The Winchester Public Library is observing Book Week by extending a cordial invitation to all groups and individuals, adult and juvenile alike, to visit the library and be shown around the building.

The Young People's room has a supply of new books for Book Week and an annotated list, to help the reader in choosing suitable books, is available for use in the library.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE

"See Them-Tell Them," is a new slogan of the work of the Salvation Army in gathering funds to meet the quota of $2,000 assigned to Winchester. To carry out that idea Sydney March continues to meet every person possible, as the Army's official collector, carrying a credential letter signed by William N. Boggs, attorney.

The slogan was taken from a talk made by Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston, as he attended a general report meeting of the $200,000 campaign group, last week. The mayor pointed out that it would be an easy matter to gather funds to meet the Salvation Army budget—if the people knew the achievements of the Army in behalf of the needy, a work carried on night and day. He suggested it was the job of all good citizens of Boston and Massachusetts towns, to tell the story, to aid the cause of raising this $200,000.

Mr. Boggs points of Winchester is one of 34 towns, close at hand, who make up the Metropolitan Division. That division, headed by Walter Channing, is assigned a quota of $18,000 of which the $2,000 sought in Winchester, is a part. He again asks that all who can to take advantage of the mails to send their donation to the campaign treasurer, G. Dwight Cabot, of the Winchester Trust Company, or if convenient to hand their money or check to Mr. Cabot, a commissioned officer. Colonel Atkinson was an honored guest at the fourth report meeting of the industry and finance division on Tuesday, Election Day, at the Chamber of Commerce in Boston.

AUTO AND BIKE COLLIDE

Twelve year old Arthur Morahan of 24 Newland road, Arlington, was knocked from his bicycle in a collision with an automobile on Church street near Cambridge street Sunday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock.

The driver of the car, Stuart C. Smith of 2 Elmwood avenue, told the police the youngster ran his bicycle into the side of the machine, a Buick coupe, owned by Alice H. Allen of 291 Mountain avenue, Malden. He took the boy to the nearby office of Dr. Taylor who treated him for cuts about the hands.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF, WINCHESTER UNIT

She Was There in Half an Hour

Circumstances weren't exactly favorable when she made the record. In fact, when the news came to her that a band of tired men would go hungry until her rolling kitchen could arrive, she was putting out a fire in her own house. An invading plane had passed over, and the incendiary bomb it had dropped had found her house as a target. But she was one of the six women who manned a rolling kitchen, and she knew what its prompt arrival always meant. So she managed both duties in record time, and in half an hour she and her team of five and their kitchen drew up at the appointed place.

Water in the kettles was boiling as the kitchen arrived, and it was a matter of minutes until something hot was handed out to the workers they had come to feed. It was not soldiers this time, nor refugee women and children, nor the sick carried out from a bombed hospital. All these needs had come in the day's work of their kitchen unit at other times, but this morning it was different. It was grimy men with shovels this time, not young, not used to shovels in the old days. It was bank clerks and gardeners and the aquire and the rec- tor, gray with weariness and dust. The kitchen fed them and they hurried back to their task, saving from the piled debris those whom the bomb had imprisoned there.

That British woman knew what a rolling kitchen meant and so, in spite of everything, she was there. Winchester, too, realizes what a rolling kitchen means, and Winchester has undertaken to add one of these units. The rolling kitchens are being provided all over England, so placed that within two hours, no matter what has happened, hot and appetizing food will be ready, enough to serve 200 people.

Winchester's first money for her kitchen will be raised in that pleasant way, by going to the theatre. All the proceeds from "Tonight at 8:30," to be presented in "The Little Theatre Beneath the Spire" on Nov. 8 and 9, will go toward this Winchester unit.

A limited number of tickets is still available at Parker and Lane's. Those are for series of three plays which the Parish Players will present this winter. They initiate the season with Noel Coward's comedies, they will follow up in midwinter with an Irishman's ninth, Shaw's "Pygmalion," and will end the season with an American comedy, "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

To give oneself a good time, or rather three good times, and to serve so good a cause as the rolling kitchen for beleaguered England, what could be better?

ARREST FOLLOWED MOTOR CRASH

A man whom the police say was driving one of the cars involved was arrested after an automobile accident that took place on Bacon street near Cottage avenue shortly after 12:30 Sunday morning.

A resident of Bacon street reported the accident to the police and Seret Joseph Dero was sent to investigate with Officer Claude Dunkley in Patrol 51. Patrolman John Hanlon also responding.

They found a Plymouth sedan, owned by George A. Hanley of 33 West 5th street, Lowell, and driven by Francis B. A. McGarry of 31 Grove avenue, that city, while heading south on Bacon street was in collision with a Pontiac sedan, registered to Carola McGrath of 15 Jason terrace, Arlington.

According to police the operator of the Pontiac which was headed north on Bacon street, drove on after the collision to the corner of Lagrange street, where he got out and went through Lagrange street toward Norwood street.

Later, on Church street in front of the Methodist Church, the Police arrested a man answering to the description of the missing driver, against whom were lodged charges of drunkenness, driving while under the influence of liquor and leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known after doing damage to property and causing injury to persons. At head McGrath of 15 Jason terrace, Arlington.

Both machines were damaged and two passengers in McGarry's car complained of injuries. Mrs. Genevieve Bajdek of 117 Beacon street, Chelsea, complained of injuries to her left side, and Eleanor Lowe of 39 West Fourth street, Lowell, complained of being shaken up.

McGrath appeared in the District Court at Woburn Monday morning, at which time his case was continued until Nov. 8.

Did you buy YOUR car on "Millinery"?

YOU hear it said often nowadays that it's millinery that sells automobiles.

All right—let's put it up to one who knows. Did you buy your car on nick-nacks, trick devices, novelties?

We don't think so.

We believe that while considering style, and room, and comfort—you really picked your car on what it would do on the road!

Now, we take our hats off to no car for being smarter-looking than Buick. We'll match our product against any for room, for appointments, for fine finish, for the comfort of its all-coil springing and the safety of its Body by Fisher.

But beyond all that, we challenge the whole field to equal Buick on its down-right all-round performance ability.

On its power—on its pull—on its pick-up—on its easy handling (including freedom from shifting)—yes, and on its thrift.

Nowhere will you find a car that does so much so well and so frugally—and we invite you to find that out for yourself.

You'll find novelties in the new Buicks of course, but they're not the chief attraction. Instead you'll see the two big basic engineering developments of the year—FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion.

They give you an automobile that packs a real thrill—and if that means more to you than superficialities, better come in and learn more about it.

WINCHESTER PUBLIC LIBRARY

In the past few years many new reference books as well as the usual annuals have been added to the reading room shelves at the Winchester Public Library. Among them are those listed below:

The Encyclopedia Britannica, 1937.—In 24 volumes, this encyclopedia is accepted throughout the world for its authentic information on a vast number of subjects. Every word has a short definition while pamphlet-length treatises appear on such varied subjects as alloys, fungi, League of Nations, theatre, and on the different countries, states and sports.

The Encyclopedia Americana, 1940.—Illustrated to increase the clarity of the text, this set is more for the adult than for the young student. Sober and concise, it has a fund of up-to-date information written by people accredited in their respective fields.

Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia, 1940.—A valuable set, and although heretofore considered for children, this new edition is appropriate for reference work of all ages. It contains detailed information and pictures on subjects in history, science, biography, nature, history, cities, as well as occasional educational stories suitable for reading aloud.

Dictionary of American History, 1940.—A dictionary of places, events, experiences and subjects in American History.

Lincoln Library, 1938.—A veritable library complete in two volumes, used frequently for literature, grammar, government, education, Fine Arts, and economics, as well as the usual biographies, history and science. Each section is followed by test questions on the text, valuable to the examination student.

Recitation, 1940.—Indexed by titles, authors and first lines, this large volume refers to approximately 75,000 poems.

American Year Book, 1939.—Contains annual reviews by suitable people of events and progress in varied fields including literature, science, nature, social conditions, government and history.

Who's Who, 1940.—Annual English publication giving biographical data on prominent living people of the world. Gives full name, titles or degrees, position, birth, parents, wife, children, education, positions held, publications, recreations, address and clubs.

Who's Who in America, 1940-41.—People of note living in the United States, listed geographically in a separate section and then alphabetically, giving same biographical material as Who's Who.

The World Almanac, 1940.—Published annually by the New York World-Telegram, this yearbook contains information on every conceivable timely subject which might be needed by the writers in a newspaper office. It includes political, sport, government and business statistics—everything from a description of the Bahama Islands to the polo records.

Congressional Directory, 1938.—Edited with an easy-to-use thumb index, this directory has biographies of the members of Congress, their committees and duties, Congressional mans of all states, information and member lists of the Press, material on all Court officials, etc.

Political Handbook of the World, 1940.—Extensive but brief political surveys of each country, giving the capital, information about the heads and forms of government, the party systems and the names, political affiliations and editors of prominent newspapers.

The Statesman's Year-Book, 1940.—Having almost 500 pages on the British Commonwealth, 200 on the United States, and the 700 remaining pages on the other countries, this book gives comprehensive material on the country's government, area, religion, education, defense, industries, commerce, banking, diplomatic representatives.

Diamond, Demon Chaser

The Hindus believed that the diamond drove away demons and devils, according to a writer in Pearson's London Weekly. It cured any disease, especially blood poisoning and jaundice. Worn on the left arm it protected one against plague and cholera. Blind eyes washed in the water a diamond had lain in would be restored to sight, they said. It prevented madness when worn on the neck.

A Lecture on Christian Science Entitled
Christian Science: The Science of Christ
by
Dr. Hendrik J. de Lange, C.S.B. of New York City

Member of the Board of Fellowship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts

A lecture on Christian Science entitled "Christian Science: The Science of Christ," was delivered in the Winchester Theatre on November 14, 1940, and the assistance of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Winchester.

Dr. de Lange was introduced by the First Reader, Mr. Henry O. Giddens.

Friends: on behalf of First Church of Christ, Scientist in Winchester, I welcome you here this afternoon.

Nearly two thousand years ago occurred an event which began the fulfillment of an ancient prophecy. It was the Prophet Isaiah who foretold the coming of the Messiah, Jesus the Christ, in these words, Behold a virgin shall conceive and bear a son and shall call his name Immanuel.

It is significant that the meaning of the Hebrew name Immanuel is God with us. Through the teachings of Jesus his disciples were enabled to realize the presence of deity now as evidenced in their casting out devils, healing the sick and raising the dead. Through the study of the explanation of those teachings of Jesus given to this age by the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, many students are demonstrating the power and presence of God in their daily lives. This is manifest

Miss Barbara Ashton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Ashton of Mr. Vernon street, and Tracy C. Chandler of Springfield, son of Rev. and Mrs. Albert N. Chandler, were married on Saturday evening, Nov. 9, at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist Church by the pastor, Rev. L. Mitchell Russell.

Music for the ceremony was furnished by the church organist, Mrs. Frederick C. Macdonald.

Miss Ashton was attended by Miss Mary Evans of Boston, a former teaching associate in Auburn, Me., who was maid of honor and by Miss Lois and Miss Janet Richardson of Somerville, who were bridesmaids.

Miss Janet Macaulay of Melrose was flower girl and Eric Chandler of Hartford, Conn., was his brother's best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Upon their return to the bride's home, the bride and groom were given by Mr. Frederick B. Craven, vice president of the Winchester Community Chest; Mr. Harold Fuller, chairman of the Metropolitan Committee of the Greater Boston Community Fund; Mr. Robert Montgomery, campaign chairman of the Metropolitan Division; Mr. William Rosal, Jr., and Mr. Eugene Vail, assistant staff secretary and administrative vice chairman respectively at Metropolitan Division Headquarters in Boston.

The Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign solicits in 46 cities and towns of Metropolitan Boston for the support of over 200 agencies including all seven agencies in Winchester: the Winchester District Nursing Association, Winchester Hospital, Winchester City Scouts, Boy Scouts of America, Inc., Folkland Council No. 242, Social Service Council, Home for the Aged and the St. Vincent de Paul Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

Although the drive does not start until January 1st, the Winchester organization is well under way. One precinct director reported six Captains, another, five.

The slogan for the 1941 Campaign is "Defend Your Community Now." Mr. Montgomery stressed the fact that this year, as never before, in a world of chaos and uncertainty, we must care for the human needs of thousands of men, women and children who are looking to us for practical and moral help.

This year's campaign with the showing of the 1941 Campaign movie picture which tells the stirring story of need and the help which our agencies give to the people of Greater Boston who are ill in mind and body.

NEW ADULT RECREATION COMMITTEE MEETS

The third meeting of the Adult Recreation Committee met Friday night with the chairman, Mr. Dana J. Kelly presiding. Other members of the newly organized committee are Mrs. A. Allen Kimball from the School Committee; Rev. Mr. William Packer, from the Park Board; Mr. Edward O'Melia, Jr., Dr. Angelo Maletta and Mrs. Harold Meyer, secretary.

This committee has been carefully studying the recreation facilities for both men and women interested in basketball, keep fit classes, folk dancing, wood carving, clay modeling and rug making.

Tentative plans are being made to form groups in the desired recreation. It is the intention of the committee that these recreational facilities will be used by any adult resident of the town. Definite plans will be announced later.

MISS COREY ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Preston E. Corey of Winchester and Margaret announce the engagement of their daughter, Evelyn Miriam, to Ned Russell of Cummington, N. H. Miss Corey was graduated from Winchester High School in 1935; she attended Colby Junior College in 1936 and received her B. A. degree last January from Syracuse University, where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega.

Mr. Russell attended Springfield College and Syracuse University. The wedding is planned for next May.

TEA FOR MISS JEPSON

Miss Flora Jepson, second grade teacher at the Wyman School, will meet informally and visit with the mothers of her pupils at a tea and social hour to be held Tuesday, Nov. 19, from 4 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frederick L. Hicks, 4 Penn road.

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. H. Kimball Archibald, Mrs. Joseph T. McCauley, Mrs. Talma Greenwood, Mrs. William Morse and Mrs. Gordon Bird.

POLICEMAN'S BALL TONIGHT

Entertainment to be Followed by Dancing

Everything is in readiness and another capacity crowd is expected for the annual Police Ball and Ball of the Winchester Police Relief Association to be held this evening in the town hall commencing at 8 o'clock.

An excellent entertainment consisting of eight acts of Keith's R.K.O. Vaudeville will open promptly at 8 o'clock and those who want seats for the show will in advance of that hour.

Ken Reeves' Orchestra will play for the show and for dancing which will follow, commencing about 10 o'clock and continuing until one.

Patrolman James P. Donaghy is chairman of the ball committee with Patrolmen John Hanlon and John Hogan in charge of tickets. Chief William H. Rogers is acting as floor marshal with Lt. Edward O'Connell, assistant floor marshal and Sgt. Patrolman Donaghy is floor director.

Sgt. Charles J. Harrold, assistant floor director and Sgt. Joseph Deane, assistant floor director, also at the service was a delegation of members of the Post Auxiliary, led by President, George MacMann.

Beside the Post colors the National and State flags were displayed in the church and the pulpit was draped with the church service flag, having inlaid for members of the society in the service and gold stars for those who died during the war.

An especially impressive feature of the ball was the Honor Roll of Winchester men who died in the service between 1918 and 1919 which this country was at war. At the conclusion of the Honor Roll taps were sounded by Trumpeter Norman Clark.

Mr. Chapman, in his sermon, stressed the necessity for sacrifice in connection with the flag, finding that the lives of our patriots gave birth to those principles which our Emblem stands while additional sacrifices of those who have followed have guaranteed and maintained the flag in times of national stress.

Officers are going to be necessary now as we face the present crisis of international events, Mr. Chapman continued, and with the motto cheerfully that those who follow us may find us worthy of our own heritage and an example to them to keep the torch high in the future.

Three past commanders of Winchester Post, A. L., served as a committee in charge of arranging the service. They were Wade L. Grindle, Richard W. Barton, Elmer J. Marshall and Wm. Symmes.

On Armistice Day at the traditional 11 o'clock in the forenoon a detachment of Legionnaires led by Commander May Adams, marched from the Post Headquarters to the War Memorial at the corner of Main street and the parkway. There the usual brief exercises were held and a wreath was placed at the base of the statue. As the color guard presented arms and the Legionnaires stood at salute Trumpeter Norman Clark signaled taps.

The bride wore her mother's wedding dress of white satin and lace, made with a sweetheart neckline and broad length sleeves. She also wore her mother's long veil, arranged with a Juliet cap, and carried a bouquet of white roses having a center of gardenias and bouvardia and a long silver chain.

The three bridesmaids wore frocks of chiffon with matching lace jackets that buttoned up the front and had long silver chains. The groom wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and a white bow tie.

A reception was held after the ceremony, at which the parents of the bride and groom, the bride's father, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, Richard W. Barton, Elmer J. Marshall and Wm. Symmes, assisted in receiving. After a wedding journey through the eastern states Mr. and Mrs. Shull will make their home in Indianapolis.

The bride, who has been a stewardess on the American Airlines, graduated from Waltham High School and trained at the New England Hotel School where she was for 18 months supervisor in the operating room.

Mr. Shull is a newspaperman on the Waltham Evening News and for college at Montpelier High School and Culver Academy, receiving his Bachelor of Journalism Degree from the University of Missouri.

Winchester raised $13,664.92 for the Republican Finance Campaign, 1940. The results from the house-to-house canvass were 154 per cent of the quota.

Some idea of the thoroughness of the drive was gained from the fact that there were 182 contributors, an increase of 1000 over the largest number who had ever before given to this campaign in Winchester.

The success of the drive lies in the fact that the captains and the workers were untiring in their efforts and the people of Winchester were zealous and receptive to the solicitor.

To all who worked and all who gave, the undersigned, express our gratitude. We are all proud of a job well done.

TEA FOR MISS JEPSON

Miss Flora Jepson, second grade teacher at the Wyman School, will meet informally and visit with the mothers of her pupils at a tea and social hour to be held Tuesday, Nov. 19, from 4 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frederick L. Hicks, 4 Penn road.

Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. H. Kimball Archibald, Mrs. Joseph T. McCauley, Mrs. Talma Greenwood, Mrs. William Morse and Mrs. Gordon Bird.

WINCHESTER OBSERVED ARMISTICE DAY

Veterans, Attended Church Service and Exercises at Memorial

Winchester's observance of Armistice Day ended with a socially arranged service at the Winchester Public Library on Sunday morning, Nov. 10.

The service was held in the town hall, featuring a church service, a reading of the Declaration of Independence, a reading of the "Flag" and a special music by the choir with Legion Spikes as organist.

A detachment of more than 100 members of the Post 97, American Legion, led by Commander Richard W. MacAdams, with the Post Colors and color guard marched from their headquarters to the church where they occupied specially reserved seats.

Joining them at the church were representatives of Abernethy Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, led by Commander Edward B. Fitzgerald, and Dr. Herbert E. Maynard of Church street who served overseas in the medical corps during the World War with the rank of captain. Also at the service was a delegation of members of the Post Auxiliary, led by President, George MacMann.

Beside the Post colors the National and State flags were displayed in the church and the pulpit was draped with the church service flag, having inlaid for members of the society in the service and gold stars for those who died during the war.

An especially impressive feature of the ball was the Honor Roll of Winchester men who died in the service between 1918 and 1919 which this country was at war. At the conclusion of the Honor Roll taps were sounded by Trumpeter Norman Clark.

Mr. Chapman, in his sermon, stressed the necessity for sacrifice in connection with the flag, finding that the lives of our patriots gave birth to those principles which our Emblem stands while additional sacrifices of those who have followed have guaranteed and maintained the flag in times of national stress.

Officers are going to be necessary now as we face the present crisis of international events, Mr. Chapman continued, and with the motto cheerfully that those who follow us may find us worthy of our own heritage and an example to them to keep the torch high in the future.

Three past commanders of Winchester Post, A. L., served as a committee in charge of arranging the service. They were Wade L. Grindle, Richard W. Barton, Elmer J. Marshall and Wm. Symmes.

On Armistice Day at the traditional 11 o'clock in the forenoon a detachment of Legionnaires led by Commander May Adams, marched from the Post Headquarters to the War Memorial at the corner of Main street and the parkway. There the usual brief exercises were held and a wreath was placed at the base of the statue. As the color guard presented arms and the Legionnaires stood at salute Trumpeter Norman Clark signaled taps.

The bride wore her mother's wedding dress of white satin and lace, made with a sweetheart neckline and broad length sleeves. She also wore her mother's long veil, arranged with a Juliet cap, and carried a bouquet of white roses having a center of gardenias and bouvardia and a long silver chain.

The three bridesmaids wore frocks of chiffon with matching lace jackets that buttoned up the front and had long silver chains. The groom wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and a white bow tie.

A reception was held after the ceremony, at which the parents of the bride and groom, the bride's father, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, Richard W. Barton, Elmer J. Marshall and Wm. Symmes, assisted in receiving. After a wedding journey through the eastern states Mr. and Mrs. Shull will make their home in Indianapolis.

The bride, who has been a stewardess on the American Airlines, graduated from Waltham High School and trained at the New England Hotel School where she was for 18 months supervisor in the operating room.

Mr. Shull is a newspaperman on the Waltham Evening News and for college at Montpelier High School and Culver Academy, receiving his Bachelor of Journalism Degree from the University of Missouri.

WOOL GATHERING FOR BRITISH WAR RELIEF

Fortnightly's Special Service

As the cold closes in on us in Massachusetts, we are going to be more and more aware of needless houses and shabby clothes in England and Wales and Scotland. As a Winchester mother wraps a child warm and sends him off to school she will be thinking of mothers whom the night's raiding may have robbed of all that she had provided for the warmth of her flock. It will be a comfort to know that no warm garments are lacking useless in her own attic and closets that might be handed out that morning where the war has brought need.

Fortnightly has made itself the agent for assembling all Winchester's offering of warm used clothing, for men and women as well as for children. Every Thursday the rooms will be open from 10 to 1 to receive it. Any warm clothing in good condition will be useful.

Those who bring gifts of this kind on Thursday are asked to remember that it is the common street door by which they will enter.

Winchester has already responded to this war need, and Fortnightly has the satisfaction of knowing that packages it started on the way "home" are now in use.

Another kind of wool gathering is in a borderland between old and new. A Winchester woman had a knitted dress that "just didn't do anything for her." Lovely soft yarn, good color, and all that, but every knitter knows how now and then a thing just misses a little the perfection it might have been. She strong-mindedly ripped it and reknit it into charming twin sweaters for girls of 10, of which the central work room, in Epiphany parish hall is very proud, and which will go with their next consignment of new garments.

The wool-gathering story has another chapter this week and a very pleasant one. The Talbot Woolen Mills of North Billerica have asked Mrs. Fred Cameron to come and receive a gift of woolen goods which they have assembled for British Relief. So there will be a new career for seissors and needles when next Wednesday comes.

All interested women are cordially invited to come to the central work room or to call by telephone for information. Mrs. Marion Waugh will answer at 238-7 and Mrs. Fred Cameron at 198-4.

MISS JOHNSON SHOWERED

Miss Mary F. Donaghey gave a shower at her home on Water street last Saturday evening for Miss Doris V. Johnson of Dedham, whose marriage to Miss Donaghey's nephew, Thomas W. Donaghey son of Patriotism and Mrs. James P. Donaghey of Washington street, is to take place on Nov. 30. Many from out of town were included among the large number of guests.

Miss Johnson was showered with confetti as she entered the house and presented with many attractive gifts, for which when she had recovered her composure she expressed her sincere thanks.

A buffet supper was served in the dining room, decorated in blue and white to match the large cake in the center of the dining table, iced with white frosting on which were placed the initials of Miss Johnson and Mr. Donaghey in blue. A pleasant social hour followed the supper.

SALE OF CHRISTMAS SEALS

The local Christmas Seal Committee has nearly completed arrangements for the 1940 sale of seals opening on Nov. 25. The members of the committee, with Mrs. Vincent Clarke as chairman, have set as their goal for this campaign in Winchester the sale of 100,000 seals. The seals will be sold in the intensive program of tuberculosis control conducted locally by the Southern Middlesex Health Association in the state by the Massachusetts Tuberculosis League, and throughout the nation by the National Tuberculosis Association.

Billboards at the Star Office.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

A talk on "Flower Arrangements with special attention to Thanksgiving and Christmas decorations," will be given by Miss Edna Cutter of Draught, at the meeting of the Conservation and Garden Group, Tuesday, Nov. 19, at 2 o'clock at Fortnightly Hall. Following the program, tea will be served under the direction of Miss Louise J. Raneroff, chairman.

On Wednesday morning, Nov. 20, at 10:15, at the home of Mrs. William P. Martin, 38 Arlington street, the Music and Literature Committees will present a musical, its theme, "The Impressionist Period." Featured on the program are: Mrs. William B. Elmer, concert pianist; Miss Dorothy Day, reader; and the following Fortnightly members: Mrs. Walter W. Winslow, soprano; Mrs. Mary Barton Witham, accompanist; and Mrs. Blanche S. Barnard, who will speak on the poetry of this period. Morning coffee will be served under the direction of Mrs. Charles R. Greco, chairman of the music committee and Mrs. Frank H. Higgins, chairman of the Literature Committee.

There are undoubtedly many members who would like to contribute to the Mobile Kitchen to be presented to the women of England as a Christmas gift from the Mass. State Federation of Women's Clubs, but who were unable to be present at the regular meeting on Nov. 11, when a collection for this purpose was taken. Such members may send their contributions to the Fortnightly treasurer, Mrs. Stanley D. Howe, 24 Symonds road, or give them to Mrs. Howe at the next regular meeting, Nov. 25. Every contribution will be helpful. Remember, "Money a mickle maketh a man merry," but let's not be "Scotch" about our giving. The need is so great, and Fortnightly's standard in such respects has always been high.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

The mariner ship "Amoy" set sail Wednesday evening, Nov. 6 on its fifth cruise with six new crew members and three old midshipmates aboard. Two new recruits missed the boat but will be picked up next week. There are also seven non-active members who have registered with the ship.

New shipmates are: Ann Swidler, Virginia Terhune, Shirlee Palsom, Phyllis Jones, Jane McArthur, Barbara Bonnell, Elizabeth Reynolds and Virginia Wallace.

The mariner program was explained and a little practice given to "bell-ringers." A large skit presenting the history of the junk "Amoy" was given by a couple of old mariners. At two bells the meeting closed with a forecaster's song and mariner hymn.

Two dozen Girl Scout uniforms (sizes 12-14) are urgently needed. Anyone having one to donate or sell please bring to Girl Scout office.

The headers' training course is well under way. Wednesday, Nov. 13, is the regular meeting of the council. On Wednesday, Nov. 29, there will be a round table at Melrose from 10 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., for leaders of every age level. Brownies, Intermediates and Seniors. Marquette Twigg, regional director of Region 1 is the main speaker. All leaders are invited.

Nov. 27, the meeting will be omitted. The course will resume on Dec. 4. Mrs. Symmes' troop held a farewell dance last Friday for Barbara Beyer, who is going to Texas for a year.

The new hand back is out.

"WHAT IS RIGHT WITH THE WORLD"

Those who heard Mr. Edward P. Gates speak to the Fortnightly on Armistice Day on "What Is Right with the World" gained a brighter outlook on the world and a deeper sense of personal responsibility toward its problems. Even if, as he said, the average audience forgets 90 per cent of what the speaker has said within 20 minutes of hearing it, there was plenty of inspirational thought to carry away.

According to Mr. Gates, Americans live in an atmosphere of terror of varying degrees, from dread of social ostracism for failure to the horror of actual invasion by armed forces. Until we abandon this attitude we are in no condition to solve the problems of the world successfully.

In spite of all the many things we see wrong with the world at present, there are many things which are right. People are right. The world is full of fine people, here and abroad. We should be careful not to be in a hurry for ourselves or against others, keep us from approaching that fact and being neighborly. Unless we can be neighborly in heart, treaties, etc., are valueless.

Young people are all right too, in fact better than young people of years ago. They have to be in order to be as good. The pressure of youth today is so much greater that they have to have more decency, stamina and backbone to maintain as high a standard. "Youthful depravity," if there is such a thing, and Mr. Gates says there isn't, is an adult problem. How can we blame young people for "going to the dogs" if we provide no other place for them to go.

The church is all right, too. In spite of the "depression" and retrenchments in business lines the churches have held their own and in some cases forced ahead.

America, too, is not a bad place to live in, and "you and I can be right, if we do something." We hear much about the menace of the Fifth Column but the real Fifth Column in the United States is the well-dressed, self-satisfied people who are too lazy to do anything but let the country "go to the dogs." We must take our political and social responsibilities seriously and start in our own community.

Mr. Gates closed with a poem, the theme of which was "I want to let go, but I won't let go," a worth-while thought to carry into daily living.

THANKSGIVING EVE DANCE

Middlesex Chapter, Order of DeMolay will hold its annual Thanksgiving Eve dance in Winchester again this year.

Once again, the organization has been fortunate in securing Metcalf Hall, which has the reputation of having one of the best dance floors this side of Boston. In spite of 140 of these boys have decided to hold their dance on Wednesday evening, Nov. 27. The music for this year's dance will be supplied by the popular Leon Mayers' Orchestra who will play from 9 until 1.

The committee, which includes Ralph Jury, Paul Butterworth and Bill McLaughlin of Winchester, are planning an extra-special evening which everyone will enjoy. In the past many loyal friends of DeMolay have celebrated the Thanksgiving holidays by attending this dance and it is hoped that there will be present again this year.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

The following list of Contagious Diseases was reported to the Board of Health for week ending Thursday, Nov. 7:

Whooping Cough 1
Scarlet Fever 1

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

Mrs. Gertrude Keefe, will sponsor a bridge and whist party at the Legion Hall on Thursday evening, Nov. 21. Mrs. Keefe is working hard to make this party a financial success and promises a most enjoyable evening to all who attend, as well as lovely prizes.

Members are asked to attend and bring their friends to the party.

Refreshments will be served. These parties are very necessary as there are great demands on our welfare fund and more money is needed for our Christmas basket fund.

Why not do your bit to aid this great cause?

Mrs. Keefe is the wife of John Keefe, chairman of Sons of Legion Committee.

AUCTION FOLLOWS DINNER

The First Congregational Church is having a home-cooked turkey dinner on Thursday, Nov. 21 at 5:30 p. m. The chefs are Mrs. Wm. J. Thwing and Mrs. Lester Duffett. Following the dinner there will be an auction which will be a great deal of fun.

Mr. Rex Crandall will be the auctioneer and will be assisted by Mr. Erskine White. Food, and various good things will be put up at auction. The co-chairman of the committee for the auction are Mrs. Earle Andrews and Mrs. Roland Carter. Other members of the committee are Mrs. Frank, in Lane, Mrs. Erskine White, Mrs. Samuel Cole.

Local and Suburban

We Call It

Romance

IT'S JUST a can of soup. But during a long lifetime, the man who made it found some way to advertise it. At first, just a sign over his little soup kitchen, a few newspaper ads, a few billboards. But as the advertising grew, so did the business.

Now the business employs thousands of workers, helps to support tens of thousands of retail clerks and transportation men, and gives the housewife a better, cheaper soup than she could prepare at home.

Back of every heavily advertised article is a romantic story of this kind—the kind of romance that built America.

PHILIP R. WHITE

Philip R. White, 189 Summer avenue, Reading, will serve as associate chairman of the Metropolitan Division in the Greater Boston Community Fund's 1941 Campaign, in charge of the North Metropolitan communities, including Winchester. The appointment was announced by Robert H. Montgomery of Cambridge, Division chairman.

In last year's Campaign of the Greater Boston Community Fund, Mr. White was Metropolitan vice chairman in charge of the Falloway area, which embraces Malden, Melrose, Reading, Stoneham and Wakefield.

For the past five years Mr. White has been a member of the Planning Board of the Town of Reading, serving as its chairman in 1937 and 1938. A graduate of the University of Maine, class of 1922, and of Harvard Law School three years later, Mr. White is a partner in the Boston law firm of Hutchins and Wheeler. He lives in Reading with his wife and four children.

BAD ACCIDENT ON PALMER STREET

Daniel J. Donovan of 77 Woodside road was knocked unconscious and the Ford sedan he was driving, badly smashed in an unusual automobile accident which took place at the junction of Palmer and Middlesex streets last Saturday evening.

Mr. Donovan was driving north on Palmer street and had reached the curve just before the intersection of Middlesex street when his car got out of control and swung to the left of the road, crossing both the grass plot to the left of the street sign and Middlesex street to smash through a privet hedge at the residence of Mr. Stanley Mobbs. In the Mobbs yard the car smashed down a small maple tree and turned turtle, finally landing on its left side with its battered front end facing Lake street.

Mr. Mobbs saw the accident from his front window and hastened out. With the assistance of an unidentified man he righted the car and then discovered Mr. Donovan lying unconscious on the ground where he had been pitched when the door of his machine swung open.

The police were notified by Mr. Mobbs and Mr. Donovan was taken to the Winchester Hospital in the police ambulance by Sgt. Charles J. Harrold and Patrolman William E. Cassidy and Joseph E. Quinn. He was treated by Dr. Dominick Runci for contusions and abrasions and held at the hospital for observation. It was not thought that he was seriously injured. The badly damaged car was towed to Haggerty's Garage.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS GIVE PLAY TONIGHT

The Winchester Unitarian Players will present tonight and tomorrow night, Nov. 15 and 16, the farcical mystery comedy, "I Killed the Count" by Alec Coppel.

This amusing comedy is quite novel in its development of a mystery theme and is one which has but recently been released for presentation.

Mrs. Dermot Townley-Tilson and Mrs. Theodore von Braunton White, the general chairmen, have been assisted in the production by a large number of the Unitarian Players and by several persons new to the Unitarian Players' casts.

The play is one full of suspense and amusing situations. The cast, under the direction of Boris Drachman Whitehouse, has just put in hours in rehearsal and deserves the support of the Players, their friends, and the public.

Mrs. T. R. Godwin is ticket chairman and has reserved seats available at $1 each.

THE LAST OF A LINE OF GIFTS

At 11 o'clock Sunday, Nov. 17, the Church of the Epiphany will dedicate a tower and bells. Those who enter will see inconspicuously on the right wall an inscription which recollects that the tower and the bells are the gift of Henry C. and Mary N. Miller.

Within the church are other gifts of their giving: a window in the nave and one section of a lancet window in the choir. But in addition to these lasting gifts of painted glass and brick and stone, Mr. and Mrs. Miller are remembered by older workers in the parish as givers of thousands of gift as perishable as eager children's appetites make any sweet—orange given every Christmastide for every child in the church school.

The dead cannot come back to tell us why they give us gifts that we know nothing of until they have for the last time gone silent through the door of the church. We must make out for ourselves what by the gift they would have us know and remember.

A new rector of Epiphany was once faced with a discouraged and irritated parishioner who queried wistfully: "What does the Church of the Epiphany amount to in Winchester?" No newcomer could answer. No one, not even the oldest and the most active parishioner, would ever attempt to answer that question about any parish church. But the tower and bells which will be dedicated Sunday give a bit of an answer.

The oranges tell. A few decades ago American homes began to doubt their ability to teach their children the Christian tradition and its meaning. They had learned it from their parents. They asked the church to supplement their defects and the church school came into being. A lad of the Miller household was among the very first pupils in the Epiphany Church School, and the oranges said what that family thought a church school was worth in Christian nurture.

He sang in the Epiphany choir, and so his father and mother put there the window as his memorial and their wordless testimony as to what the music of a church is worth to those who make it.

They saw from their home nearby the walls of the new Epiphany rise. They knew that not all of the architect's vision was embodied as yet. A tower higher than the trefoons was still to come. And the church had as yet no voice, no bells, to speak hour by hour along the streets of Winchester and over the roofs of its homes the old steady and heartening message that "underneath are the everlasting arms." They willed that there should be the tower and the bells.

The service of dedication will be simple and brief. Just after morning prayer and before the sermon, the vested choir will go in procession from the chancel to the tower and there will be the special music of the dedication. The words of consecration will be spoken by the rector, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley.

SERVICE LEAGUE WILL HEAR NORTH SHORE SPEAKER

At 1:15 Tuesday, Nov. 19, the women of the Epiphany Church Service League will hear Mrs. Everett Wilkinson of Rockport and Salem, speak on the General Convention of the Episcopal Church, which met in its regular triennial session in Kansas City, Missouri, in October, M. C. Wilkinson was present as a delegate and since it was her first general convention, she will make fresh and vivid report on the interesting personalities, the perplexing relation of legislation to Christian ethical and spiritual standards in a disintegrating world, the sad awareness of what Christians let the Church become and the challenging, heartening vision of what the Church may become.

Fall Meeting

Dean Bernice Brown Cronkrite of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, Radcliffe College, gave a most interesting address on "The American Student and National Defense" to a large group of members and guests of the Winchester College Club at the Unitarian Church last Tuesday evening. She spoke of the recent growing trend among student groups away from pacifism and isolation toward an attitude of defense and possible intervention. Educators realize more than ever the importance of teaching the student to think through present-day problems, separating emotions and idealism from true facts. The undergraduate must be taught that democracy is a growing, progressive state which needs the thought and work of each individual. Dean Cronkrite told how Radcliffe College is helping the student to think through these questions and find the most effective course of action.

Preceding the lecture the group enjoyed a very pleasant social half-hour. Under the supervision of Miss Helen Hall, the social chairman of the College Club, coffee and mints were served by the Mt. Holyoke Alumnae. Mrs. John Chipman and Mrs. Martin S. Swanson presided.

History Group

The History Group will meet next Monday morning, Nov. 18 at 9:45 at the home of Mrs. George Wilson, 29 Pierpont road.

Special: 72 single sheets of paper, 50 envelopes in Vellum or Parchment for 50c at Wilson the Stationer.

All Right—why DO we buy Automobiles?

*Buick Special Sedan, $1052. White sidewall tires extra

THIS is just between you and us and this newspaper, so we can be both frank and honest.

Don't you really buy a car for what it can do?

Doesn't the big kick come from getting off the mark at the first tweet of the cop's whistle—winging up hills as though they weren't there—going through tough going with a "so what" indifference?

There's only one place in the world you can get such things—from a power plant that's up to its job.

But here's the interesting thing the new Buick proves: With enough power, you can have that flashing action—and economy too!

Our FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion let us use a standard high gear that has the same economical result as so-called gas-saving devices.

They step up mileage as much as 10% or 15%, wing you down the road at 50 on a 30-mile fuel diet.

They even make driving easier, since they give so much reserve power that you'll have less need for shifting gears, whether it's to top a hill or pick up quickly in slow-moving traffic.

HERE'S MODERN ECONOMY

You can see how Compound Carburetion steps up miles-per-gallon in this chart. It shows the mileage of 50 miles an hour for our 1937 SPECIAL, our 1939 SPECIAL and the 1941 SPECIAL with Compound Carburetion.

We're not saying style and comfort and size don't count. We wouldn't have worked out "mass-stream" styling, BuicOil Springing and Buick's new roominess if they didn't.

But when you can get these and pace-setter performance too—hadn't you better at least drive a Buick to find out about it?

There is no question about it. Something desired enough to be collected and purchased, holds a distinct value. Something limited in value, the multitude holds just that much value. During the week past the Star has added 10 new subscribers. These people considered our paper of enough value to warrant its purchase. That they will carefully read its columns goes without question. Sharp advertisers realize this, and place their offerings before those people who will read their ads and purchase their wares.

Among other incidents in the American picture of today, including two Thanksgivings, (un)preparedness and others, we are now entering the stage of armament and the vesting of new army camps. The root of the latter mess seems to be found in the typical requirements common today of education and training for jobs. Down at Camp Edwards those who were originally called upon to pay their $75 down before working are disgruntled over later job seekers who only paid $10 down and this and that a week. The discharge of a reported 3000 workmen brings this point to the front. Regarding Camp Edwards, the Camp gossip is that it will be ready about next summer. But why, they ask, should workmen for Uncle Sam be obliged to buy their jobs?

WINCHESTER'S OLDEST CHURCH

To the Editor of the Star:
Your editorial in the Star of Nov. 8, 1940, ended with the following sentence:

"Dr. Chidley has occasion to be well satisfied with his 25 years' pastorate over our town's leading church."

Will you please explain to your readers, in an early issue, what you meant by the word "leading"?

Respectfully yours,
James N. Clark,
58 Bacon street

While Mr. Clark is not particularly precise himself in his question, we presume he desires to learn the basis of our opinion—attendance, wealth, age, prestige, etc. We have no desire to enter into any church controversy; either in town or out. Accepting his question on its face value, we readily admit the sentence might better have been constructed along the line which prompted it and read: Dr. Chidley has occasion to be well satisfied with his 25 years' pastorate in our town's oldest church.

"YOUNG BRITONS INVADE CANADA"

The first little Britons arrived in Toronto July 3 at a very late hour. They were travel-worn; they were weary; yet had their innate interest and not been enough to keep them awake, the lights would have done so. Lights on the streets, lights over shops, "See the lights, lights" and as habit, better have been constructed along the line which prompted it and read: Dr. Chidley has occasion to be well satisfied with his 25 years' pastorate in our town's oldest church.

It was obvious from the first moment that here were no deserters fleeing from danger, but rather an advance guard of junior soldiers playing a hard part, marching into unknown lands with courage high and all flags flying.

There have been many trains met since that first one and many and strange stories told. While mothers sighed with relief at a dreaded duty done, children wept, and fathers of whales, crabs that were fired at ice-bergs, life-preservers that disclosed the name of the ship which everyone had refused to tell them, destroyers in the distance or coming alongside to megaphone directions. One small boy was asked, "Were you seasick?" "Did you have to lean over the rail?" "I couldn't lean over the rail often, because the sooty reply, because my watch got stopped by the magnetic band."

So we piece together a picture of those strange voyages over dark and treacherous seas, of nameless ships girt for danger without magnetic hands in place and guns muzzles playing ask for no mercy, these victims of a world at war. They are, rather, pathetically grateful for even the smallest kindness done. Thank you very much indeed in precise little English voices. One foster-mother sent an air-mail letter to a mother in England. By return air-mail came the touching reply: "To know that he is in a Christian home and with people so completely understanding is the answer to all our prayers." Quoted from X of I Monthly.

And now, though it was announced that transportation could not be given because of lack of convoys, there are more than 7000 British children in Canada, and still they come. Here is a field in which children may help less fortunate children.

The Winchester Committee of the Maple Leaf Fund, Inc. will concentrate its efforts to aid the children in this form of War Relief.

All interested are cordially invited to its next meeting, Friday, Nov. 22, 10 a. m. at Mrs. Holbrook Lowell's 4 Lakeside road.

Don't forget the Ladies' Friendly Society—Unitarian Church Bazaar, Nov. 19.

WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

The regular meeting of the Women's Republican Club was held on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 13, at 2:30 p. m. in Waterbury Hall, with the president, Mrs. Warren C. Whitman in the chair. At this time Mrs. William Cusack, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, gave a detailed report of the desert bridge and fashion show held by the club on Oct. 29 at the Unitarian Church. This party was such a great success both socially and financially that the club was able to give Mrs. Cusack a rising vote of thanks for her untiring efforts. The club is most appreciative to all contributors for the success of this delightful party.

Following the reports of chairman of the various committees Mrs. Frederick S. Hatch, chairman of the Education Committee, spoke briefly of the results of the recent state election and especially stressed the splendid record Governor Saltonstall has made. She asked members to watch for the results, which would be brought before the legislature regarding a State Lottery and the old age pension, as they were not understood by many voters on the recent ballot.

Mrs. Philip J. Woodward, who had charge of the program for the afternoon, introduced the guest speaker, Prof. C. H. Haring of Harvard University, who gave a concise, vivid and timely survey of the political situation in the Latin Americas. Professor Haring first pointed out that while we talk of armament to defend democracy in the Americas, as a matter of fact, most countries in South America are ruled either by a dictatorial government or are generally by oligarchical groups. He went on to explain that lack of political experience under Spanish domination had never given these people the opportunity to learn self government; that lack of political and economic and social unity in South American countries made them easily fall prey to political or military bosses.

Argentina, Chile, Uruguay and Colombia have made excellent progress toward Democratic government because they have been most exposed to the impacts of Europe and have a large white population. Where the Indian population is large there has been no progress toward democracy for the educated minority runs the country. The lack of a middle class has made a lack of industrial development, hence young white men turn to politics for livelihood. No here due to social and racial circumstances we find the frame work of a Republic but not the reality, although the common aspiration is toward freedom for the individual.

At present said Professor Haring the bulk of popular opinion in South America is sympathetic to England's cause. Here there is no repudiation of democratic institutions. There is, however, a strong communist influence since the labor movement but only in Brazil has fascism really gained ground. Fascist propaganda is everywhere active but the effects are nil. The real danger Mr. Haring believes is an economic one for South America depends entirely on the export of raw material. In the past most has been sent to Europe, the United States cannot absorb it and should the totalitarian powers win, economic pressure would be brought to bear with economic pressure would come political pressure. The saving factor, however, is the strong sense of nationalism on the part of the South Americans and their desire for economic and political freedom.

A social hour was enjoyed under the direction of the social committee.

Mrs. Theodore Elliot, chairman, presided over the candles and delicate beauty of the roses on the tea tables made a pleasant contrast with the gloom outside. Mrs. William Cusack, Mrs. Kingman (ass president) and the tea was in charge of Mrs. Harold Twombly assisted by Mrs. Clara Gilchrist, Mrs. Lucius Smith, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Norman Christiansen, Mrs. Marshall Phil, Mrs. A. F. Johnson and Mrs. E. L. Noble. A fine cream emulsion ladies for this occasion and members and guests commented on the charm and delicious quality of this dessert. The Hood Company has also extended an invitation to the club to visit its plant.

On Friday afternoon, Nov. 8, Mrs. Warren Whitman opened her home at 30 Prospect street for the preliminary meeting of the Study Group on the Defense of the Republic. At this time Mrs. Philip J. Woodward, chairman of the group, briefly outlined the course of study. Mr. Charles Howard, guest speaker for the afternoon, then spoke on world republics from ancient Greece until the present day. He pointed out those things which had caused the downfall of the different republics and explained the pitfalls and difficulties, which should be avoided if a republic is to be preserved. A large and enthusiastic group attended this meeting and Mr. Howard answered very ably the question put to him. Our charming hostess then invited her guests to enjoy a most appetizing and dainty repast and numerous and heated were the discussion of the recent election over the coffee cups.

The Study Group, which is offering a course in the protection of American liberties, will meet on Tuesday at 10 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Warren Whitman, on Nov. 19, 26 and Dec. 3 and 10. All members are invited to attend and may call Mrs. Philip Woodward, chairman, for further information.

FRANK B. PRUE

Frank B. Prue of 18 Hemenway street, veteran railroad man and lifelong resident of Winchester, died shortly after 1 o'clock Thursday morning, Nov. 14, at the Massachusetts General Hospital after several weeks' illness. He was in his 56th year.

Mr. Prue was the son of Frank and Sarah (Patterson) Prue. He was born in Winchester and spent his entire lifetime in this town, being widely and favorably known. He received his education in the Winchester schools, but as a youth entered the employ of the Boston & Maine Railroad, spending 11 years in the railroad's service. He was last associated with the investigation and claim department at the Lechmere Square offices and was a member of the Railroad Brotherhood.

Mr. Prue leaves his wife, the former Gertrude Cahlan; a daughter, Miss Dorothy Prue; and a brother, Walter Prue, all of Winchester. The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 8:15 from the late residence with high mass of requiem in the Immaculate Conception Church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in the family lot in Wildwood Cemetery.

THOMAS EDWARD MARTIN

Thomas Edward Martin of 10 Forest street died Wednesday evening, Nov. 13 at the Winchester Hospital after a brief illness.

Mr. Martin was born 54 years ago on the Isle of Man, England, the son of Henry and Jane (Christian) Martin. He had been for 20 years a resident of Winchester and was employed as a stationary fireman at the Celatone plant of the J. O. Whitten Co. on Cross street. He leaves his wife, the former Annie Black, a son, William Edward, and a daughter, Sheila Margaret Martin, all of Winchester.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Kelley & Hawes Chapel on Elmwood avenue with Rev. Dwight W. Hall, key leader of the Church of the Epiphany, officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

MUSIC GARDEN

The November meeting of the Music Garden was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Carter on Madison avenue. An interesting program of Italian music was followed by refreshments and a social hour.

PECORA—POULES

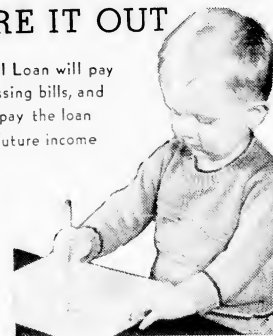

On Sunday afternoon, Nov. 10, at the rectory of the Immaculate Conception Church, Miss Anna Poules of Canal street, niece of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smythman, became the bride of Angelo Pecora, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morose Pecora of Wright street, Woburn. Rev. James F. Fitzsimons, pastor of the church, performed the marriage ceremony at 4 o'clock and a reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Smythman.

Miss Poules was attended by Miss Alice Gaine of Winchester and Joseph L. Pecora of Woburn was groomsmen.
The bride wore a princess style dress of ivory slipper satin made with a full skirt that extended into a train. Her shoulder-length tulle veil was accented with a pearl diadem and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses and baby's breath. Miss Gaine wore a dress of aqua tulle with a small matching hat and veil. Her bouquet was of baby's breath and yellow roses.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to New York and New Jersey, Mr. Pecora and his bride will make their home at 61 Pleasant street in Woburn.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Four members were absent from the meeting of Nov. 14.

Maynard Moore from the Stoneham club was a welcome visitor today.

George Welsh, who kindly arranged for the appearance of our guest speaker today, states that he is accustomed to begin his day's work at 4 a. m. As yet we have found no club member who can check and double-check this claim of George's.

We have been delighted to congratulate our good Rotarian neighbor, Alfred H. Marchant of Quincy, on the attainment of the 70th anniversary of his birth on Nov. 13th. Al was showered with magnificent floral remembrances and is particularly pleased with a message from his fellow members of the Rotary Club of Boston bearing the signatures of all being as were present at the regular club meeting of Wednesday, Nov. 13 (his birthday) Winchester Rotarians making their weekly call on Al last Thursday found him in buoyant spirits and planning participation in future Rotarian events.

District Governor Francis Flagg is urging that such Rotarians of this District as can possibly arrange to do so shall make it a point to entertain at Thanksgiving or Christmas one or more students from foreign countries who are now in attendance at our local schools or colleges. James J. Quinn, chairman of our International Service Committee, will gladly assist local Rotarians who are willing to participate in this most commendable service. We envision a long-term service who in this manner may be visited with a wholesome, uplifting cheer which will remain a cherished memory throughout his or her life.

Our own club is prepared for its customary Thanksgiving community service this year in support of the work regularly carried on by town authorities. There will be no meeting on Nov. 28 but contributions for our holiday service will be received at the regular meeting of Thursday, Nov. 21. Remember that Thanksgiving is most satisfying to those who make it possible for others to be thankful.

Our guest speaker today was Mr. Willmore F. Hulbrow, New England Regional Director of the Florist Telegraph Union Delivery Association. Mr. Hulbrow began his address with a delightful tribute to the emblematic significance of flowers and their value when appropriately used as an expression of human joy or sympathy. Telegraph delivery was adopted by the national association of florists in 1869 though individual florists had made use of the service many years previously. The headquarters of the Association is in Detroit. Mr. Hulbrow was warmly congratulated for his very able address.

Look! There will be another vocational address by one of our members at our next meeting, Nov. 21. That member is Aram Mouradian. Now honestly, can you imagine a more entrancing story than that of the oriental carpet and the mystic tales to which it has lent its colorful influence down through the ages? Aram knows a thing or two about modern style carpets also. You just can't miss this.

Percentage of attendance Nov. 7, 89.47 per cent.

NEW BUSINESS BLOCK FOR MAIN STREET

Plans for the new building are now out and it is expected that the contract will be let and work to start within the next three weeks. Mr. Charles Greco of Sheffield worst is the architect.

The new building is another step in the movement to improve property and provide modern facilities for business northward from the center, as any further business development, at least of any size, must of necessity go in that direction.

The old buildings are to be torn down and a new one story, brick and tile building of modernistic design erected with a frontage of 100 feet. Most of the building will be given over to a super market which is to be occupied by the First National Stores, the remainder being divided into three small stores, none of which has been definitely leased as yet, though there have been several applicants. The new building is to have its own parking space accommodating 100 cars with a hard surface and a two-way driveway entering next to the Jersey Station.

Mr. P. T. Foley, proprietor of the local plumbing firm of that name, has completed arrangements for the purchase and removal of three buildings on Main street above the railroad crossing and the erection of a large business block which is to house a super-market and three smaller stores. The properties purchased include the so-called "Cannon Ball" Hotel, owned by James Cullen; land in the rear owned by the Boston & Maine Railroad, adjacent property owned by Katherine Foley, the old Coggswell property, now housing the Blue Bird Laundry and Mr. Foley's shop, and the smaller brick building occupied by the Palace Lunch.

Those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity should secure a signed slip from Miss Nellie J. Sullivan, secretary of the Winchester Community Relief Committee, which they can exchange for their dinner at the Splendid Lunch. There is no limit to the number Mr. Antipapas is willing to care for, and he has served a great many needy persons both at Thanksgiving and Christmas in past years.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By A. Smith and J. Coon

It appears that there is going to be a French Club after all, but for third year pupils only. Playing bridge, singing, dramas, and Friday night parties are going to be the order of the day in the meetings.

In a recent Science Club meeting, the solar system was discussed by James Grimes, Tucker Hatch, and Dick Morrow. Three outstanding oddities were the facts that Jupiter is only one and a third times as heavy as its own volume of water; that, on the moon, since there is no air to carry sound waves, there is no sound; and that the moon's temperature varies from 185 degrees at noon to 170 degrees at night.

Coch Knottwell issued a call for all possible candidates for basketball, especially freshmen and sophomores since there are no letter men in the senior class. The school was delighted to learn that Mr. Bartlett will coach the team this year.

Miss Macdonald visited a progressive system high school in Bronxville, N. Y., and picked up several interesting ideas during the long weekend.

The Red Cross has started its November drive for food for needy families. Thanksgiving.

The student government is going to hold an assembly at which the students will offer any ideas that they may wish to. The student government at the time to take over the governing of the school gradually.

All the ten week tests have been given now and all students need to do is wait for their A's to reach home, we hope.

EMPHANY REPRESENTATIVES AT NORTH BERBAN CONFERENCE

Go to spend the day in another village just the day before Epiphany is giving an all-day-long, all-parish party? That looked like a formidable hurdle for the Women's Division of the Church of North Berban to take when they found that the annual conference of the North Suburban District would be held in Arlington, Nov. 7, while they have an annual bazaar had for months been fixed on Nov. 8. However, the second vice president of the Epiphany League, Mrs. Donald Heath, in charge of the local representatives, was able to muster a delegation of 13 for the day at Arlington, even while the parish house at home was humming with activity. Assisted by Mrs. H. Heath, Mrs. Ethel B. Davis, director of religious education for Epiphany, Mrs. A. B. Corbitt, Mrs. Walter L. Hawkes, Mrs. John H. Heath, Mrs. George Byrne, Mrs. Harry Goodwin, Miss F. Louise Nordin, Mrs. Malcolm Nichols, Mrs. Harvard Mann, Mrs. William C. Sullivan, Mrs. Ellsworth Snow, and Mrs. Deight Hoadley.

For convenience in conference, supervision, and diocesan leadership, the women's Church League of 22 parishes are grouped in the North Suburban District. The leader is at present Mrs. Walter G. Perry of West Medford, who organized the conference and presided over it. The general theme was "The Church's Unified Program." Miss Eva Corey, diocesan leader of women's work, Mrs. Dexter and Miss Little spoke on the subject, and the past failures and the present responsibilities and opportunities of each church and each parish. For this picture Winchester furnished four representatives.

For the afternoon the delegates met in round table discussions led by diocesan officers.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON SEWING MEETING

Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League is holding its first sewing meeting of the season on Tuesday, Nov. 19, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Reginald Brullee, 3 Ledgewood road.

Mrs. Woodford L. Wilcox is chairman of the sewing committee with Mrs. John G. C. Niman as sub-chairman. Other on the committee include Mrs. Frederick W. Assting, Mrs. Percy Baghee, Mrs. Anna May Dadds, Mrs. Edmund H. Merriam, Mrs. Isaiah C. Young and Mrs. Fred Chamberlain.

All members interested in sewing are urged to attend.

FIREMEN HAD BUSY WEEK-END

The first of several runs the Fire Department had over the holiday weekend was at 8:37 Saturday morning for a fire at Cullen's dump on upper Main street. At 11:27 Saturday morning Box 143 came in for a roof fire at the home of Mr. Francis DeRosa, 187 High street. The damage was slight. Mrs. Carrie L. Eldredge of 61 Church street, reported a grass fire near her home Saturday afternoon at 3:12.

Sunday's first run came at 2:05 for a grass fire off Middlesex street. At 4:32 Mrs. Charles Meek, Jr., reported a grass fire at the rear of the Eastern Bell Co.

Monday morning at 11:47 the department was called to put out a fire in the woods at the rear of the home of Mr. John Wills on Walcott terrace. A second grass fire was reported at the rear of the Eastern Bell Co. at 6:04 p. m. and at 7:37 there was a telephone alarm for burning leaves on Stevens street.

A brush fire, reported at 7:49 Monday evening, burned a number of small pine trees on the well field off Ayrtle road. The last run of the day came at 8:40 for a brush fire on Cemetery land off Middlesex street.

Fire Chief David H. DeCurey, after this alarm, called the attention of the police to youngsters in the neighborhood, thought to be responsible for a number of the fires, and with the arrival of the officers the fires stopped.

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

The Melody Mothers of the Washington-Highland Scholastic will present Tuesday evening a musical melodrama of two acts titled "The Good Old Days."

Mrs. Arnold Schandler as author of the production manager and narrator has developed an ingenious musical tale and a sad, touching story she unfolds.

Carol Schandler, director, has selected the outstanding song from the last four decades as a musical background. Many clever numbers have worked out to enhance the effects.

The cast includes: Mrs. Frederick Macdonald, piano accompanist; Mrs. Kirby Snell, Mrs. Walbridge Whitcomb, Tuesday evening, Mrs. Fossing, Mrs. Harold Partender, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Allan Lindblad, Mrs. Robert Singer, Mrs. J. Stewart Chaffee, Mrs. Frank Horne, Mrs. Carl Zimmerman, Mrs. Karl Deon, Mrs. Rannerman, Mrs. Harold Slack, Mrs. Irving Dingwell, Mrs. Horton Ide, Mrs. Lyman Smith, Mrs. Clarence Newton, Mrs. George Chaffee.

Calls Mrs. Paul Shiverick, Win. 0623-W, for tickets, which are unfortunately limited by the seating capacity of the hall to 30 seats. The price of 30 cents includes favors for everyone and refreshments which will be served with a smile by the husbands of the social committee.

Come to the George Washington assembly hall next Tuesday evening, Nov. 19 at 8:15; get an earful of tuneless songs, weep and laugh over the ups and downs of the principals and thereby have a thoroughly enjoyable evening.

ALSON'S STORE INSTALLS X-RAY SHOE FITTER

Alson's Shoe Store in Arlington has enjoyed the patronage of Winchester and Arlington shoe buyers for more than 10 years. In June of last year they celebrated their 10th anniversary by moving into a new, larger and completely modern store, enlarging many departments and greatly adding to their stock and selections of men's, women's and children's shoes.

Alson's operate five shoe stores in Greater Boston and so enjoy a buying power which allows them to sell shoes most reasonably. They feature such well-known makes as Enna Jetticks, Walk-Over, W. L. Douglas, Cooperatives and Florsheim, as well as Kallstenicks, Tredwells and Dr. Chase's for the children.

In line with this steady progress in merchandising footwear Alson's has installed a new X-ray shoe fitting machine which quickly shows and aids in corrective measures for the proper fitting of men's, women's and children's shoes. In the case of a child, the mother may observe as well as the child, and at the same time the expert shoe fitter may point out the important features of a correct fit. Alson's invites the people of Winchester and vicinity to visit their store and have a free examination.

TWO MOTOR ACCIDENTS WEDNESDAY

Several persons were slightly injured in an automobile accident reported to the police shortly after 9 o'clock Wednesday morning.

John R. Casey of 135 Lowell street, Arlington, stated that a Ford coach, of which he was in charge, while parked on Church street headed east in front of the residence of Dr. Harold Brown, was struck in the rear by a Ford coach, driven east on Church street by Margaret Gaffey of Concord road, South Lincoln.

Both machines were damaged. Casey and two passengers in his car, Ralph G. Spaulding of 20 Newcomb street, Arlington, and Jesse D. Bonnet of 9 Sanborn avenue, Somerville, complained of being shaken up. Miss Gaffey was also shaken up and cut about the face.

Wednesday afternoon at 1:20 Harry S. Baker of 54 Canal street, West Medford, told the police that as he was driving a Pontiac coupe south on Cambridge street and turning left into Church street, his machine was in collision with a Chevrolet sedan driven north on Cambridge street by Herman R. Schmeider of Whitney road, Billerica.

Both cars were disabled and had to be towed away. George E. Mackay of 29 Jay street, Somerville, riding with Baker in the Pontiac, complained of injuries to his right arm. Schmeider was taken by Edward Shinnick of 422 Washington street to the office of Dr. Milton J. Quinn who treated him for lacerations of the lower lip.

MEMBER OF CHORAL CLUB

Marj Dickson of Oxford street, is a member of the Choral Club at the direct Junior College of Park College, St. Louis, where she is attending college this winter. The Choral Club is broadcasting from Station WHIO on Saturday, Nov. 25 at 1:15 p. m. during the Silver Lining program which is given in the interest of the Boston Industrial Home, one of the outstanding and best-known charitable organizations of Boston.

TOZIER LECTURE TO BENEFIT ROLLING KITCHEN

Dr. Charles Tozier of Bridgefield road, widely known traveler, lecturer and photographer, will give an illustrated lecture on "Guatemala" on Friday evening, Dec. 13, in the high school auditorium for the benefit of the British Rolling Kitchen Fund.

Dr. Tozier obtained material for his lecture through extensive travel and research in Guatemala, made possible by a grant from the president and trustees of Dartmouth College combined with the assistance of the Pan American Union in Washington.

The pictures, both stills and movies, are in natural color, depicting scenes in the most colorful country of the western hemisphere and tracing the romantic story of its past and its civilization. It is believed that outstanding pictures are being shown for the first time publicly at this lecture.

Those acquainted with the present situation in Britain agree that these rolling kitchens are of the utmost importance in maintaining morale and in preserving the health of those unfortunate living in bombed areas. The opportunity to assist in so vital an aid to a friendly people in so pleasing a manner should have universal appeal. Tickets may be secured at the Star office or from Arthur T. Smith, William C. Cusack or from James B. Willing.

Sacred Spot in Switzerland

One of the interesting spots in the realm of the Alps of Europe, Switzerland, is Salsburgh. A cable railway climbs from Trieb to this resort village. Immediately below is the meadow of Sals. Here, the most sacred spot on Swiss soil. Here, in the night from November 7 to 8, 1297, the three confederates, Walter Furst of Aargau, in his Elb-Werner Stauffacher of St. Gallen, and Arnold Winkelried of Appenzel A.U. were slain, each accompanied by ten faithful followers, and in the name of their respective cantons swore to drive out their Austrian oppressors.

ITALIAN "BACKFIRE" INVASION MOVES AGAINST BERBERA

The Italian drive against Berbera, capital of British Somaliland and key to the Red Sea's southern entrance, moved into the British protectorate over a road which Britain built to expedite Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, according to a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

The Italians already at the town of Hargeisa, are on the 108-mile motor road linking Berbera with the Ethiopian frontier via Hargeisa which the government of British Somaliland improved and kept repaired to a traffic capacity of 200 tons a day, says the bulletin.

The improvements, employing 500 natives in the latter half of 1937, were made in accordance with the agreement between Italy and Great Britain, to facilitate the movement of Italian shipments into recently invaded Ethiopia. Road improvements and traffic increase due to Italy's Ethiopian conquest encouraged many nomadic British Somaliland shepherds to sell their flocks and buy trucks, to participate in the profitable transportation of goods between the Red Sea port of Berbera and the frontier of Italy's new African colony.

Alson's SHOE SHOP

163 Mass. Ave. Arlington Ctr. Arl. 1932-W

Here at this station, we have a "little business,"—a pretty big little business, to be sure,—but it is a little business that has time to be friendly and to care more about real service to our customers than for profits alone. Profits mean plenty to us of course, but we can make all the money we need, and at the same time give you the finest possible service without making you pay high prices for your gas and oil,—and we can do it without sacrificing the quality of those items.

Come in, get acquainted, and save yourself some money.

You'll pay less,—a lot less,—for your gas when you buy it here. And you'll get high grade, dependable gas with as many miles per gallon as you'll get anywhere. We buy the best and we sell it for less because this is a local station, locally owned. We keep our expenses down by cutting out high executive and administrative costs, elaborate equipment and all the other "dead-wood" items that enter into "chain" station operations. We fix our own selling price and we set our own margin of profit. We do all right for ourselves,—and we do more than all right for folks like you,—neighbors who like to save a dollar, and who like to do business with friendly home-town people.

We invite you to try MOTORLIFE 80 Octane, first for performance, second for economy, and finally because we think you'll enjoy doing business where you are a friend and not just an item for the cash register.

UNITARIAN PLAYERS

The Unitarian Players should take great pride in their presentation of "I Killed the Count." It was skillfully directed and well played. The fade-out scenes were especially effective and well done. The stage crew is to be congratulated for the attractive setting and the skillful handling of the lighting.

William Spaulding as Inspector Davidson carried the play ably, assisted by John Kishler as Raines. These two were supported by a splendid cast; Ethel Goodwin as Polly, the surprisingly cool chambermaid; Richard Harlow as the handsome and ill-fated Count Malton; Martha Hill as the worldly Renee La Jume; Bradford Hill as the cockney Mullet; Robert Jackson as well meaning Johnson; Lewis Wadsworth, Jr. as the estimable Mr. Martin; Richard Offutt as the American sportsman, Bernard Poy; Severin Ritchie as the polished Lord Lorington; Dell Smith as Louise Rogers, the unhappy English girl; Warren Whitman as the worried Mr. Drawdall and Kenneth Hall, the patient Clifton.

MRS. MARY LOUISE MERRILL

Mrs. Mary Louise Merrill, widow of Calvin A. Merrill, died Monday morning, Nov. 18, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward A. Tucker, 229 Highland avenue, following a three weeks' illness.

Mrs. Merrill was born in Utica, N. Y., Jan. 15, 1849. She spent her girlhood in Chicago and had the distinction of being one of the Chicago schoolgirls chosen to lay a wreath upon the bier of Abraham Lincoln when the martyred President lay in state in that city.

After her marriage she came east to Melrose and was for many years a resident there, coming to Winchester 17 years ago. During most of her residence in this town she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Daniel F. Higgins, on Waukelet road. She was a member of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of this town.

Besides Mrs. Tucker and Mrs. Higgins, Mrs. Merrill is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Herbert Cox of this town; by a son, Frank H. Merrill of Boston; by eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the late residence with Mr. Henry O. Gildron, reader of the Christian Science Church, officiating. Interment was in Willowood Cemetery.

THE WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

The Morning Study Group met in the Winchester College Club next to the library on Friday, Nov. 15, to consider the beauties of Charters Cathedral. Mrs. Fred Abbott presided in the absence of Mrs. James Willing.

Three competent papers were read each one supplemented with pictures loaned by the Museum of Fine Arts. The first speaker, Mrs. Richard Frazier, gave the audience a general view of the cathedral in its ancient setting. She described the narrow streets of Chartres lined with old French houses, all completely dominated by the great church built in the 13th century. The second paper by Miss Helen Hall told in detail of some of the sculpture in the cathedral. Mrs. Hall gave special attention to the figure of Christ in the western portal, a very early carving representing the Saviour as a man of great strength. Mrs. J. Girard Chandler, 2nd discussed the windows of Charters. She explained briefly the process of making stained glass and then described in detail some of the famous windows of the cathedral. She spoke particularly of the western rose window, so beautiful that people have knelt before it.

This meeting will be followed by a trip to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts on Dec. 6.

Jean Clement, 145 Highland avenue, daughter of Floyd S. Clement, and Camille West, daughter of John D. West, 74 Wedgemere avenue, are entered in the semi-finals of the freshman tennis tournament at Simmons College.

HOOD'S Ice Cream Roll

More Power to Thrift—more Thrift from Power

We think most people would rather own a bigger, solidier, steadier, roomier, better automobile. Most of them would be willing to spend a little extra for what Buick has to offer—style, size, room, steadiness, durability—if part of that extra could be paid back through lower operating costs.

Especially they would like really satisfying performance—quick take-off, easy hill-climbing, sure power, fast response—if they could have it in a car that's stingy with gasoline.

That's what we've given them—through the extra power in this 1941 Buick.

The added wallop of FIREBALL engine design and Compound Carburetion lets us use more thrifty gear ratios, saving money without complicating extra gears or mechanisms.

And the tremendous reserve-power in these Buick engines—at 40, for instance, you have as much as 85% of your power "on call"—still permits the flashing get-away, the swooping hill-climb, the sure lift out of pinches you once had to buy with heavy gasoline consumption.

So we say—more power to thrift—

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $935 for the Business Coupe delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

it helps put Buick thrill and comfort within easy reach.

And the reason is—more thrift from power—from abler engines.

It all adds up to the sensation of the year—the car you ought to see first—the brilliant, able beauty your Buick dealer has waiting for you.

STONEHAM HIGH HERE SATURDAY

Winchester Plays Last Game in Middlesex League Series

Stoneham High comes to Winchester Saturday for a Middlesex League football game on the Shore road athletic field, commencing at 2 o'clock.

The game will be the last Winchester will play in the Middlesex League which is to disband after the current season. The breaking up of the league will not necessarily mean the termination of Winchester-Stoneham relations, for the two schools have long been friendly rivals and will probably continue to meet independently on the gridiron, for the next few years at least.

Winchester needs to win Saturday's game to Belmont for the last Middlesex League championship and it goes without saying that the locals will be gunning for a victory. On the record they should be favorites, for Stoneham has had a dismal season and on form shouldn't be too troublesome.

Past performances, however, indicate that the Winchester can't hold the visitors too cheaply. Stoneham has pretty generally given even the best of local teams a hard battle before they have been able to get the better of them.

Coch Knutson expects to be at full Winchester, rugged guard, and Bert Callanan, veteran end, having recovered from the injuries sustained in the Melrose game. Left halfbacks, Cummings and Cummings, who have been indelible all season, will be ready for duty Saturday and will be acting against Stoneham.

North Clark, starting center at the beginning of the season, but sidelined for several weeks with a Charlie blow, has also recovered and will play, putting the locals at full strength.

The starting lineup probably will be Captain Palumbo and Harris, ends; Keyes and Caputo, tackles; Roon and Tracy, guards; Thibault, center; and Buzzotta, Provinzano, Trae and either West or McCormack, backs.

WINCHESTER AND WOBURN COACHES RIVAL HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS

Coch Henry T. "Hennie" Knutson of Winchester High School and Coach James L. "Dugger" Brennan of Woburn High will, when their teams meet on Saturday at Woburn, be assuming rivalry that commenced when the two were playing high school football. Knutson captained the Winchester High eleven that won 10 of 11 games last year, and Brennan playing starting left tackle for the Orange and Black that year.

The next year Brennan captained the Woburn team which won 10 of 11 games, playing right end. Knutson, however, had graduated the previous year and so that year Knutson was a cheerleader for the Orange and Black.

The two boys first met in 1925, Knutson playing a starting left halfback for the Orange and Black that year. Brennan was a reserve left tackle on that Woburn team, but saw plenty of service.

In 1926 the year Knutson led Winchester in the mud at Woburn, 6-0, Brennan played left halfback and Knutson left halfback. That was the year Winchester lost its captain, "Spiky" O'Doherty, to a knee injury.

PUNTS AND PASSES

Two Winchester boys, Scott Parrot and E. L. French, were awarded letters as members of the varsity football team at Belmont Hill School in the completion of the current season's play.

Winchester's great championship team of 1937, played an end last Saturday for Massachusetts Institute of Technology, the Engineers' varsity game with the Tufts Junior Varsity. . . . It must be great to be distinguished, Arthur Butters, popular Winchester player, was in the Chester High and Ralph Bonnell of the local Ford Bonnell's went down to Lewiston to see the recent Colby-Bates football game. Not wanting to leave after the game without seeing their friend, Wendell Mansfield, coach of the Bonnets, they went to the field after the game, only to find the way barred to all would-be gatecrashers by two stalwart patrolmen. What to do, what to do? Even Tufts, Parrot, Winchester High's assistant coach, who has seen the game with the Bates team, had been denied admittance, but nothing daunted, Arthur and Ralph decided to have a try at it.

They had a try at it, but they were somewhat doubtful of their success as important an attitude as possible and himself putting on his best professional show. He saw that Arthur led the way to the portal. To his amazement the coppers stepped aside and though he isn't certain, Arthur got the door open. Later it was learned that Arthur is a dead ringer for the Bates proxy and the police wouldn't have believed that he was admitting that he wanted to see the game when he waved Art and Ralph into the field house. Both sincerely hoped that Bates top man didn't himself get mixed up in the matter, he tried to get in. . . . Winchester's coach, Honnie Knutson, took advantage of his team's off day to travel to Woburn, where he saw the Plymouth High team lose to Weymouth's unbeaten aggregation.

Not much room for argument between the Winchester High team-mates, Frank Provinzano of B. WE'RE ALL "DRESS ALTERATIONS

*The 'Old' Richardson's Market has given

WHY WE

LET MR. HARRIS RICHARDSON

The time has long gone by when shopping, though a necessary part of every housewife's daily duty, was nevertheless wanted. Today, the average housewife, with her house duties and her many outside activities, has a limited time to do her shopping, quick, smiling service and departmentalized food units are everywhere in evidence.

We realized this need for a change in our store—and in keeping with our 37 year policy of giving our customers the best, called in Mr. Chester Worwell of the Mainline Store Engineering Company, recognized as one of the country's experts in store layout, back wall, we were completely altered. A new modern store front, the newest tested porcelain covered sanitary display cases result is that now our customers and friends can shop in quick comfort at "the food store of the future—RICHARDSON'S."

However, I want our customers to remember this—THAT UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES HAVE WE ADVANCED OUR PRICES. PLUS PROPERLY MANAGED CAPITAL RESERVE FUNDS, HAVE ACCUMULATED A SUFFICIENT FUND DURING THE YEARS. So, welcome to the "NEW" RICHARDSON'S where Quality Foods and Smiling Service, plus reasonable prices await you.

OUR MEAT DEPT.

You'll be amazed at our new MEAT DEPARTMENT all dressed up in the most modern porcelain cases. These cases permit "floating air," thus resulting in no shrinkage as well as insuring the freshness of the meats. The latest in Case Lighting gives complete visibility to the display. So, as in the past, you people who wanted the best in meats and thus selected Richardson's—can now be doubly assured of getting the finest and freshest meats, as usual—from Richardson's alone.

MR. COOK, the Manager of our Meat Department, suggests for excellent "buys"

THEY SEEK $50,000

Two men who are confident of getting $50,000 to make the 1940-41 Greater Boston Annual Maintenance Appeal of the Salvation Army a success. They are John E. Wilson, left, president of Batchelder & Snyder Co., Inc., who heads the Industry and Finance Division; and Damon E. Hall, former President of the Boston Bar Association and General Chairman of the $200,000 objective that covers efforts in Boston, Cambridge, Chelsea, Everett, Malden, Milford, Somerville, as well as 34 smaller towns that comprise the Metropolitan Division. Mr. Hall and Mr. Wilson ask men and women of Winchester who are former donors and hundreds who never aided the Army in carrying out its work, to come to their aid as quickly as possible. They feel that you will not fail them.

Winchester is a part of the Metropolitan Division. All late donations will be credited to Winchester appeal, which has been organized under the chairmanships of William N. Boggs. He suggests that if you have not aided the Salvation Army in 1940, to send or hand your donation to the appeal treasurer. He is G. Dwight Tabot, treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company.

Fourteen hundred and ninety-six dollars of the $200,000 objective is already in the hands of Mr. Cabot. He urges an outpouring of mail contributions.

AIR-MINDED FAIRBANKS TO GET NEW ARMY BASE

With plans reported under way to begin work on a U. S. Army air base near Fairbanks, Alaska, a new kind of boom is in prospect for this former gold-mining camp of Uncle Sam's Far Northwest, says the National Geographic Society. The "Golden Heart of Alaska," Fairbanks is set almost exactly in the geographic center of the Territory. Already it is reached by railway, motor road, and air service. More than 40 planes come and go at the local airport of this little town, whose population is estimated to be little more than 4000. One of the more dramatic activities of the pilots is to deliver by parachute supplies of bread, bacon and beans, mail and medicine to gold miners working in the vicinity.

Fairbanks was born of gold fever in 1902, when an old prospector named Pedro struck it rich along the creek which now bears his name. Today Fairbanks is still a growing town, no longer entirely dependent on its major industry of gold mining. As the metropolis for a vast hinterland it is an important trading center, as well as headquarters for a rising lumber business, and something of a haven for summer tourists. Telephone, telegraph, electricity and radio, together with a hospital, chamber of commerce, schools, churches and clubs, indicate an active civic life that belies its size. It is expected that the new army air base will add some 2500 people to the city's census figures, and make air-minded Fairbanks a center for nearly 3000 more planes.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Presidents' Day, always a colorful and happy occasion in our club year, comes next Monday, Nov. 25. Mr. Henry W. Hildreth, general Federation Director, Mrs. Herbert E. Frenel, first vice president of the Massachusetts State Federation; and Mrs. G. Stuart Woodman, Eighth District Director will be guests of honor. Other special guests will be presidents of neighboring clubs and past presidents of the Fortnightly.

The regular 2 o'clock meeting will be preceded by Dessert Hour and Reception at 1 o'clock. Mr. Arthur A. Moulton will present "Guatemala Interlude," natural color movie of Guatemala with appropriate economic recordings. These movies, many of them subjects denied to most tourists, are declared by the government of Guatemala to be outstanding from the "standpoint of photography, subjects color and human interests." We are also fortunate in having an exhibition of Guatemala textiles which will be used as decorations.

Attention is called to the Fortnightly by-law which reads "Members shall not invite guests on Presidents' Day." This is due solely to the fact that the great number of honor and special guests that day make the accommodation of members' guests impossible.

The Scholarship Committee is planning a series of food sales in aid of their Scholarship Fund. Definite dates will be announced later.

SIXTH GRADE DANCING CLASSES

In order that every pupil in the Winchester sixth grade, may have an opportunity for instruction in dancing and social deportment, the mothers of sixth grade children have organized a series of dancing classes in each of the schools where a sufficient number of pupils wished to form a class. The School Department has co-operated with the mothers' committee. The use of the school assembly halls, janitor service, assistance with lists and dates, have been given by Mr. Quinn and the principals and teachers of the schools, helping to make the series possible at the low subscription price of $1 for eight lessons.

A committee of mothers, in each of the five elementary schools, invited each sixth grade pupil to join the classes. The number of acceptances was so large that classes are formed in the Washington, Myrtle and Wyman Schools. As the enrollment was small in the Noonan School, the Noonan pupils will join the Washington School group, with transportation furnished by the Mothers' Committee.

Mr. Russell Curry, of the Curry School of Dancing in Arlington, is in charge of instruction and furnishes music. The dates have been arranged so that he may teach all the classes, keeping the progress uniform. The classes are held at the close of the afternoon school period, from 3:30 to 4:30.

This system of dancing instruction is being successfully adopted by a growing number of towns throughout the country. It has met with a cordial response in Winchester, where the School Department, the sixth grade mothers committee and Mr. Curry are co-operating to make it a pleasant experience for the children and an influence in teaching the value of courtesy, grace and social responsibility in democratic citizenship.

WINCHESTER RAINBOW

The next regular meeting of Winchester Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls, will be held Friday, Nov. 22, at 7:15 p. m. in the Masonic Hall Winchester. Initiatory work will be done.

The Kerr "change-point" fountain pen, the pen you've liked so much at your local bank, can be purchased at Wilson, the Stationer's, Star Building, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50.

WINCHESTER HOLYOKE CLUB

Alice Dixon will use book talks in Winchester. The book talks, held by the town, is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 23, at 2 o'clock. The book is "The Ship Comes In" by Mrs. Bond. The book talks will be held on Tuesday morning, Dec. 3, at the same time, and the book is "The Ship Comes In" by Mrs. Bond. The book talks will be held on Tuesday morning, Nov. 12, while not designated as a Christmas one, nevertheless gave an impetus to the listener's list planning. Most of the books reviewed were suitable for Christmas giving.

Roughly the books reviewed could be divided into two classes, books which stem or are shadowed by the present war, and those which were written in other days or in lands not engaged in the conflict.

In the latter group belongs Jack Lawrence's "When the Ship Comes In," an account of the life of a ship news reporter and full of tales of the great liners and of fires at sea. Margaret Armstrong's "Trelawny" is the biography of the man who was a friend of the poet, Byron and Shelley, a soldier of fortune, and a pirate, told with color and excitement. Charles Lee whose place as literary editor of the Boston Herald Mrs. Bond has assumed makes a contribution to "pick-up" and "bedside" books in the editing of "An Almanac for Readers," full of literary lore for each month of the year.

Mrs. Bond devoted almost half of her period to a book which she considers of the stature of a classic. Van Wyck Brooks' "New England: Indian Summer." This book extends from the work of William Dean Howells to that of Robert Frost, covering the artistic and literary cycle from 1865 which marks the chronological end of his earlier "The Flowering of New England" to 1915. Chapters are devoted to intellectual circles of that period and to their influence, while a chapter on Emily Dickinson is a tour de force. A. L. Milne's book of verse, "Behind the Lines," brings out of England the same courageous and humorous stoicism that news reporters tell us the English people are possessing at the present time. In "The White Cliffs" Alice Duer Miller writes down in America her reaction to that somberly told, she has used a long narrative poem as her medium, the lips of an American mother of an English son as her mouth-piece, in speaking her faith and devotion to that island country. Andre Maurois in "Tragedy in France" gives us the broad outlines of the French debacle of which he was an eye-witness and a list of remedies against the fate which overtook his country.

Phillips Brooks Calendars now on sale at Wilson the Stationer's.

Julius Caesar, Versatile
Julius Caesar, the Roman statesman and soldier, was remarkably versatile. He excelled in war, in politics, in statesmanship, in letters, in oratory and in social gifts.

Local draft officials have absolved Walter M. Woods of 20 Wedge Pond road from any negligence or lack of desire to present himself Tuesday morning for induction into the Federal service at the South Army. Mr. Woods has moved since registration to an address on Shawmut avenue in Boston and his office to report at the local headquarters in the town hall was delayed in the mail, failing to reach him until after the hour appointed for his induction. He communicated with the local authorities immediately and came to town as soon as possible, being taken in a police cruiser to the armory in Boston, too late however, to be rushed in this draft.

Mr. and Mrs. John Linsford Hart of Scarsdale, N. Y., announce the birth of a daughter, Judith Mason, on Nov. 19. Mrs. Hart is the former Frances Mason of this town and the maternal grandmother is Mrs. Howard C. Mason of Winchester and Stoughton, Me.

Mrs. Gertrude Kreefe held a successful bridge and whist party at the Linsford home on Thursday evening, for the benefit of the Legion Auxiliary Welfare Fund. Lovely prizes were awarded and delicious refreshments were served.

The Milford, N. H. Cabinet announces that Joseph W. Butler of Lancaster street, permanent clerk of the Finance Committee, is leaving for the summer home, known as "Maple Gates" and located at Mt. Vernon, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wansker and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Parker left today to attend the Harvard-Yale football game on Saturday at New Haven, Conn.

Mrs. Frederick E. Ritchie of Wedgemere avenue entertained three tables at luncheon bridge Thursday.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Sergeant Charlie Murphy was a busy man today when, in addition to his regular duties, he accepted contributions to the club's Thanksgiving fund. And he ended his day by being 100 per cent efficient in this latter service. Charlie says that Mal Bennett's sign was a big help.

A Ford coach, driven by Harold A. Maynard of 213 Wildwood street, Wilmington, while headed east on Fletcher street and stopping for the removal of his car, was involved in collision with a car, which was being driven by Mrs. H. L. Baldwin of 5 Ardley place, which had stopped at the corner of Wildwood street, and the damage done was slight and no injuries were reported.

Rev. Charles White, a retired minister and native of this town, came down from his home in Hampton, N. H., on Wednesday to visit old friends in Winchester. Older residents will recall him and his sisters, Miss "Katie" White, who formerly taught at the Highland School, and Miss Emma White, who was for many years a teacher at the old Walden School.

Mrs. Marie E. Brown was called to Derby, Conn., yesterday by the death of her uncle, Mr. George E. Barber. Mr. and Mrs. Barber had celebrated their fourth wedding anniversary last week. Mr. Brown is leaving for Derby today, returning with his wife Monday.

Mrs. Frederick B. Taylor of Wildwood street attended the inspection of the Massachusetts Reformatory for Women at Framingham Monday, and under the sponsorship of the Friends of Prisoners, Inc. The affair included a luncheon and an entertainment by the various departments of the institution. Over 150 members and guests attended.

By defeating the Manchester B. C. last Sunday afternoon at Fleming Field, Woburn, the Bees & Cubs soccer team was able to run its winning streak to five games and build up a three point lead in its league.

Charles H. Gallagher of 15 Canal street was elected a town meeting member for Precinct 6 to fill a vacancy, at a special meeting of precinct members held Tuesday evening at the Noonan School.

BUILDING PERMITS GRANTED

The following permit was issued by the Building Commissioner for week ending Thursday, Nov. 21:

J. E. E. Cove, Winchester, new dwelling and garage at 8 Fernway.

THE LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

On the 19th of November, the Ladies' Friendly Society held its annual Bazaar. This year it was a patriotic affair with gay decorations in red, white and blue. For the success of this affair much credit is due to the general committee: Mrs. E. Ritchie, Mrs. J. E. E. Cove, Mrs. F. W. Farnsworth and Mrs. Warren Goldie.

Following is the list of groups (Patrons at the request of the committee): Mrs. E. Ritchie, Mrs. A. A. Kimball, Mrs. Alice T. Burton, House and Garden, Mrs. L. E. McLaughlin, Mrs. F. W. Farnsworth, Food, Mrs. Alice T. Burton, Mrs. Richard W. MacAdams.

Delicatessen: Mrs. Barton W. Carter, Mrs. William L. Davis, Baby Table: Mrs. Wade L. Grady, Mrs. Richard Parkhurst, Candy: Mrs. G. Russell Mapp, Gifts: Mrs. Robert S. Bayless, Mrs. Henry R. Davis, Mrs. W. A. Wilde.

Dolls: Mrs. Raymond C. Terhune, Mrs. Vincent E. Underwood, Pared Post: Miss M. Alice Mason, Miss Elizabeth N. Mason, Household Table: Mrs. Reginald Bradley, Mrs. Everett F. Kibler, Grapes: Mrs. Charles P. LeRoy, Mrs. Clifford B. Mason.

Christmas Wreppings, sponsored by the Evening Alliance, Mrs. Harriet Cooper, Miss Mary Spaulding, Mrs. Catherine Spaulding. One of the high lights of the affair was the delicious tea served in the ladies' parlor under the direction of Mrs. Richard Fenno.

It would be almost impossible to mention the many attractive things for sale at each booth. One thing did draw so much attention, however, it should be mentioned, and that was the winter floral decorations arranged by some artists hand for the house and garden table. They were most unusual.

At 6 o'clock there was a large attendance at the most beautiful dinner served under the direction of Mrs. Theodore R. Gowan and Mrs. Theodore W. Rosevears. Here the patriotic colors were used in the decorations.

During the evening the Mystic Club gave a most enjoyable concert.

Honey Bees Lose Stinger

When honey bees sting they lose their stinger, it being fastened to their intestines, and this kills them. In other words their stinger is a single-shot affair, whereas with the humble bee and wasps it is different—they can sting repeatedly without doing themselves injury; their stinger is something like a "machine gun."

TO THE BOARD OF APPEAL
WINCHESTER, MASS.

November 8, 1940

The undersigned being the owner of 1892 square feet of land Lot 211, No. 16 Perkins Road in a single family district as described in the Star, Nov. 8, 1940, has requested that the Board of Appeal authorize the Building Commissioner to grant a permit to erect a single residence building on a lot less than 10,000 square feet.

A THOUGHT FOR THANKSGIVING

While we keep to the fore the staggering need of relief of all kinds in the British Isles, where Prince and Commoner have found a refuge in these last troubled years, and to these last Spanish children were evacuated by the hundreds in the recent Civil War, may we not have a little Thanksgiving thought for the thousands of British children evacuated to Canada.

The average man in Canada will pay at least 20 per cent of his income for taxes and buy a lot of war savings stamps too. Up there we want a strong united friendly nation and that we now have.

The Winchester Committee of the Maple Leaf Fund, has asked your interest and support in its crusade of help for these children, sent far from home by anguished fathers and mothers, with language the only way we believe there is much stronger bond. "In as much as ye have done it under one of the least of these, ye have done it unto Me."

Please keep in mind the coming meeting, Friday, Nov. 22, 10 a. m. at 4 Lakeview road and come to hear the plan for December work and the detailed report of the Telephone Bridge.

We are happy to express publicly our sincere appreciation to all who contributed to this splendid success, to the committee, Mrs. Frank Knight, Mrs. Stephens, and Mrs. Estabrook, to those who contributed prizes and to Mrs. S. C. Stengel, especially for the grand prize and to the following hostesses:

M. S. P. C. A.

Many attended the monthly meeting of the M. S. P. C. A. held last Thursday, Nov. 14 at the home of Mrs. William E. Underwood on Lawson road. Mrs. Edith Waburn Clarke, president, presided. After the business meeting the hostess served delicious refreshments and a social time was enjoyed.

Plans were discussed for the annual Christmas fair and food sale to be held Thursday afternoon, Dec. 12, place to be announced in next week's Star. At the food table there will be bread, cakes, etc., also Walter L. Rice's Bob-Link fish chowder, well known to the Winchester friends, will be on sale. It is hoped many will come to the fair and sale.

First Chicago Settler

The first continuous settlement of Winchester was begun by a native of Santo Domingo named Jean Baptiste Point de Sable during the Revolution. He sold his property to a French fur trader named Le Mail, who in turn sold it to John Kiskadee, who was the first American settler.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

Evening Study Group

The Evening Study Group of the Winchester College Club will open their series earlier than usual this year with the first meeting on Monday, Dec. 9. "New Frontiers in America" is the general theme for discussion in the group this season. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kitchin are chairmen and their committee includes Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Greene and Mr. and Mrs. Langley C. Keyes.

Dr. Norman J. Padelford, Professor of International Law at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, will speak at the Dec. 9 meeting on "New Frontiers in American Foreign Relations." This meeting will be held at 7:30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. West, at 74 Wedgemoor avenue.

Art Study Group: The next meeting of the Art Group will be held on Friday, Dec. 6 at 11 a. m. at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. Mrs. Savard will give a talk on stained glass windows.

WINCHESTER S. P. C. A. AUXILIARY

Plans are underway for the annual Christmas fair and food sale to be held Thursday, Dec. 12 at the Unitarian Church from 1:30 to 5 p. m. At the food table there will be bread, cake, pastry, the famous Bob O'Link fish chowder and other delicious foods. Christmas greens, wrappings, gifts and fortune teller, catnip are among the interesting features of the afternoon. As this is the tenth anniversary of our humane work, we are inviting our many friends to assist us as we provide shelter for lost, hungry and abused animals who are brought to our humane home.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

On Thanksgiving Day morning at 11 o'clock First Church of Christ, Scientist, held a Thanksgiving Day Service in the church edifice, Mt. Vernon street.

The organ prelude, "Now Thank We All Our God" by Karg-Elert and "Ode to Thanksgiving" by Felton-Beethoven played by Miss Merle Ferguson was followed by the singing of the congregation of hymn No. 411 in the Christian Science Hymnal. The Thanksgiving Proclamation by the Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts was then read by Mr. Henry O. Glidden, the First Reader.

The Scriptural selections were read by the First Reader. The congregation then united in silent prayer which was followed by the Lord's Prayer with its spiritual interpretation from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. Hymn No. 342 "This is the day the Lord hath made" was then sung by the congregation.

This was followed by the Lesson-Sermon especially prepared for Thanksgiving Day. The subject of this Lesson-Sermon was "Thanksgiving" and had for the Golden Text: "Rejoice in the Lord, ye righteous; and give thanks at the remembrance of his holiness" (Psalms 97:12).

After the responsive reading which consisted of passages taken from the Scriptures, Mrs. Ernest Hatch, the Second Reader, read the citations from the Bible while Mr. Glidden, the First Reader, read correlative passages from Science and Health. Among the Scriptural verses included: "Rejoice in the Lord always; and again I say, Rejoice. . . Be careful for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God" (Philippians 4: 4, 6).

Among the citations from Science and Health was: "The earth, at God's command, brings forth food for man's use. Knowing this, Jesus once said, 'Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink,'—presuming not on the prerogative of his creator, but recognizing God, the Father and Mother of all, as able to feed and clothe man as He doth the lilies" (p. 530).

A solo, "Praise Be to Thee," by Handel was sung by Mrs. Carolyn Pott, contralto, after the Lesson-Sermon had been concluded.

Testimonies appropriate to the occasion were then given by Christian Scientists in the congregation. Expressions of gratitude for healings and benefits received during the past year filled the time given to this part of the service.

The closing hymn was No. 374, "We thank Thee and we bless Thee, O Father of us all," and was followed by the Scientific Statement of Being from the Christian Science textbook, and the correlative passage from I John 3:1-3 read by the First Reader. The service was concluded with the benediction: "Be ye therefore followers of God, as dear children; Giving thanks always for all things unto God and the Father in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ." (Ephesians 5: 1, 20).

The postlude The Heavens are Telling—"Cremation" by Haydn was played by Miss Ferraro. Similar services in observance of Thanksgiving Day are held by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, and its branches throughout the United States.

Prof. Pitkin A. Sorokin of Cliff street, a member of the Harvard faculty, was the lecturer Monday evening for the Massachusetts Division of University Extension at Gardner Auditorium in the State House, his subject being, "Today in the Americas." Professor Sorokin replaced Carlos Davila, former Chilean Ambassador to the United States, who was prevented from coming to Boston by the illness of his wife.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Ralph T. Damon was hostess to the Winchester Garden Club, Nov. 20. The president, Miss Mary Alice Fitch, poured. Dark red and brown autumnal blossoms made a perfect setting for this fall meeting. Several reports were given: Miss Mary Alice Fitch, president's conference; Mrs. Herbert B. Cox, state conservation conference; Mrs. John B. Mills, exhibit and Christmas gift donations and Mrs. Theodore von Rosevinger, Sr., state federation annual meeting.

Mrs. Wayne E. Davis, a past president of the club, was the speaker for the afternoon. Her subject on "The Charm of Modern Glass with Flowers" was presented as a connoisseur ably qualified, not only to give the history of glass but to define the superb decorative achievements of the great artists who collaborated with world-renowned glass makers.

From the period when noblemen were competent glass blowers to the modern method of this art, the speaker led up to the painters, decorators and sculptors who sought expression in the art. Rene Lalique whose work shows the texture hardly visible, the beautiful transparency, alone making him a champion of colored glass; his statuettes and high relief work are only a few of what he has created; Johan Ekman of Gotenburg reorganizing his ink bottle factory in Smaland, and engaging two eminent artists, Simon Gate and Edvard Hall, and their work showing an optical illusion which causes the most deeply hollowed parts to appear the most prominent; John M. Gots, president of the Stueben Glass Company who called in 27 painters and sculptors with no technical knowledge of glass, the result being master sets made by these great artists.

Illustrations were shown to the club in pictures and through the courtesy of Mrs. Damon, Ms. Davis and Mrs. West, vases, bowls and lamps were exhibited.

Noruchi, Tschel-tcheu, Matisse, Eric Gill, Jean Hugo, Sir Muirhead Bone, Raoul Dufy, Marie Laurencin, Legar, Dali, and Manship were among the names of the creative artists in the illustrations shown. Each presented an expression of his art infinitely interesting. After the talk on "The Charm of Modern Glass with Flowers" there is a desire, with the added knowledge, to select choice glass containers for our favorite flowers.

BOSTON EDISON COMPANY Invitation for Proposals for Purchase of Bonds

Proposals for the purchase as a whole of an issue of $53,000,000 First Mortgage Bonds, Series A. Due 1970 of Boston Edison Company, a Massachusetts corporation, will be received at the office of the Treasurer of the Company, 182 Tremont Street, Boston, Massachusetts, up to eleven (11) o'clock in the forenoon Eastern Standard Time on December 2, 1940. The Bonds are to be dated as of December 1, 1940, to be due December 1, 1970, with interest payable semi-annually on the first day of June and December in each year at a rate either of 2 3/4% or 3% to be determined after proposals have been received, and are to be issued under a proposed Indenture of Trust and First Mortgage to be made to State Street Trust Company, State and Congress Streets, Boston, Massachusetts, as Trustee. For redemption of the Bonds and of the Indenture, reference is made to a description of each case will depend upon the bid, for a description of additional bonds which may be issued under and secured by the Indenture, for the property subject to the lien of the Indenture and the nature and extent of lien, and for other terms of the Bonds and of the Indenture, reference is made to a draft of the Indenture, copies of which may be examined at said offices of State Street Trust Company and of the Treasurer of the Company. Copies of the official Prospectus, including a statement of the method of determining said redemption prices, may also be obtained at said offices of State Street Trust Company and of the Treasurer of the Company. Temporary bonds will be delivered on the delivery date, to be determined later, in bearer form without coupons, registrable as to principal only, in the denomination of $1,000, and will be exchangeable for permanent Bonds in coupon form, registrable as to principal only, in the denomination of $1,000, or in fully registered form without coupons in denominations of $1,000 or authorized multiples thereof.

Each proposal shall be for the entire issue and shall state: (1) the names and addresses of all persons participating therein, and if more than one participate shall designate one or more representatives authorized to bid for and execute the underwriting or purchase agreement in behalf of all those participating; (2) the price which it is proposed to pay for the entire issue, which price shall be not less than $53,000,000, plus accrued interest, and if more than one participate the commitment of each participant; (3) the rate of interest (which shall be either 2 3/4% or 3%) upon which the price proposed is based; and (4) whether if the proposal is accepted the bidder proposes to resell to the public. Any bidder may submit bids at both 2 3/4% and 3%, but each bid at either rate must be for the entire issue.

Any proposal from an underwriter must be accompanied by a statement of its relationship, or the relationship of its officers, to State Street Trust Company or its officers, so that the Company may determine whether, under the provisions of Section 310 (b) of the Trust Indenture Act of 1939, State Street Trust Company would be disqualified from acting as Trustee under the Indenture if such proposal were accepted.

The bidder whose proposal is accepted will be required to execute an agreement to purchase the Bonds and to furnish information which is required by law to be filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission. Forms of agreement, instructions to bidders and a statement of the information required may be obtained at said offices of State Street Trust Company and of the Treasurer of the Company.

The Company reserves the right to reject any and all proposals. This advertisement is an advertisement for proposals only and prior to the acceptance of any proposal the bidder will be furnished with a copy of the official Prospectus.

Dorothy Street, Dorchester, 11:30 P. M.
5 P. M. Saturday, 11 A. M. to 9 P. M., except Sundays and holidays.

Ancient and Modern Newmancy, alms, Monks and Beggars, "Immortal" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon, which will be read in Church of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world, on Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else" (Isaiah 45:22).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the mystery of iniquity doth already work: only he who now letheth will let, until he be taken out of the way. And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming" (II Thessalonians 2:7-8).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The power of the human will should be exercised only in subduing the passions, and in the right judgment and free the lower propensities. Will-power is capable of all evil. It can never heal the sin for it is the power of the unrighteous; while the exercise of the antinomian love, the love is the power of the righteous" (p. 201).

SOME FACTS ABOUT TRICHINIASIS

The following information is published at the request of the Board of Health of Winchester.

Trichiniasis is a disease which affects hogs and human beings. The disease is acquired by eating pork products which have been infested with the trichina.

All hogs slaughtered in licensed slaughtering establishments are inspected by Federal inspectors and the pork meat destined for human consumption is subjected to, either, freezing or cooking under the supervision of these inspectors. Pork, so treated, cannot infest human beings.

So-called "local pork," that is, from hogs slaughtered, not under the supervision of Federal inspectors, is a potential source of the disease in human beings. So far as the Board of Health has been able to ascertain there is no "local pork" sold in any store in Winchester. Even if "local pork" was sold all danger of trichiniasis can be prevented by thorough and adequate cooking in the home.

All pork products, such as, pork, pork chops, sausage, frankfurters, ham, bacon and even hamburger, which may contain some pork meat, must be thoroughly cooked.

What is adequate cooking? All roast pork or pork chops should show any "pink" meat after cooking. An important consideration in cooking meat is the length of time required for the center of a piece of meat to reach a temperature high enough to kill trichinae. For instance, a 15 pound ham in water requires 2 1/2 hours at 180 to 185 degrees Fahrenheit and it requires 3 1/2 hours to raise the center of the ham to 137 degrees Fahrenheit. A ham of similar size requiring five hours cooking in water at 180 to 185 degrees Fahrenheit to raise the center of the ham to 137 degrees Fahrenheit. An ordinary frankfurter sausage requires 10 minutes cooking in water at 160 degrees Fahrenheit to raise the center of the sausage to 137 degrees Fahrenheit.

It is evident, from these examples, that meat supposed to be thoroughly cooked, is, often, insufficiently cooked to kill trichinae.

The moral is Cook All Pork Products Thoroughly.

WASHINGTON-HIGHLAND CHAPTER MOTHERS' ASSOCIATION

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 19, in the assembly hall of the Georgetown Washington School, a group of mothers offered an hilarious "mellodrammer" to a large and responsive audience. Under the deceptive name of "Melody Mothers" they presented an extremely well done and amusing series of sketches covering a period from 1890 to 1940. The play to the audience on a wild tour through the life and loves of attractive Rosie O'Grady and her irresponsible suitor and eventual mate, a Solomon Levi. Hostesses for the occasion were Esther Borden, Dorothy Saltmarsh, Kathleen Cameron, Doris Shiverick, Ethel Marshall and Kay Barrett. The cast included: Jane Chandler, narrator; Helen MacDonald, pianist; Mary Snell, dramatic recitation; and the ladies of the ensemble: Gertrude Cleaves, Willie Chaffee, Marie Chatfield, Constance Doub, Lucille Jordan, Agnes Ide, Ruth Smith, Sadie Horne, Marion Singer, Ailsa Newton, Grace Slack, Adelaide Partridge, Madeleine Zimmerman and Josephine Dingwell. Marion Edwards, musical director, conducted this group through a maze of 40 numbers, ranging from "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "Sweet Adeline" to Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" without a hitch.

There were numerous specialty interludes which added most pleasantly to the whole effect. Saxophone solo by Grace Slack, "Sidewalks of New York," danced by Marie Chatfield and Josephine Dingwell in Bowers costumes; My Name is Solomon Levi, with oversized derby and gestures by Madeleine Zimmerman. The Band Played On, and After the Ball Was Over, by Willie Chaffee as Lillian Russell; Grace Slack singing and dancing My Gal's a High Born Lady. Daisy Bell (changed to Rosey Rose) pantomime by Elizabeth Whitting and Madeleine Lindblad; Tell Me Do You Love Me, a beautiful duet sung by Marion Edwards and Sadie Horne, an outstanding hit; O Promise Me, a violin solo by Marion Edwards. In My Merry Oldsmobile; pantomime by Elizabeth Whitting and Madeleine Lindblad, a most effective chorus number. The Glow Worm, Just a Bird in a Gilded Cage, by Ruth Smith. By the Light of the Moon, a duet by Marie Chatfield and Agnes Ide. Man on the Flying Trapeze, solo by Marie Chatfield. Love Me and the World is Mine, solo by Sadie Horne. Little Brown Jug, duet by Madeleine Zimmerman and Ruth Smith. There's a Tavern in the Town, solo by Ailsa Newton. Mary Snell's recitation of The Face on the Barroom Floor with gestures was one of the highlights of the evening.

Sweet Melodie by Madeleine Zimmerman, Agnes Ide, Gertrude Cleaves and Lucille Jordan sung in, time honored fashion. Father, Dear Father, a heartbreaking pianolode by Marion Singer. Curse of an Aching Heart, solo by Sadie Horne dramatically sung with gestures; Oh Dry Those Tears, sung by Marion Edwards in a most professional manner.

Irish Washerwoman done by the chorus in rhythm on washboards was a most unusual and effective number. Interesting and much revolved were the band instruments used cans, pans, trays, cloths, curtain rods, every conceivable household article was used to make the brasses and strings of the orchestra. From the front of the house the illusion was complete as cleverly were these instruments designed and made by Mr. Arnold Chandler.

Kathleen Cameron, chairman of the refreshments assisted by her committee served cider and doughnuts to the audience who, weakened by laughing and applauding, needed nourishment to make the trip home. Mrs. Cameron was assisted in serving by the husbands of the ladies of her committee who were Natalie True, Mary Sheehan, Olive Corthell, Mary MacNeil, Etta Priest, Marion Singer, Elizabeth Whitting, Charles Erickson. The Washington Highland Chapter wishes to acknowledge with thanks the assistance of Adelaide Partridge, Mary Snell, Helen MacDonald, Winchester News, F. W. Woodworth Co., Mr. Ralph Muehlitz, Mr. Thomas Edwards, Mr. Paul Shiverick, Daddy and Jacks, Mr. Arnold Chandler who designed and made the instruments used and the sketches used for decorating the hall. Hat worn by Uella Chaffee, courtesy of Anna Ekman, Church street. Natalie True for stitching the unity unit yards of materials for the new back curtain.

The astonishing part of the whole evening was that such a professional presentation could be put by a group of amateurs at such a surprisingly low cost. Everything used was made at home by the mothers and their worthy husbands, ideas, ingenuity and a purpose (money for the Scholarship Fund) combined to make the evening an outstanding success.

To Doris Shiverick, ways and means chairman special acknowledgment is given for her quiet and efficient management of the business details of the production.

MISS AVERY TO SPEAK ON GERMANY

"Germany Today" will be Miss Eunice Harriet Avery's subject for the fourth lecture in her Winchester series, to be given on Wednesday, Dec. 4 at 2:30 in the Wyman School auditorium. This popular course is sponsored by the Winchester Smith College Club in support of its scholarship fund.

Users for this lecture will be Mrs. Harold V. Farnsworth, Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., Miss V. Pauline Hayden and Mrs. Robert Jennings. Mrs. Clinton E. Farnham and Mrs. Albert A. Haskell will be at the ticket table.

The Kerr "Change-point" fountain pen, the pen you've liked so much at your local bank, can be purchased at Wilson, the Stationer's, Star Building. $2.50, $3.00, $3.50.

ELKS' NOTES

Initiation of the General John J. Pershing Class next Tuesday evening at Lyceum Hall will be by the officers of Winchester Lodge, 1445, including: Howard A. Brownell, Exalted Ruler; Frank P. Hurley, Esteemed Leading Knight; Leo F. Garvey, Esteemed Loyal Knight; Philip H. Gallagher, Esteemed Lecturing Knight; Norman H. Harrold, Esquire.

The class of candidates will be escorted by Legionnaires in uniform, in honor of General Pershing, and special arrangements have been made to make the initiation particularly impressive.

A large delegation of Winchester Elks, headed by Exalted Ruler Howard A. Brownell, attended the meeting of the Massachusetts State Elks' Association last Sunday at Fitchburg. A feature of the meeting was the attendance of Henry Hayward, 92, the oldest living past Exalted Ruler, the first Exalted Ruler of Boston Lodge, 10 and the first district deputy grand exalted ruler in Massachusetts.

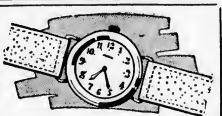

The guest speaker was Philip Gumpert, a refugee from Holland, who held the large gathering spell-bound as he told of his flight with his family from Holland in a fishing boat bound for England. Crossing the channel he saw the perisopes of several U-boats and had many thrilling adventures crowded into the relatively short time he was afloat. From England Mr. Gumpert and his family sailed to Canada, landing at Halifax, and coming on from that city to the United States. He is now a resident of Fitchburg.

HOBBO GATHERING

Miss Joan Ray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Blanchard of Calumet road, entertained with a "hobo party" last week. Games and dancing were enjoyed by the young people who were dressed in a variety of amusing costumes. Guests invited included: Barbara Wansker, Anne Pennington, Ruth Tanley, Muriel Howard, Barbara J. Smith, Damaris Veitch, Ann Jennings, Janice Morrison, Gloria Herrick, Gene Herriker, Barbara Harmer, Nancy Grenier, Anne Thompson, Marjorie Goerts, Miriam Moulton, Mary Moriarty, Ann McClendon, Gerna Magnusson, Nancy Davidson and Dorothy Carr. Also Dick Fennio, Bobby Maynard, Raymond Peppard, Buddy Hicks, Alan Bugbee, Jimmy Kimball, Teddy Atkinson, Gordon McGovern, Billy Wilde, Philip Sluom, Dicky Coot, Stephen Greene, Vaughn Deal, Billy Everett, Phineas Newton, Earle Spencer, Billy Eaton, Ben Aldrich, Eam "Tim" Phillips, Bill Reagan and Bill Thompson.

Members of the Park Department crew removed the bleacher seats from the Shore road athletic field the first of the week; and they will be stored until spring.

It takes Wallop to make a Champ

YOU don't have to be a sports fan to get this:

You've got to have what it takes if you hope to be a standout in this man's country!

Lots of men—and lots of cars—have looked the part and talked the part—but just weren't there when the chips were down.

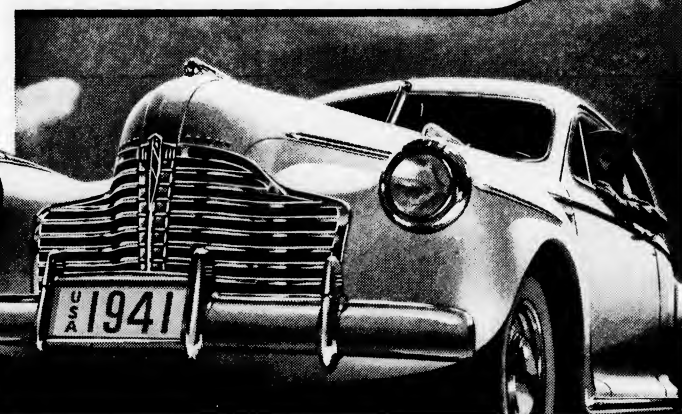

That's why you find Buick has dodged special devices and short-cuts in its great 1941 line of cars.

That's why we went right to the heart of the matter—and packed a bigger-than-ever wallop in that husky Dynaflex power plant.

It's that wallop that's making Buick the value champion all over the country today.

The wallop that lets you travel farther on every gallon of gas—as much as 10% to 15% more miles on each gallon!

The wallop that swings you up the hills without ever touching the gearshift, that lets you throttle down in traffic to creep-speed, then lift away again still in high.

The wallop that shoots you off like a flash, pulls you through tough going with "so-what" indifference, makes every steady, silken mile a thrill to be remembered.

It's an exclusively Buick wallop—the wallop of FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion, available in no other car on the market!

And if you think we're kidding about what these two things do, we're ready to show you with cold-turkey demonstration any time you say.

HERE'S MODERN ECONOMY

You can see how Compound Carburetion steps up miles-per-gallon in this chart. It shows the mileage of 50 miles an hour for our 1937 SPECIAL, our 1939 SPECIAL and the 1941 SPECIAL with Compound Carburetion.

WOBURN HIGH WON FROM WINCHESTER

Under-Dog Locals Lose 12-0 After Great Battle

Woburn High finally beat Winchester in their annual football game, postponed from Thanksgiving Day to Saturday afternoon and played at the high school stadium in Woburn. The field was, of course, in terrible condition, skinned with snow in places, muddy and icy in others and soaking wet everywhere. Considering the playing surface both teams gave a corking exhibition of football and Provinciano's handling of the slippery pigskin was something to wonder at.

A crowd of some 3500 saw the game and was kept on edge through the four field quarters. Woburn won, but the Orange knew it was in a ball game, and during nearly all of the first half under-dog Winchester was actually in the driver's seat. A couple of tough touchdowns against the locals instead of for them as they were passing Woburn dizzy and had they scored before half time as they richly deserved to do, there are many who believe a Winchester victory would have followed.

The officiating made no special hit with the local rooters. One failure to call interference on a pass play in the end zone hurt like blazes, and twice flagrant clipping penalties should have been called that would have put Woburn behind the eight ball. In each instance officials were in position to see the infraction but did not call it, and the failure to do so didn't help Winchester any in its gallant battle with a superior foe.

Woburn had a big edge in rushing, though its first down advantage was only 8-7. The Orange rolled up a net yardage of 138 while Winchester's 28 yards on the ground were wiped out completely by its loss from scrimmage. In the air the locals outclassed Woburn, completing nine of 23 aerials for 108 yards. Woburn made only one of 12 forward passes, but that pass was vital in the Orange's march to its second touchdown. Woburn averaged nearly 4 1/2 yards on its kicks, including two quick kicks of 70 and 60 yards, and with a screen pass, Winchester's kicks averaged a trifle better than 38 yards. The locals were penalized 20 yards on Woburn, 30, officially. Really Winchester lost 30 yards to the officials who tacked on a 25 yard penalty for holding early in the game, taking the distance from where the holding occurred.

Winchester received and the game was only a few minutes old when Woburn scored. An exchange of kicks gave Winchester the ball at its 10 and Provinciano's kick from the end zone was run back to Winchester's 31. Roche hit off his own left tackle for a first down at the 21, and on the next play, a pretty reverse with some nice masking of the ball by the Orange backfield, little Brogna shot into the clear and legged it around Winchester's right flank, crossing the goal line standing up. The try for goal from placement failed, the kicker's toe skidding off the wet ball, and the following attempt to rush being smothered.

Tracy ran the kickoff back to his 39, and a five yard penalty against Woburn for offense on the first play put the ball on the 44. McCormack and Provinciano made it first down at midfield, and passes from Provinciano to Styles and Harris added another on the Woburn 30. Howe Winchester lost five for offense, but a whizzing pass over the line from Provinciano to Styles was good for 10, and another short one to Buzzota added all but a foot of first down. Hitting from the spread formation that the locals used most of the game, Buzzota crashed through to a first down on the Woburn 15 as the quarter ended.

Here the locals got their first tough break. On a first down Provinciano shot off a pretty pass down the center alley to Billy West who was downed right around the Woburn five. The ball, however, was brought back and Winchester penalized 15 yards for holding, play being resumed at the Woburn 40. Coach Knowlton protested the yardage which was 25 yards from the previous down, where according to the rule book, holding penalties are assessed. He was told the holding occurred behind the line and the 15 yards taken from the spot.

No one would have wondered if the locals had bogged down in the face of this misfortune, but the reverse proved true, and Provinciano again tossed off a beauty pass out to the right, on which Derby made a nice catch at the Woburn eight. The fleet Winchester back couldn't get started in the slippery going and was heeled down from behind at the Woburn five. Buzzota, on a quick buck from spread formation, got only two, and Winchester elected to pass. Two forwards were knocked down and on fourth down Provinciano was stopped at Woburn's left tackle a scant yard short of pay dirt.

Roche kicked out to his 42, and Provinciano returned the kick, aiming for the coffin corner which he missed by a mighty narrow margin. With the ball at the 20 Burke failed to gain and Jackson broke through to nail Brogna for a five yard loss. Roche kicked to midfield, but here Woburn got assessed 15 yards for one of the clipping penalties the officials happened to see and the ball went back to the Orange seven.

Roche kicked out to the 30, and Provinciano made a slick dodging run back to the Woburn 18. Here again the officials missed one. On first down Provinciano rifled a pretty pass down the middle into the end zone. Bill West attempted to cross over to make the catch, but was clearly interfered with by a Woburn boy who had no more chance to play the ball than we did on the bench. West protested to the umpire, but his kick went for nought and the play went incomplete.

On the next play Provinciano could find no man clear and had to run, getting back just to the line of scrimmage. His next heave was intercepted and before the locals could get going again the half was over. The second half was not so spectacular as the first, but was still great football in view of conditions. Two corking quick kicks by Roche, one good for 70 and the other for 60 yards, kept Winchester in the dog house during the whole third quarter. Roche kicked across the goal line to start the final quarter and Winchester went to work at the 20. A pass from Provinciano to Callanan made it first down on the 35. Then came another heart-breaker. Peter again faded and from his own 25 shot off a long pass out to the right that just trickled off Bert Callanan's fingers at the Woburn 30 with no line between him and the Woburn goal line.

That was Winchester's last bid for victory. On an attempted pass play Provinciano was smeared back on his 18 and then kicked to Burke who made a nice runback to midfield. One pass was grounded and Burke made five yards at tackle before Roche passed to DeKosa for an important first down at Winchester's 30. Brogna once again got loose on a reverse, reaching the 18, and Roche added five at tackle.

A pass from Roche was nicely knocked down by Provinciano in the end zone, and Roche was stopped on an end sweep without gain. With the ball at the 13, Roche again took it on a play off his own right tackle and swinging into the clear raced along the sidelines for the touchdown. A fumble spoiled the try at 12, but both coaches sent in second string players for the final minute of play. The summary:

SLIPS AND SLOSHES

Leo McKinnon, Woburn's accommodating faculty manager, had a bale of straw at the Winchester bench, and the protection it afforded the nether extremities was much appreciated, especially by the newspapermen. Thanks, Leo!

Officer Riel of the Woburn blue-coats is an incurable optimist. He told us as we entered the stadium that the field was in good shape! It was at that in lots better shape than it was after five minutes of play, and it will put a sizeable crimp in the receipts from the game to put it back in good condition.

For a game that meant so much to both schools and that was as fiercely waged, last Saturday's game was very nearly played. Neither team asked or gave any quarter, but so far as could be seen from the sidelines the best of sportsmanship prevailed.

Woburn has a right to be proud of its team. They had about everything this year, a big rugged line, good backs and plenty of competitive spirit. After watching those big forwards bust in there it was easy to see why no team went very far against Woburn on the ground.

Bob Roche, little "Scooter" Brogna and Pizzo, rugged guard were Woburn's outstanding performers, in about that order. It is a fair bet that Roche got out of a sick bed to play and was below his peak form, but the big boy showed enough for any one to see he is a great football player.

For Winchester everyone played his best game of the year with Provinciano, Jackson and Roop being the outstanding individual performers. Provinciano was the outstanding player on the field and was so aided by the group who awarded the McCormack trophy. His handling and passing of the slippery pigskin was very high class, his kicking mighty good and his running all one could ask for. He held his own at times but kept his poise in admirable fashion.

Bob Jackson, for a sophomore playing his first Woburn game, turned in one whale of a performance. He was the equal of anything Woburn had to offer up forward. Big Leo Herlihy also did a great job for a boy playing his first game of the fall. Both will be back next year.

Woburn's Coach Brennan and Ted Bartlett, Winchester's assistant coach, joked each other plenty as they left the field between the halves. By then the Woburn cohorts had forgotten all about wiping out that 46-0 loss in 1937.

The Woburn band was there, and their uniforms were about the only "hot" thing at the game. "Mack" once again forsook the bench and watched the game in solid comfort from Janitor Joe Halloran's room.

Principal Wade Grindle and Faculty Manager Ray Hayward were on the Winchester bench, so was Lou Goddu, honorary trainer and general looker-after of the local team. Lou forsook his classy parka for the fur coat and was the object of many an envious eye.

The hardest tackle of the game was Turgis of McCormack right after Woburn's second touchdown. The boys really met out there and Turgis said he was surprised when McCormack got up. He evidently doesn't know "Iron Mike's" capacity for taking the bumps head-on.

In accordance with its usual custom McCormack's Pharmacy set up milkshakes gratis for the winning team and the Woburnites came down in droves after the game. Henry set them up without a quiver until he had served five managers and then he wanted to know about it. The kid he interrogated averred there were eight managers and fully as many water boys.

It was nice to hear the Woburn boys praise Winchester's play, and to admit the locals had them fooled with their tricky offensive and defensive formations the first half. It was good sportsmanship and made a hit with the Winchester fans who were listening. The Woburn players did think they would have done better on a dry day, but then, who wouldn't?

WINCHESTER BOYS PLEDGED

Fifty-two fraternities at Cornell University have recently pledged 676 new members. Among them are Donald R. Waugh, '44, Hotel Administration, pledged to Phi Kappa Psi. Mr. Waugh lives at 8 Park avenue. John H. I. Morse, '44, College of Hotel Administration, of 17 Crescent road, who pledged Sigma Chi. Wallace F. Howard, '44, College of Arts and Sciences, 345 Main street.

The Junior-Senior class play rehearsals have started already. The cast contains many talented students. They are Jane Armstrong, Dorothy Welsh, Shirley Brackett, Barbara Regan, Claudia Robinson, An Jo Woodward, Doris Thornton, Arnold Smith, Brock Lynch, Peter Hickey, and Tom McCarthy. Jane Armstrong, Brock Lynch, and Peter Hickey were all in the production last year so they will have improved greatly because of their added experience. This is a much larger cast than usual, but the plot concerns high school students so it ought to be a very interesting play.

The French Club has finally gotten around to electing officers. They are as follows: president, Lane McGovern; secretary, Virginia McPartlin; treasurer, Janet Hayward. The first meeting will probably be the annual Christmas get-together of the club.

The senior class has chosen their official class photographer. Any student who wishes to get his pictures taken before Christmas may do so. The class rings and pins are also available.

Miss Peabody, who spent several days in a hospital quite ill, has returned to her classes. Her classmates sent her flowers and a fruit and candy combination during her convalescence.

The day of the storm most teachers must have walked to school, for Miss Mackeson's coupe was the only car that could be seen on the Washington street side of the school.

Thursday, one of Mrs. Stacey's history classes dramatized the constitutional convention. The remainder of her classes enjoyed watching the performance very much.

The student council is to sponsor class assemblies. The purpose of the assemblies is to create some enthusiasm. Most pupils know that there is a council, but they don't know what it is there for and, consequently, the council is good for nothing since it is not being used by the students.

In order to choose an official state bird, the state is conducting a statewide poll of all students. Winchester High pupils are taking part in this poll.

The Science club has finally been able to set up the telescope that Mrs. Wadsworth offered to let them use so that all members will have an opportunity to look at the heavens shortly on some clear night.

Many representatives from the various girls' schools are speaking and showing motion pictures at the school and other easily accessible places.

COLD WEATHER

In keeping with our sudden winter which has opened so auspiciously with heavy snow and extreme cold, the glass dropped to zero and eight below about town Wednesday morning. The day was one of the coldest in recent years and was not equalled at all last winter.

WINCHESTER WON MIDDLESEX FOOTBALL TITLE MOST TIMES

Winchester and Belmont were the big winners in the Middlesex Football League that was dissolved after last Saturday's games.

The local eleven won outright three times and tied for the title four times, while Belmont won twice and tied three times. Maynard tied for the flag twice, once with Belmont and once with Winchester, and Concord was bracketed with the locals for the championship in 1934.

The current championship, the last of the league, was won by Belmont, when Winchester could get no better than a scoreless tie with Stoneham last Saturday. Though Stoneham failed to win a championship it had plenty to say about the flag, knocking Winchester off the top this year and in 1938 scaring the daylight out of Maynard's mammoth team before yielding the game the Orange had to win to tie Winchester's safety being Maynard's winning margin.

Concord, winner with Winchester in '34, dropped out of the league at the end of last season, leaving a five school circuit. At its inception in 1931 the Middlesex League was a nicely balanced group, with any team likely to win from any other team. Championships were usually made possible in those days, not so much by the actual winners of them as by what the other teams were able to do to challengers.

Later this condition has not prevailed. Concord fell upon evil days, Lexington's man power was cut by some of its rugged youth attending Burlington High; and Stoneham, facing the establishment of a Catholic high school, faced the football future without enthusiasm.

Taking these things into consideration and despairing of finding suitable replacements for the schools indicating, a desire to withdraw from league competition, it was decided to terminate the organization at a recent meeting.

AN EVENING OF ACTIVITY

Despite the snow flurry which came Friday evening, Nov. 29, many young folk arrived at the First Baptist Church of Winchester, prepared to spend an evening of merriment, indulging in the youthful sport of roller skating. Cars left the church shortly after seven and conveyed the group, accompanied by their pastor, the Rev. R. M. Rushton, to the roller skating rink at the Institute of Technology. Strange to relate, there were few spills and the young people returned to their homes exuberant over the evening's entertainment.

PROVINZANO WON OUTSTANDING PLAYER AWARD

Peter Provinzano, Winchester High School's star left halfback, won the handsome bronze trophy awarded by McCormack's Pharmacy to the player on either team adjudged to be outstanding in the Winchester-Woburn football game last Saturday at Woburn.

Four judges, James J. Haggerty, Jr., sports writer of the Woburn Daily Times, "Doc" Flaherty, coach of the Woburn Shamrocks, Joseph J. Tansey, coach of the Westworth Institute football team and former Norwich captain, and Jim Penalanigan of the Winchester Star, made the award, the vote for Provinzano being unanimous.

"Pete," a younger brother of Frank Provinzano, varsity halfback at Boston University, played a fine all around game against Woburn. The ball went to him on almost every play while Winchester was in possession and his handling of the slippery pigskin was glib-edged. In addition he passed beautifully, kicked mightily well under pressure and ran the ball effectively. Peter was hit hard and often out there Saturday, but stood up under it and kept his poise in a way that meant a lot to his team. There is no doubt that he was the outstanding performer of two teams, the members of which were all playing good football.

Provinzano is a junior and small as football players go, weighing about 150 pounds. He is captain of the current basketball team and an outstanding pitcher on the baseball team, besides being popular with his classmates in and out of athletics.

GREATER BOSTON COMMUNITY FUND MEETING OF PRE- CINCT DIRECTORS

A meeting of precinct directors and assistants of the Winchester Campaign, Greater Boston Community Fund was held at the Town Hall on Friday, Nov. 29, to report on progress of enrollment of workers. It is hoped that all solicitors will be enrolled and the entire organization completed by Dec. 15. Precinct 6, under the leadership of Mrs. William E. McDonald, Jr., Mr. Charles H. Gallagher and Mr. Joseph Tansey, reported 20 captains. Other precincts reported all captains enrolled and many solicitors signed up.

As soon as each precinct organization has been completed, an educational committee, consisting of Mrs. Jameson S. Slocum, Mr. James O. Murray and Mrs. Howard Morrison, will meet with the solicitors to give them information about the agencies and answer all questions. Announcement was made of the get-together meeting of the entire Winchester organization to be held on Wednesday evening, Jan. 8th at the Winchester Country Club. Speakers will be Mr. Henry Guild of the Greater Boston Community Fund 1941 Campaign and Mr. Robert Montgomery, Metropolitan chairman. The public committee, Mrs. Donald Heath, Dr. Eugene M. Pollard and Mrs. Donald C. Davies are arranging a Come and See Tour on Dec. 11 for associates, precinct directors. Later a tour will be arranged for solicitors and captains.

Precinct directors are as follows: Precinct 1—John C. Casler, Mrs. Albert Thompson, Otis W. Leary. Precinct 2—Neil H. Borden, Mrs. Marion Waugh, Mrs. William B. Wood. Precinct 3—Charles H. Borden, R. H. B. Smith, Mrs. William E. Spaulding. Precinct 4—Philip P. Spaulding, James F. Dwinell, Jr., Mrs. Gilbert Taylor. Precinct 5—William J. Speers, Jr., Mrs. Harry S. Parsons, Theodore W. Monroe. Precinct 6—Mrs. William E. McDonald, Jr., Charles H. Gallagher, Joseph J. Tansey.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

Mr. Clement A. Norton of the Boston School Committee addressed the members of the Guild of the Infant Saviour at the last regular meeting, on the afternoon of November 26th. During the talk he expressed his belief and experience that moral encouragement and material assistance given to the school child who had to contend with an improper home and family environment brought most satisfying results. He has found that an understanding teacher or headmaster could do much to ease the way for boys and girls who had to cope with the situations that baffle them.

Mrs. Alfred E. Viano, chairman of the sewing committee announced that the quota of 500 garments made by the members to be presented to the charitable bureau before Christmas, is near completion.

Tea was served and hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. John S. O'Leary, Mrs. Francis A. Barrett, Mrs. Elias Beranger, Mrs. A. H. De Morris, and Mrs. Charles A. Farrar. Preparations are being made for the morning lecture to be held on Dec. 20th, at the home of Mrs. Virgil Ghirardini. The speaker will be the Rev. Charles Menzies. A box meeting will be held on Thursday, Dec. 5, in Lyceum Hall. Tuesday, Dec. 10, is the date of the next regular meeting.

INTERTOWN MEETING A SUCCESS

Last Sunday, Dec. 1, the Young People's Fellowship of the Church of Epiphany entertained the Fellowship from All Saints' Episcopal Church in Belmont. The speaker, Mr. Grindle, was introduced by the president, Leonard Sherman. Mr. Grindle spoke of the schools as not only an institution to develop mental and vocational abilities, but also to develop character traits in each individual student. The talk was received with much enthusiasm by all.

Cynthia Newton was chairman of the reception committee which consisted of Craig Greiner, Ted Mauger, Roberts Ray and Frances Stratton Louise Kelley, David A. Vitch, Barbara Harmer, Ann Swidler and Joan Ray made up the refreshment committee with Joan Moffette as its chairman. Well deserved credit should be given these people for their fine work.

STILL WORKING TOWARDS GOAL

With a great determination to make the 1940 effort in Winchester a success, the Salvation Army continues toward the objective of $200, according to William N. Beggs, attorney, who heads the sponsoring group. Sydney March, the official collector continues at his work of seeing the people and telling the people of the needs for donations, what is done with the money and what fine service is rendered by the Winchester local fund of the Army.

The need of a continued use of the mail or the handing of donations to the campaign treasurer, is again mentioned by Mr. Beggs. The treasurer is G. Dwight Cabot, treasurer of the Winchester Trust Company.

"It is not too late for a Charitable Touchdown in Winchester for the Salvation Army," said William A. Nicol, public relations secretary of the Salvation Army.

SUSPECTS AT RESERVOIR

Last Sunday police headquarters was notified that two men had been seen taking pictures of the reservoir. Officers Henry Dempsey and Irving Beardon were sent to investigate. Upon their arrival they found a man in an automobile and another, making a sketch of the North Reservoir which he said was to be used in the art section of one of the Boston papers. The man making the sketch gave the officers his name and said he was an artist. He was warned not to go around the reservoir in the future without permission of the Water Department.

WINCHESTER COLLEGE CLUB

Evening Study Group

Dr. Norman J. Padelford, Professor of International Law at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, will speak next Monday evening, Dec. 9 at the first meeting of the Evening Study Group of the Winchester College Club. His subject will be "New Frontiers in American Foreign Relations."

This meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. West, 74 Wedgemere avenue. Coffee will be served at 7:30 o'clock.

BUYS NEW HOME

Capt. Magnus G. Magnusson, well known resident of Winchester for the past 20 years and owner of the trawler "Heckla," Inc., has purchased one of the lovely colonial residences recently completed at Drexel avenue in the fashionable Wedgemere Park section, by Gustave A. Josephson, Winchester builder.

The house has eight rooms and three baths, paneled room in the basement with hard wood floor, basement lavatory, oak paneled library, breakfast room, up to the minute modern kitchen, two screened porches, a two-car attached, heated garage. The house is air-conditioned by Deeco and fully insulated. There is a large lot of land, well landscaped. The Magnusson family now occupy the residence.

Approximately half a million wages are today employed in Massachusetts factories. Purchasing power of the present wage earner is the highest ever recorded and is about 13 per cent greater than at the peak boom in 1929.

When a shoe is resoled in our shop you receive the best that money can buy in materials and workmanship, which is the only true economy. We rebuild shoes. We do not cobble.

DONAGHEY-JOHNSON

Miss Doris Victoria Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Johnson of Hyde Park street, Dedham, wore a soldier blue velveteen dress with matching hat and a gardenia corsage for her marriage to Thomas William Donaghey, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Donaghey of Washington street on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 30, at the rectory of St. Mary's Church. Rev. Fr. John P. O'Riordan, pastor of St. Mary's Church, performed the ceremony at 4 o'clock, and a reception followed at the Hotel Miles Standish in Boston.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Emma Carole Johnson of Dedham, who wore a dress of Navy moire taffeta with hat to match and a corsage of bachelor buttons and sweetheart roses. Robert L. Donaghey of Winchester was his brother's best man.

Upon their return from a wedding journey Mr. Donaghey and his bride will make their home at 23 Fairfield street in Dedham.

The bride is a graduate of Dedham High School. Mr. Donaghey was graduated from Winchester High School, is a member of Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, and is a lithographer at the Court Square Press in Boston.

RED CROSS LEADERS TO CON- FER ON ACCIDENT PREVEN- TION AND NATIONAL DEFENSE

Plans for strengthening Red Cross accident prevention services in the interest of national defense will be made at a state conference of Red Cross first aid leaders to be held in Boston at the Hotel Lenox on December 7th.

Representatives from Massachusetts' 91 Chapters are expected to attend. The local chapter will be represented at the meeting by Mr. Alfred Pennell, chairman of first aid, and Mrs. Harry Goodwin, chairman of life saving and swimming.

Conference discussions will cover such subjects as the necessity for Red Cross first aid in national defense and industry; highway first aid for national defense, and the place of life saving and home and farm accident prevention in national preparedness plans.

BRITISH CONSUL PRAISES
TOZIER PICTURES

The colored pictures which Dr. Charles Tozier will show at his lecture on Guatemala in the high school auditorium on Friday evening, Dec. 13, have been enthusiastically described by the British Consul as the best he has seen. This is high praise and especially apropos because proceeds from the lecture will benefit the British Rolling Kitchen Fund being raised in Winchester.

Another important person enthusiastic about the pictures is the controller of the Boston Public Library who after seeing them, rated them as especially outstanding.

The pictures, both still and motion pictures, were taken by Dr. Tozier on a recent visit to Guatemala, during which time he traveled extensively and engaged in exhaustive research through a grant from the President and Trustees of Dartmouth College and the assistance of the Pan American Union in Washington.

Guatemala is known as the most colorful country in the Western Hemisphere and those who have seen private showings of the pictures believe the doctor has captured the charm and color of the country to a remarkable degree.

The high school lecture will mark the first public showing of the pictures, and advance interest indicates that a capacity audience will take advantage of the opportunity to see them.

Proceeding Dr. Tozier's lecture, Mr. Edwin Webster, president of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, who will present an illuminated scroll to Winchester in recognition of its efforts to promote civic beauty. Mr. Elliott Cameron, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, will accept the scroll for the Town of Winchester.

Beauty spots of Winchester will be shown in color.

College groups are cooperating to make the evening a success and their representatives may be called for tickets:

TWO ACCIDENTS SUNDAY

Sunday morning shortly before 2 o'clock a Pontiac sedan, driven east on Mt. Vernon street by Carl Pynn of 6 Ridgeway, was in collision at the intersection of Highland avenue with a Ford coach, driven by William H. Hood of 274 Common street, Watertown.

Pynn told the police that Hood's car was headed south and when its driver applied his brakes at the intersection of the streets skidded into the front of Pynn's machine. Both cars were damaged, Pynn's so badly it had to be towed to the Central Garage. Pynn complained of abdominal injuries and was treated at the nearby office of Dr. Robert L. Ennet.

An Oldsmobile coupe, driven south on Cambridge street by Leon J. Delaney of 360 Lebanon street, Melrose, while stopped on Cambridge street in front of the Winchester Conservatory Sunday afternoon at 12:15, was struck in the rear by a Buick sedan, being driven south on Cambridge street by W. B. McDonald of 287 Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge. Delaney and a passenger in his car, H. Mulready of Appleton street, Melrose, complained of having been shaken up by the impact.

MARYCLIFF ACADEMY TO SPONSOR DICKENS' PLAY

On Friday, Dec. 6, at 3 p. m., the Classic Guild of New York will perform at Marycliff Academy, Robbins road, Arlington. It will present a special dramatization in three acts of Charles Dickens' immortal story, "A Tale of Two Cities," in costume of the period with effective lighting and incidental music. The members of the junior class of Marycliff are sponsoring the program.

Political franchise was closely limited by the early settlers. In 1633 there were but 350 men in the Massachusetts Bay Colony who were entitled to vote.

WINCHESTER BOY IN COLLEGE
"WHO'S WHO"

Mr. John L. Lobingier, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lobingier, 4 Manchester road, who will receive his A. B. degree from the University of Virginia in June, is among these students listed in the 1940-41 issue of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." The book will be released in January or February.

This publication is to be published through the cooperation of over 300 American universities and colleges. It is the only means of national recognition for graduates which is devoid of politics, fees and dues. Several students from accredited colli-tainments selected each year, by an unprejudiced committee, for their biographies to appear in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." These books are placed in the hands of hundreds of companies and others who annually recruit outstanding students for employment. The purpose of "Who's Who" is to serve as an incentive for students to get the most out of their college careers; as a means of commendation to students for what they have already done; as a recommendation to the business world; and as a standard of measurement for students comparable to such agencies as Phi Beta Kappa and the Rhodes Scholarship Award.

Mr. Lobingier is a member of the Raven Society, the University of Virginia's highest honorary society for scholastic and extra-curricular attainment. He is sports editor of College Topics, this year a daily newspaper. A charter member of Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalistic fraternity, Mr. Lobingier is the first secretary-treasurer. He is a member of the Dargier Society, the Press Club, the Board of Arbitration, and the Senior Cabinet of the University of Y. M. C. A. He was on the freshman baseball squad, and has been a member of the University Band and the Little Congress. He received intermediate honors for high scholastic achievement at the end of two years of college.

Mr. Lobingier went to Winchester High School for three years, and to Deerfield Academy for one. He was graduated from the latter in 1937.

NEW MEMBERS AT WINTON CLUB

The Winton Club held its December meeting at the home of Mrs. John H. Joy on Church street last Monday. Mrs. Vincent Farnsworth, Jr., president, presiding. Dessert and coffee preceded the meeting, and the club welcomed to its ranks five newly elected members: Mrs. Carl L. Eaton, Mrs. E. Craig Greiner, Mrs. A. Allen Kimball, Mrs. Robert G. Jennings and Mrs. Ellsworth G. Nichols.

Mrs. Edwin R. Rooney, chairman of the 1941 Cabaret, gave a brief outline of this newest musical review, which promises to be gay, exciting and colorful. The Rogers Company will again stage the show, and Mr. William Raterman director of last year's successful show, will again take charge of the production.

The Winton Club has many volunteer workers bending their efforts towards war relief, and are meeting several times a month making warm clothing for British children, as well as knitting at home.

EPIPHANY ALTAR GUILD INVITES GUILDS OF NEIGHBORING PARISHES

The Altar Guild of the Church of the Epiphany will have as guests on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 8, the rectors and the Altar Guilds of neighboring churches, Grace Church, Medford; Trinity, Woburn; and All Saints, Stoneham. The occasion will be their annual Advent pilgrimage of the parish church.

At 4 o'clock there will be an opportunity for members of the visiting Guild to see the sacristy of Epiphany and to talk with the chairman, Mrs. George Bryne, about practical details and equipment for the altar service. Meanwhile other guests will be guided about the church by Mrs. William C. Sache, who will talk informally about symbolism that has been embodied in the structure or used in the adornment of Epiphany.

At 4:45 the rector of Epiphany, Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, will conduct the pilgrimage, during which the group will move from the fort, symbolically the door of decision and commitment, the entrance into the church, stopping at each for appropriate prayer and song. The order of the pilgrimage is based on that used in the Cathedral of Chelsoe, England. The Epiphany Guild offers it early in Advent each year to make clearer and more significant the spiritual meaning in forms of worship.

The pilgrimage and Mrs. Sache's talk on symbols are open to all who care to come. After the pilgrimage the guests from Medford, Stoneham and Woburn will have tea in the library with the Epiphany Guild. Mrs. Harvard Mann will have charge of the tea, and Mrs. Dwight W. Hadley and Mrs. Gerald Hills will be at the tea table.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE, FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The monthly meeting of the Women's League, First Baptist Church, was held Thursday. The ladies met at 10 o'clock for sewing. At noon a delicious luncheon was served by a group of the ladies, Mrs. H. Earl Richardson, chairman.

The afternoon meeting opened with a devotional period led by Mrs. A. J. Archibald.

The speaker of the afternoon was Miss Dorothy O. Bucklin, Christian Friendliness Missionary Chairman of the Baptist Association, her topic, "Shifting Lights."

Mrs. Richard S. Taylor, our own Christian Friendliness Chairman, spoke on "Friendly Fireside Lights."

COASTING ACCIDENT

While coasting Saturday forenoon shortly before noon, Edward F. Noonan, 15 year old son of Fire Lieut. and Mrs. J. Edward Noonan of 71 Nelson street, was thrown from a double runner at the corner of Kendall and Bridge streets. He was knocked unconscious and was seen lying where he fell by Officer William J. Callahan of the Police Department who was off duty.

Officer Callahan notified Headquarters and Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy responded with Patrol 52 and Officers Henry Dempsey and John Dolan. Young Noonan was taken home and by the time the house was reached had regained consciousness but was still dazed from the effects of the blow.

He was able to return to school on Wednesday and it is believed that no serious consequences developed from the accident.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF IN WINCHESTER

Wishes Turn Into Works

"They kept on to what seemed the end of the road but went on. They were the only ones to win through. The fire service greeted them with cheers. They gathered up a hurt boy, a woman with a two-days baby, seven people in all."

That scrap from the story of one girl in England who drives an ambulance, on the night of the dock fires, brings up in every one of us a rush of wishes. To have the human race free forever from this monstrous cruelty and misery we call war; to have men cured of arrogance and the desire to dominate; to have a peace that is the fruit of good will, a peace that will last, and that will let us get on with the good business of being really human, of conquering disease and hunger and cold, of inventing and making new and beautiful things, of living creatively in every relationship, with love and laughter.

Wishes too for things more definite and nearer at hand: to succor our comrades fighting against totalitarian conquest; to bring quickly out of fire and ruin and into hospital the mother with her two-days baby. For this kind of help Winchester has turned wishes into works, with the gift of money for the trailer ambulance that Winchester in England, asked of her name-sister, Winchester in New England.

This bit of comradeship help to wounded civilians our village has completed, and the ambulance has been supplied. We are changing into works also our wish to combat the hunger of those whom the night has rendered homeless. Winchester is making ready a kitchen that can come speedily to give a warm breakfast to two hundred of those whose own kitchens the night raid has wrecked. And this fund, with the large returns from the benefit plays given by the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church, and with the collection from the Winchester Union Thanksgiving, has gone more than half way toward the needed $2000.

Every drop of our thermometers these December mornings reminds us to make haste to find the rest of the dollars for this Rolling Kitchen. Let us have it on its way by Christmas.

Winchester has two ways of helping this week. First, there is the benefit lecture, Dec. 13, at the high school auditorium, sponsored by the Dartmouth Club of Winchester. Tickets for this lecture by Dr. Charles Tozier on Guatemala, abundantly illustrated by the colored photography for which Dr. Tozier is notable, are still available at the Star office. This lecture provides threefold pleasure: the beauty and interest for the eye; the better understanding of a country to the south with whom we mean to be south with friends; and the speeding up of our kitchen unit to combat hunger in a war-struck British city.

The second way is by joining the list of individual contributors to the Rolling Kitchen Fund. There gifts will be received at the Winchester Trust Company, by the treasurer of the fund, Mr. Dwight Cabot.

Winchester women keep up their war against winter in war-raided Britain. They knit and stitch and hunt.

Hunting is still good in Winchester closets and attics. Our December wind these snowy days is not "an ill wind that blows nobody good." It is a sharp reminder of snow and icicles hanging by the wall of ruined English homes, and it sends women hunting for warm coats, overcoats, wind-break jackets, sweaters, shoes, for men, women or children.

These will be received on Thursday from 10 to 1, by the Fortnightly Club at their rooms, entering by the door on Common street; on Wednesday, 10 to 4 at the central workroom in the Epiphany parish hall; and any day by Mrs. Fred Cameron, 47 Church street, Win. 1984.

With stitchers working on Wednesday at the central work-room and at the First Congregational Church is fashioning into children's dresses the woolen cloth given by the Talbot Mills, and knitting goes busily on all over the village.

Yarn and directions and advice for knitting may be secured on Wednesday at the central work room. Or any woman who wishes to sew or knit may call Mrs. Cameron, Win. 1984, or Mrs. Marion Waugh, Win. 2387-J.

ADULT RECREATION GROUPS TO OPEN DEC. 11

The Adult Recreation Committee wish to announce that the Adult Hobby Groups will open Wednesday evening, Dec. 11 for any adult Winchester resident.

There will be an opportunity for those interested in Rug Braiding, Wood Carving, Basket Ball, Keep Fit Classes and Folk Dancing.

Mrs. Wade Grindle will instruct Rug Braiding at the Wadleigh School at 7 o'clock. Mr. Charles Green will instruct wood carving at the same time and place. Please bring your own materials for these two classes.

The high school gymnasium will be open at 7:30 Dec. 11 for basketball, keep-fit classes and folk dancing. Mr. Edward O'Melia will be in charge of the basketball and Mrs. Dana Kelley will be in charge of the keep-fit classes and folk dancing.

The committee feel they have been most fortunate in securing the services of so able a group of instructors. Any further information will be gladly given by calling any member of the committee: Mrs. Allen Kimball, Win. 2002; Rev. Mr. William Packer, Win. 2644-M; Mr. Dana Kelley, Win. 0277-M; Dr. Angelo Maletta, Win. 0087; Mr. Edward O'Melia, Win. 2221 or Mrs. Harold Meyer, Win. 1748.

SENATOR LODGE WAS GUEST SPEAKER OF WINCHESTER WOMEN'S REPUBLICAN CLUB

A large number of club members and guests gathered in Waterford Hall on Wednesday evening, Dec. 4, to hear Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., U. S. Senator from Massachusetts. In speaking of the recent Presidential campaign, Senator Lodge said that any campaign which made people think was worth while, win or lose, and that our duty as American citizens does not end with election day. He pointed out that minority beliefs and opinions are of importance in our democratic form of government and that it is often the searching questions raised by the minority, which can compel the majority to act.

He spoke at some length on the problem of National Defense and explained that the fact that the country is dealing with the National Defense must be passed on by 14 separate units, with no one unit definitely responsible, greatly slows up our defense. It must, it is his opinion, be a problem, if our national defense is to go forward speedily and accurately. Senator Lodge asked that, in order to have the right approach to our country at this critical period, we look back into history—to those men who, amid the bitterest hardships, fought with Washington at the birth of this nation; to those Union soldiers in the Civil War who fought through hard years to keep this country united; to those who fought in France for a selfish and idealistic motive—all were bound by the American ideal, free men and free institutions. To be worthy of them, we must think first of our duties; every responsible citizen must think serious of our common problems. To keep our cherished way of life, we must have a foundation of peace, if we are to avoid war. We must be sure of what we will fight for, if we fight; namely, that it must be vital for America. If we are true to our inheritance and traditions, we shall not take our responsibilities lightly. It is directly up to us to "ably save or meanly lose the last great hope on earth."

Senator Lodge also answered questions relating to activities of Dies Committee embargoes on goods to Japan, aid to Britain, Federal Relief and Defense problems. The generous applause told how much the audience had enjoyed the informal discussion of this brilliant young statesman.

Besides Senator Lodge, Mrs. Warren Whitman, president of the club, also presented as guests of honor Mrs. Anna Roberts and Mr. Kingman Cass of the state committee, who spoke a few well chosen words of greeting. Mrs. Frederick S. Hatch, chairman of the Education Committee, spoke briefly on current events, dealing with state and national affairs of immediate interest.

Announcement was made of a change in the Stud-Group from Tuesday morning, Dec. 10, to 2:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Philip Woodward, 11 Lakeview road.

BENTLEY-McBEE

A marriage of Winchester interest took place at the Memorial Church in South Willington, Conn., on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 30, when Miss Sally McBee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. L. McBee of South Willington, became the bride of Bradford Morrill Bentley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Bentley of Central street. White chrysanthemums and all white tapers made an attractive setting for the ceremony which was performed at 3 o'clock by Dr. Crowsell McBee of Devon, Pa., assisted by the pastor of the church, Dr. Horace Stote. Walter Dawley, organist, of Hartford, Conn., played the wedding music.

Miss McBee was given in marriage by her father and was attended by her cousin, Mrs. Bradford R. Frost of Winchester, as matron of honor. Miss Florida McBee of Greenville, S. C., cousin of the bride; Miss Peggy French of Hartford, Conn., Miss Louise Boatwright of Aiken, S. C., and Miss Eleanor Davison of Greenwich, Conn., were bridesmaids.

The bride wore a gown of ivory velvet with long sleeves, a square neckline and a circular train, banded with shirring of material like the dress. Her long veil of illusion was arranged with a Juliet cap of Belgium rose point lace from her mother's wedding gown, and she carried a velvet muff, decorated with white spray orchids and stephanotis.

All the bridal attendants were dressed alike in white faille gowns styled like that of the bride. Short veils of American Beauty illusion completed their costumes and they carried faille muffs decorated with American Beauty illusion, stephanotis and white pansies.

Bradford R. Frost of Winchester was Mr. Bentley's best man, and the usher corps comprised William deB. McBee of South Willington, Conn., brother of the bride; Irving Vaughan of Newton Center, Roger Tallmadge of Boston, Duncan Newell of Winchester, Dan Jennings of South Byfield and Richmond H. Smith of Norwich, Conn.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. After a wedding journey through the South, Mr. Bentley and his bride will make their home in Winchester at 17 Norwood street.

The bride attended Ashley Hall at Charleston, S. C., and Miss Masters at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. Mr. Bentley, who is associated with his father in the operation of Camp Wyanoake at Wolfboro, N. H., prepared for college at Newton Country Day School and was graduated from Wesleyan University in the class of 1936.

CHARLES W. JONES

Charles W. Jones of 10 Park avenue, died suddenly Wednesday morning, Dec. 4, following an acute attack of cardiac disease with which he was stricken while waiting for the train at Winchester Station shortly after 7 o'clock. He was taken to the Winchester Hospital in the police ambulance by Patrolmen John F. Hogan and James J. Fishery and attended by Dr. Harry Benson who pronounced him dead upon arrival.

Mr. Jones was born Feb. 6, 1877, in Cambridge, the son of Charles and Fannie (Tyson) Jones. As a young man he was employed as an engineer by Stone & Webster, traveling extensively in the interests of the firm. Latterly for nearly twenty years he had been associated with J. William Beal Sons, architects, in Boston. He was a Mason, a member of the old Calumet Club in Winchester and of the Engineers' Club.

Mr. Jones leave his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Jones, and three brothers, Albert, Walter, and Lawrence Jones, all of Arlington.

The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the late residence with Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, officiating. Interment will be in Arlington.

THE SPANISH UNION

The Methodist Church Fireside League will give a three-act farce entitled "The Spanish Union." This play will take place Saturday evening, Dec. 14, at 8:15 p. m. at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church. Included in the large cast are Lilian McLaughlin, Betty Melanson, Elsie Grey, Kathryn Sexton, Robert Griffith, Sherman Dodge, Leonard Erikson and George Hatch.

FRANK H. HIGGINS

Frank H. Higgins, former Winchester photographer and well known resident of this town, died suddenly of an acute heart attack Thanksgiving evening in Melrose where he had gone from his home in Boston to spend the holiday with his sister, Mrs. Harry Smith, a resident of that city. Mr. Higgins was born 65 years ago in Cambridge. He was educated in the Cambridge schools and as a young man was employed at the picture framing and art studios of Sprague Hathaway Company in Davis Square, Somerville.

About 1900 he came to Winchester and established a photographer's studio in this town, being located for many years on Main street in the old block at the corner of Thompson street, and later in the National Bank Building. Many high school pupils had their graduation pictures taken by him, and his camera recorded many important events in the town's development.

Mr. Higgins was a devotee of sports. He was well known as a sportsman, rolling on some of the good teams at the old Calumet Club, of which he was a member. He was also a frequent entrant in track meets, in and around Winchester, and maintaining his graduation pictures taken by him, and his camera recorded many important events in the town's development.

Mr. Higgins left town four years ago and had been living since that time in Malden and Boston. Besides his sister in Melrose, he leaves his wife, Mrs. Arzilia Higgins; two daughters, Mrs. Edward Scanlon of Newark, N. J. and Mrs. Maurice R. Higgins of Reading; a son, Donald Higgins of Reading; and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon in Malden. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

HENRIETTA ROBERTS HILLS

Mrs. Henrietta Roberts Hills, widow of James Henry Hills and one of Winchester's oldest residents, died Wednesday night, Dec. 4, at the home of her son, Benjamin W. Hills, 181 Highland avenue, after a short illness.

Mrs. Hills was the daughter of William and Eliza (Rollinson) Roberts. She was born July 26, 1854, in Willimantic, Conn., and was for 65 years a resident of that city, receiving her education in the public schools and being married there Dec. 24, 1874. Her husband was for years chief of police and city sheriff of Willimantic and she was nearly as well known as he, numbering her friends among the people of all walks in life. She was actively identified with the Willimantic Methodist church, singing for some years in its choir.

Mrs. Hills came to Winchester 10 years ago with her son, Mr. Hills, and daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Ford. She made many friends during her residence, her sterling character and fine sense of humor endearing her to all with whom she came in contact. Despite her advanced years she retained her full faculties to a remarkable degree and maintained a keen interest in people and events that enabled her to enjoy her own life and to bring pleasure to others.

Besides her son and daughter, with whom she made her home, Mrs. Hills leaves a granddaughter, Mrs. Harriet Korb, and a grandson, Horace H. Ford, both of this town. Her husband died in 1901.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the late residence, with Rev. R. Mitchell Rushton, pastor of the First Baptist Church officiating. Interment will be in the Willimantic Cemetery, Willimantic, Conn.

ENTERTAINED SCHOOLMATE

Master Don Ross Kester, son of Mrs. J. I. Brody of 29 Central street spent a few days at home on Thanksgiving vacation from William Academy. He was accompanied by a schoolmate, Stephen Wilson, who is a son of Professor Wilson of Cambridge, England, whose three sons are guests for the duration of the war of President Davis of Smith College, Northampton.

Friends of Miss Cora A. Quimby, for many years librarian at the public library, will be sorry to learn that she is confined to her home by illness.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

The December meeting of the Board of Directors was held on Monday, the second at the Winchester National Bank.

The regular meeting of the week was a joint meeting with the home club acting as host to the Rotary Club of Arlington at the Winchester Country Club. Forty-seven members of the Arlington Club with one guest were in attendance, with President James J. Golding heading the delegation. Also present were five visitors from Reading, Stoneham, Woburn, President George Carter of the Winchester Rotary, and President James Golden of the Arlington club responded feelingly for the Arlington club.

The guest speaker on this occasion was Dr. Alexander P. Aitken, a resident of Winchester and a noted specialist in bone fractures. Dr. Aitken was introduced by our Dr. Richard Sheehy whose cordial remarks brought to the attention of the club the importance of bone surgery, that he is frequently consulted by surgeons in every continent on the globe and that he is now at work on an enterprise in surgery which gives every promise of realizing the most significant advance which that profession has accomplished in several decades.

At this time Dr. Aitken spoke on the topic of "Broken Bones," a lecture was illustrated with illuminated X-Ray photographs of fractures which he had personally treated. It is notable that not once did he use technical terms in his descriptions of the various cases presented. On the contrary his remarks could be readily comprehended by any person of ordinary intelligence with the result that he gained the earnest attention of all his hearers. We feel that we should repeat at this time a request made by Dr. Aitken, a request which every one of us should bear constantly in mind; namely, when confronted by an accident on the public highways or otherwise it is quite possible to move or change the position of the victims until a physician or competent ambulance men have arrived on the scene to supervise the operation. Otherwise it is quite possible to produce conditions which will seriously interfere with convalescence or even result in death. We feel that Dr. Aitken has come to us in consequence of his time and convenience and we are proud of him of our deep appreciation of his courtesy and of the pleasure and instruction which we have gained from his address.

At the next meeting on Thursday, Dec. 12, we shall entertain our District Governor, Francis J. Flagg. We hope that every one of our members will pay him the respect which is his due by attending this meeting and giving Governor Flagg a cordial greeting. Let us assure you that you will meet a most genial gentleman who is doing his utmost to be a true friend to every Rotarian in this district. Every virtue naturally extends his influence far beyond the district limits. Governor Flagg requests that the Directors and Committee Chairman of the club meet him for consultation at 11 a. m. on the day of the meeting. Do not overlook this request.

ROLLING KITCHEN ROLLS PAST FIRST THOUSAND

The Parish Players of the First Congregational Church are happy to announce that the first $1000 toward a Winchester Rolling Kitchen for Great Britain has been raised.

The Parish Players' series of three plays—opened Nov. 8 and 9 with Noel Coward's "Tonight at Eight-Thirty," netted a profit of $750.00. Two hundred and thirty-four dollars came in as contributions to the Rolling Kitchen Fund, and an offering of $66.30 was received at the Union Thanksgiving Service, making a total of $1,070.35.

The Parish Players want to thank members of the Winchester Branch of the British War Relief Society, and members of the Winton Club, for their help in the sale of tickets for the plays, and for their assistance in getting contributions.

Further contributions are urgently requested. Checks may be made out to the Winchester Rolling Kitchen Fund and sent to the Winchester Trust Company.

EXHIBITION OF MEDICI PRINTS OPENED WITH TEA

More than 75 members attended the tea and gallery talk at the Public Library last Sunday to open the exhibition of Medici Prints sponsored by the Winchester Art Association and loaned the Association by one of its members, Mr. Ralph T. Hale of Lloyd street, who is also a member of the Board of Library Trustees.

Mrs. George Marks was in charge of arrangements for the tea, and the pourers were Mrs. Charles Underwood and Mrs. Edwin Rooney. Servers were Miss Helen Butler, Miss Rebecca Farnsworth, Miss Helen Farnsworth, Miss Suzanne Gleason, Miss Dorothy Joy and Miss Barbara Kelley.

Mr. Hale, himself, gave the customary gallery talk, telling something of the origin of Medici Prints, describing the intricate process by which they are reproduced and recounting numerous interesting anecdotes associated with those on display in the gallery, many of which are from his own collection.

Medici Prints are published by the Medici Society of London, there being some five or six hundred subjects in the series. Hale, Cushman & Flint, the publishing house of which Mr. Hale is a member, are the American publishers for the prints which they import from London. The prints are a part of English cultural life and often named in representative British novels such as those by J. B. Priestley and Sir Philip Gibbs.

In his talk Mr. Hale explained the process by which they are reproduced, involving skilled photography, glass plates and color emulsion. There are two series of prints, those known as the Medici Old Masters and the Medici Moderns. Most of those at the library are of the first series, though there are two moderns so called, which however, are reproduced by the same process. The prints and frames have a value of about $1000. The original pictures are worth in the neighborhood of one hundred million dollars.

In talking about the prints shown Mr. Hale told where he had seen originals hanging and wondered where these famous masterpieces are now residing.

He told how Hitler had "acquired" Holbein's "The Artist's Studio," formerly owned by Count Czernin and now said to be at Berchtesgaden, and called attention to the Vermeer landscape, View of Delft, said by an English Art Critic to be unexcelled of its kind. When this picture was painted Europe had been through a trying period of political unrest and artists were forbidden to paint anything but pictures reflecting peace and plenty.

Speaking of Holbein's Duchess of Milan, the original of which is in the London National Gallery, Mr. Hale told how this portrait was painted at the behest of the Duke of Milan, that he mist "sleaz" the lady, as possible matrimonial material. The original of Titian's Man With Red Cap, was brought to this country for Henry C. Frick, partner of Carnegie and later of the J. P. Morgan, all later Sir Hugh Lane, who booked return passage on the Lusitania and was drowned.

In pointing out the two modern prints displayed, Esther by Marie Laurencin and Taking Wing by Peter Scott, as two of the best rising from marsh grass against a fleecy clouded blue sky, Mr. Hale explained that Mr. Scott is an internationally known painter of game birds, the son of the late Capt. Robert Falcon Scott, who arrived at the South Pole shortly after Amundsen in 1911 and who died of starvation on the homeward journey.

The exhibition of prints is one of the outstanding shows the Association has brought to Winchester. Many of the prints are large and almost all are artistically framed. The colors are faithfully reproduced and there are some that are difficult to distinguish from actual paintings. Such as Flaxford Mill, a reproduction of Constable's painting in the London National Gallery. The Letter by Terborch, the original of which is in Buckingham Palace, and the large reproduction of Sir John Everett Millais' "The Millers' Farewell" in the London Tate Gallery.

There is a very wide range of subjects, including such world famous masterpieces as the Mona Lisa by Leonardo da Vinci and Raphael's Sixtine Madonna. Botticelli, Gilbert Stuart, Rembrandt, King, Vermeer, Whistler, Reynolds and Turner are some of the old masters, reproductions of whose works are shown. A quaint old study by Richard Wilson, Cricknet at Moulse Hurst, the original of which hangs in the Lords' Pavilion in London, will appeal to sportsmen.

The exhibition will remain at the gallery through December and should be seen more than once.

LEADERS IN THE 1941 UNITED CAMPAIGN OF THE WINCHESTER COMMUNITY CHEST AND THE GREATER BOSTON COMMUNITY FUND

Seated (left to right) Mrs. Frederick B. Craven, Assistant Administrative Vice Chairman in charge of secretaries, and Robert H. Montgomery, chairman, both of Metropolitan Division; Mrs. Charles H. Woolley, Vice Chairman of Educational Division in charge of Mystic Area. (Standing) Eugene L. Vail, Administrative Vice Chairman, Metropolitan Division; Mrs. James O. Murray, local chairman, Educational Division; Charles H. Woolley, Mystic Area Chairman.

Included in the above group are four Winchester workers in the 1941 Community Fund Campaign. Mrs. Frederick B. Craven instructs administrative chairmen in the whole Metropolitan Division in a plan of office recording which was systematized in Winchester last year. Mr. Charles H. Woolley is in charge of enrolling chairmen and campaign worker in the Mystic area.

Mrs. Woolley is vice chairman in charge of Education, also working in the Mystic area, providing speakers, the Campaign movie, and skits for various organizations. Her assistant and local chairman in Winchester is Mrs. James O. Murray, who will provide any or all of these methods of education here locally. Mr. Eugene L. Vale is administrative vice chairman, Metropolitan Division and Mr. Robert H. Montgomery is the 1941 campaign chairman of the Metropolitan Division. These volunteer workers are giving freely of their time and energy to help make the 1941 Greater Boston Community Fund a success in order that our 200 agencies in Greater Boston may continue to carry on the necessary work.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

Mrs. Elizabeth Murphy, district director, gave an excellent talk on Auxiliary Rehabilitation at the regular meeting of the Auxiliary to Post 97, American Legion, Monday evening, Dec. 2, at the Legion house.

In spite of the bad weather there was a very good attendance to greet Mrs. Murphy, which is most gratifying to any speaker.

Mrs. Murphy spoke of the good work the unit is doing by their frequent trips to the Bedford Hospital, and also asked Auxiliary members to patronize the Disabled Veterans' Exchange, where they will find lovely gifts, all made by ex-service men.

Entertainment followed her talk and delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses of the evening. Mrs. Elizabeth Lawson, Mrs. Margaret Murray, Mrs. Mabel Larson and Mrs. Mary DeMorris.

Announcement was made that the next meeting of the Auxiliary at the Legion house on Dec. 18, is to be a Free Christmas Party. All members are invited and there will be more about this big event in next week's Star.

FIRES

Sunday afternoon the Fire Department was called to put out a slight fire at the home of Giuseppe Mottolo, 46 Spruce street, where a curtain was burned and other slight damage done. Smoking was blamed for the trouble.

Monday afternoon a fire developed in the smoke pipe leading from the stove to the chimney at the Splendid Lunch on Main street, the chimney, too, being set afire. The firemen had to tear away some of the lathes and woodwork around the chimney and some smoke damage was done to the building.

Wednesday afternoon the department was called to attend to an overheated boiler at the home of Mr. E. B. Robinson, 29 Highland avenue.

Thursday afternoon Firemen Walter Skerry and Walter Carroll went in the service car to admit a locked-out resident of Winslow road to her home.

Phillips Brooks Calendars now on sale at Wilson the Stationer's.

BASKETBALL UNDER WAY

With the close of the football season, Winchester High is turning its athletic attention to basketball which this year is to be coached by Edward A. Bartlett of the school faculty, assistant coach of football during the season just past.

Mr. Bartlett, a former Boston University all around athlete, has had plenty of experience coaching basketball and two years ago made a name for himself in the semi-professional ranks when he coached the Beverly City Club to a most successful season, winning from practically all the better clubs in this vicinity as well as from outstanding touring teams.

He handled the second team at high school during the last few years Coach Mansfield was at high school and last season coached Huntington School, turning out a well drilled team from very mediocre material.

He faces no easy task in his attempt to produce a winner at high school this season, having but two letter men, Capt. Peter Provinzano, a regular last year, and Bert Callanan, who was voted a letter at the end of the campaign as a sophomore. There isn't a senior letterman on the big squad that has reported for practice and Coach Bartlett is by no means optimistic about his prospects.

He is being assisted by Andy Lentine, former Winchester High and B. C. football star, who played plenty of high school basketball and who has recently returned from Lewiston, Me., where he was Mansfield's line coach at Bates College during the football season just past. The combination of Bartlett and Lentine will make for an aggressive team at high school this year and the boys will be out there trying if nothing more.

BRITISH WAR RELIEF TEA

On Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 11, Winchester children will model the dresses which have been made for English children by the British War Relief workers in Winchester.

The work-room at the Parish House of Epiphany Church will have tea tables ready with hot tea and cookies and will welcome all who are interested in seeing the attractive dresses which are ready to be shipped across the ocean.

BRITAIN'S RAILWAYS ARE LIFE-LINES OF DEFENSE

Intensified air raids on England's southern railway system emphasize the vital importance of communications in the nation's home defense, points out a special bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

In Great Britain as a whole (which includes England, Scotland and Wales) there are nearly 20,000 miles of railroad. Four systems—the London and Northeastern, Great Western, London Midland and Scottish, and Southern—handle practically all of the country's business. Thinning out only in parts of Scotland and Wales, they cover the island with a fine network of lifelines over which flow the essential raw materials, foodstuffs, medical supplies and men for the "Battle of Britain."

Thickest in Southeast, Facing Invader Converging on London from all directions, the railway lines are thickest in the southeast, where the sprawling British capital lies. From London lines of steel fan out in a dozen or more thrusts toward that stretch of England's coast, including "Hell's Corner," over which wave after wave of German bombers have come.

Besides railways, Great Britain, in a relatively small area, has a total length of nearly 180,000 miles of public highways. Many of these roads have been built since the first World War, an incalculable aid to the flexibility operating speed of the general transport and supply system.

STAR ANNOUNCES ALL MIDDLESEX LEAGUE TEAMS

The Star herewith offers for the dissection of local football fans its All Middlesex League football teams for the season just past, the last in the league's short history. The boys named were chosen after conference with coaches and on the whole are pretty representative. Selections were rather hard to make this year as there were very few really outstanding players on the circuit.

Priest, tall Maynard wingman, and Grant, Belmont's pass-snatching end, get the varsity nod over Karl, blocky little Maynard boy, and Vaughan of Lexington. No one of the quartet is an outstanding end, and none would outrank Winchester's Harris if the latter had a bit more weight. All in all they are the best available.

West of Belmont and Caputo of Winchester are good steady tackles, the latter being perhaps the smartest and most consistent lineman in the league. West, a guard last year, has done well in his new assignment. Saavella, huge Maynard tackle, is one of the best on the circuit, but a severe leg injury prevented his playing in the week of games. None of the three is potentially as good a tackle as Jackson of Winchester, but the latter youngster lacks the savvy that will come with experience. Blinn of Stoneham was a steady boy who deserves his second team berth.

Good guards were pretty scarce in the Middlesex this season, and that is why Palmbo of Winchester is chosen for one of these important posts after playing and nearly all year. Joe got under the wire as a guard in the Lexington game and is the best of the lot this year on his last year's showing. Arnold, Stoneham's watch-charm guard, was an aggressive worker and gave Winchester plenty of trouble and was liked by other mentors. Giblin of Belmont and Whittemore of Winchester get the second team nod, though Jim Treacy isn't far behind, and big Dan Hoop might have landed on the first team had he played all season as he did against Woburn.

Shedd of Belmont moves up from the second team of last year to the first string pivot berth this season and is the best all around center in the league, despite his lack of poundage. Mellett of Stoneham, on his showing against Winchester, edges Tibaudo of the locals for the second team slot. "Handsome Harry" winning the second team utility lineman role.

Provinzano of Winchester was probably the best all around back in the league, taking into account his ability to pass, kick and run, all of which he did mighty well. Swain, Belmont quarterback, was a very effective passer, completing something like 21 out of 26 aerials against Winchester for some sort of a record. Higgins of Maynard and Carlton of Belmont were two hard running backs who belong on the first club, while Romeo Busa, Lexington's quarterback, a good asser and runner, gets the number 1 utility berth. Crowley, Maynard's fair defensive player; Caskie of Belmont, a good pass snatcher, Jack Tracy, perhaps as fast a straightaway runner as there was in the league, and "Monk" West, Winchester's kid fullback, round out the second team backfield, with Bridgeman of Stoneham in the utility slot. None of these boys are in the class of Winchester's Mike McCormack as a defensive back, but "Iron Mike" was too slow about to be a strong offensive player and West's ability to kick and pass, if necessary, gave him the edge over the veteran, who missed a lot of playing time with a bad back injury.

So far as the Star's choice of players went the boys were chosen on what they showed against Winchester. We probably missed some good players who were having off days at that time, and we offer them our apologies. This is the last year we will have to pick an "All" league team and we aren't sorry! The job was getting harder each year!

A TANG OF THE SEA AT EPIPHANY'S TUESDAY LUNCHEON

Winchester women were reminded Tuesday how close we are to salt water. The sea washes up to our very doors those who come ashore empty-handed, stripped of the sailor's few belongings by the torpedo that sent to the bottom his ship and his job and too often some of his comrades. In times of peace the Sailor's Haven, Boston's recreation center for our own men when their ships are in port, and shelter for the men of many countries and tongues whom business or shipwreck brings in, had money for its activities. Now it needs more.

Mrs. Henry Sawyer, who is the representative of Epiphany in the City Mission told Winchester women of the need and asked them to become dollar members of the Haven.

She fastened in their minds the Haven's important work with her modern and contemporary version of Androcles and the lion, the story of the sailor and the cat. The sailor had gone below, to the deepest down below of his ship, on that most peaceful and domestic last chore of the night to lock up the storeroom and to feed the ship's cat. Just then the torpedo struck. All was topsy-turvy and black dark. Seconds were precious. Where was the ladder? Two glowing points in the darkness higher than the floor under his groping feet, located it. Teh little lion, as a Roman poet called a cat, had again saved his benefactor. The sailor mounted the ladder to upper air, life-boat, and eventually rescue ship and beside talk at Boston's safe Sailor Haven.

Two comfort kits for sailors, given by children of the church school, that were on display, gave further flavor of the sea.

The personal box Epiphany is sending for Christmas to a woman in Pineville, S. C., was also on display, concretely witnessing to the nervous system which seeks to have between those who have plenty and those who have little, no matter how many miles lie between.

Mrs. E. Craig Greiner announced that Dec. 10 will be the last chance to fill out Christmas lists with Epiphany-made bargains. From 11 to 4 there will be a Follow-up Sale of a limited number of things from the kitchen table, gifts, and children's clothing. At the same time there will be a Food Sale for which Epiphany members will supply the things their patrons of other food sales and their families especially favor.

Miss Dorothy Hall and an assisting committee served luncheon to a large group of Tuesday workers.

AMONG INVITED GUESTS

Harold F. Ambrose, publicity chief for the Postoffice Department in Washington, came on to attend the dedication banquet which marked the opening of the remodeled Woburn Postoffice Wednesday evening. The banquet was held in the Woburn High School Auditorium, and among the distinguished invited guests were Senator David L. Walsh, Congressman Edith Nourse Rogers and Hon. William L. Slattery, comptroller of the U. S. Postoffice Department.

The Editor has been somewhat overwhelmed in all this birthday business of the past week. However, pulling ourselves together, we thank you one and all. To the family, the "Mayor of Georgetown," Clark and Lowell and all the others, not omitting our Rangely neighbors, we extend hearty appreciation.

"TRAFFIC WAVERS"

To the Editor of the Post:
Sir—Regular police officers and properly trained youngsters in schools who have been instructed how to direct automobile traffic at school crossings and at intersections where large numbers of children cross but sy streets are responsible for a marvelous safety record among pupils in Massachusetts.

But untrained civilian traffic "police" are a menace, as many motorists who pass through the Town of Winchester during the morning hours can testify. At the junction of Church and Fletcher streets stands a man, wearing a traffic belt, who, in my own experience, has nearly caused several accidents. His signals are entirely unintelligible and are constantly misunderstood by motorists. He waves in all points of the compass at the same time and children and motorists are confused.

Before such untrained personnel causes an accident or his amateur efforts result in a child being injured, wouldn't it be better to either replace him with a trained school pupil who would do a better job, or, better still, place a police officer there?

An Open Letter To World War Veterans

Dear Comrade:

Winchester Post No. 97, The American Legion invites you to join with us in our efforts to establish a stronger, more active, local membership. If you are eligible, but do not at the present time hold membership in the American Legion we urge you to sign the application below and hand it to any member of Post No. 97 or mail it to the Adjutant, Winchester Post No. 97, The American Legion, 84 Washington Street, Winchester, Mass. Dues are $5.00 annually with no initiation fee or other assessments.

Membership in Winchester Post will give you an active part in many community interests of high standing. Little is said or known about our "Welfare Fund," our contributions to recognized helpful social agencies, our sponsorship and maintenance of Boy Scout Troop No. 1, our efforts to "Safeguard and Transmit to Posterity" a recognition and respect for the United States of America and the American Flag. Some of our expenditures during the past year may be of interest to you:

Welfare (shoes, fuel, oil, medical assistance, etc.)	$91.12
(For this purpose the interest of our "Permanent Fund" on deposit at the Winchester Savings Bank is wholly used)
The American Red Cross Special Contribution	25.00
Winton Club Program	5.00
Salvation Army	5.00
Christmas Party for Children	15.00
Support of Boy Scout Troop	34.00
New Hope Baptist Church	5.00
Disabled Veterans Association	5.00
Flowers for Shut-ins and Funerals	46.00
Community Relief Committee	10.00
Grave Markers	11.00

Many other worthwhile activities have our special attention. Our participation in the National Legion Convention in Boston in August 1940 was a splendid and representative of our community. Our monthly business and social meetings bring together a cross-section of our populace not otherwise assembled at any time in our town. It is truly representative of America.

What better way can you expend $5.00 annually than by membership in Winchester Post, American Legion and at the same time spread goodwill in a multitude of ways while sharing in the comradeship of a group of loyal citizens? During the existing international crisis, membership in the American Legion is an indication of belief in America and is an assurance to our new Defense Army that we are with them "in spirit and in truth."

Membership in the American Legion is an honor—membership in Winchester Post American Legion is an added privilege. We urge you to take advantage of the opportunity to be a part of an outstanding worthwhile organization.

Sincerely yours,

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE

It is now said that the United States should give up its time-honored Electoral College and elect its Presidents by popular vote.

The spiritually minded founders of our country were pretty far sighted. They knew that eventually along would come third terms and men who would like to appeal to mass psychology, popular acclaim, and hero worship.

That's why state militias were created so that no general and no dispenser of public funds could, by control of our national army, capture the government of the United States.

Further, to protect the small states and every minority, it was provided that every state should have two senators, whether its population was 250,000, the smallest state, or 14,000,000, the largest.

It sounds good to say that Presidents should be elected by popular vote, it's democratic. But, in theory, if it were allowed, labor votes could alone elect a President, or farm votes, or even city bosses.

It is only by the complete guarding of state rights and minority rights that citizens can be sure no President can be elected by backroom methods.

Citizens in such cities as New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis, Cleveland, Los Angeles, etc. could control this nation. Anyway, this is a foolish debate for it would take a Constitutional Amendment and the smaller states will never see it the political way.

It may seriously be considered some time, but an almost outrageous difference between the electoral vote and the popular vote would have to result before any change could result.

THE CENSUS

The Census Bureau announced that the population of the United States is 131,409,861 as of April 1, 1940.

Everyone has been wondering who, under the sun, the one is? The census may be roughly correct but as to attempting to count and announce that "one," it is just too much!

It will be very interesting to listen to the results of the other questions on that census, especially as everywhere you hear of people who were not even asked many of the questions.

Just think, the center of population has stopped moving West and has started back East; also the largest percentage of increase in population is in the District of Columbia, 36 per cent, New Deal job-holders.

Many of the results of that census will cause considerable debate some day.

Sunday Services and Sunday School 10:45 A. M.

Wednesday testimonial meeting, 7:45 P. M.

Reading room, 5 Winchester Terrace (off Thompson street). Open daily 11 A. M. to 5 P. M., Saturdays, 11 A. M. to 9 P. M., except Sundays and holidays.

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon Sunday, Dec. 8, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of The Mother Church The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The Golden Text is: "Every house is builded by some man; but he that built all things in God" (Hebrews 2:4). Other Scriptural citations include: "Thus saith the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, Ask me of him to come, concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me. I have made the earth, and created man upon it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens, and all their hosts I have commanded" (Isaiah 45:11, 12).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "So-called mortal mind—being non-existent and consequently not within the range of immortal existence—could not by simulating deific power invert the divine creation, and afterwards recreate persons or things upon its own plane, since nothing exists beyond the range of all-inclusive infinity, in which and of which God is the sole creator" (p. 513).

Georgian Bay Islands
Georgian Bay, with its 30,000 islands, is that northern section of Lake Huron which is the waterway between Owen Sound, Midland, Penetanguishene and Parry sound at the eastern extremity and the Soo at the western end, touching on route at many fishing resorts on the north shores of Georgian Bay and Manitoulin Island. The 60-mile stretch between Midland and Parry sound at the eastern end contains the archipelago of 10,000 islands situated in the "inside channel."

TURKEYS FOR SALE

The Star reporter was a bit surprised yesterday afternoon as he made the rounds of the town hall to notice the above sign prominently displayed in one of the town offices. The occupant of the office was non-committal to the point of reticence, but friendly neighbors gladly advanced fragmentary explanations and after a bit of piecing together the story commenced to take form.

Seems the occupant of the office in question harbors at his domicile a dog, a nice friendly little wire-hair fox, fond of everything, including Tom McAnn shoes. Ownership has been somewhat in doubt and discussion has always raised technicalities until one afternoon this week when beyond all peradventure the custodianship was finally settled.

Doggie went on a bit of a sight-seeing expedition far from the family roof-tree and as he was coursing through Baldwin street his canine eye lighted both upon a pen full of turkeys. He'd never met a turkey socially, but he refused to stand on ceremony. After all didn't he come from the house of a town official, and didn't that fact give him a certain standing, per se, and pro bono publico. You bet your life.

Accordingly the young wire-hair entered the turkeys' pen, and when the birds refused to play, went to work on them. The owner called the police. The police, represented by the veteran, Jim Donaghey, patrolman these many years, came and took the dog into custody. The dog was willing. He liked Jim. He rode down to headquarters in high glee, and even chuckled a bit when his license number was looked up and the town official notified of what had transpired. It was at that time the doggie's ownership was settled beyond cavil.

The town official quoted the law of ultra vires and some other lesser known statutes and even suggested that the County is assessable for damage done by canines. Officer Donaghey, who is somewhat conversant with the dog laws, coldly informed the T. O. that only in the event the owner isn't known is the well known county stuck.

Just what settlement was made we wouldn't know. As we said, the T. O. was reticent about the whole matter, and his obliging friends didn't know the too intimate details. We understand he has turkeys for sale, and we did see this fact advertised in his office. We understand from the actual owner of the dog that the price quoted is "ridiculously" low for such expensive birds.

INDIA AN ANCHOR OF BRITISH EMPIRE

Britain's appeal to India for present cooperation, with future "free partnership" as a reward, has reminded the world of India's importance to embattled England.

The 352 million people of India constitute 71 per cent of the man power of the entire British Empire, points out a bulletin from the National Geographic Society, for next to China, India is the most populous nation in the world.

Source of British Cotton and Tea

Moreover, the titanic cone-shaped land of Asia that makes the King of England an Emperor is also the largest market for England's industrial exports. In return, India sends England's mills their cotton, standing second only to the United States in production of that strategic fiber, and yields an annual 430 million pounds of tea for England's 4 o'clock cup.

Manganese and iron for steel, tungsten and mica for electrical apparatus, petroleum, copper, and bauxite for aluminum are the minerals which make modern India a treasure house as in the days when diamond mines of Koh-i-noor. The output of gold and silver, diamonds, garnets, and sapphires yearly augments the "riches of Ind" that awed Sinbad the Sailor and Marco Polo.

The Kerr "Changepoint" fountain pen, the pen you've liked so much at your local bank, can be purchased at Wilson, the Stationer's, Star Building, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50.

ARTICLE 1. To see if the town will amend section 9 of the Zoning By-law by striking out, in the last line of paragraph C, the words:—"or harmful to property therein."

ARTICLE 2. To see if the town will amend section 3 of the Zoning By-law by striking out, in paragraph B, item 2 which reads:—"Double house, duplex house, or group house," and inserting in place thereof the following:—2. Double house or duplex house; and will also amend section 5 of the Zoning By-law by inserting after the words "apartment house", in the second line of paragraph B, the words:—"group house."

ARTICLE 3. To see if the town will amend the Zoning By-law by changing or altering the map incorporated in and made a part thereof and that certain district indicated and identified thereon as a general residence district, the westerly limit of which is a line distant 100 feet westerly from the westerly line of Fletcher Street, which district extends northeasterly along both sides of Church Street and the northwesterly limit of which is the shore of Wedge Pond, by changing to a single residence district that part of said general residence district bounded as follows:

Northeasterly by a line which beginning at the intersection of the southwesterly line of Vine Street with the westerly line of Church Street runs northeasterly by said line of Vine Street extended to Wedge Pond, thence runs southerly, westerly, and southerly by said Pond to its most southerly point, thence southwesterly to the southeasterly line of Glengarry Road at a point distant 100 feet northwesterly (in a straight line) from the northwesterly line of Dix Street, thence southwesterly, parallel with and distant 100 feet northwesterly from the said northwesterly line of Dix Street to a point distant 100 feet southwesterly from the southwesterly line of Pine Street, thence northwesterly parallel with and distant 100 feet southwesterly from said southwesterly line of Pine Street to a point distant 100 feet southeasterly from the southeasterly line of the southwesterly course of Pine Street to a point in the southwesterly line of Wildwood Street distant 75 feet (in a straight line) from the southerly line thereof, thence in a curving line westerly and northwesterly, parallel with and distant 75 feet southerly and southwesterly therefrom to a point distant 100 feet northwesterly from the northwesterly line of Fletcher Street, thence in a curving line southwesterly, southerly and southeasterly parallel with and distant 100 feet in a general westerly direction from the general westerly line of Fletcher Street and said line extended to a point distant 100 feet southeasterly from the southeasterly line of Church Street, thence northeasterly, parallel with and distant 100 feet southeasterly from the said southeasterly line of Church Street to the business district indicated on said map, thence runs northwesterly and northeasterly by said business district to a point in the northwesterly line of Dix Street distant 150 feet northwesterly from the northwesterly line of said Church Street, and thence runs southeasterly by said northwesterly line of Dix Street and northeasterly by the northwesterly line of Church Street to the point of beginning.

The foregoing description being intended to include all of said general residence district except that part thereof lying northerly of the southwesterly line of Vine Street beginning at Church Street and extended to Wedge Pond.

Or will amend the Zoning By-law by changing or altering said map and said general residence district by changing to a single residence district any part or parts of the area hereinbefore described.

O'LEARY—CONNOLLYThe marriage of Miss M. Rita Connolly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Michael J. Connolly of Beech avenue, Melrose, to Spencer F. O'Leary, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. O'Leary of Washington street, took place Saturday morning, Nov. 30, at 10 o'clock in St. Mary's Church, Melrose, which was attractively decorated with chrysanthemums, ferns, and palms.Rev. Thomas Brosian performed the marriage ceremony and also celebrated the nuptial mass which followed. Music for the entrance of the bride party was played by a string quartet accompanied by the organ.Miss Connolly was given in marriage by her father and was attended only by her sister, Mrs. Evelyn Mac-Intyre of Newtonville. The bride wore a gown of white satin trimmed with pearls and a conventional veil of tulle arranged with a pearl coronet.
Her flowers were white roses and orchids. Mrs. MacIntyre wore a gown having a wine colored velvet bodice and rose taffeta skirt. Her flowered hat and veil were in a matching shade and she carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums.Mr. O'Leary had for his best man Edward J. Sullivan of Lowell, and the ushers were B. Joseph Connolly of Melrose and John H. Sullivan of Andover.After the ceremony a reception was held at the Myles Standish Hotel in Boston. Upon their return from a wedding trip to Washington and through the South, Mr. O'Leary and his bride will make their home in the Somerville Chambers, Somerville.The bride, who has been employed as a secretary, is a graduate of the Cheverus School. Mr. O'Leary graduated from Keith Academy in Lowell and from Burdett College. He is a member of the Winchester Council, Knights of Columbus, and is associated as district representative with the L. E. Waterman Pen Company.BUFFET SUPPER FOR SENATOR

GROUP THEATRE PRODUCTION
TONIGHTThe first public performance of the Winchester Group Theatre will take place tonight, and tomorrow night will be "Monsieur" Night, for the Group's Fall Production, "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," by Frederick Lonsdale. As usual, the auditorium of the Winchester High School is being used.George W. Hayden, Jr., who is production chairman, has also designed and supervised the construction of the four elaborate scenes that are used. Rarely does an amateur group attain such exacting requirements in scenes and properties as this one, but the local Group have always been known to be exceptionally talented in this direction.The play is a society drama of England, with an underlying plot of intrigue, and offers many amusing and also tense moments. The cast, headed by Hersilia W. Elmer and Eugene M. Pollard as Mrs. Cheyney and Lord Arthur Dilling, includes R.
H. B. Smith, Joy Woolley, F. Milne
Blanchard, Katrina H. Morse, Charlotte L. Nichols, Rosalind Lynch, J.
Henry Smith, Jr., Ellouise Graves, Kearz C. Nichols, Robert M. Campbell, and E. C. Whittemore.Beulah Page Sibley is director.
James Woolley, Dell Scott Smith,
Caroline P. Spaulding, Richard A.
Harlow, Annette L. Burnham, Lyndon B. Burnham, Jeannette C. Harlow, Frances Peirce, Elizabeth H.
Pollard and 37 other part time workers are active in one phase or another of the production.A new note this year is an invitation to the audience to look back stage after the show, and meet the back stage workers. Also provision has been made so that any attending the public performance tonight and decide to join the Group may have the notice of their ticket less tax, credited to their membership fee.
Tickets for tonight's performance are for sale at Mary Spaulding's Bookshop or at the box office.MRS. MABEL COLVER DYERMrs. Mabel Colver Dyer, widow of

WASSAIL BOWL DANCE HAILED AS GREAT SUCCESS

The Winchester Country Club has long been noted for successful dancing parties and all who attended agree that the first "Wassail Bowl" Dance, held at the club last Saturday evening belongs at, or near the head of the long "best ever".

The idea of refreshments from 7 to 8, a buffet dinner from 8 to 9, and dancing to the provocative strains of Ruby Newman's excellent band, was enthusiastically received by the more than 200 members and guests who were in attendance.

The club was lavishly decorated with pine boughs, and most attractive posters were done for the dance by Miss Jane Sexton, who was also responsible for the clever invitations. Reservations were exhausted well in advance of Saturday, but many club members good naturedly accepted the inevitable and came in after dinner for dancing.

Large groups were the rule at dinner, among the parties noted being those of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Martin, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mitchell, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald McMin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Winship, Mr. Stanley Neill, Mr. and Mrs. John Ghirardini, Mr. and Mrs. Carol Knitton, Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Neill and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Morton.

Committee members included the Messrs. Stanley Neill, B. I. Mitchell, Bill Adams, Joe Dolben, Lave Sheehan and J. N. Ghirardini.

DEVER'S GAIN SLIGHT IN WINCHESTER RECOUNT

Attorney General Paul A. Dever picked up 11 votes in the recount of ballots cast in Winchester for governor at the election in November. Governor Saltonstall gaining six. The net gain for the Democratic nominee was five votes, the final figures being Saltonstall, 5463, and Dever, 2077. The vote in Winchester was 99.7 percent, less than 25 changes being made out of 7896 votes cast.

The Board of Registrars of Voters, Town Clerk Mabel W. Stinson, Howard S. Cosgrove, Katherine T. O'Connor and George J. Barbaro, were in charge of the recount, assisted by Helen Stinson, Katherine Foley, Mary French, Lillian Hardy, Lee Mellett, Howard Ambrose and Carl O'Brien. Dever was represented by Frank P. Hurley, Frances T. Conlon, and James J. Earls; Saltonstall by Rep. William E. Ramsdell, James C. McCormick, Theodore Monroe, Nita A. Smith, Franklin J. Lane and William J. Speers, Jr.

The Woburn recount gave Dever eight additional votes and Saltonstall 13, a gain for the Governor of five. Forty votes were protested by the Dever representatives and 21 by those looking out for Saltonstall's interests.

ELKS' NOTES

Winchester Lodge of Elks held its annual Memorial service in honor of its departed brothers on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 1, at the lodge social quarters in Lyceum Building.

The following Tuesday evening in the lodge hall, Exalted Ruler Howard Brownell and the lodge officers initiated a class of four members, Arthur Johnson, Joseph McKee, J. Roderick MacDonnell and Charles J. Dolan, who had the distinction of being members of the General John J. Pershing Class, named in honor of America's World War leader who has been an Elk for nearly half a century.

The initiates were escorted by Esquire Norman Harold, Neil J. McCarthy, Richard W. MacAdams and Joseph B. Peale, Brothers McCarthy and Peale being in Legion uniform and Brother MacAdams wearing the uniform of a Lieutenant Commander in the United States Navy.

Speakers included Past Exalted Ruler John F. Donaghey, Chaplain A. Sheldon Hamilton, Robert F. Murphy and Lieut. Comdr. Richard MacAdams, the latter in an impressive address welcoming the new members to Winchester Lodge.

After the initiation a delicious oyster stew was served by the Board of Stewards under the direction of Chairman Alfred McKenzie. Missed at the festivities was Bro. William H. Vayo, who has gone to Portsmouth, N. H., to be house manager for the workmen engaged on the government plumbing job being done in Kittery, Me., by Past Exalted Ruler John J. Doherty. "Billy" was missed by everyone and the hope was expressed that he would look in on his home lodge as often as possible.

Plans are underway for an active athletic program which the lodge is to sponsor, including golf, basketball and baseball.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Marion Hertha Clarke, the first woman radio news commentator in New England, will speak on "Whither America?" at the meeting on Monday, Dec. 9, at Fortnightly Hall. Miss Clarke, from her building and selling of radio programs, writing of radio scripts, and practical experience in broadcasting, brings a fund of up-to-date news and information not available to everyone. Coupled with this she is an accomplished speaker and his knowledge will be entertainingly presented.

The outstanding event of the week is the dessert bridge on Friday, Dec. 13, at 1:30 o'clock at Fortnightly Hall. The entire proceeds—and we hope twill be a goodly amount—go to the Fortnightly Philanthropy Fund, to help others less fortunate.

The general chairman, Mrs. George W. French, with a corps of enthusiastic and capable assistants, has planned a delightful afternoon in a lovely setting of Christmas decorations. Table prizes are unusual and attractive.

One of the general prizes is a beautiful picture, painted and presented by Mrs. Paul H. Howard, our president. Subscriptions for this are in charge of Mrs. Alvin O. Diggs and Mrs. Carl V. Fry. So don't let the date frighten you, for it will certainly be someone's lucky day.

Mrs. Benjamin W. Hills and Mrs. Horace Ford are in charge of the refreshments and Mrs. Willard Hudson and Mrs. Paul D. Goddu will sell candy. Mrs. Kingman P. Cass is directing the sale of tickets.

Come and spend a pleasant afternoon, your pleasure doubled by the knowledge that you are helping to continue the spirit of Christmas giving and helping throughout the year.

MISS NELLIE EUNICE PLATTS

Miss Nellie Eunice Platts, a member of the family at the Home for Aged People, 110 Mt. Vernon street, died Sunday afternoon, Dec. 1, at the Winchester Hospital.

Miss Platts was the daughter of George Henry, and Charlotte (Fish) Platts. She was born in North Reading June 25, 1864, and was for many years a resident of Woburn, having been well known as a teacher, pianoforte in that, and surrounding cities and towns. She had lived in Winchester for the past 11 years, and was the last of her family.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Kelley & Hawes Chapel with Rev. E. Mitchell Bush-ton, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment was in Woodbrook Cemetery, Woburn.

turno, of Medford, in the County of Middlesex, and said Commonwealth: Almas Realty Corporation, a duly existing corporation having an usual place of business in Boston, in the County of Suffolk and said Commonwealth:
Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Myrtle J. Case, of said Boston, to rescind and confirm her title in the following described land:
A certain parcel of land with the buildings thereon situate in said Winchester, bounded and described as follows:
Southwesterly by Garfield Street 41.75 feet;
Westerly by the junction of said Garfield
Street and Brookside Avenue 37.54 feet;

Petitioner claims as appurtenant to the above-described land a right of way in Garfield Street in common with others entitled thereto.
The above-described land is shown on a plan filed with said petition and all boundary lines are claimed to be located on the ground as shown on said plan.
If you desire to make any objection or defense to said petition you or your attorney must file a written appearance and an answer under oath, setting forth clearly and specifically your objections to each part of said petition, in the office of the Recorder of said Court in Boston (at the Court House), or before the sixteenth day of December next.

Unless an appearance is so filed by or for you, your default will be recorded, the said petition will be taken as confessed and you will be forever barred from contesting said petition or any decree entered thereon.

SALVATION ARMY APPEAL

Sponsoring men and women of the Salvation Army appeal in Winchester are hopeful of going well over the goal in the 1940 appeal; so that the Army's local fund may have a larger sum to work with during the cold days of this winter. The local fund, a feature of the work, is set aside from the appeal funds and is administered by men and women of Winchester to give immediate aid—without red tape—to those temporarily in need. This service reaches needy homes—helps children—helps men—helps all.

The fund is under the supervision of William N. Boggs, attorney, who heads the sponsoring group and G.
Dwight Cabot, of the Winchester Trust Company, who is the campaign treasurer.

Sydney March, of the Public Relations dept., continue to collect donations here, but those not contacted by Mr. March, are again asked to help Winchester's efforts by handing or sending donations to Mr.
Cabot.

Winchester is part of the general campaign to get $200,000. When the general books were opened on Monday, there was a shortage of $30,000 reported. It is to help reach the Winchester goal of $2000 and by the same token aid in the final 1940 victory for the Army in the larger effort, that Winchester friends of the army make their plea.

Walter Channing, chairman of the Metropolitan Division, in making of the Winchester appeal, said:
"As Winchester strives to reach its goal of $2000, with the support of a fine sponsoring committee, together with collections made through our official collector and mail contributions to the campaign treasurer, it becomes a part of the hunt for $30,000.

TURKEY IN EUROPE IS A BARRIER TO OVERLAND PUSH TO THE EAST

With Greece to the west and Bulgaria on the north, the fragment of Turkey that lies in Europe is becoming an increasingly important barrier to any overland push to the east that Axis forces may make in an effort to reach the Suez Canal from the north.

Turkey in Europe is pronounced by military experts to be a put up its short front defense, thanks to its heavily bulwarked in every direction by formidable barriers, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

Where Sultans Ruled

The area of Turkey in Europe is slightly less than that of New Hampshire and its population about 1,200,000. In addition to Turks, there are Greeks, Bulgars and Italians, British, Russians, Albanians and Yugoslavians. The majority of the people live in Istanbul (Constantinople) which has a population of 750,000.

This ancient capital of the Turkish Empire is also in a well-protected location. The heavily guarded straits of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles protect it from approach by sea, while beyond it is a wall of mountains with valleys which lend themselves readily to defensive measures.

The old road, which came caravans long carried silks and spices from the East, is now the principal highway across European Turkey, from Istanbul to Edirne (Adrianople), 145 miles. This is 50 miles shorter than the railroad, which from Edirne proceeds to Sofia (Sofia) and Belgrade (Belgrade).

Behind Giant Parapets

Edirne's population of 36,000 is the second largest in European Turkey. Surrounded by low fortified hills, it was long headquarters of a Turkish Army corps. North and east rise the Istranca Mountains, an almost inaccessible granite wall that extends from Bulgaria across northern Turkey in Europe, gradually dropping for 10 or 20 miles from a peak height of 3400 feet to the Black Sea and its steep, harborless coast. Through this granite mass, winding through a deep rocky defile, flows the Rezvaya River. The northern border, and miles north from Edirne is paralleled by the road to Yambol, Bulgaria.

Traffic between Sofia and Edirne flows beside the west-east portion of the Meric river, which turns south near Edirne to form the boundary between Greece and Turkey. It forms a broad valley, often flooded with marshy lands along the western bank. This sluggish stream is seven to ten feet deep and carries only boats of shallow draught to Edirne. The slow current and the flatness of the land favor the small sail boats specially built for the river.

At the mouth of the Meric is the Turkish town of Enes (Enos), originally a Greek colony, 90 miles below Edirne. Enes was shelled by British warships during the first World War.

Practically the whole of the Aegean seacoast of Turkey in Europe is on the Gulf of Xeros (Serris) formed with the mainland by the Gallipoli Peninsula, which is steep and inaccessible throughout. The gulf is bounded by mountainous land on both sides, with a low shore at the head where it receives the Kavak River, navigable for 24 miles to the village of Kavak.

Assuming that $1 bought 100 cents worth of living essentials in Massachusetts during 1913, the same dollar bought 51 cents worth in 1920, 62 cents worth in 1929, 81 cents worth in 1933 and will buy approximately 73 cents worth at the present time.

The Merrimack River at one time was known as the Monomack.

GREEK SKIRTED EVZONES

Dispatches have reported almost daily victories for Greece's colorful mountain troops, called evzones, who wear the pleated, ballet-skirted fustanella, which is one of the characteristic national costumes of the modern Hellenes.

A familiar sight to visitors in Athens is the spruce uniformed evzones (from the Greek for "well-girded") who stand guard before the king's residence, at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, and at the Ministry of War, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. Clad in their stiff, white linen or cotton skirts, short embroidered sleeveless jackets, long white women hose held up by suspenders, tasseled felt, and heel-less red leather pumps with pompoms on their tapering toes, these special troops belie the appearance of femininity of their trim costume.

Selected for his stature, looks, and military bearing, an evzone of the Royal Guard enjoys much greater prestige than the ordinary soldier. Fustanella First A Peasant Costume

The Hellenic kilt has been the traditional garb of the peasants of northwestern Greece for centuries. In recent years, there have been five regular regiments of evzones in the Greek Army, mostly recruited from the up-and-down section where the costume is the commonest for everyday wear. Organized as light infantry units, the evzones excel at the type of guerrilla warfare which has been raging in the rugged terrain of the Albanian frontier since the Italian invasion attempt began.

Trained snipers, these independent mountaineers know every strategic nook and cranny in their rough native land. Their instinctive use of whatever scrap of cover the country may afford is partly a "hangover" from days when bandit groups roamed the region. Years of shepherding their flocks in the highlands has made them familiar with the ways of woodcraft and outdoor life under all conditions.

For dress wear and in summer, the white fustanella, made of 47 triangular double pieces of fabric gathered to a broad girdle, is worn alone. But in winter, for campaigning in wet and snowy weather, a heavy blue or khaki overcoat, or tunic-kilt, tightly belted with a short, flaring skirt, is worn over the fustanella, and in fact, looks like a more businesslike version of the voluminous white "petticoat."

Of course, the Greek Army as a whole is predominantly dressed in a conventional type of military uniform.

Miss Anne McLendon entertained with a Christmas party and dance on last Saturday evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. George A. Wilson, 29 Pierrepont road.

GRAVE MARKERS STOLEN

Latest reports are that some 80 metal grave markers have been stolen from Calvary Cemetery. These include markers on the graves of American Legion, G. A. R., Spanish War and Police Department men. No doubt these markers have been broken up and sold for junk. They cost from two to five dollars each to buy. This is about the meanest theft reported in this town.

LADIES' FRIENDLY SOCIETY

On Tuesday, Dec. 10, the Ladies' Friendly gave a delightful Christmas tea.

It was Neighborhood Alliance Day and the speakers were Mrs. Russell P. Wise, president of the General Alliance and Rev. Paul H. Chapman. There was a splendid attendance.

Next Tuesday, Dec. 17, there will be a special sewing meeting to work for the Visiting Nurses' Association.

THE KIMBALL ANTIQUE SHOP

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The Scoutmaster, John Casler of Troop 7 took the junior officers, James O'Connor and Addison Augusta, senior patrol leaders; Everett Stevens and Robert Quine, patrol leaders; and Philip Ewell into the Television station last Monday night and gave a demonstration of fire building with flint and steel. Semaphore signalling and boxing the compass. James O'Connor was master of ceremonies. Three new boys have completed tenderfoot requirements and will receive registrations at the next regular scout meeting.

WINCHESTER ONE OF 46 COMMUNITIES

Winchester is one of the 46 metropolitan communities now being organized for the 1941 united campaign of the Winchester Community Chest and the Greater Boston Community Fund, beginning Jan. 18.

Spurred on by the challenge of Robert H. Montgomery, Metropolitan Division chairman, Mr. Herbert E. Stone, Campaign Chairman of Winchester, is making every effort to complete enrollment of his local workers so that there will be time for preliminary training before the campaign opens.

"Interest in the Campaign is great and total enrollment is beyond the best records of former years," said Mr. Montgomery this week.

"We must realize, however, that but six weeks remain in which to complete the organization of 12,000 workers in the 46 cities and towns of the Metropolitan Division," he said.

Stressing the 1941 Campaign theme, "Defend Your Community Now," Mr. Montgomery pointed out that this campaign is the first step in fulfilling the national program for adequate defense, because it enables the 200 Community Fund Hospitals, health and social agencies to continue their vital services to the 2,000,000 people of Greater Boston.

Mr. Stone, in speaking for the local organization, urges that Winchester maintain its high standard of efficiency that has carried this town to the top so many times in former years. Already a Come-and-See-Tour has been sent from Winchester this week with a number of interested workers. All workers who are desirous of going on one of these highly interesting and instructive tours are urged to get in touch with their immediate precinct chairmen.

THOMAS M. RIGHTER, JR.

Assumes leadership of the Mystic Area in Greater Boston Community Fund's 1941 Campaign

Succeeding Maj. Charles H. Woolley of Winchester, who recently went to Washington to volunteer in the air corps, Thomas M. Righter, Jr., also of Winchester, will assume duties on the home front as head of the Mystic Area in the Greater Boston Community's Fund's 1941 Campaign. Major Woolley, who won his rank during the World War in aviation, is now attached to the office of the Chief of Air Corps. His loss to the Fund's campaign is certainly the air corps gain.

Mr. Righter, a resident of Winchester in Farnway, has been very active in former Greater Boston Fund campaigns. A sincere believer in the cause of the Fund and its immediate local needs, no man could have been better fitted to head this important district. "Conditions in the world today are so disillusioning," said Mr. Righter today, in accenting his new post, "that it is imperative that this campaign, a very tangible evidence of our responsibilities to each other, should succeed and give irrefutable proof that in America the principle of the helping hand has not been forgotten."

Arlington, Medford, Somerville, Winchester and Woburn are included in the Mystic Area under Mr. Righter's able supervision.

"HERE WE COME A-CAROLLING" WITH THE EPIPHANY EVENING

Thursday evening, Dec. 19 at 7:30 the Evening Branch of the Epiphany Church Service League will be hostesses to all parishioners who wish to join them in this annual Christmas party.

As in other years, Mrs. A. H. Corbitt will set the party to singing the carols that everyone knows and that lift young and older happily into the bustling Christmas household preparations of "decking the halls with boughs of holly," cracking nuts and stoning raisins for spicy cakes and making general readiness for "the season to be jolly."

The party is in charge of the chairman of the Evening Branch, Mrs. John Sharon.

The parish leaflet announcing the party, says it will fit the traditional alliterative formula for a Christmas-tide party, with gifts, games, glees and goodies.

MANSFIELD COACH OF BATES HOOP TEAM

Wendell D. Mansfield, former Winchester High athletic director, now varsity football and baseball coach at Bates, has been put in charge of the Bobcats' basketball destinies this season, replacing Coach "Al" Spinks who has been called to service in the army.

Mansfield coached the Bates freshman hoop team through a successful season a year ago and previously had an unbeaten yearling club at Springfield College. He resigned as varsity coach at Springfield, his alma mater, to accept the varsity football and baseball coach's portfolio at Bates.

At Winchester High Mansfield coached basketball with conspicuous success. He has always been a keen student of the game and given any sort of material, will give the Bobcats a good team. His club opened with a 36-25 win over Hartwick College last Saturday night.

BETTER HOMES GARDEN CLUB

LIEUTENANT GALE TO MARRY

MISS EDNA GRENIER

Mr. and Mrs. J. Charles Grenier of Lynn have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Edna Grenier, to Lieut. Paul H. Gale, U. S. A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton L. Gale of "Morningside" Nahant and California, former well known Winchester residents.

ATTENDED TAXPAYERS' ASSOCIATION MEETING

Mr. James Nowell of Stratford road represented the Winchester Taxpayers' Association at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Federation of Tax Payers at the Hotel Statler in Boston. Governor Leverett Saltonstall was the principal speaker.

METROPOLITAN AGENTS GET

FLAGS

Those who chanced to be in the vicinity of the Locatelli Building on Main street Tuesday morning wondered whether a veterans' organization was preparing to go on parade or whether a flag manufacturing company had unbeknown to anyone taken quarters there. Twenty men leaving the building with American flags and ten foot staffs were enough to make anyone wonder, and the Star decided to find out about it. The story follows:

It is a custom, and an admirable one, in agencies of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, to display in each lobby a handsome American flag, mounted on a ten foot staff. Such a flag is displayed at the company's Winchester agency at 540 Main street in the Locatelli Building.

Recently as the local agents were assembling there, admiration for the flag was expressed by one of the agents with the added wish to get a similar flag for himself. Immediately the wish became universal among the agents, and the resulting conversation sufficiently general to reach the ears of the head of the local office, Allen D. Wood, who is currently rounding out his fifth year in Winchester.

Mr. Wood was much pleased with his agents enthusiasm and quickly agreed to get for them flags like those displayed in the company lobby. He was as good as his word, and on Tuesday each man was given his flag. The exodus from the building with each agent carrying his flag and ten foot staff, was an unusual sight.

Of Scotch descent himself, Mr. Wood found added pleasure in the incident because of the fact that many nationalities were represented in the patriotic gesture of his agents. Men of French, Italian, German and other foreign extraction are represented in local Metropolitan force, the members of which had enough love for the flag of their country to want one for their own!

MORE THAN $200 NEEDED

More than $200 is needed to make the 1940 effort to raise funds in Winchester, a success. It is for that reason, that the sponsoring chairman, William N. Beggs, asks that for the next 10 days a mail-shower of donations be participated in by those former friends of the Salvation Army, who this year have not given and by hundreds who could help, if they would. The donations are to be mailed to the treasurer of the committee, G. Dwight Cabot, of the Winchester Trust Company. It is added, that if convenient the contributions may be handed to Mr. Cabot.

Sydney March, the Army's official collector is continuing at his work of contacting Winchester folk in their homes and offices.

To give Winchester a part of the Christmas Kettle Brigade program, some of this group will furnish music and sing carols in Winchester during the days that are between now and Christmas Eve. The kettles with uniformed attendants are already in evidence in Boston, Watertown, Belmont, Arlington, Melrose, Newton and towns where corps are operated will also be visited during the Christmas season.

TWO SEALS NOT THE SAME

The double-barred cross of the anti-tuberculosis Christmas Seal campaign and the American Red Cross are not the same. Mrs. Eleanor Fowler, general chairman of the Seal Sale Campaign of the Southern Middlesex Health Association, said today in a statement issued in reply to several inquiries on this subject received at Christmas Seal Campaign headquarters.

"In 1920, by mutual agreement, the alliance made several years earlier between the American Red Cross and the National Tuberculosis Association was dissolved," the statement said.

"Since then the double-barred cross has appeared on all the National Tuberculosis Association Seals, which are now known as Tuberculosis Christmas Seals and not as Red Cross Seals."

"It was in 1907 that Christmas Seals were first sold in the United States in Wilmington, Del., by Emily P. Bissell who wished to raise funds for a little open-air hospital where poor victims of tuberculosis were brought back to health. With $40 Miss Bissell had 50,000 stamps printed. That was the basis of the campaign as we now know it, a campaign that has done so much to rouse a nation against the disease."

MR. SEAGER

Mr. Cedric Seager of Yale street, whose comments on Turkey and the situation in the Near East are arousing much interest, was the speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Epiphany Men's Club in the parish house of the church last week Thursday evening.

Mr. Seager, a former resident, knows Turkey intimately and among the many interesting experiences he related of his life there were some of the hair-raising variety. His address was very timely and intensely interesting, among the significant facts mentioned being the serious plight in which Italy now finds itself, facing the collapse of its Greek campaign with the necessity of immediate action in Egypt before the arrival of another summer. The success of the Greeks has stiffened Turkish morale if for no other reason than to prove that Turks are equally capable to prevent invasion.

An interesting question-box followed Mr. Seager's talk, and a social hour with refreshments was enjoyed. Arrangements were made by the hands of Gerald Curtis, Fred Taylor and Dr. William Wilson.

NEW TRAFFIC TOWER IN USE

The traffic controls in the center were changed over from the old police box at the crossing to the new tower the first of the week. With the clearing of the island around the tower and removal of the police box, the center will present an attractive appearance, although there is considerable complaint over the closing of the roadway across the north end of the tracks.

MRS. BERTHA L. NAUGEL

Mrs. Bertha L. Naugel, wife of George F. Naugel, formerly of many years a resident of Medford, died Monday morning, Dec. 9, at her home, 135 Main street, after a long illness.

Mrs. Naugel was the daughter of Jeremiah, and Annie (Pendergast) Sullivan. She was born 61 years ago in South Boston, and before coming to Winchester about a year ago had been for 35 years a resident of Medford, having many friends in that city.

Besides her husband, she leaves a sister, Mrs. Mary Gorham of Medford, a brother, Jasper Sullivan of New Rochelle, N. Y., and several nieces and nephews, of whom some are residents of this town. The funeral was held Wednesday morning from the late residence with requiem high mass in St. Mary's Church. Interment was in Mt. Peake Cemetery, Waltham.

POPULAR ALBANIAN SUMMER RESORT CAPTURED BY GREEKS

The Albanian town of Pogradec, an Italian base reported to have fallen to Greek forces, is in a region that has been of military importance since Byzantine days, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. It lies just across the border from Yugoslavia on the south shore of Lake Ohrid.

Pogradec is at the opposite end of the lake from the Yugoslavian town of Ohrid, the bulletin continues. This town of Ohrid is strategically located on the old military road from Durazzo to Salonika, which the early Romans called the Via Ignatia. Ohrid played a prominent role in the First World War.

Lake Ohrid, center of a growing summer colony, is about 20 miles long and 10 miles wide, with some resemblance to Lake Geneva. It is more than 2500 feet above sea level, and is practically surrounded by mountains, snow-capped most of the year. The water is clear blue and about 600 feet deep for the most part.

The town of Pogradec consists of two or three streets paralleling the lake shore, and is quite popular with the Albanians as a summer resort. High walls hem in the gardens of the more pretentious homes. The normal population is about 3600, 80 per cent of whom are Mohammedans. Pogradec is about 25 miles north of Koritza (Coritza).

In recent years the Italians have built a road connecting Pogradec with the Albanian capital of Tirana, by way of Elbasani, with many of the old Turkish bridges replaced by concrete construction for military traffic. The road leads over the mountains, dipping into the valley to the olive-tree setting of Elbasani, of tobacco fame, and then over the ridge to Tirana which is on the coastal plain at the foot of the mountains.

The fixed population of Pogradec is engaged for the most part in grazing and fishing. Through the region roam flocks of sheep and goats protected by the ferocious Albanian dogs of wolf-like appearance and probable ancestry. The fishing boats of the Pogradecians rise far above the water both fore and aft, and add to the lake picture. Large trout are plentiful in the clear waters, visible to a depth of 60 feet. The scenic Devol River drains the lake to the Adriatic Sea.

THAILAND'S TRADE TIES LIE CHIEFLY WITH GREAT BRITAIN

Following reports that Thailand (Siam) was contemplating a military alliance with Great Britain, the Tokyo press has indicated that Japan considers the country to be in her sphere of influence.

Thailand has long had close trade relations with Great Britain, and nearly 40 per cent of the total Thai trade, both imports and exports, has been with the British, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. Only about 10 per cent of the trade is with Japan.

Orientals Keep Shop

Of the Thai exports, more than 80 per cent go to Penang, Singapore, and other British ports, and less than five per cent go to Japan. English products entering Siam are almost double the Japanese goods purchased. Nearly all the tin which constitutes more than 20 per cent of the exports passes through Penang, British port of the Malay States to the south.

In Bangkok live several hundred Japanese merchants and over 2,500,000 Chinese. Many of the latter operate bakeries, tailors and butcher shops, hardware, jewelry and general stores. They make up the bulk of the traders and money lenders, and in large part constitute the middle class of Thailand.

The northern part of the country is well forested. The teak wood industry is almost entirely in British hands, with production normally in excess of $2,000,000 worth of timber a year.

The finance minister has a British adviser, and the country's reserves are mostly in British securities. Many of the Thai technical experts are American.

A Democratic Revolution

In 1932, Siam adopted a constitutional government, and new treaties were drawn designed to give Siam full jurisdictional and fiscal autonomy. This trend to democracy has been attributed largely to the infiltration of Western ideas following the foreign education of numbers of the more intelligent and influential people.

Thailand is shaped somewhat like an elephant's head, with ears raised. Bangkok the capital in the mouth, and the trunk extending somewhat irregularly down along the Malay Peninsula. Its area of 200,000 square miles is almost twice that of Colorado, and its population is nearly 15,000,000.

DESSERT BRIDGE FOR WINCHESTER'S ROLLING KITCHEN

It was a lovely party, Dec. 6, but who really gave it? The more one looked into that question the more interesting the answer became. At first it seemed just the usual party set-up, and guests knew whom they would thank at the end of a pleasant afternoon: the friend who had made up the table at which they had been playing, of course; and Mrs. Charles Feising of 69 Westland avenue, at whose home the bridge was given, and Mrs. Fred Cameron, hostesses with Mrs. Feising.

But when Mrs. Feising and Mrs. Cameron began to name those invisible to the players who had helped them entertain, the guests realized that they would swing a wide circle in Winchester before they had thanked all the friends of Britain who had helped give the party. For example, here is the round they will go expressing their appreciation of the dessert with which the party began: to Christie Macdonald for the meringue shells, to the Winchester Drug Company for the ice cream that filled the shells, and to Horace Ford's for the buttered scones that topped the ice cream that filled the shells. "It sounds like the house that Jack built," said a guest. And there was still more to be heard about cooperating donors. The cream for the coffee was the gift of W. T. Boyd, and the coffee—well, that will be in the next chapter, for somebody slipped on the date and an embarrassed would-be donor called on apologetically to ask forgiveness for forgetting and to ask another chance to give when Winchester has another of these parties in so good a cause as the Rolling Kitchen for Britain.

Then there were the door prizes: a generous and attractive basket of fruit and conserves from the Winchester Provision Company, a coupon for shampoo and wave from Fred's Beauty Salon.

The Winchester Conservatory gave flowers for the occasion and for the table prizes. These had very special interest for all the guests. They were in themselves charming, being little stands of hand-wrought iron holding a yellow vase with flowers. They were doubly interesting because they were Winchester-made and by a very young craftsman, Robert Knoetner, 5 Sachem road. He had foregone his usual profit on his work, although these profits are being banked for a most important use—half-dozen years from now, and so guests who scrupulously thank all the people who gave the party will have to find also this Winchester schoolboy, the youngest donor.

Winners of the table prizes were: Mrs. A. T. Bunker, Mrs. F. E. Booth, Miss Grace Dillard, Mrs. C. H. Wanser, Mrs. T. M. Righter, Jr., Mrs. S. B. Neiley, Mrs. H. L. Fletcher, Mrs. Evander French, Mrs. McClure Barhus, Mrs. John Morabito, Mrs. C. L. Mitchell and Mrs. C. L. Mitchell, Jr.

To their afternoon of pleasant diversion guests added the gratifying Winchester advance another stride on its last thousand dollars for the Rolling Kitchen. Winchester is eager to speed its mobile feeding unit on its way, for Winchester now knows that on these Rolling Kitchens depends the sustained industrial productivity of cities that endure the full force of invaders bombs. Thanks to the Rolling Kitchens workmen can go in through the factory gates in the morning fed and ready for work, monstrous though the mad destruction of the night might have been.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Winchester will be well represented this coming Sunday at the annual exhibition and Christmas show of the New England Dressed Meat and Wool Co. As customary, prize winning cattle, lambs and calves from the Chicago International live stock show will be shown at the Somerville plant. John P. Squires Company and Swift and Company will participate with an exhibition of their products. Earle E. Goldsmith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Goldsmith of Wedgmore avenue is listed among the honorees group in scholarship averages for the second ranking period from Oct. 21 to Nov. 22 at Hebron Academy. The group included students with average grades from 85 to 89.9. Goldsmith standing second in the five named.

Miss Sue Mauldin of Charlotte, N. C., a student at Syracuse University and former Winchester girl, will spend the Christmas holidays in town with Mrs. O'Neil Mauldin of Crescent road.

WINCHESTER HOUSE-BREAKER SHOT IN MICHIGAN

Edward "Red" Devine of Norwood, who on March 26, 1926, was arrested by Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy of the Police Department on the charge of breaking and entering a west side home, was shot and killed Sunday while attempting to escape from State Troopers in Highland Park, Mich.

Devine, who in 1926 was just embarking upon a criminal career, was a fugitive from justice, wanted by the Boston Police for kidnapping in 1938 and by the police of six other departments for breaking and entering. His description and the number of the car he was driving were sent to the Michigan constabulary by State Police Lieut. William H. Delay, detective attached to District Attorney Edmund Dewing's office.

Two Michigan troopers spotted Devine's car and gave chase. The fugitive leaped from his car, trying to escape on foot, and he was shot through the head when he refused to halt at the officers' command.

In Winchester, 26 Devine was in company of Paul J. Sansone, also of Norwood, who was arrested by Patrolman James P. Donaghey after a chase and scuffle in Wildwood Cemetery. Both men were convicted in Superior Court and sentenced to from four to five years in States Prison.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, National W. C. T. U. president, in her annual message at the recent convention in Chicago said that we have a "Fifth Column" boring from within. "Entrenched behind millions of invested capital and behind Federal and State laws written under its political pressure, threatening . . . our very rights as a free people."

"There is one sinner of the 1940 brand for every 71 families in the United States, two saloons for every church. For every three public schools five saloons educate for intemperance. Last year against every $2 for education, $3 went for liquor."

Today, 93 months after Congress relegalized beer, in March, 1933, nullifying 90 per cent of the 18th Amendment before it was repealed in December, it is evident that the liquor traffic has been the greatest obstacle to the return of normal prosperity for national industry and of constructive civic progress for the people as a whole.

"Since legal beer in 1933 Federal, State and local governments have received in liquor revenue $5,500,000,000. In 1939 alone the direct cost of liquor was $3,228,491,968. The indirect cost, through crime, accidents, disease, inefficiency, etc., more than $3,400,000. There are also hidden incalculable losses from waste of health, devastation of the home, lowered living standards, pauperism, etc."

Special: 72 single sheets of paper, 50 envelopes in Vellum or Parchment for 50c at Wilson the Stationer.

WINCHESTER UNIT OF BRITISH WAR RELIEF

Winchester Helps Britain Keep Christmas

Chief William H. Rogers of the Winchester Police force was chief of the assembly line for Winchester's gifts to the Christmas Ship that is to reach England in time for Christmas. Packages were received at the police headquarters and there looked after by Chief Rogers until the transportation committee took them over to the general assembly place in Boston.

All New England co-operated in providing this shipful of useful and cheering gifts. Dealers in wool gave beautiful new blankets. A Boston hotel, with practical imagination and commendable thrift, gave scores of its lovely soft blankets that had had to undergo a bit of mending and so had ceased to meet the standard of a luxurious hotel.

Leaders of the Winchester Unit of British War Relief, Mrs. Fred Cameron and Mrs. Marion Waugh, visited the Boston rooms where New England's Christmas gifts were being packed for the ship and were enthusiastic at the generous supply of all sorts of things wisely chosen.

Those who did not know of the Christmas ship and who wish to contribute to British Christmas cheer may still do so. December 16 a special cable will transmit cash for this purpose. Gifts may be made to Mrs. Fred Cameron, who will send them to the Boston committee.

The administering of these Christmas aids in England will be in the hands of the Personal Service League, an established agency skilled in finding the best recipients and the best uses for such gifts.

The central workroom is pleased at additional volunteers for knitting and sewing. Those who cannot conveniently come to the central workroom on Wednesdays are cordially invited to call by telephone either Mrs. Marion Waugh, Win. 2387-J or Mrs. Fred Cameron Win. 1984.

RECOVERED LOST COAT

Early Tuesday morning, at 3 o'clock Dennis Christofas of Vine street reported at Police Headquarters that sometime between midnight and 2 o'clock his overcoat had been taken from a booth at the Splendid Lunch on Main street. An older garment of a different color had been left in its place.

The Police were given descriptions of several persons in the restaurant at the time the coat was taken and Patrolmen Clarence Dunbury and John Hogan went out to investigate. Shortly after 6 o'clock they located the coat in the possession of a Winchester young man who said he had taken it by mistake. The garment was returned to its owner. No charges were preferred.

FORTNIGHTLY NOTES

Our Christmas program this year promises to be one of unusual beauty. Mrs. Henry William Inman, who last year gave us those lovely "Famous Paintings of Famous Women," will present "Famous Paintings of Madonnas" at the next regular meeting on Monday, Dec. 16. As before, club members will portray the characters.

For the first time this season the Glee Club under the direction of Mary Ranton Witham, with Miss Lucy L. Wilcox, accompanist, will be heard in a program of Christmas music. Mrs. Everett L. Vincent, chairman of the art committee, and Mrs. Charles R. Greco, chairman of the music committee, are in charge of the program.

The first of a series of three food sales in aid of the Scholarship Fund, will be held at this meeting, with Mrs. E. Adele Emery, chairman of the Scholarship Committee, in charge. In order that no one may be unduly burdened, the membership list has been divided into thirds, and each member will be solicited only once. The sale, beginning at 1:30 o'clock, will be held before and after the meeting, but absolutely no food will be sold during the meeting.

The press committee wishes all the members a truly happy holiday season.

ENGAGEMENT OF WINCHESTER INTEREST

Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Shaw of Emory street, Medford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis Gertrude, to Staff Sergeant Robert Macdonald Winchester, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Winchester of West Somerville, formerly of this town.

Sergeant Winchester, a grandson of the late Alexander Macdonald, for many years Superintendent of the Winchester Park Department, is stationed at Mitchell Field in New York.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Monday morning at 8:00 the Fire Department was called to put out a fire caused by a short circuit in a Plymouth coach in the center at the middle gates. The car, owned by Harry Foote of 59 Olcott road, Medford, was not much damaged.

NEW SWEDISH CONSUL
WINCHESTER MAN

Albert O. Wilson Yale Street Resident

Winchester friends of Albert O. Wilson will be pleased to learn of his appointment to the post of Swedish Consul at Boston to succeed Emil O. J. Danielson who resigned because of impaired health. The office was raised from a vice-consulate during Mr. Danielson's administration and Mr. Wilson took office yesterday as a full consul.

Mr. Wilson founded the A. O. Wilson Structural Company in Cambridge in 1923. He is a native of Cambridge and a graduate of Rindge Technical School and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He is president of the Steel Fabricators of New England and was for years president of the Bay State Iron and Steel Manufacturers Association. He is a member of the Swedish Evangelical Free Church in Cambridge, William Parkman Lodge of Masons in Winchester, and the Cambridge Rotary Club. The possessor of a fine tenor voice, he has served as soloist and choir director at the Swedish Evangelical Church, and is well known in local musical circles.

In 1911, he married Anita Karin Bagge of Winchester. They have two sons and a daughter.

MANY WILL ATTEND TONIGHT'S LECTURE

Many Winchester people will attend tonight's lecture at the high school auditorium by Dr. Charles H. Tozier. The subject, "Guatemala," opens an unlimited field for beauty and historical background, and this land of mystery has been captured in photographs of unusual brilliance and clarity. In fact Dr. Tozier has already received high commendation for his collection of pictures by many high in government circles who have been privileged to witness the preview.

Of added interest at tonight's affair will be the presentation to the Town of a beautiful scroll from the Massachusetts Horticultural Society in recognition of Winchester's efforts and accomplishment in planning and executing civic beauty. Chairman Elliott F. Cameron of the Board of Selectmen will accept the award for the town.

LOST POCKETBOOK WITH LARGE SUM OF MONEY

The Police were appealed to Wednesday morning by Mildred A. Ryan of 115 Capen street, Medford, to assist her in her effort to recover a pocketbook which she lost between Brigham's store on Main street and her home. The pocketbook contained $500 and a diamond ring valued at several hundred dollars more than that amount.

Miss Ryan reported her loss to Patrolman Clarence Dunbury who immediately instituted a thorough search in the vicinity of Brigham's, assisted by the store manager, but without success. Officers were notified to look for the book for any trace of the missing pocketbook.

MISS THORNE ENGAGED

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Thorne of 50 Sheridan circle, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Emily Alberta Thorne to Mr. Robert Allen Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Turner of 1 Hart street, Woburn.

Miss Thorne was graduated from Winchester High School with the class of 1937 and is employed by the First National Bank of Boston. Mr. Turner was graduated from the Woburn High School, class of 1935 and is employed by the Monsanto Chemical Company of Everett.

MISS GESLER ENGAGED TO MR. GRAHAM

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Gesler of New Haven, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Harriet Lillian Gesler, to Robert B. Graham, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Graham of Boston street. Miss Gesler was graduated from the New Haven State Teachers' College in 1938. Mr. Graham attended Dartmouth College and is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He is a staff reporter for the Boston Herald-Traveler.

BURTON W. CARY

Burton W. Cary of 6 Everett avenue, well known patent lawyer and former chairman of the Winchester School Committee, died suddenly Friday evening in Norwalk, Conn., on the way to enjoy a vacation in the South. Accompanied by his wife and daughter, Elizabeth, he left Winchester Friday morning to drive to Pinehurst, N. C. He collapsed after dinner in Norwalk, while on the way to procure an evening paper, and died before medical assistance reached him.

Mr. Cary was born 54 years ago in Worcester, the son of William B. and Carrie (Howe) Cary. His early life was spent in Lowell where he attended the public schools before entering the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, from which he was graduated with the class of 1908.

After his graduation he went to Washington and joined the staff of the United States patent office as an examiner, studying law during his spare time at Georgetown University. In 1911 he came to Boston and entered the employ of the patent law firm of Phillips, Van Eversen, Fish & Hildreth. Later he became a member of the firm now known as Fish, Hildreth, Cary & Jenney, with offices at 53 State street. He was president and director of the Clifford Manufacturing Company of Boston and a director of the Grout and Knight Company of Worcester.

Mr. Cary was widely known and highly esteemed in Winchester, his home for the past 23 years. For a time he lived on Fenwick road, but latterly had made his home on Everett avenue. He was a member of the Town Finance Committee from 1918 to 1921, serving as chairman his last year, and was also a member of the town committee from 1931 to 1936, serving as chairman in 1936. He was a town meeting member for Precinct 3 from 1929 to 1933, a member of William Parkman Lodge of Masons, the Winchester Country Club and the Boston City Club.

On Sept. 9, 1935, Mr. Cary married Mildred Edgerton Tilden, who survives him, with a daughter, Elizabeth; a son, Burton W. Jr.; a brother, Julian Clinton Cary of Hartford, Conn.; and a sister, Mrs. Edward Stuart Gies of Longwood.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. George Hale Reed, former minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Interment was in Wildwood Cemetery.

THREE INJURED IN ACCIDENTS YESTERDAY

A Ford station wagon, driven north on Highland avenue by Glen Lockwood of 83 Walnut street, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in passing a truck stopped near Lawson road, struck and knocked down Benedict Grand, 20, of 47 Washington street, Cambridge, a helper on the truck who stepped from in front of the machine to make a delivery on Lawson road. The truck was registered to Storer Express Inc. of Cambridge, and driven by Warren H. Cook of 217 Salem street, Wakefield. Lockwood took Grand to Dr. Robert L. Emery's office where he was treated for injuries to his hand and arm.

At 5:45 yesterday afternoon a Pontiac sedan, driven north on Washington street by James J. Russo of 84 Swanton street, while stopped opposite Nelson street, was struck in the rear by a Ford sedan being driven north by William H. Rees of 15 Chatham road, Everett. The latter said the lights of an approaching car blinded him. Both machines were damaged and both drivers complained of injuries. Russo being treated by Dr. A. L. Maletta.

SELECTMEN'S NOTES

Civil Service examination for the position of plumbing inspector will be held on Jan. 11. Last day for filing applications is Dec. 28 at noon. There will be a meeting of the Board at 7:45 in the Selectmen's room on the revised street layout as proposed for Franklin road.

ZONING CHANGES UNANIMOUSLY ADOPTED

Erection of Group Houses Restricted Single Resident District Enlarged

It took 151 members of Winchester's limited town meeting exactly 42 minutes to adopt three changes in the town's zoning by-laws, proposed by the Planning Board and acted upon at a special session in the town hall last evening. Moderator Raymond S. Wilkins presided and aside from him the only speakers were Frank E. Leary, secretary of the Planning Board, who read the notice of hearing held upon the proposed changes, and William L. Parsons, Planning Board chairman, who read the Board's reports and recommendations. There was no debate and the three changes in the by-laws were unanimously adopted.

Briefly, under Article 1, the meeting voted to strike from Section 9 of the Zoning By-Laws the words in the last line of Paragraph C, "or harmful to property therein." This change was made to conform with the State Supreme Court decision, made in the Marchese bowling alley case, that zoning laws, under the enabling State statute cannot guarantee the financial status of property.

Under Article 2 the meeting in effect voted to forbid the erection of group houses in general residence districts and that no such house be built only in business or industrial districts.

Under Article 3, the last on the warrant, it was voted to place in the single resident district the land roughly between the intersection of the street, along Vine street, Dix street, Pine street, Wedge Pond and part of Wildwood street to a point beyond Fletcher street from the business district at near Common street.

The article and motion contained so many northwesterly and southeasterly, parallel, thence and points that few in the hall would have been able to follow them, had it not been for a very helpful large map prepared by Mr. Ewell of the Engineering Department and prominently displayed at the front of the hall. Incidentally Mr. Wilkins had to read the lengthy and involved description twice, which added to the matter to the length of the meeting. It was a good sporting effort on the part of the moderator and done, we should say, a bit under par for the course; but it was strictly a solo performance. No one, except possibly the Planning Board members, were with him after the first five sentences.

The meeting was dissolved, upon the usual motion of Mr. Rowe at 7:27 p. m. Again the vote was unanimous.

RUNAWAY TRUCK

Yesterday forenoon a Ford truck, driven by Mose Rubinstein of Brighton, rolled away from where it had been parked in front of the Winchester Trust Company. The machine crossed Church street and entering the Common by the path at the Church street end of Common street, proceeded to roll through the bushes down hill against a Buick sedan, parked on Common street near the station.

The Buick, owned by former Comdr. John McCarthy of Winchester Post, A. L. and in charge of Mrs. McCarthy, was considerably damaged by the impact. Fortunately, however, no one was hurt, and there were no injuries. How the truck missed the trees in its path on the Common no one has as yet been able to determine.

INJURED IN FALL ON FOREST STREET

Mrs. Mary S. Patterson, 71, of 22 Kenwin road, sustained injuries to her hip and leg when she fell on the icy sidewalk on Forest street near Highland avenue.

The Police were notified and Patrolman Irving Reardon responded in the cruiser. He sent for a police ambulance and according to reliable information Mrs. Patterson was in the ambulance in charge of Sgt. Thomas F. Cassidy and Patrolman John J. Dolan, on her way to the Winchester Hospital this morning, minutes after her fall. She sustained a broken right hip and was treated by Dr. Roger M. Burgoyne and Dr. Alexander T. Aitken.

Mrs. Patterson is the mother of Mrs. Malcolm Cook and makes her home with her daughter on Kenwin road.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The Foreign Policy Department will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Kelley, 31 Dix street on Wednesday morning, Dec. 18 from 10 to 11 with Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. N. Robert Voorhis in charge. The subject for discussion will be, "National Defense" and Mrs. Robert Keeney will give a brief summary of the League's work. The "Far East" Coffee will be served from 10 to 11 by Mrs. William Bowe and her committee.

OUTSTANDING SPEAKER SECURED

Florence Crittenton Christmas Meeting

The Christmas meeting of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League will be held on Thursday, Dec. 19 at 2:30 p. m. at the home of the president, Mrs. Harold B. Richmond, 30 Swan road.

The speaker of the afternoon will be Dr. Elmer A. Leslie, well known professor at Boston University Theological School, noted author, teacher and lecturer. Dr. Leslie recently returned from a trip around the world. He had difficulty getting out of Turkey as he was suspected of being a German spy. The fact that he was the only foreigner in the country aroused suspicion.

Dr. Leslie has chosen for his subject, "Life's Holiest Impulse."

Mary Ranton Witham is in charge of the musical program and will accompany Mrs. Virginia Warren Voorhis, soprano soloist, in a group of songs. Tea will be served by Mrs. John W. Johnson and her committee.

MR. SEAGER SPRINGFIELD "Y" SPEAKER

The future of the minorities was the subject discussed by Mr. Cedric Seager of Springfield, Mass. at this week, when he addressed a large gathering in the auditorium of the Springfield Y. M. C. A.

Said Mr. Seager, "In Europe we have seen people to revolt against Hitler who has led them into bondage. But unless we can guarantee that under the new order, after victory they will enjoy an equality that was denied to them before, we cannot expect them to be widely enthusiastic about our cause. England would do well to define her aims in respect to the minorities, however difficult that may be while the fighting continues. The little people are waiting for the new order in India no less than in Europe. They can contribute much to victory if victory insures for them freedom from persecution and full independence."

Sharing the platform with Mr. Seager was Miss Avery, well known in Winchester and Mr. Snyder, writer and lecturer. Miss Avery gave one of her usual brilliant analyses of the kind of world order we might expect to emerge after a democratic victory. Mr. Snyder described the bleak outlook in the event of totalitarian victory.

The question period occupied more than an hour's time, indicating the interest taken in the speeches.

WINCHESTER ELIGIBLES URGED TO JOIN PROVISIONAL STATE GUARD

Winchester was well represented at the first meeting of the new Co. G, at the first meeting of the Provisional State Guard, held at Woburn Armory on Wednesday night. The names of recruits were not published, as they were not asked to enlist at the first meeting. Several Winchester men, however, have indicated their intention to be present at the second organization meeting on Wednesday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p. m.

Company G's roster is still open and Winchester men who are interested are requested to report at Woburn Armory, Main street near railroad crossing, next Wednesday night at 7:30 p. m. While previous military training is advisable, it is not necessary, and any Winchester citizens who are willing to volunteer in the present emergency, and who are not liable to be called soon to the Federal forces, will be welcome.

WINCHESTER LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

Don't forget the Christmas Party next Wednesday evening, Dec. 18 at the Legion Home. This is for members of the Auxiliary and a good time is promised to all who attend. Each member is asked to bring an inexpensive gift for the grab. There will be bridge or whist for those who care to play and refreshments will be served. Everything is free and all members are invited.

The Christmas Party for the children given by the Legion will be held Sat. Dec. 21 at 3 p. m. Auxiliary members are asked to come to the Legion home Saturday afternoon to help with the gift wrapping and program. As many members are asked to attend the party to help with the care of the children. All who attend this party will certainly enjoy every minute. Don't forget the date, Wednesday, Dec. 18, for Auxiliary members; Saturday, Dec. 21 for the children.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. Jesse J. Smith of Church street, father of Mrs. Elliott F. Cannon, who has recently undergone a major operation at the hospital, returned home this morning, assisted by Dr. J. Edgar Park, president of the Baptist Church under the direction of Mr. Lefroy P. Beanson.

Donald Cole, who is attending Bordenstown Military Institute, was made a cadet captain this week.

SELECTIVE SERVICE TO SPEED UP

The local Selective Service Board for Winchester and Stoneham have been officially advised of the necessity of speeding up the program of physical examinations of registrants, and their ultimate classification, as a result of such physical examination, in order to meet the much larger quota which they are to be asked to supply to the Selective Service training camps during the months of January and February.

It is now estimated that the Winchester-Stoneham District may be asked to supply from 40 to 50 men during January and February, which means that a sufficient number of men must be certified for physical examination, to result in at least this number being determined as physically fit for general military service, which, considering the number of men who may not pass the physical examination, means that a somewhat larger number than the expected quota must be physically examined.

For these reasons, the local Selective Service Board respectfully requests the co-operation of all registrants in this district in the prompt return of their completed questionnaires and their prompt compliance with notifications of physical examination. It is hoped that many registrants are careless in returning their questionnaires without being certain that every question which should be answered is answered, thereby making it necessary to re-examine questionnaires for completion, and delaying the whole procedure.

The local board announces that the first 500 questionnaires have been sent out, the majority of which have already been returned, and that these 500 questionnaires it is hoped that they will be able to obtain a sufficient number of men who will be classified in Class 1A, to fill such quotas as may be assigned to this district within the next few months. The second batch of 500 questionnaires it is planned, will be mailed sometime after the first of January.

Notice was received this morning that the second batch of 500 questionnaires will start Jan. 3 and end Jan. 10, 1941.

MRS. LILLIAN BLANCHE ADAMS

Mrs. Lillian Blanche Adams, wife of John B. Adams of 15 Manchester road, died Thursday afternoon, Dec. 12 at the Winchester Hospital after a three weeks' illness.

Mrs. Adams was born 68 years ago in Cambridge. She had been a resident of Winchester for the past 18 years, was a member of the Unitarian Church and of the Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League. Mrs. Adams was married Nov. 7, 1921. Her husband survives her with a daughter, Mrs. Clarence W. Russell of this town.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 at the late residence with Rev. Paul Harmon Chapman, minister of the Unitarian Church, officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

CHRISTMAS AT THE POSTOFFICE

The Christmas season is rapidly approaching again and with it each year comes an exceedingly heavy burden for the Postoffice Department. Although many extra persons are given employment in order to keep the tremendous volume of Christmas mail flowing in and out of the postoffice, the primary work must necessarily be performed by experienced employees.

You can materially help to lessen this burden by anticipating your Christmas postal needs and buying your stamps NOW. You can also help by keeping all cards addressed for delivery in Winchester in separate racks when you deposit it in the mail boxes or at the postoffice.

Vincent C. Ambrose,
Postmaster

MISS HEATH HONORED AT WHEATON

Miss Margaret D. Heath, daughter of Selectman and Mrs. Donald Heath of Everett road, was one of four seniors at Wheaton College to have her portrait board decorated Wednesday by Dr. J. Edgar Park, president, with a gold button for showing promise in her major field, Sociology.

Miss Heath was also, with the others, presented a gift book and congratulated by Professor Mildred Evans, Ernest J. Knapton, Eunice Work and Paul F. Cressy.

MIDNIGHT CHRISTMAS EVE SERVICE

For the second year there will be Midnight Christmas Eve service at the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, with the pastor, Rev. Roger E. Makoposki, assisted by Dr. Lawrence W. C. Emig. The choir from the Baptist Church under the direction of Mr. Lefroy P. Beanson will participate in this distinctive church service. Complete plans will be announced shortly.

ELKS' NOTES

Fourteen members of Winchester Lodge, headed by Exalted Ruler Howard H. Brown, attended the homecoming visitation of District Deputy John A. Driscoll at Maynard Lodge last Sunday. Many distinguished Elks from the State Association and officers of the Grand Lodge were among the 300 in attendance. The Exalted Ruler Brown served with the heads of other lodges in the Massachusetts Central District on the suite of the district deputy, acting as grand tiler.

The annual Christmas party of Winchester Lodge was held Wednesday evening in the lodge social quarters under the auspices of the House Committee, commencing at 7:30. Seasonal decorations and a brightly lighted Christmas tree made a festive setting for the party which got under way to a fine start with the serving of a delicious catered dinner. Presents were distributed by Exalted Ruler Brown, assisted by Albie MacDonnell, Sheldon Hamilton and Charlie Meek, much merriment being occasioned by the opening of the various packages.

Following the opening of the gifts an excellent entertainment program was presented by professional talent, interspersed with songs and impromptu skits put on by Elks and guests. The Golden Bell Quartet, headed by Exalted Ruler Brown, sang "Old Oaken Bucket" and then the urging of the attractive accordion player was necessary to loosen up the boys' voices.

The feature of the local talent's contribution to the program was surely "Wick" Carroll's singing of "The Auld Shillelagh," though Phil Gallagher's nifty red shirt and white tie was a sartorial masterpiece and an effort not to be overlooked.

The program was concluded with community singing, led by the master of ceremonies and closing with "God Save America," a rousing performance that was easily audible in the hall.

Robert Murphy and John Lynch received many compliments upon the success of the entertainment program and the thanks of all present was extended to Charlie Meek and "His House" Committee for another good time.

UNUSUAL PICTURE

"Jim" Chisholm, popular clerk at Winton's Hardware Store on Mt. Vernon street, was showing a most unusual picture about the square yesterday. At first glance one took it to be a blossom of the tropical zone, a tropical plant, reposing in a flower bowl. Really it was a formation of ice picked up on the hubcap of an automobile driven by Mr. Chisholm's son Robert, through Missouri during the recent hurricane. The formation was unbelievably regular; round, with multiple slender rods of ice radiating from a solid center. The Camera Shop has made an enlargement of the small photo and it is arousing much comment.

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Ordinarily youngsters go for a band in a big way, but Monday night the Police were asked to stop the strains of a group of musicians who were disturbing children on Webster street. The leader of the band was interviewed by an officer and was told to get permission from Chief Rogers before indulging in future evening concerts in the open.

The rate for deputy tax collectors' bonds has been reduced to $5 a thousand instead of the previous $10. This represents a saving to the Town which of course has to bond these collectors.

Mrs. Maurice F. Brown, who has been ill at her home is reported to have recovered nicely.

Nathaniel M. Nichols, Winchester's collector of taxes, is in charge of arrangements for the meeting of the Massachusetts Collectors' and Treasurers' Association, to be held Dec. 17, at the Twentieth Century Club on Joy street in Boston.

William Fountain, 69, who died Monday morning at the Choate Memorial Hospital in Woburn, was the father of Mrs. Clara Fountain Carson, well known local music teacher and former resident of this town. The late Mr. Fountain was a life-long resident of Woburn and retired leather worker.

WINCHESTER GIRLS HAD GOOD HOCKEY SEASON

Though their undefeated record was finally shattered, the Winchester High School girls' field hockey team had another exceptionally good season this year, losing one and tying one in seven games with representative school eleven. When Arlington defeated the local girls 1-0 at Arlington in the second game of the season the goal was the first and only one scored against Winchester in three years of campaigning against the best teams in this district. Few, if any, schoolgirl eleven can boast as good a record.

Incidentally in an unofficial game at Wellesley, the day after its defeat, Winchester beat Arlington, 1-0, with the second team playing the whole second half.

Melrose, with one of its best teams in recent years, held Winchester to a scoreless tie in the final game of the season, but this was a feather in the local girls' bonnets since Melrose ranked high in Greater Boston hockey circles. Watertown put up a stubborn battle, as usual, before yielding, 1-0, but in the remaining games Winchester had little trouble in winning.

The Winchester seconds won three, tie three and lost a single game 1-0 to the Melrose seconds.

This year's team was captained by Helen Carroll, capable right inner and all around athletic star. With her on the forward line were Betsy Drake, right wing; Alice Davis, center forward; Cynthia Foote, left inner, and Claire McGrath, left wing. Halfbacks were Joan Moffette, right wing, Joyce Maxson, center, and Janet Hayward, left. Dolly Greene, right fullback, Maxine Lybeck, left fullback, and Ann Downer, goal, completed the varsity group.

Of these Captain Carroll, McGrath, Moffette, Maxson, Hayward, Greene and Janet Hayward, seniors, leaving Drake, Davis, Foote and Downer as a varsity nucleus for next year. Coach Deborah Fenton, who completed her second season at the local school this year, will have to do some building next fall, but she will have available all but three of this year's second team, the members of which were Capt. Anna Errico, Emma Duffett, Dottie Richardson, Nancy Dodson, Peggy Carroll, Mary Lou Allen, Helen Elliott, Janet Doub, Shirley Palsen, Grace Fillipson, Mary Marchesi, Mary Murray, Barbara Waugh and Esther Capone. Of this group only Captain Errico, Marchesi and Waugh are seniors, leaving a fine nucleus of experienced players.

Rachel Armstrong and Esther Blanchard were varsity hockey managers. Following are the team records:

JEWELLED IN COPPER

COPPER, oldest of the metals of commerce, which was first discovered before the dawn of history on the island of Cyprus by a half-savage tribe has and continues to find many new uses. Recently new jewelry ornaments, made from this age old metal, have been fashioned and are extremely popular with the fair sex. Copper with small Aztec figures applied in silver is a new California art discovered by Anne Shirley. She has had a great many bracelets and necklaces made for herself and says that she is sure college girls are going to "go for copper" in a big way.

Above, is the beautiful Anita Louise featured in Columbia picture's "Glamour for Sale." The jewelry she is wearing has become popular not only in California but throughout the entire United States.

YUGOSLAVIA'S BOMBED CITY OF BITOLJ HAS ALIAS

The historic city of Bitolj, in southwestern Yugoslavia, reported bombed by Italian-made airplanes, played a prominent role in the first World War as the Serbian city of Monastir, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

Monastir was heavily bombarded in the Balkan War in 1912, the bulletin recalls, and again in the World War when the dispossessed Bulgars continued to shell the city from the surrounding hills. Many churches and buildings were destroyed and not rebuilt; others bear extensive evidence of the shelling.

Still Turkish in Appearance The city was occupied by the Allies after the successful attack led by the Serbians, aided by French and Russian forces, in November, 1916. Its recapture was then hailed as an important victory, completing the Allied line across the Balkan Peninsula from the Struma River to the Adriatic.

The town has 36 mosques, whose minarets tower above the one and two story, well-built houses. Under Turkish rule the city had been the home of many wealthy Turks, but conditions of pillage were such that none cared to make his mansion show his wealth. Streets are wide, and a tinkling rattle runs through the boulevards.

One minaret was decapitated in the bombardment and so remains. There are but five churches. Another memorial of Turkish occupation is the old covered Turkish market or bazaar, with its strong gates, about the last left in the country.

Under the Turkish regime, Monastir was the most important garrison of Macedonia. The Serbs captured the city in the Balkan Wars of 1912-13 and it was later offered by the Central Powers as a bribe to Greece to maintain her neutrality.

On Famous Road Trod by Alexander and Xerxes It is a Balkan city of many peoples, each having its own section. Greeks, Turks, Romanians, Albanians, Bulgars and Macedonians, 35,000 in all, but mostly Yugoslavians, wearing their native costumes with variegated and cosmopolitan effects.

Not far from Bitolj are the remains of the Roman city of Heraclea Lyncestis, now under vineyards and wheat fields, and unexcavated save for a stream washing out Roman relics. It was once a provincial capital of Macedonia. The double name was a necessary distinction in a region where 40 towns were called Heraclea, in honor of Hercules.

Equally famous with the ancient city of Monastir was the road to Salonika, linking the Adriatic and the Aegean Seas. It has been said that the story of Macedonia is the story of the Monastir road, over which Alexander, Xerxes and Galerius led their troops.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By James Coon

Dr. Alley showed some very interesting movies, with the school's talking machine, to the science class Wednesday. They dealt with the wonders of science that have led to the modern high standard of living. It also encouraged all young science students in that it pointed out that the surface had only been scratched. There are many wonderful inventions that we can imagine to be invented as well as the ones that we cannot imagine.

The French Club, which looked as though it had fallen along with France at the beginning of the year, had come to life. The first meeting of the year was held Tuesday. It was the discovery that $12.50 still remained in the treasury that assured the success of the club. The members discussed plans for a Christmas party to take place on either the 18th or 20th in the afternoon. After the business discussion the members got down to the enjoyable part of the afternoon which consisted of playing bridge in French.

The A. A. banquet is to be held Saturday night. This is the annual dinner to which all letter winners of the previous year as well as the small hall squad is invited at the small price of 10c a person. The football captain is announced for the next year. There are several speakers and some entertainment. This year some of the high school are going to do different types of dances. There is always a nice dinner served as well as the entertainment.

The commercial course students had the opportunity to see a picture dealing with that type of job that most of them are studying for, secretarial work.

The use of motion pictures as an aid for teaching is becoming more and more widespread all the time. The value of having the student see the things that he is being taught put into practical use is immense. Our school is fortunate in having two machines, one with a sound track connection, at its disposal.

One of Mr. Keeney's English classes is busily engaged in preparing an assembly for Christmas. Zoe Tibbetts is the chairman of a committee of three. Eleanor Randall and Elnora Terhune are her assistants.

Mr. Small thinks that the class play is coming along at a normal rate of speed, the first act is now almost completed. The whole cast reports every afternoon to the auditorium at 3 o'clock or before and seldom finishes before 5.

The old bugaboo of five week tests have begun to crop up here and there. We wonder who dreads the tests the most, the inexperienced freshman, or the experienced senior.

Pupils interested in science will like to know that the annual series of lectures at M. I. T. have begun. There is no charge for these lectures and anyone may go. The lectures are held on three days, Friday, Saturday and Sunday so that parents may attend. The lectures are held in series each year. The first lecture this year is the "Sun as a Competitor of Fuel" to be given by Prof. Hoyt C. Hottel.

The dog that killed the turkeys last week and who was owned by one of the town officials has been placed on sale in a neighboring city. It is understood that the price is cheap. Let us hope that the city ordinance prohibits the keeping of turkeys or any fowl.

EAST MEETS WEST IN MODERNIZED TURKEY

Land Bridge Between Europe and Old Countries of Near East

The Turkish Government, reported to be under pressure from the Axis, rules over a land which occupies one of the most strategic positions on earth. Straddling the straits which lead from the Black Sea to the Aegean and thence to the Mediterranean, Turkey plays a prominent role in politico-geographic relations in this corner of the world, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

It is a land bridge between turbulent southeast Europe and the rich oil countries of the Near East. Just south across the Mediterranean lies Egypt, where the Suez Canal separates the continent of Africa from the Sinai Peninsula of Biblical fame.

The bulk of modern Turkey is in Asia, where this nation shares a common boundary with Soviet Russia, Iran (Persia), Iraq (Mesopotamia), and the Levant States. In Europe, on the other side of the narrow waters of the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles, a small patch of northwest territory touches the borders of Bulgaria and Greece. Even Romania, although not a direct neighbor, is affected as one of the countries fronting on the almost landlocked Black Sea—by Turkey's control of its water gates to the outside world.

Historic and powerful centers of empire, such as Ur, Sumaria, Babylon, Assyria, Phoenicia, and the ancient Hittite capital of Bogazkoy, are now located in and near what is now Turkey. In prime, the vast Turkish empire itself spread over three continents, covering an area of three million square miles.

In the 17 years since the republic was first set up under the presidency of the late leader and nationalist hero, Kemal Ataturk, Turkey's 17½ million citizens have seen tremendous social and economic changes.

The powerful Moslem religion has been divorced from the state. European legal codes and the Latin alphabet are in use, along with Westernized styles of dress and methods of work. Gone is the masculine fez; and seldom seen is the veil that once was the symbol of woman's backward place under Islam. Instead women have come into votes, higher education, and professional life in such varied fields as medicine and stenography, statecraft and factory work—even aviation.

American as well as European ways have become the order of the day as new plants, modern farm machinery, typewriters, automobiles, airplanes, movies, and "swinging" take their place in everyday life of the nation. Regular air services have been inaugurated; the railways extended.

Among other importations from the West are various far-reaching programs for nationalized economy, enthusiastically promoted by the Turk in his drive for swift modernization. The first "Five Year Plan" which ended in December, 1938, soon after the death of President Kemal Ataturk, has been followed by others, to develop the mining resources, farm efficiency, and an industrial plant to turn out a variety of goods based on National production and national needs. Today Turkey, for example, is making many of her own agricultural implements, and is refining sugar from home-grown sugar beets.

Turkey's foreign trade, however, strictly controlled by national regulations, has suffered considerably since the outbreak of the present war, largely as a result of the difficulties of Mediterranean shipping. Business with Germany normally the leading trader, dropped off in 1939 both in import and export fields. During the first seven months of 1940, Turkish imports from Germany were little more than half the figure for the corresponding period of the previous year. Exports to the Reich, on the other hand, increased slightly. Despite the drastic changes in Turkey's national life, with the recent rise in the industrial chart, in building activities, and in the modernization of cities and towns, this eastern country is still predominantly rural in character. More than 65 per cent of the total population, it is estimated, take their living from the soil. In remote sections of the land, many of them still use the primitive hand implements of the days of the "Changeless East."

IN ANSWER TO "TRAFFIC WAVERS"

To the Editor of the Post:
Just a note in answer to a letter from Safety Minded entitled "Traffic Wavers" in your issue of last Wednesday. As a rule no attention is given to letters of that type, but a few inquiries show this one to be so far in error that a reply should be made to correct in the minds of your readers any wrong impressions they might have received.

The Police Department has records of 10 accidents on this corner this year all of which occurred while the traffic lights were in operation and no man present. Among the hundreds of school children handled there daily there has been no accident in 14 months, and this is considered one of the worst corners of the town.

Any complaint by anyone will be given attention by the Chief of Police or the Board of Selectmen as they are interested in the safety and convenience of our highways.

The Boston Post is a Grand Old Paper and the column is useful and entertaining, but it is too bad that the Editor cannot discern a letter whose sole purpose it is to vent a personal peeve and thus prevent any wrong impressions.

If Safety Minded would start a little earlier he would be certain to catch his train and all of us would be a little safer.

Yours,
W. G. Parkin

NEWSY PARAGRAPHS

Mr. Albert F. Gaum of Mystic Valley Parkway, well known in local veterans' circles is reported as a patient at a hospital at Putnam, Conn. "Al" writes that he is there for a checkup and will be under observation for several weeks.

"SPANISH UNION" TO BE PRESENTED

"The Spanish Union," a farcical comedy in three acts will be presented by the Fireside League of high school students in the social hall of the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church, this Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. This popular play for amateurs by Carl Webster Pierce is being directed by Mrs. Jean Leone Makepeace, a former member of the Summer Theatre at the University of Michigan.

"The Spanish Union," has to do with the students of Fairhaven College and what happens when the heartless little heartbreaker, Delight Townsend, starts selling some of her numerous dates to less favored girls. When a boy object she overrules the objection by the simple expedient of becoming engaged to him on the theory that he will do anything for love. But the plan strikes a snag when four of the fellows discover that they are all engaged to the same girl. Seeking to prove that revenge is sweet they put their heads together and get a great idea.

Complications arise rapidly and involve Mrs. Brink, the cafeteria owner; Ramon Costez, a romantic cavalier from Old Spain, the college president's wife, and a whole crew of varied college types.

Miss Lillian McAuliffe, popular leader of the Winchester Assembly of the Order of Rainbow for Girls, has the leading role as the campus heart-breaker. The four youths taken in by her coy ways are played by Robert Griffiths, Kendall Batten, Leonard Erikson and Sherman Dodge. Richard LeRoy as the "picky" freshman, and George Hatch as Ramon Cortez, the "smooth" Spaniard will receive much attention in their roles. Helen Thomas as the perky Mrs. Brink and Edythe Derby as the stately wife of the college president give convincing portrayals. Betty Melanson, Elsie Grey and Katherine Seaton have important roles in the plot.

The uppers for the evening performance include Annetta Ralston, Gene and Gloria Herrick, Dorothy Delorey, Doris Roberts and Natalie Larson. Miss Rosanna Fay has charge of the publicity and also heads the candy committee consisting of the following members: Betty Robinson, Frances Quimby, Annette Robinson and Elizabeth Derow. Robert Griffiths is handling the sale of tickets, assisted by Jeanette Bacon and Ruth Morrow.

SONS OF ITALY LODGE HIGH IN BOWLING LEAGUE

The Men's Lodge No. 2 Bowling team of this town is currently tied for second place in its division of the Sons of Italy Bowling League, composed of teams from 10 lodges in this district.

Wednesday evening the local team took three points from the division leaders, Danvers Lodge and is expected to go into first place in the standing as a result of this victory. Tony Chafalo led the local bowlers with a three string total of 312. Frank Corby had 306 for three strings and Capt. Andy DiApolia, 299. Frank Procopio had 289 and Larry Penta, 263.

The latest individual standings show Captain DiApolia leading the Winchester bowlers with an average of 95.3. Larry Penta is in second place with 94 and Tony Chafalo third with 93.4. These figures do not include Wednesday's match.

"THE LAST OF MRS. CHEYNEY"

Seldom has an amateur group displayed greater talent in production and stagecraft than the Winchester Group Theatre in their presentation of "The Last of Mrs. Cheney." In selecting a play with four different stage settings this group has proved itself capable of producing successfully a play which many amateurs might avoid.

The story of Mrs. Cheney had for its opening setting an elaborate and charming English drawing room in the home of a young Australian widow. An atmosphere of an important social function was established by Charles, the butler, played by Reveley H. B. Smith, in his instructions to his assistants, George and Jim; namely, Robert M. Campbell and Edwin C. Whittemore. The cast was augmented by excellent interpretations of attractive socialites, played effectively by Eloise T. Graves, Lady Joan Houghton; Joy A. Woolley, Mrs. Ebley; Charlotte L. Nichols, Mrs. Wynton; Rosalind Lynch, Marie; and Katrina H. Morse, Lady Mary Sindley.

Hersilia W. Elmer in the title role was presented as the hostess and irresistible new member of this group who captivated two eligible bachelors, J. Henry Smith, Jr.'s characterization of Lord Elton, the stolid, blue-blood, was masterfully consistent and Eugene M. Pollard, as Lord Arthur Dilling, gave a convincing portrayal of a completely likable philanthropist. A note of mirth was enjoyed by the chortling of F. Milne Blanchard, as Willie Wynton, an inconsequential husband.

The intimate scene when the audience first became acquainted with the two leading characters was crisp and electrifying, producing a vitality in the situation which continued throughout the play. The revelation of Mrs. Cheney and her servants in their true identity as jewel thieves concluded the first act with an element of surprise. As the play progressed, the intended theft of Mrs. Ebley's pearls during her house party was frustrated by the cleverness of Lord Dilling. The delicate situation was handled superbly, with the exact amount of sophistication and restraint.

The terrace garden of the last act was a masterpiece of craftsmanship, wherein the last of Mrs. Cheney became the first of Lady Dilling. In

BOARD HAS NICE NEW BADGES

The extra chest expansion you're noticing in the membership of the Board of Selectmen is nothing to worry about. The members haven't gone high hat nor have they taken on weight in any alarming degree. They are, however, so proud of their spandy new Police Commissioners' badges, presented them by the members of the Police Department, that the old "buzzums" just naturally swell a bit above par as a consequence. The badges, awe inspiring gold affairs, were presented to the Board this week and a friendly letter of thanks is now in the hands of the Police. The Selectmen were most appreciative, not alone of the gifts but of the thought behind it. It is whispered that one of the Board members attached his badge to his pocketbook just opposite his driving license. As he drives a lot he may have wanted it easily available just in case he happened to meet another commissioner!

The Winchester Firemen are to hold a concert and ball at the Town Hall on the evening of Feb. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Clark of Mt. Vernon street moved to their new home at Topsfield this week.

Winchester people who would like to see an exceptional display of poinsettias, should visit the greenhouses of the Winchester Conservatory on Cambridge street. The display is reported to be one of the finest ever shown there with over 500 blossoms.

this scene the elaboration of the character of Lord Elton was a thorough delight. Kazar G. Nichols capably handled the part of Mrs. Ebley's butler, Roberts.

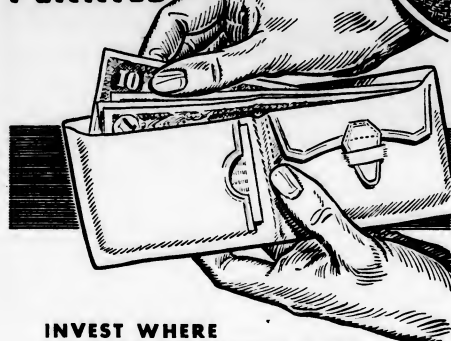

Such a thoughtful and artistic rendering of this play was a fitting tribute to the skill of the director, Beulah Page Sibley.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Church Hinde was with us again today well recovered from an indisposition which has seriously interfered with his professional duties. And we hope that Parker Holbrook will report next week; we know that Parker shares this hope.

Billy Beggs has terminated his leave of absence much to our mutual satisfaction. Roger, Billy's steadfast companion, was also present today. We understand that Roger will assume the status of associate member of the club. Welcome to our city, Roger.

Again we are indebted to Charlie White of the Lowell club for his services as pianist. Thanks, Charlie. Judging from our experience the present and prolonged depression or something, has adversely affected the development of Rotarian pianists.

Through the courtesy of Charlie Phinney of the Medford club we have received several copies of the Oct. 24 edition of the "Coq," a weekly publication of that club. In this letter Charlie's facile pen has given us a delightful account of the joint meeting on that date of the Medford and Winchester clubs, together with a vivid verbal picture of the beauties of the terrain in which the Winchester Country Club is located. Members can secure a copy of this Coq, by application to the secretary.

District Governor Francis J. Flagg paid his official visit to our club today. Seemingly we have waited a long time for this visit but the wait was well worth the while for Governor Francis has fully lived up to his reputation of being a genial friend and able counselor in the affairs of Rotary. His advice, given during his conference with club officials previous to the regular club meeting, was indeed helpful and will greatly simplify the solution of many problems which have confronted us and will in the future present themselves for action.

Governor Francis also addressed the club during the after-luncheon period calling attention to very considerable material losses sustained by the Rotary organization as the result of the suppression of clubs in those countries now under the sway of dictators. This means practically all of Europe except Great Britain and applies also to Japan. Elsewhere, however, Rotary continues to expand and there is plenty of evidence that, even in the domains of totalitarianism, the spirit of Rotary is being suppressed but by no means being destroyed but merely awaits the restoration of conditions favorable to government under democratic principles. It should be the concern of Rotarians, said Governor Francis, to keep that spirit alive and give it every possible encouragement.

SUNSHINE BAND ENTERTAINED FAMILY AT THE "HOME"

The Sunshine Band from the New England Sanitarium in Stoneham entertained the family at the Home for Aged People with an excellent program, directed by Mr. Crandell. The program was varied, including vocal and instrumental selections as well as readings, and it was much enjoyed by the group at the "Home."

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

It has been said that, "Nothing succeeds like success." Such being the case, Guild members have much to inspire them in their future endeavors. Several committee chairmen have reported grand success of their undertakings. Mrs. Michael H. Hindman who managed the rummage sale, but will accept no credit that can't be shared with those who assisted her, wishes to thank one and all who helped with time or donations as she said she could not have done it alone. Mrs. Alfred E. Viano is sending 500 garments, the number planned for before Christmas, to the Charitable Bureau this week. Busy fingers helped with these and are beautiful as well as practical.

A week from today on Dec. 20, there will be a morning lecture at the home of Mrs. Virgil Gharardini, 12 Foxcroft road, Winchester. The Rev. Charles McNis will be the speaker and "Causes of the Breakdown of Western Civilization" will be the subject of his discourse. Coffee will be served at 10 o'clock. Mrs. Theodore Dissell is in charge of the program.

Attention is called to the early date, Dec. 17 of the next regular meeting in Lyceum Hall. Mrs. Henry Clarke will talk on, "Christmas Books." Mrs. Gharardini has requested that returns on chance books, which are now out, be made at the next meeting by all who can possibly do so.

Sewing occupied the members, after the business meeting, on last Tuesday afternoon. Tea was served by the hostesses, Mrs. H. R. Glendon, Mrs. J. A. McDonough, Mrs. R. F. Rainville and Mrs. William Dolan.

PATRICK JOSEPH GALLAGHER

Patrick Joseph Gallagher, infant son of Patrick and Mary (Gill) Gallagher of 251 Swanton street, died suddenly at the home of his parents Wednesday morning, Dec. 12. He was one of three children, leaving two sisters besides his parents. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at the late home at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

OPEN HOUSE

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin D. Engle, formerly of Allen road, held open house at their new home at 79 Yale street, Sunday afternoon. There was a large attendance of friends, both of Winchester and surrounding places. They were assisted in pouring and serving by Mrs. Gerald R. Barrett, Mrs. Charles A. Underwood, Mrs. Harry Plack of Arlington, Dr. Eugene M. Pollard, Mr. G. Dwight Cabot and Mr. Raymond Nee of Brookline.

AXIS ADDS HUNGARY TO ITS EASTWARD-SWELLING

The signing in Vienna of a protocol admitting Hungary to full-fledged partnership with Germany, Italy and Japan in the totalitarian axis brings into this mighty alliance a World-War educated country which has ever cherished the hope of regaining her lost provinces says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

In the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia in 1938 and 1939, Hungary obtained the largely Magyar-populated southeastern strip of Slovakia and the Carpatho-Ukraine (Rumania). In August, 1940, Rumania ceded to Hungary an estimated 44 per cent of the province of Transylvania, adding some 17,400 square miles to the territory of the now-renewed monarchy of Hungary whose regent is a fleetless admiral in a country without a seacoast.

World War Losses Now Partly

Up Hungary after the World War gave up some 90,000 square miles of land and 13 million people; by the restorations, annexations, and ceasations of 1938-1940, the kingless kingdom has rewon some 26,000 square miles and more than 4,200,000 people. Hungary's present enlarged area of over 62,000 square miles (bigger than England and Wales) supports a population of 13,317,000.

The Transylvania slab recently acquired adds to the largely agricultural old Hungary a mineral, and forest rich territory whose contributions of salt, gold, silver, copper and timber will meet, or help to meet, the country's requirements of these materials. Bordered by the German protectorate of Slovakia on the north, by Germany on the west, by Yugoslavia and Rumania on the south, and by Rumania and Russia on the east, Hungary is largely made up of low, rolling plains devoted to farming and grazing. The Danube, on which stands the capital, Budapest, and the Tisza Rivers traverse the country from north to south. In the west lies the 48-mile-long Balaton Lake, the largest in Central Europe and a favorite resort.

Germany Eager to Buy Hungary's Foodstuffs

The return of the Slovakian, Ruthenian, and Transylvanian areas probably will help to restore the pre-World War economy balanced between timber, mineral stock, and farm production. Farming, however, is still the chief pursuit of the people and the activity on which most industry is based, although there is some coal, iron, and bauxite mining, and fishing preserves are valuable in certain rivers and lakes. Wheat, corn, rye, oats, sugar-beets and tobacco are some of the more important crops. For these supplies Germany is by far Hungary's best customer. A very considerable trade with Austria, with which country Hungary was linked from 1867 to 1918 in a dual monarchy, has also been taken over by Germany with the absorption of the smaller nation.

Hungary is still a land of villages. The only city of any size is Budapest, with over a million and a half inhabitants. The next ranking town has only 131,000 population. Revolution immediately after the World War changed Hungary from a monarchy into a republic. This was followed soon after, in 1919, by the establishment of a Soviet state, which gave way, in 1920, before a counter-revolution which brought back the status of monarchy. Lacking a king, Hungary since then has been ruled by a regent, Nicholas Horthy.

BASES FOR BRITAIN ON IRELAND WEST COASTEngland's plea for bases on the coast of Eire, recently redoubled in view of the heightened naval threat in the Atlantic, has been consistently resisted.Such bases would bring British forces 400 miles or more nearer than London is, and some 250 miles nearer than the westernmost coast of England. They would establish British control over both sides of the Atlantic, in all latitudes between Norway and France. Eire, however, has clung to its status as a neutral in the war, and would have to sacrifice this neutrality—and expose its cities to possible bombing raids—in exchange for any protection gained by British use of the bases.Bases Recall Blarney Stone and Lusitania VictimsNorthern Ireland, whose six counties form the northeastern fifth of the island which it shares with Eire, is still British territory and is already belligerent, points out a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. But this region is cut off from the Atlantic by the northward extension of Eire, and has no coast at all on the west where bases are desired.
It was less than two years ago that England relinquished her last bases in Eire. As a final token of Eire's independence of England, by a treaty signed on April 25, 1938, the British withdrew their garrisons from the strategic post of Cobh in the south, and Berehaven in the west,
and Lough Swilly in the north.
Cobh, formerly Queenstown, stands on Eire's southeastern coast due west of Wales, in the spacious Cork harbor which could contain the entire British Navy. The second busiest port in Eire, it has been known to commerce as the port for Cork, some 13 miles north, and to tradition as the port of entry to Blarney Castle where world travelers pause to kiss the Blarney Stone. One of the greatest tragedies of the World War brought to Cobh for burial the bodies of many Americans who died in the Lusitania disaster. Cobh, as a convenient halfway station between western Eire and the open Atlantic, was made the site of a British naval dockyard and was strongly garrisoned by British forces until 1938.Home Budget Banks. Lots of fun

1941 CAMPAIGN

Winchester comes in for an extra share of credit in the 1941 Campaign organization of the Greater Boston Community Fund, through the volunteer services of Mrs. Frederick B. Craven, as noted in last week's Star.The work of the Greater Boston Community Fund's important Metropolitan Division is expected to gain a new ease and effectiveness in the 1941 Campaign, through the efforts of Mrs. Frederick B. Craven of Winchester, who has been appointed a vice chairman of the division by its head, Robert H. Montgomery of Cambridge," says the Bulletin, which interprets the trends of public and private social work in Greater Boston.Mrs. Craven will use her extensive Campaign experience, gained at headquarters of the Winchester Community Chest during the past few years to help streamline the complex mechanical and recording procedures at local headquarters in the 45 communities of the Metropolitan Division.The object of the work is to suggest headquarters practices that will make things easier for everybody in the pressure-period when we are all over-worked," Mrs. Craven said in an interview.We hope that this will aid the Metropolitan Division workers to do a more effective job for the Greater Boston Community Fund this year than ever before, without expend-ing any more energy than in the past. I hope it will be helpful to many people."

MEETINGEighty people were present at the first meeting of the Evening Study Group of the Winchester College Club held Monday evening, Dec. 9 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John D. West, 74 Wedmore avenue.Dr. Norman J. Padelford, professor at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy, which is affiliated with Tufts College and Harvard University, most ably on "New Trends in American Foreign Relations." He outlined briefly the history of Japan's rise to the position of a world power. Then he discussed in some detail the vital and critical problems which the United States faces in her diplomatic relations with Japan who seeks ever greater power in Eastern Asia.In the second part of his talk, Dr.
Padelford most graphically commented on America's role in furnishing aid to England, on the Battle of Britain, on the question of our feeding the conquered peoples in Europe and on our own defense problems. He spoke too of our relations with South and Central America.Two comprehensive questionnaires, one on European problems and another on Japanese and Asiatic questions gave the Study Group a chance to express its opinions on some of the crucial and interesting points which Dr. Padelford considered.Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kitchin, chairman of the Evening Study Group, announced that Mr. and Mrs.
Carlie W. Burton will open their visor, reported 321 calls made during the month of November, making a total of 2367 calls since last April.

Mrs. O'Leary reported a meeting with the Needlework Guild on Nov.
13 where she received 159 pieces of clothing for distribution, most of them being for new-born infants.Mrs. O'Leary also reported that she is planning a series of kitchen parties for the purpose of giving a demonstration of adequate nutritional

THE telephone's part

IN NEW ENGLAND'S

present program

To

New England men who have joined the nation's military and naval forces;
The families of these men;
Workers in industries important to national defense;
The management of these industries;
Other New England people interested in knowing how well prepared the telephone companies are in meeting communication needs.To each of you, a familiar story takes on new meaning because of the emergency which has arisen. That emergency separates families; it speeds up the demands of industry for raw material and finished products; it focuses your eyes on the vastly increased need for communication; it evokes memories, if you are old enough, of that 1916 era when the country faced another emergency.Striking indeed is the contrast between telephone service as you know it today and the service which existed in that other time of crisis.Today, in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, there are a million and a third telephones, a growth of a hundred and seventy per cent from the scant half million of 1916. Today's telephones are connected by a network of nearly six million miles of wire, most of it in cable buried deep in the ground against the acts of both men and nature.
That is a four-fold growth from the copper wire on poles and crossarms which paralleled the roads of that other era. Important cities no longer depend on a single route for their calls; alternate cables now connect them, so that service interruptions are almost unknown.The doughboy of 1916 had never talked by radio-telephone, for there was none; his orders couldn't reach him by teletypewriter, as they may now; he probably had never heard of a dial telephone.

Today, the telephone, aided by radio, encircles the globe; teletypewriters flash the written messages of the military and civilian establishments of the nation from one coast to the other. . . . Nearly three-quarters of a million dials, of watch-like precision, speed New England's calls to their destinations. Two thousand motorized units, whose mobilizing power New England saw after the hurricane, carry on the services of supply, construction, installation and repair.A single sentence used by your long distance operator points up the story. Be the call near or far, she almost always says, in 1940, "Hold the line, please." In 1916, you may remember, her response was always,

"Hang up, please, and I'll call you."These advances have not come without hard work, planning and vast investment of money. . . . Systematic probing for new and better materials and new ways of using nature's bounty has been carried on by the Bell Telephone Laboratories. Adequate sources of supply and advanced methods of manufacture have been developed by the Western Electric Company for the entire Bell System, of which your Telephone Company is a part. . . . Our own skilled operating force of more than twenty thousand people has grown both in numbers and in competence.1940 telephone service brings assurance to the military and naval forces and to industry and its workers that their Telephone Company is ready to do its job—

HIGH SCHOOL GRID SEASON FAMILY SUCCESSFUL
New Coaching Staff Faced Hard
Schedule With Weak Material

Winchester High School closed its 1940 football season with four wins, three losses and three tie games, about as good a record as could be expected in view of conditions. We have to use that word "about" because there is no getting around the fact that Winchester should have beaten Stoneham, and this win would have made the local season a lot better looking on paper, as well as giving the high school a tie for the last football championship of the Middlesex League. Winchester as things turned out should have won from Framingham, but its showing against this heavy team in its first game of its schedule was good enough. The locals should have done better against Lexington and Puncard, but they did win both these games, leaving only the Stoneham score, which is sticking out like the proverbial sore thumb on a record that otherwise ran pretty true to form.

It was too bad Winchester couldn't have at least tied for the Middlesex League title. The locals surely were as good as any team in the league and it would have been nice for the high school's new coach, Henry T. Knowlton, to pilot his first team to a championship. Rank over confidence and the coach's own good sportsmanship in agreeing to shorter than the usual periods to help a battered opponent put the Stoneham game in the scoreless tie column and the championship in the Belmont ice box. The locals would have crushed Stoneham any other Saturday under any other conditions.

Coach Knowlton, in his first year at the local football helm, faced a tough assignment. First of all, the addition of Wakefield and Dedham to the Winchester schedule, more than offset the dropping of Arlington, while Framingham, scheduled for the opening game, was a worthy opponent, even if not in Arlington's class. The new coach and his assistant, Edward A. Bartlett, a member of the school faculty, worked hard and to mighty good purpose to ready their far from potent squad for the Framingham team.

Winchester's material this year, neither especially good nor particularly experienced, despite the fact there were nine letter men, was not to start the season. A number of local teams this year had made it hard for second stringers to get any real experience under fire, and most of the letter men on hand to start the campaign were of the "retained" type rather than starting players.

To add to the new coach's troubles the letter players available had experienced little, if any, really tough going, for the teams on which they had played had outclassed their opposition which on the average just happened to be weak. These boys hadn't been against hard-hitting clubs like Wakefield and Dedham and couldn't defend themselves in the clinches when they did. The new coach's everlasting drills in fundamentals proved especially irksome to boys who hadn't had to work too hard to win from weak opposition in past years, and the new staff was really faced with an unusual problem, that of a group of boys, who wanted to be members of the team, but didn't want to play football. The local players soon found out against Wakefield how far a team can go on good blocking and tackling alone, plus speed. Before the locals got over the lambasting they took from Wakefield they ran into Dedham and took a worse shellacking. In view of these two beatings, it is a wonder the local club kept going as well as it did. The coaching staff deserves plenty of credit for winning as many as they did after these reverses.

The locals played their best game of the season, aside from Woburn, against Maynard. On that Saturday, the team had a real lift and what looked at least like the desire to play ball. Against Woburn, Winchester put up a grand battle, holding a superior foe very even and losing a chance to actually win when the breaks went the wrong way. Any one who saw Winchester against Dedham and against Woburn could hardly believe he was watching the same team. Coaches Knowlton and Bartlett did a great job in readying their charges for the Tanners who admittedly had their best team in years, a big hard hitting team with a rugged line and fast, elusive backs.

Captaining this year's club was Joe Palumbo, a converted guard playing left end, because of the scarcity of local wingmen. Two even fairly good ends would have made the difference between a fair team and a pretty good one this year. Other ends were Ray Harris, Al Smalley, Bob Poirier and Bert Callanan; tackles were Joe Caputo, Sam Keyes, Bob Jackson and Joe Cross; guards, Butch Whittemore, Jim Treacy, Dan Roop and Bert Philbrook; centers, Harry Tibaud, Mott Clark and Lentine; and backs, Peter Provinzano, Fat Buzzz, Jim Styles, Jack Tracy, Dean Derby, Mike McCormack, Ernie Blum, and Bill West. Of these, Palumbo, Caputo, Roop, Keyes, Harris, Styles, Clark and McCormack are seniors, leaving a mighty good nucleus, plus big Leo Herlihy, Ed Cummings and Gus Procopio, for next year's club.

Following is the season's record:

Winchester	6	Framingham	19
Winchester	0	Wakefield	0
Winchester	26	Lexington	12
Winchester	0	Dedham	54
Winchester	15	Puncard	0
Winchester	0	Maynard	0

JUNIOR FORNIGHTLY

A penny sale will be held by the Winchester Junior Fortnightly Dec. 16 at the home of Miss Margaret Thwing.

Everyone of the members who attended the penny sale last week remembered how much fun they had auctioning off the goods which were brought. This year as many as all members will be given on the sale for the Christmas party for this party will be the evening.

MANLEY SPEAKER AT SPORTS BANQUET

Coach Lou Manley of the Tufts varsity football team will be guest speaker at the "All Sports" Banquet of the Winchester High School Athletic Association Saturday evening in the high school gymnasium. Coach Wendell Mansfield of Bates had been secured as speaker and his appearance would have been especially appropriate since Winchester's present athletic director, Henry Knowlton, commenced his career under Mansfield at Winchester High School. Mansfield's appointment as head coach of basketball at Bates made it impossible for him to come to Winchester Saturday evening as his team is playing that night.

Manley, one of the most capable small college coaches in the business and a close friend of Mansfield, should prove an excellent substitute. Edward A. Bartlett, assistant football coach and head coach of basketball at high school is to act as toastmaster.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Troops 9 and 10 both captained by Mrs. Caldwell held a Christmas party Wednesday afternoon in Lincoln School. Gifts were collected for two families which the troops have adopted for Christmas.

Thursday, Dec. 20, will be the on-Scout meeting to be omitted during vacation.

ODD FELLOWS NOTES

Monday evening, Waterfield Lodge received a visit from Past Grand George H. Hamilton, a former member. With him was a delegation of Laurel Lodge from Wilton, N. H. In honor of Brother Hamilton's 76th birthday and his election as Noble Grand of Laurel Lodge an evening of speeches, indoor baseball and refreshments was enjoyed by all.

BENEFIT BRIDGE FOR RED CROSS WAR RELIEF

Mrs. William Cusack of 239 Mystic Valley Parkway, sponsored several bridge parties on Dec. 6 for the benefit of the Winchester Red Cross War Relief quota.

From the proceeds of these parties, boys' overalls will be purchased for the quota to be sent to Great Britain.

Mrs. Cusack was assisted by the following ladies who opened their homes for this occasion:

Mrs. J. Stanley Barnes
Mrs. Theodore Barleigh
Mrs. William Cusack
Mrs. Harold Dodge
Mrs. Daniel Ferguson
Mrs. John R. Gherardini
Mrs. Frank Keler
Mrs. Robert MacArthur
Mrs. James McDermott
Mrs. Wilfred McKeale
Mrs. William Pappan
Mrs. Woodford Wiles
Mrs. James Wiling

A prize was awarded at each hostesses home for the highest score and the two grand prizes for the tournament were won by Mrs. John Tarbell who had the highest score and Mrs. Wilfred McKenzie who had the second highest score.

Mr. Walter E. Chamberlin of Wildwood street, seriously ill since last fall, has so far recovered that he is now able to drive out daily. He anticipates complete recovery by the first of the year and is planning to resume his business duties at that time.

Some folks still can't believe their eyes

GOING over Buick dealers' reports on our 1941 models, we find an unusual thing happening.

Time and again cars come in for the usual inspections with an extra note of instructions—"Please check the gas gauge needle."

There's nothing wrong with those gas gauge needles—they work perfectly.

But even after hundreds of miles, people mistrust their eyes when they see the snail-like pace from the Full mark toward Empty—they don't see how it's possible for a car as big as Buick to go so far on so little.

But it does—and for good reasons.

The whole FIREBALL engine was designed and built to get the most good out of modern gasolines.

And the simple secret of Compound Carburetion is that it keeps your engine running on its most frugal diet for all normal driving—and provides full feed only when you need, want and call for the lift of extra wallop.

Meantime even the gears are helping save money—for the regular high gear in a Buick gives you the economy of the so-called "gas-saving" top speeds you hear boosted so enthusiastically.

The big thing is, of course, that this is no small car that's setting these economy figures. There are all the room, size, impressiveness, comfort and downright thrilling performance you expect from a Buick.

Maybe that's why people still hesitate to believe their own eyes.

We assure them, however—and you too—that it isn't because the needle's out of kilter that it goes down so slowly. It's because that needle's in a Buick—a thrifty and thrilling 1941 FIREBALL Buick.

John Taina, one of the outstanding young leading men in motion pictures, plays opposite Miss Dietrich in this romance of the South Seas, and together they head an imposing cast that includes Albert Dekker, Broderick Crawford, Mischa Auer,
Billy Gilbert, Anna Lee, Samuel S.
Hinds and Oscar Homelka. As a lovely eke singer who goes laughingly from one tropical island to another, leaving romantic trouble in her wake, Miss Dietrich essays the type of role that has made her one of the all-time stars of the screen.Stepping from her "Maieir" characterization for the first time in some months, Ann Sothern is cast in the highly amusing title role of the new comedy, "Dulcy," the companion film, a story of a wealthy girl with a heart of gold and a penchant for getting herself and everyone whom she contacts into trouble.On Wednesday, Review Day, the program includes Victor McLaglen in "The Informer" and "My Man Godfrey" co-starring William Powell and Carole Lombard.Carole Lombard is said to have one of the finest roles of her career in "They Knew What They Wanted," which starts Thursday. Charles Laughton is co-starred with the blonde actress in this screen version of the noted Pulitzer Prize play by the late Sidney Howard. In "They Knew What They Wanted," Miss Lombard is seen as a hard working waterfront waitress who longs to escape her drab existence. That is why she eagerly accepts a correspondence proposal to marry a boisterous, unsettled, but sincere latin vinyardist, played by Charles Laughton.
When she is unable to escape from the overtures of the rancher's handsome forerun, it precipitates a crisis which is said to lead to one of the most compelling climax films in many years. Carole's deft delineation of Amy, the friendless, long-ly waitress, affords her unusual opportunity to reveal her rare dramatic powers, but at the same time she has many amusing scenes which contribute to a well rounded, finely etched portrayal.

SURPRISED ON GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A group of some 30 friends and neighbors gave Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Russell of Ravenscroft road a surprise party Tuesday evening at their home, the occasion being the Russell's 50th wedding anniversary.

A particularly pleasant evening was spent and the affair proved an excellent tonic for Mr. Russell, who had been ill in bed, but who was so enthused over the party that he insisted on getting up and staying up to visit with his guests.

An appropriate gift was presented by the Russell's by Mr. Francis Booth on behalf of the group, and refreshments were served, everything being brought by the guests, even to flowers. A dangerous precedent was established, it is feared, when the refreshments, cleaned up and washed the dishes.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell have lived in Winchester more than 45 years, they being the second family to settle in the Wedgemere district where they are especially well known and esteemed.

WINCHESTER YOUNG MAN INJURED IN CHARLESTOWN AUTO CRASH

Guild Copeland, 3rd, 24, of 11 Lakeview road, was severely injured early Monday morning when the automobile he was driving got out of control and crashed into a stanchion separating the traffic lanes on the Chelsea South Draw Bridge in Charlestown. Riding with him was Henry Wunch, 29, of 57 Avon Hill street Cambridge, who also was painfully injured.

What caused the accident is not definitely known. The car Mr. Copeland was driving was a new one, and it may be that its brakes gripped more quickly than those of the one he was accustomed to. In making the turn at the approach to the bridge the machine skidded and its left front end struck the middle stanchion. Fortunately the car was not proceeding at a high rate of speed.

Both Mr. Copeland and Mr. Wunch were taken to the Boston City Hospital where it was first believed that they were critically injured. The names of both were placed upon the danger list. Both sustained contusions and numerous lacerations and fractures. Mr. Copeland had a fractured jaw.

Later reports proved more reassuring and Mr. Wunch was able to leave the hospital after a brief sojourn. On Tuesday of this week Mr. Copeland was transferred to the Winchester Hospital where he is under the care of Dr. Milton J. Quinn. No serious consequences of the accident are looked for.

Mr. Copeland is a copy writer with the Boston advertising firm of Chambers & Wiswell, and is a brother of Mrs. Philip J. Woodward, with whom he makes his home. A curious feature of the accident is the fact that his glasses were found intact in the damaged car after the accident, despite the fact that Mr. Copeland was cut and bruised about the head by contact with the windshield.

IF YOU READ THIS!

If two regular readers of the Star read this paragraph they may turn what might be a rather lonesome Christmas Eve journey into a pleasant trip. We learn that Frank W. Rounds, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank W. Rounds of Central street, and Miss Nancy Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Stewart Newton of Wedgemere avenue, are each planning to take the seven o'clock train out of New York on Christmas Eve. Both are flying home for the holiday. Mr. Rounds is flying from Washington, D. C., where he holds an important position with the David Lawrence publications, to spend Christmas Day with his parents. Miss Newton is flying from Edgewood Park Junior College, Briarcliffe Manor, N. Y., to spend the holidays with her parents. Neither know the other is taking the same plane. We extend wishes for a pleasant trip and happy landings.

Community Carol Singing

Christmas, more than any other season, is a time of music, and its lovely, familiar carols grow dearer every year. For years The Fortnightly has sponsored the singing of carols around the tree on the Common, and this year they are planning to make it an especially happy occasion. The public is invited and urged to join with The Fortnightly Glee Club and Fortnightly members in a half hour of carol singing on Christmas Eve (Tuesday) from 6:45 to 7:15 p. m. Mrs. Charles E. Greco, chairman of the Fortnightly Music Committee is in charge and has invited all the church choirs to assist. Mrs. Mary Ransom Witham will direct the singing. Won't YOU lay aside your "busyness" for a little while that evening and come and help—and enjoy?

play. The first four rows of pews in the center of the auditorium will be reserved for parents of children seven years of age and under. The doors will open at 3:45. A silver offering will be taken at the door to defray the expenses of the play. The public is invited to attend.

MISS WAGNER TO HAVE NOVEL DEBUT

Miss Meredith Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison G. Wagner of Crescent road, is making her bow to society in a most interesting and novel manner on Saturday evening, Dec. 21. At 9 o'clock that evening she will make her debut as a skating party which her parents are giving for her at the new rink of the Skating Club of Boston on Soldiers' Field road in Brighton.

Prominent skaters will appear in exhibition numbers, including Dorothy Glazier and Michael Driscoll, who are entered in the senior pairs competition for the United States Championships next month and Gretchen Merrill and Harbome Stewart who will also enter the championship pairs competition. Roberta Jenks of Pawtucket will appear in a singles exhibition, as will Betsy Nichols and it is hoped, Polly Blodgett, who is coming on from California for Christmas. Miss Wagner is a skating devotee and a member of both the Skating Club of Boston and the Winter Club in Montreal. She has recently returned home for the Christmas holidays from Collette Marie de France in Montreal, a small French school where she is the only American student.

MRS. MARY S. PATTERSON

Mrs. Mary S. Patterson, widow of George M. Patterson and mother of Mrs. Malcolm Cook of 32 Kenwin road, died Thursday morning, Dec. 19, at the Winchester Hospital after a brief illness with pneumonia. On the previous Thursday she sustained a broken hip when she slipped and fell on the icy sidewalk on Forest street near Highland avenue, being admitted to the hospital at that time.

Mrs. Patterson was born 71 years ago in Farnborough, N. S., the daughter of Joseph and Esther (Hobin) Dillon. She was for more than 50 years a resident of Cambridge where she was active in the Cantabrigia Club and a member of Christ's Church. She came to make her home with her daughter in Winchester nine years ago and while her health permitted was actively identified with the sewing done by the women of the Parish of the Epiphany.

Besides Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Patterson is survived by a son, Albert D. Patterson of Henderson, N. C.; a brother, Albert Dillon of Belmont; two sisters, Miss Grace Dillon of New York and Mrs. Gordon Blair of North Bay, Ont.

Private funeral services will be held at the late residence on Saturday with Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany, officiating.

Miss June Hutchins, daughter of Mrs. Ruth King Hutchins of 40 V. to spend the holidays with her parents. Neither know the other is taking the same plane. We extend wishes for a pleasant trip and happy landings.

On Christmas Eve at 11 o'clock, the Crawford Memorial Methodist Church will again be host to the other churches of the community with its beautiful and unusual Candlelight Carol Worship service. This hour program celebrating the birth of the Christ child will be presided over by the pastor, Rev. Roger E. Makepeace last year and was attended by a large congregation, many coming from surrounding communities. It is anticipated that an even larger number of worshippers will be present this Tuesday evening, Dec. 24, is one of a very few evangelical churches in New England having such a service of ritual and Christmas music.

Dr. Lawrence W. C. Emig, superintendent of the Lynn District of the Methodist Church will participate in the ritual which will be conducted by the minister of the church. The carol singing by the congregation will be led by the vested choir of the Baptist Church under the direction of Mr. LeRoy P. Bezanon. Two soloists both well known in Winchester, will take part in the service. Mr. Raymond W. Rosborough, basso, will sing "Jesu of Nazareth" by Gounod and "The Holy Child" by Martin; while Mr. T. Parker Clarke will play a trombone arrangement of Adam's "O Holy Night." Miss Mary French for many years organist of the church will again be the organ console playing several special Christmas selections.

The lovely modern colonial-style auditorium will be attractively decorated. The church will be open at 10:30 p. m. for those coming early for meditation. Worshippers from other evangelical churches are welcome and invited to attend this worship service on Christmas Eve.

GERMAN BOMBS FALL ON GREENWICH BATH'S ZERO MILESTONE

Greenwich, site of the British time observatory recently damaged by German bombers, has become the symbol of English supremacy on the high seas for from here Britannia rule the waves with those longitudinal lines spacing the globe.

Through Greenwich runs the world's north-south "semi-equator," the meridian 0° 0' 0" (zero degrees, zero minutes, zero seconds), by general acceptance only since the Washington Meridian Conference of 1884; previously numerous zero meridians were in use, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

In the days of Ptolemy the geographer, in the second century A. D., longitude was reckoned from the island center of Mediterranean commerce, Rhodes. France measured from Paris, and in the United States, Washington was the beginning of measurement.

It was not until the development of the electric telegraph and the laying of ocean cables that it became possible to adopt the Greenwich meridian as the starting point whence longitude was to be computed, and a worldwide day which should begin at midnight and whose hours should be counted from zero up to 24.

The Washington conference was held upon the invitation of the United States Government and was attended by the representatives of 25 nations. The Greenwich meridian was accepted "with substantial unanimity." Now when the time ball on the staff of the observatory falls the time is flashed by telegraph and wireless throughout the world.

Greenwich Observatory combines some of the functions of the American Naval Observatory, Bureau of Standards, and the Weather Bureau. It has wind gauges and direction indicators. In a near-by building are the British standards of length. As an additional duty, the observatory is responsible for keeping the British Navy's chronometers and watches in repair.

Greenwich, now an unpretentious borough patch of London, has always had a nautical flavor. As early as 1011 an invading Danish fleet made its base at Greenwich, as the place was then called. Now the town's outstanding building is the great Naval Hospital designed by Sir Christopher Wren, and considered one of the finest creations of that famous architect. It is no longer used as a hospital, but serves as the Royal Naval College for officers; behind it is the Royal Naval School for the training of sailors and marines. Behind the school, on the highest eminence of Greenwich Park, Flamsteed Hill, stands the now famous observatory.

The Kerr "Changepoint" fountain pen, the pen you've liked so much at your local bank, can be purchased at Wilson, the Stationer's, Star Building. $2.50, $3.00, $3.50.

ELKS' NOTES

At the meeting of Winchester Lodge, 1445, Tuesday evening in Lyceum Hall, Exalted Ruler Howard A. Brownell relinquished the gavel and gave the meeting over to Esteemed Leading Knight Frank P. Hurley, who presided in a very acceptable manner. The other chair officers present were advanced one office and the innovation was well received by all members present.

Robert F. Murphy represented Winchester at a meeting in Newton on Tuesday evening at which Exalted Rulers and members of the central district discussed plans for a banquet in honor of District Deputy John A. Driscoll of Maynard Lodge. A committee has been appointed, with Charles A. Farrar as chairman, to make arrangements for the monthly meeting of the Massachusetts State Elks' Association, to be held in Winchester the second Sunday in March.

LEGION AUXILIARY NOTES

Thirty members of the Auxiliary to Post 97, American Legion, attended the annual Christmas party at the Post Headquarters Wednesday evening. Bridge and whist were enjoyed, before Christmas gifts were distributed. Delicious refreshments were served by the president, Mrs. Gussie MacAdams.

The Legion Children's Party is to be held at Post Headquarters on Saturday afternoon and members of the Auxiliary are urged to come and assist with the care of the children.

SCHOOL VACATION DATES

The Winchester schools will close for the Christmas vacation today, Friday, Dec. 20, and reopen Monday, Dec. 30. Announcements appearing elsewhere that the schools will remain closed until Jan. 2 are without foundation in fact, according to announcement at the School Department office on Wednesday.

CHRISTMAS AT THE HEALTH CENTER

The annual children's Christmas party was held at the Health Center over Randall's store on Mt. Vernon street, Tuesday afternoon with about 200 children and their parents attending.

Frank Crawford, manager of the Winchester Hospital, acted as Santa Claus, filling this important role to perfection. Each child was given a gift, an orange and a stocking of candy from the gaily lighted Christmas tree which featured the decorations.

Those assisting at the tree were Miss Alice Peterson, Mrs. Angeline O'Leary, Mrs. Lois Quinn, Mrs. Mabel Ross and Mrs. Jeanne O'Connor. Mothers who helped included Mrs. Angeline Paopolo, Mrs. Antoinette Scatturo, Mrs. Alice McFeeters and Mrs. Marguerite Zucco.

HOME FROM NEW HAMPTON

Two Winchester boys, John P. Gleason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy E. Gleason of 13 Pine street, and Bernard Donahue, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Donahue of 7 Central street, have returned to their homes for the Christmas holidays from the New Hampton School, New Hampton, N. H. Both boys recently received their junior varsity football letters at the annual fall sports banquet. Bernard won further honors as winner of his division in a public speaking contest. Prizes were awarded at the school banquet to the 28 divisional winners who will meet in a finals contest after the Christmas vacation.

PHYSICIANS ATTENDING

Winchester physicians have been busy this week examining prospective members of Uncle Sam's fighting forces at the Selective Service Headquarters in the Town Hall. Thirty-two candidates were examined last evening.

Examining physicians included Dr. Wilfred McKenzie, Dr. Richard Sheehy, Dr. Roger Burgoyne, Dr. George Marks, Dr. Angelo Maletta, Dr. William Regan, Dr. Robert Emery, all of Winchester, and Dr. Joseph Kerrigan of Stoneham. Dental examinations were made by Dr. John Wallace.

ALBA-ULIA SYMBOL TO ROMANIANS OF UNION WITH TRANSYLVANIA

Alba-Iulia, for one of the few times since the coronation ceremonies of 18 years ago, made the front pages when Premier Ion Antonescu addressed thousands assembled there for the 22nd anniversary celebration of Romania's acquisition of Transylvania. The town, 175 miles northwest of Bucharest, is in territory ceded by Hungary after the World War.

With a normal population of a little more than 12,000, Alba-Iulia's historical importance is out of all proportion to its size, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. It was once capital of Transylvania.

Scenes of Royal Pageantry
In October, 1922, King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Romania were crowned there with elaborate ceremonies lasting three days, when more than 200,000 persons, mostly peasants in their colorful costumes, crowded the town and surrounding villages.

It was at Alba-Iulia that Michael the Brave received the oath of allegiance from the Diet of Transylvania, as prince of Transylvania, Moldavia and Wallachia. This Wallachian prince had overrun and conquered Transylvania in 1600. The union of the three countries was of short duration, but he has since been considered the father of his country by the Romanians, and Alba-Iulia the cradle of Romanian liberty. Near the cathedral is the library founded by the bishop in 1794, famous for its exquisitely illuminated manuscript books, some dating back to the 8th century. Here are early copies of Matthew and Mark, the Codex Aureus, one part of an Evangelium of which the other part, Luke and John, is in the Vatican Library.

The cathedral contains the tomb of Hunyadi Janos, national hero of Hungary, who turned back the tide of Turks who sought to invade Transylvania some 50 years before Columbus crossed the Atlantic.

GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The meeting on Tuesday afternoon was the last meeting of the month. Mrs. Bancroft Beasley gave an illustrated talk in the interests of the Community Chest Drive. A very interesting discourse on Christmas Books was given by Miss Keeling of the St. Thomas More Book Shop.

In observance of the holiday spirit Mrs. Einar Bratt of Winchester told the "Story of the Christmas Tree." During the talk a tree was trimmed and the significance of each symbol described. It was interesting to learn that the various colored spheres used in decoration represent the sun, moon, earth and stars. Bells, the emblem of joy, ring out glad tidings to all. Green for everlasting life and red for cheerfulness are used in the festoons, while white denotes purity. In the beautiful lights used so profusely on all Christmas trees, Christ, the Light of the World, is symbolized.

At the close of Mrs. Bratt's talk the entire group joined in the singing of carols. Tea was served by the hostesses of the afternoon, Mrs. John S. O'Leary, Mrs. Thomas Farrell and Mrs. John H. McHale.

There will be a board meeting on Thursday, Jan. 2, and all chairmen of committees are respectfully requested to submit their annual reports to Mrs. John J. Costello, recording secretary, at that meeting. The first meeting of 1941, to be held on Tuesday, Jan. 14, will be the annual meeting.

It is hoped that a very Happy Christmas and New Year will be enjoyed by all Guild members and their families.

HERE AND THERE IN W. H. S.

By James Coon

This week there were two Christmas assemblies, one for the freshman class and one for the rest of the school. Miss Bailey was in charge of the freshman presentation, and Mr. Keeney supervised the other.

The Christmas spirit was further emphasized by a tree in the hall, decorated with tinsel and colored lights. The two Christmas trees, one in the Wadleigh and one in the high school, were made possible by the Winchester High Associates. This organization paid for and set up the trees.

The Associates are a new group, taking the place of the Mothers' Association. They are not yet fully organized but this work is being carried out as rapidly as possible. The Associates are affiliated with the national mothers' groups but are chiefly interested in getting more parents interested and looking after the particular needs of our own school. They are going to hold an open house at the Wadleigh school shortly.

The ice hockey club held its first practice Wednesday afternoon at Wedge Pond. This is the second year that there has been a club. Last year they scheduled several games that had to be cancelled because of the lack of ice.

The French Club held a surprise meeting Friday afternoon which was enjoyed by all the members. They even had a pseudo Santa Claus. Cake and ice cream also appeared on the tables.

This year there is going to be a dance after a few of the basketball games for the students. This is not a new idea for several schools have tried it in the past, but there has always been a question as to whether it would work here. The students are on trial. If the dances are successful they will be kept up.

The Christmas vacations of some of the pupils are going to be made less pleasant by the little slips that are now due.

The student council had another meeting shrouded in mystery. The chief fault of the council that has appeared so far is that the average student knows nothing about what goes on at the meeting. It seems to me that a report by the home room representative after each meeting would revive the interest of all students as well as let them know what the council is doing.

There will be no column next week as there is no school.
Merry Christmas!

WINCHESTER ARCHITECT WON HOUSE BEAUTIFUL AWARD

Jerome Bailey Foster, Winchester architect whose designs are acquiring an ever-increasing popularity hereabouts, was the winner of third prize in the Class I division of the 13th annual Small House Competition conducted by "House Beautiful" Magazine. Class I included houses under 20,000 cubic feet.

Mr. Foster's winning design was that for the home of Mr. and Mrs. George William Smith of 6 Inverness road. It is New England Colonial, a design for which Mr. Foster is rapidly acquiring an enviable reputation. The judges of the contest, all experts in their field, found the faithfulness with which the early American design had been reproduced refreshing and admired the sturdy construction of the six room house with its combination of verticle boarding below and narrow clapboarding above to lend variety to the facade. They were pleased with the livability of the simple, convenient and comfortable plan and intrigued with the combination coat closet-telephone room which they nominated for widespread adoption.

Mr. Foster gave up his plan to study chemical engineering when he secured a temporary job in an architect's office and became fascinated with the work. After studying and working in Boston he built his first house in 1929, and has been in business for himself since 1931.

NEW "SHOCKER" FROM WARM SPRINGS

"I hope to be down here next March without any question, if the world survives, for the usual two weeks next spring."

Thus spoke President Roosevelt to the patients at the foundation for the victims of infantile paralysis at Warm Springs, Ga., on Sunday. We have not the slightest idea what the President had in mind by making such a statement. In the light of his remark made in the spring of 1939, however, when he told his friends at Warm Springs that he would be back in the fall if we do not have a war, last Sunday's statement naturally created an unpleasant feeling. Mr.
Roosevelt was right about the imminence of war in Europe a year and a half ago. Hence it is inevitable that his statement of Sunday be even more weight than perhaps it really deserves.

That Mr. Roosevelt knows a lot of things that the rest of us do not about the inside of the international situation goes without saying. One of the criticisms which Mr. Willkie made of the present administration during the recent campaign was its failure to take the American people into its confidence. The citizens of this country are not easily scared.
They are more likely to be disturbed through fear of the unknown than by a frank recital of the dangers ahead of them. It is possible that the administration is getting ready to turn on the heat for a greater war effort. The obvious way to prepare the background for this would be to increase popular apprehension as to our own peril. Whatever the President had in mind in making this fear-inspiring statement on Sunday, it may be taken for granted that it was done deliberately and for a purpose.—Edison Smith in The Boston Herald

FOR CHRISTMAS LIGHTING

To the Editor of the Star:

I would appreciate it very much if you would publish this enclosed article written to the Selectmen and Citizens of Winchester in your next issue of the Star.

I believe that Winchester, a town which we are all proud of, should be illuminated at this joyous time of year in a greater degree than it has in the past.

If, and probably you have felt the animation aroused in your mind as you pass through some of our surrounding towns and cities.

So let us strive then to make Winchester the realm of Yuletide Spirit.

Yours truly,

A Citizen

To the Selectmen and Citizens of Winchester

Christmas is now within our reach, but as far as Winchester is concerned nothing of importance has been done to enlighten us, the citizens, with the Yuletide Spirit.

Throughout Europe blackouts are frequent; men, women and children run like scared mice and hide in underground shelters to avoid the murderous evils of the sky.

Let us then here in the United States proclaim our liberties and democratic way of living by illuminating each and every town and city with colorful electric streamers.

Let us take Bernard Macfadden's suggestion of last year and "Inaugurate a Night of Light on Christmas Eve."

Yours truly,

A Citizen

SAFETY A REGULAR FEATURE

Dec. 17, 1940

To the Editor of the Star:

It was a pleasure to note the space devoted to safety in a copy of the Star which was brought into the office of Mr. Meigs, Assistant Chief Engineer of our Loss Prevention Department. Mr. Meigs is a resident of Winchester and explained that these safety picture and messages are a regular feature of your paper.

I thought the material on home safety was particularly appropriate at this time of year. It occurred to me that the hazard to pedestrians during the Christmas shopping rush might also be a good subject to stress during this season. Our Traffic and Safety Bureau recently issued a little booklet entitled "Walk Warily" illustrated by Dahl of the Boston Herald. In response to many requests, it was later made up in neat form
for newspapers and trade magazines,
etc. If, after looking over the enclosed booklet, you would like to have us send you a complete set of mats covering each of the cartoon subjects in the booklet, we would be glad to supply them without cost.

We appreciate the good work you are doing for the cause of safety and will be glad to co-operate with you whenever we can be of assistance.

Sincerely yours,

Dwight McCracken, Director
Traffic and Safety Bureau
Liberty Mutual Insurance Co.

What $1 Will Do For Britain
Dec. 10, 1940

To the Editor of the Star:
Many homeless families in Britain are in need of warmth and comfort.
Their distress will be greatly relieved by an adequate supply of woolen blankets, which fortunately we are able to provide at incredibly low cost.

One dollar actually provides an all wool blanket, which in an air-raid shelter is worth its weight in gold.
These blankets are made from the woven woolen fabrics, known in the trade as "felts," generously donated by members of the National Paper Board Association. These "felts" have a relatively short life on the paper-board machines, but when discarded still retain all their warm comfort-giving qualities. By a comparatively simple process we convert them into standard size blankets of excellent quality, as you will see from the small sample attached to the enclosure.

We are assured of sufficient material to permit us to ship well over 3000 blankets per month. They weigh from five to six pounds each and the cost, delivered in England, is just under $1.

We have already shipped 2000. To ensure continuous additional shipments and in order that this new enterprise may be no way restricted on other Relief projects, we urgently need contributions. These will be placed in a Special Fund for these much needed blankets.

A generous American who wishes to remain anonymous, has initiated this Special Fund with a contribution of $5000. We require at least $25,000.

Think what these blankets will mean to homeless and to those who must spend hours in air-raid shelters without adequate covering. Your contribution will make at least two people feel better—the suffering Briton and you.

Sincerely,
Victor Goggin,
President

"JACK" MEAD'S PART IN DEFENSE

Many Winchester people are aware that George Mead, or "Jack," as he is familiarly known to his friends, is engaged in the manufacture of airplane engines. Few, however, know to what extent he has carried his work. The following article in the Boston Globe of Thursday, written by Louis M. Lyons and one of a series of defense articles carried by the Globe, gives an excellent account of what "Jack" Mead has and is accomplishing. Mr. Mead is the son of Mrs. Mead and the late Dr. George N. P. Mead. His mother is a prominent resident of Winchester.

Hartford, Dec. 18.—Latest pride of Connecticut aircraft is also a new bone of contention in the endless debate between the Army and the Navy as to what kind of power makes the best fighting plane.

The Navy has just announced "the fastest plane in this country," a new shipboard fighter, F-4-U, built at the Vought-Sikorsky plant in Bridgeport upon a radial air-cooled motor made at the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Division in Hartford.

These are two divisions of the same organization, United Aircraft Corporation, one of the giants of the new airplane industry. It had its beginning 15 years ago in an unused machine tool plant which had been converted into a tobacco warehouse.
It was started by a young airplane designer named George Mead of Winchester, Mass., and two young associates who could raise $1,000,000 which was used to build an air-cooled airplane engine that met the specifications of the Bureau of Aeronautics of the United States Navy.
It proved to be the most powerful American engine then built. The Navy gave them an experimental order for six Wasps.

The Navy has an order in now for 17,000 Wasps. Pratt & Whitney was the name of the machine tool company whose empty rooms young Mead and his associates used. When they took their growing airplane industry elsewhere they still called it Pratt & Whitney. So today East Hartford was one of the greatest of airplane engine industries and West Hartford has one of the greatest of machine tool industries, in no way connected, but both bearing the same name. In response to many requests, it was later made up in neat form
for newspapers and trade magazines,
etc. If, after looking over the enclosed booklet, you would like to have us send you a complete set of mats
covering each of the cartoon subjects
in the booklet, we would be glad to supply them without cost.

ATTENTION W. H. S. CLASS 1919

You are hereby notified that I have turned over to Mr. Wade Grindle, Principal of the High School, today
(Dec. 4, 1940) the sum of $20.77 which amount is the balance in the Alumni Account of the Class. The account which was on deposit at the Winchester National Bank has been inactive since 1920, our last meeting. This sum is to be used by Mr.
Grindle at his discretion but I have suggested that it be put to a special rather than a general use. Presumably it will be used as a nucleus for a fund for special assembly programs, for which I understand there is a definite need.

WINCHESTER • ARLINGTON

ALFRED J. EDWARDS

Alfred J. Edwards, a former well known resident of Winchester, died Monday, Dec. 2, in South Acton. Funeral services were held at his late home on School street Thursday, Dec.
5, with Rev. Harry E. Roberts, pastor of the South Acton Congregational Church, officiating. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery in that town.
Mr. Edwards was 86 years old and a native of England. He came to this country 60 years ago and was for 20 years a resident of Winchester, living off Cambridge street in the Wedgemere Heights section of the town.

He was a cabinet maker by trade, and followed that trade after leaving Winchester. Previous to his re-irement 12 years ago he was employed as a carpenter by the Assabet Mills in Maynard. He was a member of Mount Olivet Lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Cambridge, Royal Arch Chapter and Magdalene Chapter, O. E. S. of Maynard. He had lived in South Acton for the past 20 years. A capable musician he was for years a member of the old Woburn Brass Band and later played in the Lexington Band.
Mr. Edwards is survived by a son, William Edwards, of England; and by a sister, living in England; also by four grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Among the grandchildren is Mrs. Walter Wingate of Gaston street, whose son, John Edward is one of the six surviving great-grandchildren.

Mr. Edwards's son Sidney John Edwards, for whom the Edwards-Quimby Post in Acton was named, died in action at Vimy Ridge in France during the World War, being posthumously decorated with the Croix de Guerre by the French Government and recognized for gallantry in action by the United States.

MRS. ADA BLANCHE GORDON

Mrs. Ada Blanche Gordon, wife of Harry W. Gordon, died Wednesday morning Dec. 18 at her home, 3 New Meadows road, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Gordon was the daughter of Richard and Amelia Edwards. She was born 67 years ago in Cambridge and spent her early life in that city, receiving her education in the Cambridge schools.

Before coming to Winchester Mrs.
Gordon was for 35 years a resident of Somerville, making her home at 88 Ossipee road. She was a member of the Home Welfare Club and of the Somerville Woman's Club. She had lived in Winchester for about year.

On April 10, 1901, she married Mr.
Gordon, who survives her, with a daughter, Miss Dorothy Gordon of this town.

Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. David Fraser, pastor of the Home Welfare Church, officiating. Interment will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Everett.

WINCHESTER UNIT OF BRITISH WAR RELIEF

Three Highlights of the Fortnight

About 100 Winchester women had tea at the central work-room in the Epiphany parish hall Dec. 11 and saw several Winchester girls model the wool dresses that three groups of workers are making for British girls whose homes are destroyed by air-raiding. Three groups of workers have been making dresses: women of the First Congregational Church, some of the Wednesday workers at the central work-room, and the Winton Club. These had a special proprietary or craftsman's pleasure as they saw the dresses move about among the tea-guests;
beige, brown, green, rose and blue.
All women had the satisfaction, remembering their own girlhood, of thinking as they saw the shapely frocks with their flaring skirts, "I'm glad they are not just merely warm;
I'm glad they are pretty too."

These were the young models: Roberta Con, Mary Morre, Virginia
Graves, Lillian DuDu, Nancy Snow,
Joan Salmon, Carol Crockett.
Forty dresses were assembled at the last pre-Christmas sewing meeting and are on their way to join dresses from other Epiphany meetings at the Boston assembly place and to be packed for shipping. Early in January they will be in Brittain and in their place in the front-line of this war in Winchester women are waging against winter and war's wanton destruction.

Jan. 8, sewing of various kinds (those beginners who are too doubtful of their skill to venture on wool dresses will find simpler work available) will be resumed at the Epiphany work-room.

Women exclaimed on Wednesday at the number and the attractiveness of the mittens that one Winchester woman had sent as her gift to Brittain. Twenty pairs of mittens she had knitted, ranging in size from those for a mere baby to those large enough for size 16. Ranging in color from a baby's dainty pink and white to brightly-patterned mittens of all colors for older children.
If Capt. Henry had been the baker for the show, his old time cry over the air would have fitted perfectly.
"This is only the beginning, folks!
Only the beginning!"

For these 20 pairs given for the British Relief are only a twentieth of the 400 pair that have come from this one Winchester woman's industrious needles and have been given to the various agencies.

"Only the beginning," in another sense women who sew them probably tucked away in their minds, for the busy knitter has passed her 80th birthday. Realizing that women busy with the tasks that come in the 30's squared their shoulders cheerfully for a long march, and women in the 50's hummed a little inward tune at this woman's demonstration that along the road, around the corner that they sometimes dread a little, they need not fear dull or empty or useless years.

The central workroom welcomed with enthusiasm the return of the mother of the movement here for British War Relief, Mrs. William Weeks, who had been in New York for a visit.

Knitters who wish yarn for work, while they visit with holiday house guests or find themselves dummy at bridge, may telephone to Mrs. Marion Waugh, Win. 2387-J.

LOCAL DRAFTEES REJECTED

Of 24 draftees from the Winchester-Stoughton district, given physical examinations by local physicians at the Selective Service Headquarters last week, only seven were certified as fit for military duty. The status of five more was sufficiently doubt to have the medics refuse unqualified certification, and 12 were definitely rejected.

FLORENCE CRITTENTON CHRISTMAS MEETING INSPIRATIONAL

Those who attended the Christmas meeting of Winchester Circle of the Florence Crittenton League Thursday afternoon at the home of the day afternoon at the home of the day afternoon, enjoyed the complete satisfaction which is always the result of time well spent.

Especially inspirational was the address of the guest speaker, Dr. Elmer Leslie, professor at the Boston University School of Theology, who was introduced by Mrs. Richmond and who took as his subject, "Life's Holiest Impulse."

Even at this busy time of year, those listening to Dr. Leslie were able to forget the many demands being made upon their time as he brought to them his message, delivered with a simple sincerity that carried conviction.

Stressing the importance of each person respecting the dignity of his own soul and likewise the dignity of every human being, he left with his audience the thought that life should be approached from the human, rather than the material end. Such an approach arouses compassion for others in the hearts of men and impels them to do something for those who need their help.

Rev. Roger E. Makepeace, pastor of the Crawford Memorial Church, offered prayer, and Virginia Warren Voorhis sang a group of songs, accompanied by Mary Ranton Witham.

Mrs. Voorhis program included "Still we die night" by Bohm, "The Big Brown Bear" by Mana-Zucca, "Verborghheit" by Wolf, "When Love Is King" "Cantique De Noel" by Aams and Stenson's "Prayer Perfect." Her singing gave great pleasure and was aided by the accompaniments played by Mrs. Witham.

Christmas carols were sung under Mrs. Witham's direction and tea was served by Mrs. John W. Johnson and her committee, with Mrs. Frank Garrett and Mrs. E. Ober Pride presiding. During the business session several interesting committee reports were received and accepted.

JUNIOR COURT, C. D. of A. HELD INSTALLATION

Twenty-five members were initiated into the recently organized Junior Court of Santa Maria Court, No. 150, Catholic Daughters of America, at an impressive ritual in Lyceum Hall, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 15.

Senior Grand Regent, Miss Helen Reagan presided and after brief introductory remarks, called upon Miss Rita Connolly, president of the Junior Court in Woburn, who conducted the initiation. The degree work was done by the Woburn Juniors, including Misses Fidelia Briand, Madeline Dana, Patricia Doherty, and Rita Doherty.

Serving as flag bearer was Miss Mildred Clappison, and the guards were Misses Jean Scallely and Theresa Fene. Miss Marguerite McDermott was accompanist and the Junior Standards were given by Misses Madeline Dana, Patricia and Rita Doherty, and the Motto by Miss Fidelia Briand. Miss Margaret McKeon, president of Court St. Ann Juniors, read a composition of her own entitled "What It Means to Me to be a Junior."

Following the degree work there was a program of addresses and entertainment. Speakers were Chaplain Rev. James F. Fitzsimons, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, Winchester; the state Chairman of the Juniors, Miss Mary Healey of Dorchester; chairman of Court St. Ann Juniors of Neponset, Miss Katherine Healey, and the Winchester Senior Court Grand Regent, Miss Helen Reagan. Other guests included the Grand Regent of Woburn, Miss Catherine L. Greaney; the Woburn Junior Chairman, Miss Henrietta Matthews, the Councilors of Woburn and Neponset and members of Winchester Senior Court.

Entertainment consisted of Baton Twirling demonstrations by Miss Madeline Dana, Miss Jean Scallely and Miss Theresa Fene. Miss Jean Scallely also gave a demonstration of fancy baton twirling. Miss Marguerite McDermott played a group of pianoforte selections and vocal solos were rendered by Miss Helen Lester of Neponset with Miss Anna Crowley of Woburn as pianist-accompanist. Misses Patricia and Rita Doherty gave a group of readings.

Miss Alice Quigley is Winchester Junior Chairman of the new Court and she will be assisted by Mrs. James McLellan and Misses Margaret Costello, Josephine Lydon and Margaret King as counselors.

Robert Donaghey, former Winchester High all around athlete and son of Patrolman and Mrs. James P. Donaghey of Washington street, has been transferred from Fort Devens to Camp Edwards on the Cape. "Rusty," star catcher on the Millionaires baseball team for several seasons, was the first Winchester boy to be accepted by the draft for military service.

WINCHESTER MT. HOLYOKE CLUB BOOK TALK

Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond helped to solve the gift problem of the woman who filled the Winchester Public Library Hall for her book talk on Tuesday morning, Dec. 10, one of a series of six which are sponsored by the Winchester Mt. Holyoke Club.

The publishers, according to Mrs. Bond, are unusually co-operative this year in bringing out many small books for Christmas giving, many of them designed to fill the need for something a bit more substantial than a card. In this group fall books such as "The Doctor's Party" by Mary Frances Doner, "Christmas" by Eleanor Roosevelt; "The Daze Before Christmas" by Betty Blunt; and "An Airman's Letter to His Mother," published anonymously, to name a few.

For children's receiving are the tactile attractions of Dorothy Kunhardt's "Pat the Bunny" and the amusing adventures of a faithful elephant in Dr. Seuss' "Horton Hatches an Egg." The crop of books which have stemmed from Walt Disney's "Fantasia" are suitable for both adult and juvenile giving. Among them are "Ave Maria" with lyrics by the artist; "Stories from Fantasia," and "The Nutcracker Suite" all of course, beautifully illustrated.

Two splendidly illustrated books for adult giving are Samuel Chamberlain's "France Will Live Again," which by means of sketches and photographs gives the essence of the old France, and "Audobon's America" illustrated by Audobon's plates and with a fine biographical sketch by Donald Culross Peattie to preface the artist's own writings.

In spite of the fact that no one can miss the bill-boards and magazine advertisements that have heralded "Oliver Twist" by Kenneth Roberts, Mrs. Bond called it to the attention of the group, with emphasis on the author and his methods of work. Mrs. Bond closed her full session with an amusing story or two about that "wayward inn," the Hotel Algonquin, of which Frank Case is host and scribe.

Mrs. Adin Bailey took orders at the close of the meeting for books from Mary Spaulding's Book Shop the proceeds of which were to benefit the Mt. Holyoke Club Scholarship Fund. The next talk in the series will fall on the morning of March 4.

Broken windows continue to be reported to the Police by property owners about town. Many are broken in unoccupied houses, but this week windows were broken at the residence of M. H. Hintlian on Church street and in the garage of Mr. Charles S. Adams on Mystic avenue. Those at the Hintlian residence were broken by stones from a slingshot. Those in the Adams garage were broken by shots from an air-rifle.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S ACTIVITIES

Last Sunday evening the young people of the First Baptist Church of Winchester held an open meeting, inviting the public to join in the service at 7 p. m. The response was gratifying and the meeting well attended. The guest speaker was Mr. James Kelly, once minister of a colored church in Haverhill and who is now studying at Gordon College in Boston. The music was supplied by the well known Clover Leaf Quartet of the radio. The members of this quartet are Morrice Davis, first tenor; Fred D. Jeter, second tenor; Frank Hill, first bass; Robert Faulk, second bass.

All those desiring to find the true meaning of Christmas, to live again the joy and happiness of the visitors at the manger of the Christ Child are invited to attend the pageant "Behold Emmanuel" to be presented in the First Baptist Church on Christmas Sunday at 5 p. m.

A meeting of the Wyman School Board Charter was held in the home of the President Mrs. Robert Keeney, on Wednesday, Dec. 11, at 10 in the morning. Plans for the future meetings were discussed. Mrs. Keeney stressed the need for help at the Red Cross rooms.

BATAVIA, CAPITAL OF RICH NETHERLANDS INDIES

Increasingly Important Since Motherland Fell to Germany

When the Netherlands fell under German control last spring, Batavia, Java, became one of the most important capitals in the world. The center of gravity of the Netherlands Empire shifted from The Hague to Batavia. The new strategic significance of the capital city of the Netherlands Indies was heightened still more by the subsequent extension of Japanese influence toward Indo-China. An index of tension in the area was strong Tokyo protest recently filed in Batavia as a result of the reported beating of a Japanese manufacturer and his wife by a Dutch policeman.

City Grew Inland to Escape Swamps Batavia, situated on the northwest corner of the densely-populated island of Java, is made up of four distinct sections, three of which sprawl in line along both banks of the Tjiwoeng River, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. Tandjong Priok, the port of Batavia, although a part of the city, lies about six miles northeast of the main part of the modern town. Batavia's builders have so well adapted the architecture of their European homeland to the tropics that the city has much of the character, and all of the cleanliness and order, of a Netherlands town. Yet within a stone's throw of the dance floors of the most fashionable hotels, the teeming native populace goes on its ancient ways in bamboo huts beside the placid canals that thread the city.

Batavia is the world's leading cinchona bark (source of quinine), spice and pepper market. Ships clearing Tandjong Priok carry away, besides these three specialties, thousands of tons of rubber, tea, coffee, sugar, sago, and copra, as well as oil transhipped from Sumatra. Batavia handles the bulk of the Netherlands Indies' normal annual trade.

Wrap up a THRILL in this Year's Holly Wreath!

Buick SPECIAL Sedan

$1052. White sidewall

tires extra.*

SUPPOSE, come Christmas morning, you took your wife to the front door, pointed out through the holly wreath — and there let her see a brand-new Buick standing at the curb!

A thrill? You bet — for the whole family!

Out of the question? Not at all. Look:

We're not suggesting that you add the cost of a new Buick to your Christmas budget.

But you probably will be buying a new car soon and we are simply proposing that you buy it now, a few months ahead of time — and make this a holiday long to be remembered.

We're suggesting that there's no time like the present to get back of that big FIREBALL Eight — no time like right now to start piling up gasoline mileage economies that run as high as 10% or 15%.

There's no time like holiday time to dress up yourself (and family) in smart, fresh Buick aerodynamic styling, or to introduce your brood to the roomy comfort of this BuicCoil-cradled traveler.

You can do that — if you act promptly.

A trial ride to give you a hint as to what Buick can do — a little figuring on your present car's worth (at today's trade-in values, not next spring's) — a little working out of convenient terms — and you'll have a FIREBALL to celebrate this Christmas!

How about it? It's one thing your wife would never expect — and just about the finest gift any man could give his family!

MANNHEIM - LUDWIGSHAFEN

GREW AT TOP OF RHINE
NAVIGATION

Mannheim - Ludwigshafen, attacked by British bombers, is an important river port on the Rhine and a great industrial and commercial center.
says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. The twin cities are on opposite sides of the river.

In the First World War, these ports were bombed on several occasions by British aviators, objectives being the airplane factories and chemical works, the bulletin adds.

Located at the junction of the river
Neckar and the Rhine, Mannheim early developed at the head of navigation on the river.

WINCHESTER ELIGIBLES URGED TO JOIN PROVISIONAL STATE GUARD

Company G, Massachusetts Provisional State Guard, held its second weekly meeting at Woburn Armory Wednesday night, and will hold two more organization meetings on Friday, Dec. 27, and on Friday, Jan. 3, at 7:30 p. m., to complete the roster. After a two weeks recess during mobilization of the National Guard companies which now occupy the Armory, Company G will call for enlistments and continue the weekly drills, probably on Monday nights.

Company G will take the place of the infantry and motor transport companies at present quartered in the Armory, and will probably be called into service on Jan. 13 or soon after, when the 26th Division leaves for Camp Edwards. The purpose of the State Guard will be to take charge of the State Armories and State military property, and to assume the usual duties of the present National Guard, which is now entering Federal service.

Instruction will be principally in close and extended order drill, rifle and small arms firing, and emergency work in case of floods, fires or hurricanes, with eventually some field practice in anti-aircraft manoeuvres. The company drills and meetings will be held in the evening and will not interfere with the daily business of the members. At present there is no special plans for a summer camp, and if one is held, attendance will be optional. About 200 acres have been set aside at Camp Edwards ultimately for this purpose.

Naturally most of the State Guard personnel will be former members of the National Guard, Army, Navy and Marine Corps, with or without war service. The age requirements have been tentatively set from 18 to 50, however, in order that a limited number of young men of draft age may be admitted for training, with view to later enlistment in the Federal forces. There will be a total of 61 men in the Company, and with the exception of the First Sergeant and Supply Sgt., all non-commissioned officers ratings are open to competition, and everyone will have an equal opportunity to win the key positions on individual merit. There is an especial need for two recruits with either service or civilian experience as buglers.

After the two National Guard companies move out, Co. G will have entire possession of the Armory, with the exception of three rooms occupied by the Draft Board for the Woburn-Lexington District. The Armory is well equipped with a large drill hall, offices, recreational rooms, mess hall and kitchen. The basement contains a large motor garage, lockers, and a 75-foot shooting gallery, suitable for either small arms or .22 calibre rifle practice. In summer, Co. G members will have the privilege of using the rifle range at Wakefield. Company G will belong to the 2d

WAS FATHER OF WINCHESTER RESIDENT

Mr. Charles H. Doty of Arlington, who died last Friday at the age of 73, was the father of Mr. James R. Doty of this town. He was for many years associated with the Export Lumber Company in Boston and was a native of Charlestown. He had made his home in Arlington for many years, where he was widely known. The funeral services were held on Sunday at his home, 44 Academy street, Arlington.

RED CROSS NEWS

The Winchester Chapter American Red Cross have shipped in the last 12 days, six large packing cases filled with warm clothing for England. There is much more sewing that must be finished in this quota. If you really want to help the unfortunate women and children in England, will you join us, if only for an hour or two. The Red Cross room on the third floor of the Town Hall is open every Monday and Wednesday. Coffee is served at noon.

LEGION CHRISTMAS PARTY

Winchester Post's annual Christmas Party for children will be held in the Post Headquarters on Washington street Saturday afternoon, Dec. 21. The Welfare Committee, the members of which are Martin J. Foley, chairman, Henry H. Dover, Luke P. Glendon and Past Commander Nathan Thumim, is in charge of arrangements.

Battalion of the 23d Regiment, commanded by Col. C. David Berg, Supt. of the Wakefield Rifle Range. Maj. Edward J. Connelly of Wakefield will be Battalion Commander, including the three rifle companies at Woburn, Wakefield and at Lawrence Armory, Medford, and also a machine gun company at Stoneham Armory.

Officers of Co. G will be Capt. Frank H. Graham of Woburn, a member of the Massachusetts National Guard Rifle Team and an officer of long experience in the Army, National Guard and Marine Corps, with whom he served in Panama. The Lieutenants will be Kingman P. Case of Winchester and John J. Ready, instructor in Practical Arts at Woburn High School. Lieutenant Case is well known in Winchester as a Selectman from 1938-40 and as Past Commander of Winchester Post, American Legion, as well as District Commander for Woburn, Somerville, Winchester and Arlington. For several years he was a member of the American Legion State Drill committee. During the World War of 1917 he served as commissioned officer for two years with the Construction Division of the Army.

A MEMORIAL FOR MR. AND MRS. GEORGE S. HUDSON

An editorial in the Boston Traveler recently, entitled "Uncle Dan" Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, refers several times to his ancestral homestead, the Willard Homestead in Still River, Mass., a village in the township of Harvard.

This rambling 17th century house is owned by Mrs. Eleanor Hudson Welch, who makes her home at the Willard Homestead as well as in Winchester.

As a memorial to the late George S. Hudson, and his wife, the late Mabel L. (Willard) Hudson, of Winchester, parents of Mrs. Welch, additions to the Willard Homestead are under construction, supervised by Royal Barry Wells, architect. Interior finish for the 17th century type rooms is by John Adden.

The contractor, Mr. Bernard Eckberg of this town, has had a large force of men at Still River since summer, completing another room, 42 x 16, in the Mabel L. Hudson Wing. Another ell, 70x26, to be known as the George S. Hudson Wing, is expected to be completed by Easter.

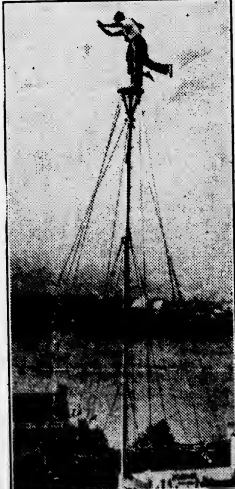

It is hoped that the Willard Homestead and its furnishings may remain for posterity, as a memorial to Mr. and Mrs. Hudson, as well as to the several generations of ancestors of both Mr. and Mrs. Hudson who have been associated with the place during nearly 300 years.

Mr. Hudson's ancestor, John Tinker, purchased the property from the Indians, according to history, and sold it in 1659 to Mrs. Hudson's ancestor, Maj. Simon Willard, founder of Concord, Lancaster, Groton and Harvard. As Commander-in-Chief of the British forces in Massachusetts Bay Colony against the hostile Indians, he was distinguished in the military, judicial and legislative service of the colony, and was associated with Harvard College from the year of its founding in 1636 until his death some 40 years later; during the same period Major Willard served in the Great and General Court of the Colony. His brother-in-law, Henry Dunster was the first president of Harvard College, and his son, Rev. Samuel Willard, served until his death as president of the College, also a great grandson, Rev. Joseph Willard was president, until his death, of the same University.

Aside from its architectural interest, the Willard Homestead has much military interest, as the home of numerous Willards who fought in several wars and it also is the homestead of Maj. Simon Willard's great grandsons, the Willard clock makers, and of Frances Willard of Temperance fame.

For many years before 1676 the place was known as "Maj. Simon Willard's Still River farm in ye greate fenced field," and when it became the property sometime later of the Major's grandson, Col. Samuel Willard, colonel of a regiment at the reduction of Louisburg in 1745, deeds referred to the house as the "Homestead." Here, too, lived Samuel's brother, Col. Josiah Willard, commander of Fort Dummer at Brattleboro, Vt., who distinguished himself in strong protection for exposed settlements.

Epiphany Church School Presents A Christmas Mystery

At 4 o'clock on Christmas Eve, members of the entire Church School of Epiphany Church will unite in a service which specially includes and specially pleases the youngest of the parish. The members of the primary Department will enter in procession, singing the well-known carol, "O Come, All Ye Faithful." The double line, bright in their Christmas vestments of red, will make the circuit of the church and mass the little singers in their appointed section of the Christmas tree, attractive even in its unlighted state. Then will enter the upper school, the choir leading. The congregation will join in this processional carol, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear."

There will follow Martin Luther's Manger Song, by the Primary Department.

Then will be presented again the familiar Christmas mystery directed by Mrs. Harvard Mann.

The following will be the actors: Cherubs—Nancy Barnard, Elizabeth Curtis, Angela Ann, Alice, Jacqueline Barnes, Barbara Booth, Joy Eldredge, Marilyn Hiscoe, Judy Masson, Nancy Masson, Jane Rainie, Sally Ray, Ellen Shoemaker, Barbara Walters, and Patsy Willing. Archangel—Cynthia Newton. Mary—Mrs. E. Phillips Walker. Joseph—Mr. Leonard Sherman. King—Mr. David Rice, Dr. Harry Benson, Mr. Robert Jewell. Shepherds—John Eaton, Richard Gallagher, William Everett.

When the figures of the Mystery have finished the Christmas story, and the last of the Oriental robes and of wings and halos has disappeared in a shining train, the second part of the festival begins. The tree is suddenly alight, and Miss Ethel B. Davis, director of Religious Education bestows the presents for the parish who are younger than 4. Only these littlest members of the parish receive presents; the others give presents. What they bring goes into the Boston City Mission and gives happiness to children in other parts of the city.

The Church School Choir will make its first public appearance for the year leading the processional and recessional. As usual, its ranks will be shortened by the fact that the Choir is the group from which a number of the angels are yearly recruited. The present members of the Choir are:

HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS BANQUET HELD

Members of the Winchester High School athletic teams with their coaches, managers and invited guests, 170 strong, attended the annual "All Sports Banquet" last Saturday evening in the school gymnasium. A catered dinner was served, the tables being arranged in the form of a football gridiron with goal posts at either end, and decorated in red and black, the school colors.

The entire football, field hockey and cross country squads attended with first and second team letter winners in boys' and girls' basketball and tennis, and boys' baseball and track. Also present were the senior cheer leaders, and for the first time this year, the freshman football squad.

Invited guests included Coach Louis B. Manley of the Tufts College football team, who was guest speaker; Chairman Kenneth F. Caldwell of the School Committee, Supt. of Schools James J. Quinn, High School Principal Wade L. Grindle, Park Commissioner William S. Packer, Louis E. Goddu, and Mrs. Arthur Bateman Corthell, whose interest in the school Athletic Association as exemplified by playing the accompaniments for many acts in past Vaudeville Shows is much appreciated. Coaches at the head table were Henry T. Knowlton, football; Deborah Fenton, field hockey and basketball; Burns Winslow, track; Arnold Nichols, freshman football; and William Rodgers, tennis.

Edward A. Bartlett, assistant football and varsity basketball coach, was prevented by illness from serving as toastmaster and his place was ably filled by John Stevens of the high school English Department.

Besides Coach Manley, principal speakers were Mr. Caldwell, whose subject was "A Banker Views the Aspects of American Youth," and Mr. Quinn, who emphasized the challenge extended to athletes by athletics.

Coach Manley's talk was largely anecdotal and of an entertaining nature. He did, however, tack in a bit of worth while advice to young athletes here and there and stated that athletics should exist primarily to give those who participate in them a good time. There is something wrong with athletics, he said, if the boy or girl who takes part in them, does not by his participation add to his or her pleasure in life.

Mention should be made of the extempore remarks of Frank Marabella, last year's varsity three sports star, who spoke in place of Coach Bartlett for the football second team. "Mara" did a fine job and was warmly applauded when Principal Grindle presented him with a special school sweater in recognition of his assistance to the football team this fall.

Other awards, announced by Mr. Grindle, were the Wheeler Sportsmanship Cup to Helen Carroll, captain of the field hockey eleven this fall; the Mansfield Sportsmanship Cup to Joseph Caputo, All Middlesex League football tackle; the McCormack Trophy for the outstanding football player of the Winchester-Woburn game to Peter Provinzano; and a gold cheerleader's megaphone to Joan Moffette, senior cheer-leader.

Mr. Grindle also scored as a snacker with his sports highlights of the past year, emphasizing especially that the girls' field hockey team has had but a single goal scored upon it and but one defeat in the last three years, while the girls' tennis team has lost only twice and tied once in its matches since 1921.

New captains were announced as follows: football, Peter Provinzano; hockey, Cynthia Foote; cross country, Robert Phippen; football second team, Leo Treacy; hockey second team, Anna Errico. Previously elected captains who gathered with those just named and the various trophy winners for flashlight pictures were: baseball, James McClellan; basketball, Peter Provinzano; girls' basketball, Joyce Maxson; and track, Richard Palsen.

After dinner two teams of football players in uniform, showed in slow motion, winning plays of the past season. In the auditorium Manager John Corthell gave his version of the loss of the Woburn game, entitled "Now It Can Be Told," his inside information being followed by a toe dance by Yvonne Clennon, accompanied by Mrs. Corthell; tap dance by Brock Lyne, with Roberta Ray at the piano; and motion pictures of the Winchester-Woburn game, taken by George Gould, W. H. S. '44. Additional football movies of Tufts games were also shown through the kindness of the Manley.

Arthur Tetrault, president of the Athletic Association, was general chairman of the committee on arrangements with Janet Smith in charge of decorations, assisted by Sam Keves and Polly Kimball. Music was furnished by the school orchestra composed of Courtney Crandall, Joe Talone, Kermit Edmonds, Crosby Grindle, William Dowden, Edward McDevitt and Don Spaulding.

WINCHESTER MEN ON TUFTS "ALL" TEAM

Two Winchester men, Thomas S. Knight of Oxford street, and James J. Fitzgerald, Jr., of Church street, were chosen for the Tufts All Time football team announced last week-end from the Tufts Athletic office, both having the honor of being first team members. Mr. Knight was chosen as fullback and Mr. Fitzgerald as right tackle.

Of the two "Fitzys" is the better known to local sports followers as he got his early athletic training at Winchester High. Big Jim at 172 pounds was a tackle on the great Winchester High eleven of 1922 that won the Mystic League title without the loss of a game and with but seven points scored against it in league competition. He captained the team to a championship in playing fullback, and then played end at Huntington School, from where he matriculated at Tufts.

A McLeod he played end and tackle, playing that post on the undefeated Tufts team of 1923 and again in 1929. Towering away above the six foot mark and weighing between 200 and 250 pounds he had an ideal build for a tackle, his fine play winning him all eastern honors and frequent mention for all American his last year in school. He still holds the record for field goals at Tufts Oval, booting one 57 yards against Massachusetts State via the drop-kick route. Few dropkicks of this length have been kicked in the East, or anywhere else, the official record of field goals being 62 yards by Pat O'Dey of Michigan. "Fitzzy" 57 yard boot officially listed in Spaulding's guide as 55 yards, was tops for 1927.

After graduation Jim played semi-pro football for a time with the strong Fittin team of Boston, one of the best hereabouts. He was also prominent in semi-pro baseball ranks, having played varsity baseball at college and was known as a terrific long distance hitter. He is now in the contracting business with his father and brother, Nicholas H., of Elm street, and has served the town as Selectman, acting as co-chairman his last year on the board.

Tom Knight is not so well known athletically in Winchester and as he graduated from Tufts in 1903 his football record isn't so fresh in the minds of the younger generation. He captained the Tufts eleven and if "Doc" Marvin is to be believed, fullbacks like George Angell and "Dinger" Doane he must have been quite a player. In addition to football he played baseball and tennis and participated in many other sports of the college.

Almost continuously since graduation he has served as electrical engineer with various General Electric plants. During the World War he served on the War Industries Board and since that time has been first, New England district manager for G. E. and since 1937, commercial vice president of the company.

No honorable mention list of Junior football stars was made public, but if there had been one, it is likely that Van French, halfback and captain, and Frank Melly, guard, would have been listed. Both were good, and Melly playing beside Fitzgerald in 1928 was a tower of strength on the Brown and Blue frontier.

VACATION REUNION

A group of young people who spent their vacation at Oquet last summer held a pleasant reunion Sunday evening at the home of Miss Rose McCarthy in Canton. Supper was served and a social hour enjoyed with Fred McCormack of this town acting as master of ceremonies and another Winchester young man, Larry Penta, leading the singing of Christmas carols.

Besides Miss McCarthy and Messrs McCormack and Penta, those who attended were Miss Mary Leonard and Miss Beatrice Denier of Canton, Miss Ann Powers of Arlington and Miss Pat Greene and Miss Ann Kearns of Stoughton; also Thomas Kinton, Robert Lynch, Charles Malloy and John Colgate, all of this town.

WINCHESTER HIGH HOOPSTERS WILL OPEN WITH ALUMNI

Winchester High School will trot out its 1940-41 basketball team tonight in the local gymnasium, meeting the alumni team in the opening game of the current season.

This is a game that has a lot of local appeal, though it is one that the coaching staff has never been too keen about. Sending their charges in their first start against experienced graduates who can put two or three full teams on the court has never appealed to the local mentors, and Coach Tod Bartlett, handling the varsity assignment at Winchester for the first time this year, is no exception.

Capt. Peter Provinzano would have preferred an interscholastic match of a strictly practice variety for his first game, an in view of the dearth of experienced players available for his current quintet no one can blame him.

Capt. Peter Provinzano and Bert Callanan are the only letter players on hand this season, and of these only Provinzano was a regular a year ago. The fact that there isn't a senior letter player in school indicates how completely graduation decimated the ranks of the club in June.

Coach Bartlett who was on the sick list last week, has had a huge squad out for the team, and has been hard at work to reduce his candidates to workable proportions without cutting off any potential varsity material. Who he will put on the floor against the graduates tonight, aside from Provinzano, he probably won't know until just before game time.

The local boys have scrimmaged Huntington School, and everything considered, didn't do too badly. The graduates will of course give a much better line on the available material. Big Byron Horie, captain of last year's quintet, is managing the alumni team, and expects to put a strong club on the court. First game at 7:30.

Following is the first and second alumni teams: C. Johnson, lf; E. Kenney, rf; B. Horie, c; D. Graham, lg; A. DeTos, rg; W. McEwen, f; O'Neill, rf; Gray, lf; Hultgren, c; Errico, lg; and Boardley, rg, will compose the second team.

A LECTURE ON GUATEMALA, AND OTHER IMPORTANT MATTERS

Dr. Charles H. Tozier is by way of becoming a Winchester institution. His pictures of Guatemala, as revealed last Friday evening at the high school auditorium, are fully up to his usual high standards. The evening had triple significance, it marked the first public showing of this particular group of pictures; the proceeds were to help swell the Winchester Rolling Kitchen fund for help to bequeathed England; and the occasion was marked by the presentation to the Town of Winchester by the Massachusetts Agricultural Society of an illuminated scroll of honor in recognition of its well-kept parks and highways.

The hall was filled, and there was a rustle of eager anticipation. Mr. William Ellery, vice-president of the Horticultural Society, was introduced by Mr. Cusack. In well chosen words he commended Winchester for its outstanding work, stating: "Work like this makes beauty in our land and is a big asset in our culture." The scroll was presented, he said, "in recognition of excellent judgment and good taste in the planning of its public parks, and in the beautification of its highways."

Mr. Elliott F. Cameron, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, made a brief speech of acceptance in behalf of the town. "This award," he said, "is of tonight, but the planning has been going on for many years." He gave due credit to the employees of the town, the Highway and Park Departments, and various other planning boards for their work and assistance in carrying out the general plan. He commended several individuals for their personal efforts, in particular Mr. Parkhurst for his improvement of the Aberjona at his own expense. He called attention to the fact that this year there were three awards: to Boston, Everett and Winchester, the Boston award being for one particular item, the Public Gardens; the Everett one for landscaping and general keeping of the grounds around the new school building; but the Winchester award was for the beauty of the town as a whole including its many parks and highways. He took occasion to serve notice on Mr. Ellery that "in case of any further awards to be given we will be in the running!"

Mr. Cusack noted three points of interest in connection with the program; first, the Church, for the idea first developed with the Congregational Players, and the Community, numerous groups and people of which had joined in their effort, and third, Dartmouth College, through whose trustees and president a grant was made which made possible the making of the pictures. He called upon Dr. Chidley as the one person representing these three points of contact, pastor of the Congregational Church, citizen of the town, and a Dartmouth alumnus, to introduce the speaker.

Dr. Chidley made some remarks in humorous vein based on his long acquaintance with Dr. Tozier, commending in particular his eye for dramatic and artistic beauty, and the fine spirit of generosity and citizenship which prompts him to show pictures free of charge for many good causes and organizations in this community. He closed his remarks upon a note of solemn warning; "a rolling kitchen now," he said, "is worth three rolling kitchens three months from now."

Dr. Tozier voiced his gratitude to Dartmouth College and to the Pan-American Union for their assistance. Then "to prove," he said, "that Winchester was worthy of a prize" he prefaced his Guatemala views with a series of breath-takingly beautiful scenes of Winchester gardens, interspersed with startling close-ups of individual stalks and blossoms which emerged from the background with a clarity reminiscent of those stereoscopic views of our early childhood days. Some of these were so lovely that Dr. Tozier felt constrained on several occasions to emphasize their strictly local origin.

The impression of Guatemala which one receives from Dr. Tozier's pictures is of a carefree place where life is gay and unhurried, living comes easily, and the days pass in simple pursuits and pastimes with little, if any, thought of the morrow. The men, to put it mildly, are saving of their energy (even the bull fight was lethargic) but now and then occurs a shot quite out of keeping with this atmosphere of inertia—men, for example, trudging interminably along very good roads carrying amazing loads; or, more significant, the training of very young boys in the art of soldiering, as if in watchful anticipation of fateful days to come. Everywhere can be seen bananas being cut, loaded, and transported, and the continuous weaving (by hand) of beautiful rugs, rope, twine and yarn.

Dr. Tozier pictures a country with much of the charm and color of old Mexico; one's mind is besieged with a riot of sun-drenched pictures—picturesque costumes, bright head-dresses, gay fiestas (where fantastic and unwieldy creatures cavort in true Monte Carlo fashion) Indian villages in sharp contrast to lovely churches, fleecy clouds and majestic palms, arched gardens, village belles, mon no less resplendent in checkered aprons and fantastic hats, canyons 3000 feet deep towering volcanoes 13,000 feet high, the ruins of a huge church, and throughout the well-preserved traces of an ancient civilization dating back as far as 400 A. D., and from which the jungle is slowly reclaiming its own.

There are innumerable colorful markets (each with its own color scheme) where are displayed heaps of hats, pottery, handwoven rugs, sleeping mats, water jugs, dolls in costumes of various lands, peppers, onions, garlic, cabbages, alligator pears and flowers, flowers everywhere. There is no great zeal for salesmanship; they stand around, as Dr. Tozier puts it, "like a big outdoor club," and "what they don't sell, they eat!" On one occasion, having a fondness for red bananas, he was about to purchase six magnificent specimens, and tendered 2 cents in payment. Evidently the native's conscience troubled him, for after due consideration he proffered six more, just to insure good value!

Perhaps the scenes one remembers longest are those of two nude boys frolicking in a hot sulphur spring; a Guatemalan dandy, not displeased with himself, dispatching evil spirits with sweeping slashes of his nimble sword; lakes of azure blue backed by towering volcanoes, themselves cloaked in a haze of misty blue; a lacy waterfall, sifting over cliffs dyed brilliant orange from sulphur deposit; and a truly amazing modern airport, somehow reminiscent of the approach to the periphery at the World's Fair.

From time to time, from some mysterious source, Dr. Tozier produced interesting specimens of native marimba music.

In short, "a fine country" to use Dr. Tozier's words; "a good country to photograph."

When all was said and done, our final impression of Dr. Tozier was that of a hobbyist having immense fun with his hobby, and incidentally giving pleasure to hosts of his friends and fellow townsmen.

BOY SCOUT NOTES

The Winchester District Scouters held a supper meeting at Camp Lane Thursday evening Dec. 5. Those present were Chairman Frederick S. Hatch, Maurice C. Bird, Robert H. Sibley, Dexter Blenkhorn, Ernest Butterworth, Edward Grosvenor, John Casler, Stafford Rogers, Edward Nelson and Elliott Dudley.

A roast lamb supper was served at 7 o'clock. The menu also included baked Idaho potato, brown gravy, green peas, mint jelly, hot rolls, coffee, apple dumplings.

The occasion was the regular District meeting. However, the new fireplace was the big attraction. The heater worked splendidly. There will soon be new beds installed making a total of 18. It is felt that this equipment was the stove, cooking utensils and other equipment is sufficient to take care of the average troop that would remain overnight.

The business of the meeting included the discussion and announcements concerning the Northeastern Scout Round-Up to be held this year in Amesbury.

Scout troops may have the opportunity of participating in a television broadcast from Station WIXO. So far Troops 7 and 8 have had 15 minute demonstrations and they report a very interesting and educational experience.

The National Plan and Roll Call of scout troops to invigorate and stimulate democracy should be completed and returned to the office. An extra effort should be made to register boys before Dec. 31. The plan for creating and training emergency service corps was discussed. A new supply catalogue is available for distribution.

The annual meeting of Fellsland Council will be held in the early part of January. The date to be determined but each should make his plans for attending. The annual Scout Exposition to be held in the Stoneham Town Hall Feb. 8, and the general plans were announced. Units desiring booths for exhibits must make early application.

A nominating committee to elect next year's district chairmen of committees was appointed by Mr. Hatch. The committee consists of Edward Grosvenor, chairman; Maurice Bird and Martin Swanson.

The next regular meeting will be held on Jan. 6. Special credit must be given to three scouts of troop 7 for their work in preparing Camp Lane and for shoveling snow for a path into the camp. They were Scouts Harry Boudician, Guy DeFilippo and Frank Russo.

CHRISTMAS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Christmas has come again to the Winchester Public Library and both Adult and Young People's Departments are decorated for this colorful season.

Each window in the main library has an electric candle and branches of greens. Standing beside the fireplace at the further end of the reading room is a Christmas tree, while single poinsettias adorn the desks. There are two lighted scenes here, each with a background of deep blue star-filled sky. One is a modern winter scene; a village of houses, church and miniature people, while the other is an especially lovely nativity group.

Members of the Better Homes Garden Club have again made several decorative Christmas pieces for the library. The largest, a wreath, hangs over the charging desk, a swag, over the entrance door and two attractive wreaths are advantageously displayed in the glass front doors.

Opposite the charging desk is the display table with Christmas books, including plays, poetry, and holiday stories. The poster on this table was done by the State W. P. A. Library Art Project and is loaned to the Winchester Public Library.

Because of the comparative smallness of the room, the holiday spirit is even more apparent in the Young People's Room than in the Adult Library.

The windows are strung with red and green streamers and bells, the book cases are heaped with fragrant Christmas greens, and red wreaths hang in the glass doors. Beside the desk is a full-trimmed tree trimmed with many glittering trinkets which consistently delight the youngsters. High over the desk, stretching from wall to wall, is a string of flashing lights and bright red paper bells in graduated sizes.

The glass display case is topped with a manger scene. Below, a group of tiny carol singers gather around a small Christmas tree, and on the lowest shelf, a realistic snow village is grouped around a miniature Santa Claus and reindeer.

There are Christmas story books in this department too, displayed in their gay covers on a special table.

The Winchester Public Library extends at this time sincere seasonal greetings to all Winchester people.

MUSIC GARDEN

The December meeting of the Music Garden was held on Monday evening the ninth, at the Home for the Aged on Mt. Vernon street. A program of works by English composers was presented in a thoroughly enjoyable manner. It is a source of great satisfaction to club members that this annual event continues to be mutually agreeable to hosts and visitors alike.

On this occasion two new members of the club were present for the first time; namely, Mrs. Edith Larrabee of Winchester, associate member and Mrs. Wheeler of Arlington, active member.

The program was as follows:
Selection from the "Mikado" Sullivan
Orchestra
Baritone Solo—"The Lost Chord" Sullivan
Mr. Sells with Mrs. Knight at the piano
Piano Trio—Marche aux Flambeaux Scott
Mr. Knight, Miss Dow, Mr. Knight

GREEK-BRITISH BASE ON CRETE THREATENS ITALY'S SUPPLY ROUTES TO DODECANESE ISLANDS

British reports from the increasingly powerful Greek-British army, air, and naval base on Crete state that not a single Italian supply ship has passed through the Strait (east of Crete) en route to the Italian-held Dodecanese Islands since the British moved in to strengthen the Anglo-Hellenic military position in the eastern Mediterranean.

Italy's fortified Dodecanese Islands, the strategic group off Turkey's southwest coast, were seized in 1912 and have been controlled from Rome ever since, despite their predominantly Greek population, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

Eighty-five Per Cent of People Non-Italian

But a delicate situation confronts the British in contemplating a blockade of the Dodecanese, for more than 120,000 of the approximately 141,000 people in the Fascist-dominated Aegean archipelago are non-Italian natives—mostly Greeks. If the blockade created a serious food shortage in the islands, the Greek population, unquestionably friendly to the British, would be the ones most likely to suffer.

The value of imports to the Dodecanese Islands, in a recent sample year, was more than seven times that of the exports, and the largest single import item was grains, flour, and prepared grain foods, while animals and animal products was one of the items leading in value on the import list. (On the other hand, animals and animal products, to a value of more than half that of the imports of the same item, stood at the top of the export list.)

Agriculture is the principal occupation of the Dodecanesians, but they are apparently not self-sufficient in grains and meats. The islands (particularly Rhodes and Cos) are famous for their delicious table grapes, as well as for oranges and other fruits, olives and olive oil, wines and tobacco and vegetables (the lettuce of Cos is noted as far away as England). Livestock is fairly abundant, with sheep and goats most numerous.

In normal times, Italy is the pre-eminent source of the foodstuffs imported to the Dodecanese. Trade with Turkey and Egypt is also considerable, but it is a question whether, if supplies from Italy are cut off, sufficient grains and meats fully to meet the islanders' needs will be available from other Mediterranean sources.

PHILHARMONIC AT ARLINGTON

All Arlington and surrounding towns are looking forward to Sunday, Dec. 22, when the Philharmonic Society of Arlington will present Handel's Messiah at 3 o'clock at Robbins Memorial Town Hall.

This presentation will be even more impressive than in the past because of the array of soloists engaged for the occasion. Edmond Boucher, a great favorite everywhere, will return as bass soloist, and Miss Evelyn Duncanson, who captivated her audience last year, will be soprano soloist. A new personality will be Thelma Jo Fisher, alto, who is known to possess a rich, round voice. The other solo part will be taken by George Wheeler, the well known tenor. Mr. Wheeler sang with the organization several years ago, and made a lasting impression upon the audience. Leonard Wood, will conduct the orchestra and chorus numbering over 100.

As usual admission is free, an offering will be taken to help defray expenses. There will be reserved seats for the sustaining members, now numbering about 300, and others desiring to purchase them may do so by applying to Mrs. Harold B. Wood.

The Messiah is a favorite concert with all who enjoy music, and the Philharmonic Society of Arlington ranks second to none in its production, and as in the past there will be a rush for admission, and requests for reserve seats should be made without delay.

The Philharmonic Society of Arlington has the backing of the Board of Selectmen, Town Treasurer Hardy, Tax Collector Anderson, Town Clerk Ryder, and many prominent organizations and persons, all working enthusiastically to make this concert a success.

THE BATTLE OF THERMOPYLAE STILL INSPIRES GREEK ARMS

The Greek-Italian conflict has resulted in repeated reference to the battle of Thermopylae, because of the sturdy Greek resistance against the invaders, and because Thermopylae has remained through the centuries a symbol of Greek valor and patriotic self-sacrifice.

The historic struggle at the Pass of Thermopylae took place in 480 B. C., between an invading army of Medes and Persians under Xerxes, and the defending Greek army under Leonidas, king of the Spartans, recalls a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

The invading hordes, of perhaps 180,000, far outnumbered the Greeks. In addition to his personal following of 300 chosen Spartans, all fathers of sons, Leonidas was at the head of an allied Greek army made up of contingents totaling five or ten thousand from a dozen other city-states. The troops varied in number and in loyalty during the three days of battle.

Despite this disparity in numbers, the Greeks stoutly resisted the barbarian invaders because of the narrowness of the pass between the mountains and the swampy seacoast.

When the Medes failed, Xerxes sent against the Greeks his crack soldiers whom he called the "immortals." They made no more impression against the Greek wall than did the Medes, and successive efforts failed, with great losses.

After two days of unsuccessful fighting, Xerxes was visited by some Greeks, particularly one named Ephialtes, who revealed to him the existence of a way over the mountains to the other end of the pass. That night Ephialtes led the 10,000 "immortals" up the mountain trail.

At dawn a small Greek force of a thousand men confronted the Persians at the top of the trail, but the Greeks were driven up the mountain side and the invaders descended the trail to the south end of the Pass of Thermopylae. The Greeks remaining loyal to Leonidas advanced to a wider part of the pass and came into conflict with the Persians, driven by the whips of their officers.

Leonidas fell early in the engagement, and four times his followers repelled the Persians to recover the body. Bottled up between the two parts of the Persian forces, the Greeks retired to the narrowest part of the pass, fighting with their swords and their spears were broken. The diminishing Greek force later formed a compact body on the hillside, but were finally surrounded and slain.

The Pass of Thermopylae is on the southern shore of the Gulf of Lamia which extends 14 miles westward from the western end of the large Greek island of Evvoia (Euboea). The pass leads from Thessaly in the north and southern Greece. The river has silted in along the coast so that the pass, once less than 50 feet across, is now a mile and a half wide at the narrowest part.

The location of several warm springs sacred to Hercules was responsible for the name Thermopylae, meaning warm gates or pass. The historian Herodotus records the erection of a monument to the Spartan "battalion of death," adorned with two lions and bearing an inscription. "Go stranger, tell the Spartans that we lie here in obedience to their laws." A French archeologist found the base of the monument where the heroes fell, but the two lions were gone. Quantities of Persian arrows have been unearthed in the vicinity.

Little Miss Community Fund of Greater Boston sends holiday greetings to everyone in Winchester who has helped to bring her back to health. From her Community Fund hospital bedside she speaks for 82,000 other little boys and girls, and grown-ups, too, living in the 46 cities and towns of metropolitan Boston, who have been cared for the past year in 25 Community Fund hospitals, clinics and dispensaries,—half of them at little or no cost to themselves.

SEEING IS BELIEVING—AND CARING

To quote Henry R. Guild, general chairman, "In my judgement, no one connected with the Greater Boston Community Fund can do his part adequately and effectively unless he has taken at least one 'Come and See' Tour. Here is your chance to see for yourself what your Community Fund is doing to defend your community."

On Dec. 11th last 27 Winchester workers in the Greater Boston Community Fund campaign left Winchester by bus for a tour of the Morgan Memorial and the Charlestown Boys Club. Numbers are unimportant but if that group who went on that tour could transfer some of the enthusiasm for the Community Fund workers our Winchester campaign would be over the top before we even start. A brief outline of what they saw is inadequate in describing their reactions but one universal thought was voiced by every one on that tour—"Come and See" for yourselves.

At the Morgan Memorial for instance, they saw men and women sorting the contents of hundreds of bags generously contributed by members of Greater Boston communities. Nothing in those bags are of too little value to overlook. Bits of silk and wool are made into rugs, blankets and even roofing material. Here in this great institution people are given the opportunity to work at learning a trade that may serve them later in obtaining a job and a position of respect in their community.

The day nursery at the Morgan Memorial takes care of hundreds of children whose parents have jobs to fulfill. Its fine equipment includes large playrooms, a dining room and modern kitchen and every facility for caring for these youngsters while their parents are working at their jobs. There is a nominal fee of 10 to 25 cents per day according to the family means.

The ramifications of service and multiplicities of help that is supplied by this one institution is too great to detail. The Goodwill Industries, Free Employment Bureau, Welfare Bureau, Mineral Water Bottling Works, Fresh Air Camps, several homes, District Nursing and Free Legal Advice are to mention but a few of these services.

From there the "Come and See" party reluctantly left for the Charlestown Boys Club. There a delectable supper was served in the Girls' Club portio of the building. Over 1000 girls are here registered and active. There are classes in typing, cooking, good grooming, woodwork and too many other things to mention to fit these unfortunate girls to life in their chosen community later in life.

The Boys Club has a membership of 5000 and to say that this membership is active would not describe the excellent work and cooperation among the boys in this club. The building was filled with boys playing all sorts of games, billiards, table tennis, tumbling, boxing, swimming, etc. Useful occupations were being learned such as printing, woodworking, tool machining, etc. All designed with the purpose of keeping these boys off the streets, their only playground in this crowded district, learning to be useful citizens, building their bodies, training the mind with healthful activities.

These boys, left alone to roam the streets, losing faith in their parents and mankind in general, easily fall into antisocial activities — immoral and unstable ways of thinking — which threaten the very foundations of free men in our American democracy. Such agencies as this boys club of Charlestown stand between totalitarianism, regimentation, and suppression and freedom, individuality and happiness.

How then better could we carry out the slogan "Defend Your Community" now than by supporting these, among many, agencies in the Greater Boston Community Fund campaign commencing Jan. 18.

"ROLLING KITCHEN"

FUND FOR BRITISH ROLLING KITCHEN COMPLETE

Necessary $2000 Raised Dec. 23

The Winchester Rolling Kitchen for Britain, for which several Winchester organizations and numerous interested individuals have been working since early fall, became a reality on Christmas, when the purchase price of $2000 was definitely raised. The money has already been turned over to the British War Relief Society in Boston, officers of which will make the arrangements necessary to have the kitchen reach war-torn England as soon as possible.

These rolling kitchens are made in this country and arrive in England completely equipped and ready for service. The one donated by this town will have inscribed on its sides, "Gift of Winchester, Massachusetts, U. S. A." The kitchens are not only to provide nourishment and health but to maintain the splendid morale which the British people have shown in their adversity. They act as traveling cafeterias, serving up to 200 people at a time, cooking as they roll. They go into bombed areas wherever needed, feeding the homeless until permanent arrangements can be made. Representatives of the British War Relief Society in Boston have repeatedly stressed their importance to the British cause.

The Parish Players of the First Congregational Church were first in Winchester to conceive the idea of sending a rolling kitchen to England. Last September, when planning their 15th season, they felt they wanted to do more than just provide entertainment this year and cast about for something really worthwhile toward which to devote the proceeds of their plays.

DR. WALTER G. PRATT

Dr. Walter G. Pratt, who died recently in Swampscott, was the last surviving uncle of Kenneth M. Pratt of this town. Dr. Pratt was of Burlington, Clifford E. Pratt of Bartlett, N. H., Belle Pratt and Adelaide Pratt Symmes of Swampscott and Lucy Pratt Norton of North Anson Me. He was the brother of the late Frank S. and George E. Pratt of this town.

Dr. Pratt was born in 1852 at 85 Bacon street in Winchester, the family homestead standing on the site of what is now Harrington road. He was educated in the Winchester schools and after his marriage went to make his home at Winter Hill in Somerville. He was for many years associated with his father in the Boston firm of William Pratt & Son, located at the Hotel Pelham where the Little Building now stands.

After the death of his father Dr. Pratt became an optometrist. Four years ago he retired, going to live with his niece in Swampscott. He leaves a son, Dr. Malcolm F. Pratt of Woodbury, N. J.

Funeral services were held in the chapel at Mt. Auburn Cemetery in Cambridge, where the body was cremated.

RECEIVES HONORABLE MENTION AT CHANDLER

Miss Joyce Madge, daughter of Mr. Frank Madge and Mrs. Truman Kelley of Winchester, has received honorable mention for academic excellence for the first term at the Chandler School in Boston. Miss Madge is also a member of the Red Cross Committee and of the Choral Club.

RYAN—HASTINGS

Dr. and Mrs. Willard S. Hastings of Elkins Park, Pennsylvania, announce the marriage of their daughter, Edith Meaker, to Mr. Joseph Hanson Ryan of Dedham at the Francis Meetinghouse in Cheltenham, Pennsylvania, Dec. 21, 1940.

Mr. Ryan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Ryan of Cliff street.

COMMUNITY FUND MEETING CHANGED TO TUESDAY, JANUARY 7

Because the enrollment of workers in the Community Fund Campaign is so far advanced this year it has been necessary to change the place of the pre-campaign meeting of the Winchester organization from the Country Club to the High School Auditorium. This also necessitates a change of the date from Wednesday, the 26th, to Tuesday, the 7th.

WINCHESTER MEN AT GRIDIRON CLUB DINNER

Winchester was well represented last Saturday at the dinner of the Gridiron Club—an annual gathering of a group of prominent members of the University Club, Boston, at the club house.

J. Waldo Bond held the spotlight in the skit, "Information Squeeze," a parody on the well known radio broadcast. Clarence H. Pond was one of the "experts." G. Dwight Cabot and Frederick H. Stewart contributed to the general hilarity.

The 50 convives voted this dinner outstanding among the eight similar events.

BILLMAN—AURELL ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin K. Aurell of Darien, Conn., formerly of Yokohama, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Georgia Anne Aurell, to Mr. George Livermore Billman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher L. Billman of Foxcroft road.

Miss Aurell is attending Trafton School of Fashion in New York. Mr. Billman was graduated from Harvard University with the class of 1940.

MISS BARBARO APPOINTED

Miss Rose Barbato of the Concord Red Cross Nursing Service has accepted a position with the Arizona State Board of Health as supervising nurse of the Cochise County Health Unit. She will assume her duties Jan. 6.

Miss Barbato is well known in Winchester, being the daughter of Mr. Vincent Barbato of Oak street and a graduate of Winchester High School.

ROBERT H. GRANT

Winchester Veteran Fatally Injured by Car in Danvers

Robert H. Grant, World War veteran and former resident of this town, was struck and fatally injured by an automobile on the Newburyport turnpike in Danvers Monday night, Dec. 23. Flags on the common and public buildings were displayed at half staff in his honor.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the A. E. Long Funeral Home in Cambridge. The remains were cremated.

Mr. Grant came to Winchester in 1926 and during most of his residence here made his home on Myrtle street.

He was the son of Henry P. and Susan (Dickinson) Grant and was born in 1887 in Northfield. He attended Harvard, and before coming to Winchester made his home in Cambridge.

He enlisted at Lexington in the 301st Field Artillery and served overseas, being honorably discharged in 1919. He was a member of the American Legion and of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

His war service induced physical disability and he entered the Chelsea Naval Hospital in May, 1929. After treatment he recovered sufficiently to accept a position as educational advisor in a C. C. camp. He became ill again, however, and was admitted as a patient to the State Hospital at Danvers. He was walking near the hospital Monday night when he was struck by an automobile, driven by John J. Reilly, Jr., of 29 Cushing street, Dover, N. H. Reilly told the police that Mr. Grant leaped in front of his machine without warning.

Mr. Grant was thrown several feet by the impact. He was taken by State policemen to the Hunt Memorial Hospital in Danvers where he died, having sustained numerous broken bones and internal injuries.

BRITISH CHILDREN IN WINCHESTER TO BROADCAST JANUARY 2

Plans are complete for the broadcast to parents or relatives in England by British children who are living with Winchester families for the duration of the war.

The broadcast will take place Thursday afternoon, Jan. 2, at 3:45 o'clock from the short wave station WRUL at the University Club in Boston and will last for 13½ minutes. Ten minutes of this time will be spent in the reading of letters from each one of whom will talk for one minute to his parents or relatives.

During the remainder of the time brief remarks will be made by Mr. William C. Gresek, who is acting as chairman of the broadcast, by Mr. Elliott F. Cameron, chairman of the Board of Selectmen, Town Moderator Raymond S. Wilkins and George Roland Carter, president of Winchester Rotary, who is to transfer honorary membership in the local club upon the president of Rotary in Winchester, England.

Children who will broadcast include Ewen C. and Fergus D. Cameron, grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burnham of Everett avenue, aged respectively 13 and 12 years; Anne Freeborn, 9, living with Mr. and Mrs. John R. Kingman of Herrick street; Shelagh Patton, 12, living with Mr. and Mrs. James O. Murphy of Crescent road; Ewen Phillips, 12, living with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Aldrich of Swan road; April Davis, 13, and Martin Davis, 9, living with Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Kennerly of Brook street; Jane Seager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cedric H. Seager of Yale street; Anne Dubuis and Gillian Dubuis living with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Y. Hills of Dartmouth street.

Undoubtedly many Winchester people will desire to hear this broadcast. WRUL will broadcast the talk on 11.7 mc and also on 15.3 mc. These are respectively in the 25 meter band and in the 19 meter band. It is expected that many Winchester people the 25 meter point will prove the most satisfactory at this hour (3:45 p. m.), but this cannot be determined until the time arrives.

As WRUL will be on the air from 2:30 to 5:30 p. m., and Mr. and Mrs. Will have plenty of time to tune and try their sets on both bands in order to select the best to listen to by 3:45.

NEW ENGLAND ARTISTS TO EXHIBIT AT LIBRARY

The Winchester Art Association is showing at the library Art Gallery during January pictures by outstanding New England artists, including Charles Curtis Allen, Harry Brooks, Carroll Bill, John F. Enser, Aldo T. Hibbard, William J. Kaula, Marian P. Sloane, Frank Vining Smith, Robert Strong Woodward and Stanley Woodward.

The work of such an outstanding group of artists is bound to be unusually worthwhile and the Art Association feels fortunate in securing such an excellent show for Winchester. A tea and refreshment for members of the Association and their guests will be held Sunday afternoon, January 5, from 4 until 6 o'clock with Prof. Frederick K. Morris of Massachusetts Institute of Technology as speaker.

WILL PLAY AT LAKE PLACID

Wallace Blanchard, Jr. of 5 Rye-enough road left on Christmas morning for Lake Placid, N. Y., where he will participate in the fourth annual Lake Placid Club College invitation hockey tournament on Dec. 26, 27 and 28 as a member of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology team.

LOUIS L. G. DeROCHEMONT

Boston Lawyer Former Resident of Winchester

Louis L. G. DeRochemont, of 7 Craigie circle, Cambridge, a well known Boston attorney and former resident of Winchester, died suddenly Saturday morning, Dec. 21, in the clerk's office of the Suffolk Superior Civil Court at Pemberton Square in Boston. He had been in poor health for several months but had continued daily to attend to his law practice. His office was at 53 State street, Boston, where he was associated with Attorneys Joseph Eastman and James P. Gresson, Jr.

Mr. DeRochemont was 68 years old and a native of Newton, N. H., the son of Louis Leonard, and Augusta (Nutter) DeRochemont. He graduated from Portsmouth High School and entered Harvard with the class of 1894, left college during his junior year to study law at Boston University Law School where he received his degree in two years. He returned to Harvard in 1928 and in 1930 received his degree, on the same day that his son Richard was graduated from Harvard with the class of 1930.

In 1899 Mr. DeRochemont was elected city solicitor of Chelsea and after a year held a similar position in Revere. He made his home in Winchester at 1 Ranglely road from 1922 to 1932, leaving to take up residence in Cambridge. He belonged to the old Calumet Club of this town and was a member of the Boston Press Club, Boston Athletic Association and of the Vesper Country Club.

In 1897 Mr. DeRochemont married Sarah Wilson Miller of Chelsea, who survives him with two sons, Louis DeRochemont and Ernest W. Kallett, both of whom are in the motion picture business, and Richard G. DeRochemont, who for several years before the outbreak of the current war was European representative of the Times, Inc., publications, and who returned to New York to become associated with his brother in the production of the patriotic picture, "The Ramparts We Watch."

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at St. Luke's Church in Chelsea, with Rev. Ernest W. Kallett officiating. Interment was in Woodlawn Cemetery Everett where the committal prayers were read by Rev. Dwight W. Hadley, rector of the Church of the Epiphany.

SELECTIVE SERVICE NEWS

The Selective Service program is speeding up and getting into high gear. The reason for this is that the Induction Camps are fast nearing completion. The Local Board for the Winchester-Stonham District is to supply about 40 men during January and February.

Official orders have been received for nine men to go from this district on Jan. 8. They will assemble at the headquarters in the Winchester Town Hall at 8:30 a. m. and be driven to the South Armory in Boston by two members of the Board.

Forty-one men have been ordered to report at Headquarters for physical examination on Thursday evening, Jan. 2. The local board have been co-operating in the medical work and have made it possible for the Local Board to keep pace with the speeding up of the program.

The following are the men who have been ordered to report:

Christopher C. Papadimitriou, Andrew Edward Lynch, Jacob Bosnian, Jr., Harry Arthur Smith, Theodor Arnold Mack, Robert Ellard Sanborn, Richard Valentine Joyce, Floyd William Trembher, Francis W. Harkins, Albert James McCarron, Donald Monroe Ferguson, Edward James O'Melia, Carl Clifford O'Brien, Arnold Francis Morse, William Paul Falzano, Kenneth Davis Barnes, Jr., Frank T. Barnes, Jr., Francis Michael Roache, James John Russo, Wayne Roger McPayden, Gerald Gaffney, Henry Parsons Murray.

ENJOYING HOLIDAYS

Three Winchester girls are at home with their parents for the Christmas holidays. They are the Misses Natalie J. Kellogg, daughter of Mrs. C. J. Kellogg of 16 Calumet road; Nancy England, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. England of 1 Ledgewood road; and Jane Norton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Norton of 3 Sheffield road. All are students at the Erskine School, Boston, where they will resume their studies on Jan. 8.

MARCHESI GETS BOWLING ALLEY PERMIT

Rosari Marchesi of Swanton street, whose long attempt to secure a license to conduct a bowling alley at 68 Swanton street ended not long ago when the full bench of the State Supreme Court upheld the Selectmen's refusal to grant a permit for alleys at this address, has finally been granted a license to conduct alleys in a building which is to be erected on Swanton street near Bags & Cobb's tannery on the old Nelson property at the junction of Arthur, White and Swanton streets, property which is in the business district.

HELD OPEN HOUSE

Grace and Bill Croughwell of Rye-enough held an open house last Saturday afternoon and evening, entertaining a large group of their town, school and college friends.

COMING EVENTS

Jan. 6, Monday, 2 p. m. Meeting of Parish Night Literate Committee at Parish Hall, Literary Regions of the United States; Mrs. J. H. Spenser, Miss Gertrude A. Kimball and Mrs. Gilbert W. Paul. Book review.

Jan. 10, Friday, Meeting of Fortnightly Dramatic Committee at 2 p. m. at Fortnightly Hall, Margaret Louie Wood will speak on "Whaling Days and Scrimshaw." Exhibition of Scrimshaw. Tea.

MISS WAGNER PRESENTED AT SKATING PARTY

Combining the thrill that always accompanies the coming out of a debutante with the pleasure of skating, Miss Meredith Wagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Wagner of Crescent road, made her debut last Saturday evening at a skating party given for her by her parents at the new rink of the Boston Skating Club.

Miss Wagner received with her mother, wearing a costume of dusty pink, trimmed with bands of brown to match her brown muff, which was trimmed with cymindian orkids. Mrs. Wagner wore a gown of reindeer brown wool crepe with an orchid corsage.

Most of the evening was given over to informal skating, though for the more expert, appropriate music was provided for the foot in the club lounge. A special supper of smorgasbord, served by waitresses in Norwegian costume, was in appropriate vein.

Especially enjoyable was the exhibition skating by such well known skaters as Miss Polly Blodgett, Miss Betsy Nicholls, Miss Roberta Jenks, Miss Gretchen Merrill and Mr. Harbort Staurt, and Miss Dorothy Glazier and Mr. Michael Driscoll. They were all presented by Miss Wagner with silver pins of the Skating Club of Boston, newly designed by Mrs. Channing Frothingham, a skating enthusiast who often appeared in pairs skating with the late James W. Russell, Jr. of this town. These pins, cleverly designed to include the eight school figures with club insignia, were much admired and their presentation marked the first time they have been given out, excepting on the occasion last spring when one done in gold was presented to Miss Joan Tozzer, now Mrs. Philip Spaulding.

A long list of young people well known in Boston attended the party. Among the guests from Winchester were Miss Louise Barr, Miss Barbara Hughes, Miss Nancy Kelley, Miss Louise Millican, Miss Sally Sharon, Miss Natalie Bates, Miss Michael White, Miss Beatrice Winslip, Miss Nancy Wilbur and two former Winchester girls, Miss Nancy Wyman of Lowell and Miss Helen Tripp of Watertown.

Also from Winchester were Emonous Ellis, Russell Ellis, George Huckins, Charles Kitchin, Robert Kitchin, Ben Schneider, Gray Twombly, Philip Twombly, Malcolm Roberts, Peter Collins and Peter Sibley.

EPIPHANY MEN'S CLUB

The proverbial early bird has had its proverbial rook luck in catching a prize. For their meeting at the very beginning of 1941 the Epiphany Men's Club has secured a program so much in demand that it is booked well on into the year.

On Jan. 2, at 7:45 in the parish hall they will see a new film of the Eastman Kodak Company, in color and with sound accompaniment, "Highlights and Shadows." There will be also films showing some of the most notable figures and exciting moments in the world of sports.

Those who practice the art of photography will have the advantage of informal conference with experts in the field. Representatives of the Eastman Company will be present and will be glad to talk over the latest developments in the program content and always improving magical mechanisms.

All men of the parish are cordially invited to bring all friends who have a liking for photography or an interest in sports.

OLIN EDMAN PRESTWOOD

Olin Edman Prestwood of 33 Woodside road died Thursday morning, December 26, in a Boston hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Prestwood was born February 23, 1892, in Selma, N. S., the son of Rev. John W. and Annie W. (Lewis) Prestwood. He was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1912, and was a member of the engineering staff at the Watertown Arsenal. He had been a resident of Winchester for the last several years.

Mr. Prestwood leaves his wife, Mary L. Prestwood, his father, living in Canada; and two sisters, Mrs. M. R. Smith, in Bermuda; and Mrs. Jack Gardner, living in Canada.

Private funeral services will be held on Saturday at the late residence with Rev. Howard J. Chidley, pastor of the First Congregational Church, officiating. Interment will be in Wildwood Cemetery.

A Ford truck owned by the Arlington Gas Light Company and driven by John F. Floden of 139 Wildwood avenue, Arlington, was in collision yesterday morning on Swanton street near the junction of Cedar street, with a Ford truck, owned by the George W. Blanchard Lumber Company of this town and driven by Alfred DeMinnico of 38 Florence street. Both machines were headed east and the gas light truck was slowing down to make a right turn. Both machines were damaged, the Blanchard truck being towed away.

After careful consideration it was decided to send a rolling kitchen to England and preparations to that end were commenced under the leadership of Mrs. Howard J. Chidley who has been a guiding influence for the success of the Players since the inception of the "Little Theatre Beneath a Spire."

At the time the kitchen was decided upon those in use by Great Britain were the sort that could not cook, but worked from a central base carrying hot food to fire-fighters, people in shelters, etc.

The cost of this type of kitchen was $1000 and with the fine response from the townspeople to their preliminary announcement, the Parish Players had high hopes of reaching that figure with the assistance of interested friends.

Their ticket sale, greatly assisted by the British War Relief Society in Winchester and by the Winton Club, netted $750, to which was added contributions of $300, including the collection at the Union Thanksgiving Service in the First Congregational Church. So the first $1000 was raised by November, but at about that time it was determined to send on the new type of kitchen that cooks as it rolls, and for this another $1000 was necessary.

The Winchester Dartmouth Club became interested in the project and, assisted by the other college clubs of the town, sponsored the recent lecture on Guatemala, generously given by Dr. Charles Tozier, which netted another $392.00. Interested townspeople took the matter up and further contributions came pouring in, including those from several benevolent bridge parties, until on Dec. 25, the Winchester Rolling Kitchen Fund passed the $2000 mark.

It would be impossible to name all who have worked to make the rolling kitchen possible but all will agree that Mrs. Fred Cameron has been indefatigable in her efforts to this end. Many names of contributors have already been listed in the Star, together with sponsors for the Parish Players' season and others who have contributed to the kitchen fund.

Following is the final list of contributors:

Mrs. Ralph Sparks
Mr. David Choate
Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Burnham

Memorial to a Clown
Honoring Joseph Grimaldi, one of the greatest clowns in the nineteenth century, a memorial tablet stands outside his former home in Pentonville, England, where he died in 1837 after spending his latter days a helpless cripple.

WINCHESTER GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Roger C. Hadley of 193 Forest street was hostess for the Winchester Garden Club, Thursday, Dec. 19. The 120 year old house was an ideal setting for the Christmas Party of the club. Approaching the house one could see old Santa in a sleigh and hear the bells ringing merrily; his sleigh filled with skis, skates and other good things.

Mrs. Hadley, gowned in Christmas-red, patterned from her great-grandmother's dress, with a glimpse of great grandmother's petticoat, greeted the guests at the open door befitting a hostess of long ago. A period arrangement of fruit in great-grandmother's bowl, was the centerpiece on the serving table; surrounding this were Christmas corsages for each guest. A Christmas cake, cut by the president, Miss Mary Alice Fitch, was served with the luncheon-dessert.

A table in the hall of this charming house was heaped high with gayly wrapped gifts for many young and old people in Winchester, who needed holiday cheer, contributions from the members of the club. Also beautiful arrangements of silver and gold bouquets with hanging gold stars, each with the name of a member, for the club's "shut-ins." Mrs. John B. Willis did the artistic silver and gold arrangements.

Mrs. Herbert T. West introduced a humorous note at the beginning of the meeting, by reading an article by Katherine Brush on "Christmas." Through the courtesy of the Coca Cola Bottling Co. Mr. Van Courtland Lawrence presented a program of colored motion pictures of Laura Lee Burroughs' "Flower Arrangements." The display of color, design, accessories and containers accompanied by appropriate music was most effective. Mrs. John B. Willis and Mrs. Einar Bratt were responsible for the unusual arrangement, sponsored by the club at Horticultural Hall Christmas Flower Show. Marjorie Mills' description in the Boston Herald defines it as "A lovely old oval gilt frame centered against a square of soft green damask and the center of the frame heaped with fruits with sprigs of huckleberry tucked around the fruit."

Under the direction of Mrs. Waldo V. Lyon, a game of 22 questions whose answers must be a flower or plant, demanded concentration of each member. Mrs. Robert C. Orpin won highest award.

The next meeting will be Jan. 30. Mrs. Herbert T. West, who is to be hostess, will also be the speaker for the afternoon on "Attracting Birds to the Garden."

LINCOLN SCHOOL NOTES

"Why the Chimes Rang" was the play presented by Lincoln School pupils at their annual holiday assembly.

The theme of the play concerns the ultimate reward of unselfishness, and is woven into a story that lends itself to phases of child-acting that are most touching in their simplicity. The primary grade children entertained Santa Claus with a group of merry childish songs that brought merriment to parents and pupils.

Earlier in the day the Kindergarten had a Christmas Tree Party for parents, to whom each gave a gift of his own making. Songs and games were enjoyed, under the direction of Miss Louise Taylor, Kindergarten teacher.

The program was as follows:
Song—"Away in a Manger". School
Recitation—"Merry Christmas"

Santa, Dominic Jacobellis
Song—"O Holy Night"
Cosmina Saragoese, Daniel Maffeo
Playlet—"A Dramatization

COMMUNITY FUND ENROLLMENT ENCOURAGED

Enrollment of workers in Winchester Community Chest and Greater Boston Community Fund Campaign now numbers 486. The organization is 73 per cent complete. This is far ahead of the total enrolled at this time last year. To date, in addition to the associate members, there are 78 captains and 351 solicitors.

Among those who attended the Christmas party of the employees of the Woburn Daily Times in the Hunters' Room at the Town Line Tavern was Mr. Edward P. McKenzie of Hemingway street, local correspondent for the paper. "Mack" came in strong in the community singing, led by one "Bill" Rostetter, but we understand he was a bit regretful that they didn't sing "The Valley Near Slieve Lamond."

W. C. T. U. NOTES

Here are the resolutions passed by the National Executive Committee in connection with our "Government House Rum."

"Whereas, super sales - promotion of beer and wine as 'the temperance drink of the nation' is inimical to the welfare of the people, we pledge ourselves to continue the intensive campaign against education for moderation and the use of a beverage of low alcoholic content."

"Whereas, the United States Government, finding itself unable to secure investment of private capital to finance the rum distillers in the Virgin Islands, invested more than a million dollars of the taxpayers' money in the manufacturing of rum, for the first time in history putting the United States Government into the distilling business, thereby making all citizens partners in the business."

"Whereas, the product of the government owned distillery, called 'Government House Rum,' has been shipped to the United States and offered for sale to the people of the United States, with the admonition, 'You'll certainly want to try it,' thereby encouraging the use of liquor of strongest alcoholic content, under the urge of the United States Government."

"We, the Executive Committee of the National W. C. T. U., in session at Washington, D. C., June 11, 1937, do hereby voice the protest, not only of our own organization, but of the many interested in the protection of American youth and the American public from the use of hard liquors."

DANCING CLASS HELD CHRIST- MAS PARTY

Mrs. Gerald F. O'Brien entertained the members of her Junior Ballroom Dancing Class with a Christmas Party at Lyceum Hall on Monday afternoon. The youngsters, who are children of the fourth and fifth grade age, played various dancing games and danced a few figures of the cotillion. Refreshments were served and everyone received Christmas favors. Prizes for the Elimination Dance went to Susan McCauley and Allen Carlisle.

Patronesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Donald B. Louis, Edwin E. Chick, Mrs. Donald B. Crowell and Mrs. Alvin Litchfield, while the ushers included the Masters Richard Lovis, Tod Wyman, John Duffett and Stover Donnell.

Those present were the young Misses Elizabeth Senner, Barbara Crowell, Frances Rush, Anne Alsop, Susan McCauley, Judith Cunningham, Louise Knight, Carolyn Smith, Jane White and Doris Zimmerman. Also the young Masters John Allen, David Chick, Stover Donnell, Richard Lovis, Tedd Winslip, John Dupett, Allan Carlisle, John Pike, Robert Edwards, Alvin Litchfield, Jr., Tod Wyman and Dixon Pike.

Winchester folk on a "Come and See" tour to the Morgan Memorial see the spirit of the Community Fund at work. In the group are (left to right) Mrs. Frederick M. Ives, Jr., and Mrs. Robert W. MacArthur of the Educational Division; Stanley McCauley whose busy hands are being skillfully trained; and Herbert E. Stone, chairman of the united campaign of Winchester Community Chest and Greater Boston Community Fund.

MAN AND NATURE GUARD VLADIVOSTOK

Soviet Russia's Vital Eastern Port Where U. S. Consulate Will Soon Reopen

Vladivostok, where a new U. S. consulate is expected to be open for business soon, is Soviet Russia's most important Far Eastern port, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. The city, which has not had an American representative for about 17 years, is a naval and air base, as well as a communications center and Pacific outlet for Siberia.

Young City Come of Age With Trans-Siberian Railway With a population today of more than 200,000 people, Vladivostok is a relatively young city. It was founded only 80 years ago, to come of age with the completion of the famous Trans-Siberian railway in the early 1900's. This railroad stretches steel across the vast distances of Soviet Russia for more than 5000 miles, from Leningrad and inland Moscow to open water at Vladivostok. Other lines run west, then south to Japan, Chosen, and finally, across Manchukuo into China.

Air service links the eastern city with northern Soviet centers, extending westward to tie in with the thicker network of lines that crisscrosses European Russia. To Vladivostok also comes one of the longest motor roads from the west, which, along with Trans-Siberian rails, has cut an ever-widening path of pioneer settlement across this once almost vacant land.

In a world of competing strategies, fortified Vladivostok is significantly located for the arts of both war and trade. It lies near the tip of the Soviet finger of territory which, paralleling Manchukuo's northeastern border, is pointed as Chosen (Korea). It is less than 700 air miles from the Japanese capital at Tokyo.

To a huge country, whose trade outlets are limited to the generally ice-bound ports of the North, and the internationally-shared Baltic and the Black Seas, Vladivostok is invaluable. Among other advantages, it is ice-free except for a short period during the winter; even then, ice breakers permit continuous open passage.

Port of Entry for Foreign Armies During Civil Conflict Through its excellent harbor, on the Bay of Golden Horn, Vladivostok pours Siberian exports, from the versatile soya bean, used for food, lubricants, and manufactured articles of all kinds, to tea, fish, nuts, leather, timber and furs.

During the World War, when Czarist Russia was one of the Allies, many supplies from the United States were shipped across the Pacific to this port. In reverse order, bound for the United States, was one odd and valuable cargo item—nearly a ton a platinum—which had been brought by an American engineer from Leningrad to Vladivostok not long before United States' participation in the World War.

CORRECTION

In last week's Star it was incorrectly stated that the telegram received by Mr. William Cusack of this town from Mayor Griffiths of Winchester, England, was for money sent by local residents to provide a rolling kitchen for the British Winchester. Such was not the case.

Mayor Griffiths was acknowledging in his telegram the receipt of some $350 which his city had asked for to purchase a trailer-ambulance. There has been some confusion here between the two projects, and the Star is happy to clarify the situation as far as possible.

The rolling kitchen for which money has been raised by the Parish Players of the First Congregational Church, and the Dartmouth College group and other interested individuals is not for use in any one city or town, but rather serves any bombed area at need. It is much more expensive than a trailer-ambulance.

The mistake was the Star's. In the stress and strain of getting to press Friday morning we got our vehicles mixed. We offer apologies to all concerned. In the meantime, let the trailer trail and the rolling kitchen roll—for Britain!

WYMAN SCHOOL NOTES

Christmas assemblies were held on Dec. 20. Each class was represented in the Christmas play, "The Little Boy They Turned Away." The cast was as follows:

Richard Young, John Marshall, Judith Maxson, Nancy Townley-Tison, Ann Ordway, Ann Aubrey, Mary Bayliss, Norman McKee, Lois Bigelow, Richard Hussey, Carolyn Litchfield, Dorothy Brandt, Elaine Foster, David Archibald, Marjorie Dexter, Susanne Nalley.

His Mother, Barbara Johnson Tibbs, the Butler, Charles Rogers. The Boy They Turned Away, Richard Joslin.

The Mother, Judith Cunningham.

Little Boy, Elizabeth Seager.

Carols were sung at the beginning, between the acts of the play, and at the close of the program.

HIGH SCHOOL EDGED ALUMNI

Opened Hoop Season With 34-32 Victory

Winchester High School opened its current basketball season last Friday evening, winning from the alumni in a closely contested game, 34-32.

Between the halves of the first team game the Alumni seconds won from the high school seconds, 30-26.

A big crowd turned out for the season opener and enjoyed dancing after the games to the strains of Dan Rook's amplifying victrola. It is planned to have all the night games followed by dancing this year and judging by the reaction last Friday, this feature will prove popular.

The high school varsity, considering the inexperience of the boys, made on the whole a good showing, displaying possibilities if no very great class.

As the teams squared away the undergraduates were so tight that the alumni had six points before they broke the scoring ice. Johnny Drew put the high school in the game with a set-up shot under the basket, and the schoolboys commenced to loosen up, overcoming the six point lead of the graduates to finish all even at half time, 18-18.

The high school and alumni were very even the second half, each scoring seven field goals. The schoolboys' two shots from free cries decided the game. The graduates tired as the minutes wore away and several of their shots were of the "trust-to-luck" variety.

Bill McEwen was the graduates' high scorer with Charlie Johnson runner up. Doug Graham played a good defensive game. For the high school Dean Derby played a good aggressive game in the back court and Johnny Drew looked good at forward and center. Capt. Pete Provizano led both teams in scoring with six floor baskets and two shots from free tries for 14 points.

The high school met with good success in using out-of-bounds play, and would have increased their score appreciably had the player on the score-line not missed several easy tries.

DUSSELDORF HELPS KEEP GERMAN WAR MACHINE ROLLING

Dusseldorf, recently one of the nightily objective of British bombers, is an important link in the chain of German cities producing supplies for the mighty German war machine, a bulletin from the National Geographic Society says:

Situated on the east bank of the Rhine about 24 miles north of Köln (Cologne) and in the heart of the Rhine valley industrial district, it is a city of nearly a half million inhabitants, and giant industries. Smoke-belching chimneys rise above sprawling metallurgical, engineering, machinery and chemical plants where men are producing equipment and supplies for the far-flung armies of the Reich.

Water Transportation Center for Both Rail and Water Transportation

War materials, however, do not occupy all of the city's workers for also included among Dusseldorf's manufactures are such articles as glass, furniture, paper, dyes, paints and enamels, and textiles.

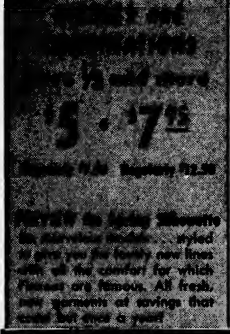

Another important lure for the R. A. F. bombers is the network of railroads that converge there. Main lines radiate from Dusseldorf stations and freight yards to such important German cities and ports as Berlin, Bremen, Hamburg and Köln, as well as to Brussels, Amsterdam and Paris.

Dusseldorf, however by no means depends upon rails for the movement of its manufactures. Scores of river steamers and hundreds of barges are accommodated at its Rhine River quays; and in normal times even ocean-going ships operate from those quays to North Sea and Mediterranean ports.

While bombing from the air is a new mode of warfare to Dusseldorf, the city's name appears often in a history of European conflicts. It felt the impact of war in the 30 Years' War and in the War of Spanish Succession. Industry began to center there about 1870 and in the World War it was a great source of war supplies as it is in the present struggle.

GIRL SCOUT NOTES

Many Girl Scouts have been working to make Christmas a happy day for Winchester families. Troops 7, 9 and 10 collected and wrapped gifts of clothes and good things to eat for each member of a family whose name was provided by the District Nursing Association.

Seven dolls were dressed and placed in baskets which were provided by the welfare department.

Girls in Troop 4 made very attractive place cards which will be used at the Home for the Aged on Christmas Day.

About 35 girls from the Lincoln and Washington school troops were driven to Harvard Chapel in Cambridge to hear the Carol Concert given annually by the Radcliffe and Harvard students.

Besides the many Christmas parties given in the troops, Troop 7 and Troop 10 joined and held a dance at the Washington School.

Miss Barbara Berry has generously consented to be the new leader of Troop 5 which meets at the home of Mrs. Henry Reeves.

Troop 6 presented a three-act play at the Mystic School on Dec. 19, entitled "The Neckline" based on the story by Guy de Maupassant. The play was under the supervision of Mrs. Stanley D. Howe and was coached by Mrs. Dana Kelly. The leading parts were taken by Barbara Howe and Elizabeth Moses. The supporting cast were Mary Seaton, Elaine Raymond, Evelyn Kaknes, Joan Millett, Shelagh Paton, Virginia Ramsdell, Jane Sharon and Virginia Symmes. Between the acts carols were sung by the audience and piano solos were played by Barbara May Elliott. Shelagh Paton told how Christmas was celebrated in England. Nancy Kingman described the Christmas festival in Mexico and Jane Beger told of Christmas customs in various European countries.

The proceeds were divided between British War Relief work and the Winchester branch of the Maple Leaf Fund, Inc., which is using the funds towards the support of a British refugee child in Canada.

THANKS VIN!

Conditions being what they are, we don't wonder that old Mother Earth has to shudder once in a while.

Among other memories of bygone days do you recall those nice little boxes which held gold pieces for Christmas gifts? They went into the discard along with other horse and buggy equipment. Evidently the paper promises which replaced them are now on their way out, for it is next to impossible now to obtain even these so-called bill containers.

Whether Christmas, 1940, will remain in our minds as one to be remembered through the years ahead we do not know. It may mark the last or the beginning of many things.
Most of us went about our usual observance in the accustomed manner, but with a dim cloud of uncertainty looming on the future horizon. It certainly was a beautiful day. For that everyone gave thanks; and it was the subject of universal conversation along with the bright topics of note.

Personally, we do not favor such holidays as Christmas and New Year's in the middle of the week. We suppose we have experienced plenty of them in our lifetime, but they do not seem to fit in with this new, streamlined age we now enjoy. The holiday events lead on one to another with such rapidity that their sequence is hard to follow and their impression is largely lost in the hurry and scurry from work to leisure and back again in the short space of allotted time.

At least that is the way we felt this year. And yet, a leisurely review of this Christmas does bring up pleasant thoughts. The summary dis-closes numerous gratifying contacts in persons or gifts and the renewing of the old spirit in spite of any conditions. The spirit throughout was friendly. There did not seem to be a single incident or occurrence which would mar the unity of any of our friends. Perhaps these memories are so because it was a signal for what lies ahead—a realization of what we have been privileged to enjoy for so long in the past.

Our routine did not change from year to year. The usual group of good friends found the door open as in the past, and Ernest and Edith Parker, Dwight Cabot and Myra and Irving
Platt sat and discussed the same old Christmas Eve topics. When the usual came home from church Irving again inveigled us to open our gifts ahead of the allotted time, and as usual, got a bigger kick out of them than anyone. John McManus' annual gift of Squire's bacon and sausage went well with the scrambled eggs and Ernest and Irving proved their cooking ability.

And no matter how anyone felt about the whole thing, the dawn of such a wonderful Christmas Day that of 1940 proved that nature at least was on the right side. Imagine a Christmas Day of warm, bright sun, with all house heat shut off and doors and windows open from forenoon to sunset! No wonder we had a host of friends calling to wish us and everyone else a happy Yuletide.
It almost seemed too fine to be real.

Mrs. Carlson as usual did a good job on Harris Richardson's big Venison turkey. Patience and Dor-Hindes and Arthur Driscoll enjoyed it with us, and along with the Browns we all enjoyed Vin Towne's cider. It all seemed wholly in order. The afternoon with the usual group of friends, with Raymond and Martha Merrill to help hold the house on an even keel, carried the festivities to a satisfactory conclusion.

We don't know exactly why we are writing all this except to tell anyone who may feel a little differently than we do, that perhaps if they will take a minute out and sit down and look over this 1940 Christmas in detail, they will find it may be one of the best they have ever enjoyed—and that may help a lot in looking forward to see what the future may do for us in Winchester in arranging for more Christmases to come.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

The Star wishes its readers, advertisers and friends a Happy New Year! The situation abroad is grim enough and here at home things are far from rosy. Yet we can all be happy, if for no other reason than because of the fact that we can indiscriminately wish folks a happy new year without danger of extending greetings to some one on the black list of a foe, a duce or a pernah, and thus not entitled to be wished a happy new year without danger to the wisher. 1940 will be long remembered, and not too pleasantly.
Many, including both minor and major prophets believe 1941 will be bad, or worse! Even so, we can still wish every one a Happy New Year, and mean it. We do! We are especially appreciative of the loyalty of advertisers and subscribers who have enabled us to serve Winchester since 1880. We extend our thanks to them for past favors along with our best wishes. To the many new friends who have expressed their interest and confidence in the Star by subscribing this year we are also grateful.
We will try in the future as we have in the past to keep the Star a truly representative Winchester institution.

Whatever may have been the experience of others at the Winchester Postoffice during the Christmas rush, the Star can truthfully say that we received only the most complete cooperation one could ask for from Postmaster Vincent Ambrose and his staff. So much so that we wish to express publicly our sincere thanks to "Vin" and "the boys" for their helpfulness and willingness to serve away beyond what was necessary or to be expected. We were well out on a limb for Christmas merchandise coming to us from a distance and long overdue. The interest and attention given to our troubles (and they were troubles) by Postmaster Ambrose and his staff expedited matters appreciably and enabled us to make a number of patiently waiting customers happy before Christmas.
We are grateful, "Vin," and wish you and "the boys" an especially Happy New Year!

ANOTHER CHRISTMAS STORY

10 Bonad road,
Winchester

To the Editor of the Star:

May I tell you a Xmas Eve story about three boys of our town which demonstrates a combination of home training, school democracy and religious teaching all combined to instill in these children a real Good Neighbor Policy.

While listening to the devastating war news coming over the radio, I heard in the background "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" and thought at first it was a radio contrast. However, on going to the door I found Francis Powers, Donald MacFarland and Jackie Haggerty had come to sing to my mother, aged 87, "because she could not get down to the tree."
In they came and up to her room, where she has been confined for three years, and sang from the bottom of their hearts the old familiar tunes.
It was the most touching scene you could imagine—youth bringing to age all they had to give, their thoughtfulness, their own brand of Good Neighbor Policy.

Of all her presents, my mother thinks most highly of this one. Young America bringing a message of Peace to a distressed old British lady!

Very truly yours,

Mrs. K. B. Toye

CONSCIOUS OF HEAVY DEBT

In his annual message to the Boy Scouts of America of which he is honorary president, and in which he himself was active for more than 16 years, President Roosevelt said tribute to the Boy Scouts "for their part in developing and maintaining that manly courage and willingness to serve."

His greetings to the nation's 1,437, 743 Scouts, Cubs and their leaders follows:

The White House

Washington

To the Boy Scouts of America:
In sending hearty Christmas Greetings I am once more conscious of the heavy debt of gratitude which this Nation owes to Boy Scouts for their that manly courage and willingness to serve, that cheerfulness and loyalty to high ideals which alone can make a people great.

(signed) Franklin D. Roosevelt

AMBASSADOR KENNEDY

All that America knows is that the Ambassadorship to Great Britain is vacant. It has been vacant for weeks and at the very time in history when it needed most to be wisely filled.

Why is it vacant? America has a right to know. Why, if Roosevelt means to help England, is it vacant?
Secretary Early states that there is no disagreement between the President and Mr. Kennedy.

Surely a campaign speech was not worth it. Why has he not been filled since Nov. 6? Why have we no Ambassadors in most of the European capitals? It would seem that in these times we needed wise European counsel. What's wrong?

President Roosevelt promised the American people that he would keep out of actual war. No. Mr. Kennedy is reported as saying that he resigned to help President Roosevelt stay out of war. What does this mean? Does Mr. Kennedy feel President Roosevelt did not mean what he said or he is not capable of doing it?

We remember Mr. Kennedy once is reported to have told American business to "stop bellyaching." Well, the preservation of the American form of democracy requires belly-aching. That is what a democracy allows and requires. Perhaps the ideals that caused Mr. Kennedy to seek home shores may require a little bellyaching on his own part before he gets through.

About 35 young people met at the church on the eve of Christmas Sunday for the purpose of lending their fine young voices in singing the Christmas carols. These carolers visited the homes for the Home for the Aged, and several other homes where sickness saddened the glad season.

SCOUT INVESTITURE TEAM GOES TO LOWELL

A newly formed Boy Scout Investiture Team with a ceremony of induct-ing candidates into a Boy Scout Troop, were invited to perform their work at Troop 27, which is sponsored by the Men's Class of Calvary Baptist Church, Lowell. Troop 27 has a membership of 50 boys and the ceremony was performed for three new members last Saturday evening.
Over 100 Scouts and parents witnessed the evening's program.

The members of the Investiture Team are Arnold Smith of Troop 2, who is the installing officer; James O'Connor, Troop 7, who is marshal;
Robert Quine, Troop 7, who is chaplain; Addison Augusta, Troop 7, Harold Donahue, Troop 5 and Niles Anderson, Troop 1, have the positions respectively of East, South and West, which are the stations of instruction in the ceremony.

The ceremony is featured by a mechanically lighted Scout pin, jaws a candle ceremony of the 12 Scout laws. The form and procedure of the ceremony was written by Elliott R.
Dudley, field scout executive of Fellsland Council. The ceremony is adaptable to installing a new troop as well as candidates and also makes an excellent program for a civic or fraternal lodge for their entertainment.

ASSAULT CASE DISMISSED

A Winchester man was found not guilty of assault with a dangerous weapon when he appeared before Associate Justice Curtis W. Nash in the District Court at Woburn yesterday morning. The complainant was Sgt.
Charles J. Harrold of the Police Department who arrested the man after an alleged stabbing affray at his home in the North End of the town.
An Officer Elliott's attention was attracted shortly after 11:30 Christmas night by a woman's screams in the vicinity of Water and Rumford streets. He went to investigate and found a Winchester girl in a hysterical condition who said that her boy friend had just been stabbed by her father.

Officer Elliott located the young man, who gave an address in Medford.
He took him and the girl to Headquarters where it was found that the young man's clothing was ripped and bloody. He was taken at once to the office of Dr. Philip J. McManus who treated him for a puncture in his back half an inch deep, apparently made with an ice pick or something of that sort.

Meanwhile Sergeant Harrold took the girl's father into custody, charged with assault with a dangerous weapon. In court yesterday the young man failed to appear against his alleged assailant, who denied stabbing him with an ice-pick. After consideration the case was dismissed by Judge Nash.

ATTRACTIVE CHRISTMAS WINDOWS

Seldom have local shop windows been more attractively dressed for the Christmas season than this year, new stores like Filem's, Edette's, Colten-Abelson's and Irene Bennett's being notable additions to the old standbys like the Arlington Gaslight Co., Winchester Edison Shop and the drug stores, gift shops, dry goods stores and markets. The new fronts of Hevey's Pharmacy, Splendid Lunch, Winchester News Company, Richardson's Market and Randall's all added appreciably to the appearance of the center while special lighting at the banks and a festive Christmas tree at the Winchester National Bank were special features.

PARKING WITHOUT WALKING

Saturday afternoon when it was impossible to find a place to park a car on Main street, Thompson street and Waterfield road, there were only six cars parked at the rear of the Town Hall where there is unlimited parking. The space at the rear of the Fire Station which also has unlimited parking was only half full.
These two parking spaces with no time limit have a capacity of 95 cars. Shore road also has unlimited parking and at this time there were no cars parked there. Many spaces were vacant on Church street in front of the Congregational Church where one may park for an hour. One car was seen to make the round trip down Thompson street around Waterfield road and back up Main street four times looking for a place to park instead of taking a space which requires that they walk a few steps.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE!

Winchester experienced its second earthquake within a week on Tuesday morning about 8:45, and everyone seems to agree that the second was considerably worse than the first. Once again no official damage was reported at Police Headquarters, but almost everyone felt the quake and those with whom we have spoken seem in no great hurry to have the phenomenon repeated.

Here at the Star office the quake was felt very distinctly, and witnesses reported that at Mystic Lake and other big ponds the ice bent in undu-lations like waves which travelled back and forth. Although no wind was blowing during the quake the trees swayed noticeably for several seconds.

TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS
TUESDAY

At 10:50 Tuesday morning a Pontiac sedan, driven by Michael Briefor of Stow, while stopped in a line of traffic on Mt. Vernon street in front of Richardson's Market, was struck by a Nash sedan driven by Aubrey H. Port of 20 Eaton street, who was headed west. The mudguards of both machines were damaged, but no one was injured.

Two Chevrolet's, one driven by William J. Carroll of 101 Harvard street and the other driven by Ralph R. English of 3 Newbridge avenue, Woburn, collided while heading south on Main street in front of the residence of Mr. Francis Mullin shortly before 9:30 in the evening. Again no one was injured, but both cars were damaged.

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, Jan. 5, on the subject: "God."

The Golden Text will be: "Praise waiteth for thee, O God, in Zion: and unto thee shall the vow be performed. O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come." Psalms 65:1, 2, 3 Bible selections will include the following passage from Psalms 107:12, 43: "Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men! . . . The righteousness of God shall be revealed: and all iniquity shall stop her mouth. Whoso is wise, and will observe these things, even they shall understand the lovingkindness of the Lord."

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, inclusion in the Lesson-Sermon reads as follows: "God is not moved by the breath of praise to do more than He has already done, nor can the infinite do less than bestow all good, since He is unchanging wisdom and Love" (p. 2).

DO YOU KNOW HOW TO DRIVE ON ICY WINTER HIGHWAYS?Can You Answer These Quiz Questions?

1. Does it help to reduce air pressure in tires when traveling over icy surfaces?
2. When is an icy pavement most dangerous; when the air temperature is 2 degrees above freezing or when it is 2 degrees below freezing?
3. Are tires with good treads much better than smooth tires on icy roads? On wet roads? 4. How do highway departments prevent sand or cinders, used in skidproofing, from blowing off the road or being brushed off by traffic?

5. Can a vehicle with tire chains negotiate icy curves at higher speeds than a vehicle without chains?
6. In what manner should brakes be applied when stopping on an icy surface?
Last winter on Lake Cadillac,

Michigan, the National Safety Council and a group of co-operating agencies conducted an extensive investigation of the problems involved in winter driving. The correct answers to the foregoing questions are found among the interesting and valuable data developed. Substantial reductions in the heavy winter traffic toll can be made if every motorist who quizzes himself on these questions will also read and remember the answers given below.

Left: 3,000 individual tests were made during the investigation of winter driving hazards, some of them being conducted at night. Right: Treated abrasives were spread on the frozen lake surface and demonstrations made of their effectiveness in skidproofing. Photos courtesy National Safety Council

Answers to Highway Safety Quiz

1. The common practices of lowering tire pressure and increasing the load over rear wheels to increase traction on slippery surfaces are not recommended. The resulting increase in traction for stopping is slight, and this is more than offset by reduction of safe speed on curves.
2. Strange though it may seem, icy surfaces are more treacherous at 2 degrees above freezing than they are at 2 degrees below freezing. As temperatures go down, safety on icy surfaces increases and the stopping distance on ice at 15 degrees is actually 37% less than at 34 degrees.

3. On icy roads, condition of tires does not have much bearing on skidding. In the case of wet roads, however, cars with good treads are definitely better.
4. Practically all highway departments now treat skidproofing abrasives with calcium chloride. This material forms a thin coating around the sand or cinder particles which causes them to melt into the ice and anchor securely. Since calcium chloride is an anti-freeze, it also prevents storage piles of abrasives from freezing and makes spreading on icy roads easy even at sub-zero temperatures.
5. While the use of chains is beneficial in stopping or accelerating on straight sections of icy highways, they do not provide control against rear-end skidding on curves. Chains should be regarded as providing an extra margin of safety at moderately slow speeds, but a margin that disappears if speeds are too fast.

6. In stopping on slippery roads, let the braking power of the engine in high gear slow the vehicle down to about 10-12 miles per hour, using the brakes lightly, if necessary; then disengage the clutch and apply brakes cautiously for the final stop. "Pumping" the brakes lightly off and on is much better than locking the brakes for maintaining control of direction.

NEW GATES BROKEN FIRST TIME

The new electrically controlled gates in the center were broken for the first time Friday night shortly before midnight when the north gate on the south side of the crossing was struck by a Medford-bound automobile.

Patrolman Clarence Dunbury heard the crash as he was trying doors above the center and hastened to the crossing. There he was told by Special Officer Stanley Mullen that the gate had been broken by an automobile, the operator of which failed to stop after the accident, driving away toward Medford.

Officer Mullen got the number of the car, which was registered to Timothy F. Kinnear of Bedford road, Burlington. The police of that town were notified and at 2 o'clock Chief MacEachern of Burlington brought Kinnear to local headquarters.

Kinnear readily admitted crossing the tracks at about the time the accident occurred, but denied having struck the gates. His car was not damaged except for a dented right rear hubcap.

Police believe the wheel of his car had followed the curbing which rises gradually from the ground like a ramp and that the hubcap had struck the weight at the bottom of the gate, the recoil snapping off the big stick. No one was injured and a repair crew had the broken gate replaced by mid-morning Saturday.

WINCHESTER CHAPTER GUILD OF THE INFANT SAVIOUR

The Winchester Chapter held the third in the season's series of lectures at the home of Mrs. Virgil Gharardini on last Friday morning. The Rev. Charles McInnis addressed the group on, "The Causes of the Breakdown of Western Civilization."

Christmas greens and poinsettias enhanced the charming atmosphere in which guests enjoyed coffee. An added treat was the presence of the Rev. John P. O'Riordan, pastor of St. Mary's Church.

Pouring were Mrs. John J. Costello, Mrs. Thomas J. Feeney, Mrs. Angelo Gharardini and Mrs. M. J. McEachern. The ushers were Mrs. Herbert Clegg, Mrs. J. Raymond Gaffey, Mrs. Walter S. Lewis and Mrs. Alfred E. Viano.

Dates to remember are Jan. 2, board meeting; Jan. 14, annual meeting, Lyceum Hall.

COMMUNITY FUND SECURES EXCELLENT HEADQUARTERS

The Community Fund in its 1941 Campaign in Winchester starts off with flying colors in having secured the new Randall store on Mt. Vernon street as campaign headquarters.

"We are greatly indebted to Mr. Randall for his generosity and civic mindedness in making available to us such an excellent location for our campaign work. It is another example of the fine cooperative spirit among our citizens which has made Winchester the type of town it is and we are most grateful," said Mr. Herbert E. Stone, chairman of the 1941 Campaign.

IN THE ADRIATIC SEA GEOGRAPHY HAS LONG MADE HISTORY

Italian forces falling back toward Albanian ports, pursued by an enemy; and a narrow sea (the Adriatic) separating the retreating forces from their home land provide at least a superficial parallel to conditions at Dunkerque where British expeditionary troops found themselves forced into the sea by the Germans. The Adriatic is compared to and contrasted with the English Channel in a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

The Adriatic is some 47 miles across at its narrowest point, the Strait of Otranto, says the bulletin, compared with only about 20 miles for the English Channel. Moreover, while the southern sea has a generally mild Mediterranean climate, less hazardous to winter shipping than that of the Channel, it is often plagued by the famous bora, or north-east wind, whose sudden, fierce squalls may be dangerous to transport activities.

Where Men Have Struggled Since the Morning of History

Separating the east coast of Italy from the west coasts of Yugoslavia and Albania, the Adriatic is nearly 500 miles long and about 150 miles across at its widest point, facing Yugoslavia. Near-by Greece lies just southeast of the strait entrance to the sea.

From the early morning of history, various powers have struggled for control of this long arm of the Mediterranean. More than 200 years before Christ, Rome, policing this sea as her own, sent a punitive expedition against the organized pirates who were operating from the opposite Illyrian shores (the Dalmatian coast of modern Yugoslavia).

During the World War, when the former Austro-Hungarian Empire shared the Adriatic with Italy, Montenegro and Albania, this sea was in the forefront of naval action. Raids and counter-raids were carried out on both coasts by the forces of the Allies and Central Powers. The Allies were finally able to blockade Otranto Strait, thereby bottling up the Austrian bases.

The winds from the northeast, which sharply assail the flat, little-indented shores of Italy, have small effect on the east coast, sheltered in addition by many islands and cut by deep indentations. Historians of the War, describing naval action between Italy and Austria, emphasize the former's geographic disadvantages. The Austrians, for example, when attacking at dawn, could pick out Italian vessels by the light, while the attackers' movements were shaded by the mountain-studded, irregular eastern shores.

COVENTRY HAS WRITTEN BIG CHAPTER FOR ENGLAND'S INDUSTRIAL HISTORY

The English city of Coventry which German bombers sought to blast from the map, is one of England's most progressive industrial cities, where the population has more than doubled since the turn of the century, and the corporate area has tripled.

Industrially, Coventry has been the epitome of progress with its factories continuing in the van of advancement, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

Coventry Claims Industrial Leadership

In its earliest days Coventry textiles were famous, with a powerful weaver's guild early in the 14th century; 5000 have been recently employed in the 13 mills. The phrase, "true as Coventry blue," originated from a dye for which the city was famous in the 15th century. The making of buttons, caps and ribbons was a natural development.

With the domestic demand for clocks beginning about 1615, clock-making became established in Coventry, followed some years later by the making of watches, which had been introduced in the reign of Elizabeth I from Germany and Switzerland.

Upon the invention of the sewing machine, Coventry's enterprising manufacturers grasped the opportunity, as they did successively and successfully with the advent of the bicycle, trolley cars and electrical equipment, the telephone, motor cycles, motor cars and buses, airplanes, motion picture projecting machines and radio. Coventry is the home of the English rayon industry.

Its civic industry dates back in a modest way to 1860. The first English automobile was made at Coventry in 1896, and during the first World War the airplane industry was established there.

Making the Wheels of Industry

Coventry built a 16 acre factory for the production of wheels alone, varying from cycle wheels to artillery steel wheels, from the smallest airplane wheels to disc wheels for the heaviest lorries, from clock wheels to cog wheels as tall as man, and wire wheels, which consume hundreds of miles of wire.

At Coventry was established one of the largest factories in Europe for the making of telephone and radio equipment, while another factory has the largest electrical plant. In addition to vast casting foundries in various metals, the drop-forging industry, begun at Coventry 35 years ago, has developed some of the largest trip-hammers in the world, 10 tons and over, with anvil blocks of forged steel weighing 150 tons.

For 30 years the city has led the English machine-tool industry, and its chain-making factories are well to the front.

This city of 200,000 population, is 90 miles northwest of London, about half the distance to Liverpool, with Birmingham but 18 miles away.

CULEBRA—TINY STRATEGIC STEPPING STONE OF THE WEST INDIES

Culebra Island—meaning Snake Island—lies 16 miles off the eastern-most cape of Puerto Rico or about midway between that island and the Virgin Islands, says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. Its extreme length is six miles and its width only three miles.

Water is Scarce

Although its Great Harbor is one of the safest basins in the Windward Islands and is large enough to accommodate a large fleet, Culebra is somewhat forbidding. The highest elevation is "Mount" Resaca near its midsection, which rises only 650 feet above the sea. Because the island is so open to high winds from the sea, vegetation consists largely of grass and scrubby trees.

Nevertheless, about 1000 people eke out a living there. Cattle raising is the chief industry. Vegetables and fruits are produced only for home consumption. One of the chief problems among the natives is the water supply. Except in the rainy season between June and October, little rain falls on the island. Since there are no streams, drinking water is stored in cisterns.

A naval station is maintained on Culebra but it is inoperative except during maneuvers in Puerto Rican waters.

Long-Legged Mechanical 'Dobbin' Wades Snow Drifts For Uncle Sam

RURAL mail carriers who have frequently been pulled out of snow drifts will have the last laugh on "dobbin" when a new type of tractor goes into service this winter.

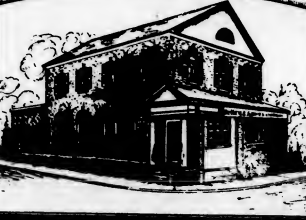

The Mail Carrier Special, designed and made by Minneapolis Moline Power Implement Co., has a front and rear axle clearance of 22 inches. It has four forward speeds and will travel at a maximum rate of 19 miles an hour.

The cab is roomy and comfortable and is designed to carry a good quantity of mail. Although much glass is used in the cab to provide good visibility, it is thoroughly sealed to protect the operator in extremes of heat and cold.

In addition to the mail carrying capacity in the cab, the front fenders are equipped with racks to carry several bags of mail on the outside.

The Mail Carrier Special is Timken Roller Bearing equipped to provide frictionless, trouble-free action of the moving parts. All the conveniences and comforts that are to be found in a modern automobile are incorporated into this strange looking vehicle which was designed to overcome bad weather for Uncle Sam.

KORITZA, IN PATH OF GREEK COUNTERATTACK

When the Greek Army focused its attention on Koritza (Coritza to the Italians) it singled out the leading city in southeastern Albania, says a bulletin from the Washington, D. C. headquarters of the National Geographic Society.
Koritza is the capital of a province by the same name, the most populous of the Albanian provinces and the largest city in the country. It is one of the country's major political divisions.

Dominates Plain
The city lies among 6000 foot peaks that circle a broad plain. On a map of Europe it can be easily located by drawing a line almost due eastward from Brindisi, on the heel of the Italian boot, to a point 13 miles from the Greek border.

Although Koritza has no rail communications, there is an airplane landing field where planes that link it with Tirana, the Albanian capital, arrive under normal conditions three times a week. There also are telephone and telegraph connections with the capital, but the highways are largely tortuous mountain roads that follow deep river valleys. The main road from Tirana runs through the gorge of the Devoli River whose source is Lake Malik at the north end of the broad plain the city dominates.

Isolated as it has been since its founding more than seven centuries ago, until recent years, the city, to the surprise of travelers, has many modern features. Visitors enjoy its paved boulevards its comfortable hotels and cafes, and its new merchandise displayed in modern shops.

J. H. WINN'S SONS CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas party of the employees of J. H. Winn's Sons watch hand factory was held on Friday evening, Dec. 20, in Lyceum Hall. The ever increasing popularity of these parties made it advisable to seek larger quarters than those previously used at the factory and the wisdom of the move was amply demonstrated by the large attendance that filled Lyceum Hall to capacity.

Mr. H. T. Winn served as master of ceremonies for the evening, and gifts were distributed from a gallantly lighted Christmas tree which was the central figure of the decorative scheme. Refreshments were served and a pleasant social hour enjoyed.

Especially enjoyable was the fine entertainment program arranged, featuring Winn's own talent, of which there seemed an abundance. All of the acts were well done and enthusiastically received. Highlights seemed to be the dancing of the kid sister team of Mary and Agnes Gon-salves, and the tambourine "tunk-ing" of Waldo Dade. Few handle the sheepskins better than the latter. Another pleasing feature were the male quartet numbers by Alfred Chadwick, Arthur Lovegren, Raymond Bohannon and Lemert Clark.

Following is the complete program:

- Carol Singing "O Come All Ye Faithful"
- Mary Gonzales, Marjorie Horn, Audrey and Thelma Rice, Ann Connors, Jennie Perillo
- Bones Solo "The Clock Whistle"
- Margie Horn
- Kid Sister—Dance Team Gonzales
- Novelty Olive Robinson
- Musical Saw "Trade Winds"
- George Ralston, accompanied by Miss H. Ralston
- "The Kids" Marjorie Horn, Fred Crookford, Christmas Carol "Silent Night"
- Audience
- Novelty Waldo Dade
- Girl Soloist "Get the Moon Out of Your Eyes"
- Mary Gonzales
- Skit Marjorie Phinney, Vera Connors, Ethel White, Herman Soule, Fred Crookford, Creighton Horn and Roco DeToro
- Male Quartet "Kentucky Babe," "Hill Dog"
- Alfred Chadwick, Arthur Lovegren, Raymond Bohannon, Lemert Clark
- Saxophone Solo "When the Swallows Come Back to Capistrano," "Wayne King's Serenade"
- Charles Waters
- Six "Spanish Serenades"—Down Argentine Way and "Nobody's Baby"
- Mary Gonzales, Marjorie Horn, Audrey and Thelma Rice, Ann Connors and Jennie Perillo
- Guest Soloist Miss Jean Balfour
- Final "God Bless America"
- Entire Cast

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT

To the Editor of the Star:
I should like to express my appreciation of the beautiful nativity scene which has been placed in front of the Catholic Church. It is a real contribution to the Christmas spirit of our town in its beauty and spiritual significance.

Friends of Mrs. Joshua C. Kelley will be pleased to learn that she has recovered from her recent illness and has returned from the hospital to her home on Sheffield west.

ROTARY CLUB NOTES

Pat Walsh was reminiscing today. As a result of which we are confirmed in our opinion that he who would better Pat in a given transaction must get up very early in the morning. Don't try it in the evening.

Again we are favored with an unique and very artistic Yuletide greeting from the T. P. Wilsons. For which we wish to express very sincere appreciation as we bespeak for them the greatest possible happiness and prosperity in the twelvemonth to come. Nor would we overlook President George Carter's kindly message, one of those gracious tokens which truly serve to make this club a brotherhood in the best sense of the word.

Vice President Mal Bennett is very much alive to his job of providing high grade entertainment for our 1941 meetings. Members are going to profit greatly because of Mal's diligence—provided they don't join the absentees. It takes rather more than a beckoning finger to pursue this service which Mal has assumed; his best encouragement will be a full attendance at club meetings.

It is most uplifting to read the bulletins of neighboring clubs and learn of the many and varied benevolences which these good Rotarians have given expression in this blessed season, to their good will, not only for their own dear ones but also for their fellow men here, there and everywhere in the world. With fully half of the population of this sphere living in the shadow of history's mightiest conflict, one can but rejoice in the conviction that while man exists the spirit of true charity will not be allowed to die. Let the shadows lift or lengthen the sun of the Great Spirit shall not fail.

Today we were most happy to exchange special greetings with Billy Beggs and Roger who has become Billy's good partner and helmsman in the role of "The Seeing Eye." This was Billy's opportunity to give Roger his formal introduction to club members who thereby gained much valuable information as Billy told the story of the development of the Seeing Eye service. The details of the training which is undergone by these animals, and their future masters as well, call attention to many novel aspects of the development of the seeing man and dog. One can but admire the patient efforts of those responsible for the existence of this most praiseworthy service. We extend a very hearty welcome to Roger and congratulate Billy on the acquisition of Roger's valuable assistance.

Next week we shall listen to an address by Mr. Lester Banding in the interests of the Greater Boston Committee. Here is an enterprise which demands the earnest support of all Mr. Banding will tell us of the special features of the 1941 campaign. Let us co-operate with the presence of every man available on Jan. 2.

And this is the final meeting of 1940 passes into history. Members of the Rotary Club of Winchester take occasion to extend kindest greetings to their fellow men, one and all. May the burdens of the past be lifted from your shoulders and may the blessings which sweeten this mortal life be yours in abundance. Hail to 1941!

JUNIOR DANCE DEC. 27

The third in the series of Winchester Junior Dances will be held at the Country Club this evening with Mr. and Mrs. John G. Penner acting as patrons and patronesses.

Brock Lynch is to be head usher, assisted by George McQueen, Dan Rood, Leonard Sherman, Thomas Arnold, Proctor Jones, Robert Nichols, Neil Clark, Clifford Lindberg, Clark Collins, James Lane and Courtney Crandall.

Preceding the dance Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Tanley, Mr. and Mrs. Ober Pride and Mr. and Mrs. John Coulson, Jr., are giving a dinner party at the club for their daughters, Miss Claire Tapley, Miss Betty Pride and Miss Jane Coulson.

PLANE TRIP WAS NOT COMPLETE

Numerous friends of Miss Nancy Newton and Mr. Frank W. Rounds, Jr., have expressed interest in their flight home from New York Christmas Eve. As the Star stated last week, neither knew the other was to take the plane. The Star should have also said that neither knew the other. As it turned out both were on the plane and they failed to meet. Nancy was filling a school assignment in New York, and as her Star went to Edgewood Park Junior College at Briarcliffe Manor, she failed to see the item concerning her. Junior, coming here from Washington, D. C., had likewise not received his copy. According to tales of the trip each of them recognized something familiar in the other, but no introductions being possible, they sat and continued to wonder all the way from New York to Boston. The Star has not been informed as to whether this error has been corrected to date or not, but trusts the amenities have by now been completed.
